

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE STOWE MSS. were collected early in this century by George Temple Nugent-Grenville, Marquis of Buckingham, and derive their name from having been kept at Stowe, his seat in Buckinghamshire.

The majority of them belonged at one time to Thomas Astle, Keeper of the Records in the Tower. Astle, who was a zealous collector, died on the 1st December, 1803; and, having been under obligations to the Grenville family, he directed in his will that the Marquis of Buckingham should have the first offer of his library of MSS. for the nominal sum of £500, the next option of purchase on the same terms to be given to the British Museum, of which he was a Trustee. Unfortunately for the Museum, the Marquis exercised his right of pre-emption, and the Astle collection was consequently transferred to Stowe in 1804.

The MSS. which formed part of it relate mainly to the history and antiquities of this country; and, among other matter of interest, they include the valuable series of Anglo-Saxon Charters, Sir H. Spelman's eleventh century Latin Psalter with an Anglo-Saxon Gloss, the eleventh century Register of Hyde Abbey, a number of English Chronicles and Monastic Chartularies, a volume of Homilies in English of the thirteenth century, a fourteenth century MS. of Lives of Saints in English verse, a Wardrobe-book of Edward II., and Inventories of plate, jewels, etc., of Queen Elizabeth; together with the Hanover Papers, and several other series of state papers and political and private correspondence, and the historical, antiquarian, and miscellaneous collections of Sir Roger Twysden, John Anstis and Philip Morant.

An important addition was soon after made to them by the purchase of the collection of Irish MSS. and MSS. relating to Ireland formed by Charles O'Connor, of Balanagare, co. Roscommon, who died in 1791. O'Connor's grandson, Dr. Charles

O'Connor, also became Librarian at Stowe, and compiled the Catalogue of the Stowe MSS. which was privately printed in 1818-19.*

In 1808 the Marquis of Buckingham further obtained from the Earl of Essex the papers and other MSS. of his ancestor, Arthur Capell, the first Earl. Among them were comprised not only the official correspondence of Lord Essex, as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland from 1672 to 1677, but the so-called "Down Survey" of 1677, which recorded the distribution of forfeited lands in Ireland under the Acts of Settlement and Explanation.

Besides these collections of Astle, O'Connor and Lord Essex, other acquisitions of less extent were made from time to time, both by the Marquis himself and by his son and successor, Richard, first Duke of Buckingham and Chandos. The most important of these were an ancient Irish Missal in a metal case, with other Irish MSS.; the valuable diplomatic correspondence of Sir Thomas Edmondes, Ambassador at Paris and Brussels, 1592-1633; the military collections of Generals Jacob, John and Michael Richards, relating to wars on the continent, etc., 1685-1714; and the correspondence of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough with James Craggs, Secretary of State, 1711-1718.

The MSS. brought together by these means remained in the library at Stowe until 1849, when they were in the possession of the second Duke of Buckingham and Chandos. In the spring of that year an announcement was made of their approaching sale by auction, and a catalogue of them was printed with that object, divided into 996 lots. The auction, however, never took place. Negotiations having been opened for disposing of the collection privately, the authorities of the British Museum endeavoured to secure it for the nation; but the matter had hardly come under discussion when a definite offer for the whole was made by the late Earl of Ashburnham and promptly accepted.

At Ashburnham Place, in Sussex, whither it was removed, the collection was still kept distinct, forming one of the four which together made up the splendid MS. library of Lord Ashburnham, the other three being known as the Barrois MSS., the Libri MSS., and the Appendix. In 1879, the year following Lord Ashburnham's death, his entire library was offered for sale to the British Museum by his successor, the present Earl. From the conditions imposed, nothing then came of this offer; but the negotiations were re-opened early in 1883, and in the course of the year the purchase of the Stowe MSS., apart from the others, was proposed by the Government to Parliament, and funds were voted for the purpose.

After it had thus become the property of the nation, the collection was no longer kept intact as before. The bulk of it was ordered by the Government to be deposited in the national library, but the MSS. written in the Irish language, together with others relating to Ireland, such as the sixteen volumes of the "Down Survey," were relegated to the Library of the Royal Irish Academy in Dublin. The particular MSS. so detached, according to their numbers in the catalogue of 1849, may be seen in the comparative table on p. 813. It must be understood therefore that the present Catalogue does not comprise all the MSS. formerly at Stowe, but only that part of them which came to the Museum. The few Oriental MSS., which are in a different Department in the Museum, are also excluded.

When acquired the MSS. were still known by the numbers given to them in the sale-catalogue of 1849. Owing, however, to the gaps caused by the removal of so many to Ireland, and to the fact that one number in some cases comprised a long series of volumes and in others only a single letter or paper, it was impossible to retain the old numeration. The collection in the Museum has accordingly been re-numbered throughout, the total of volumes as now catalogued amounting to 1085, together with 646 charters separately enumerated. As, however, the MSS. have been frequently referred to since 1849 under the old numbers, a table of the latter with the corresponding new numbers is given on p. 813. At the same time, advantage has been taken of the re-numbering to arrange the MSS., so far as was practicable, in classes. A list of these classes, twenty-five in number, will be found on p. vii.; Class IV., that of History, being further subdivided into six sections. In most cases the question of proper classification presented little or no difficulty; but where a volume is made up of several articles on more or less different subjects, it has been assigned to that class to which the major or more important part of its contents seemed naturally to belong. Any inconvenience that may thus arise from the remaining articles being out of place will be obviated by the index. Occasionally also it has been necessary to make a choice between two classes for other reasons: thus the MS.

of English metrical Lives of Saints (No. 949) has been placed among poetry, and not with the prose Lives in Class III. The principles of cataloguing followed are in the main the same as those of the sexennial catalogues of "Additions to the MSS. in the British Museum." The descriptions, however, are generally fuller, and the collections of historical correspondence and papers in particular are treated in more detail. The index, which has been made as comprehensive as possible, will be contained in a second volume.

The compilation of the catalogue has been the work of the Department generally, Messrs. Jeayes, Bickley, Herbert and Kenyon having borne the greatest share. For the Anglo-Saxon Charters and the Hyde Register Mr. Birch is responsible. The revision has been done by Mr. Warner, Assistant-Keeper, and I have myself revised the descriptions of the Charters.

EDWARD J. L. SCOTT,
Keeper of MSS.

6 June, 1895.

CLASS I.

BIBLE, WITH BIBLE HISTORIES, GOSPEL HARMONIES, ETC.

1. THE BIBLE, in Latin: Vulgate version. Preceded by the Epistle of Jerome to Paulinus (f. 1, "Frater Ambrosius"), and by his preface to the Pentateuch (f. 3). All the books after the Pentateuch have prefaces prefixed, except Judges, Ruth, Psalms, and Song of Songs, while Job, Joel, Jonah, Matthew, and Luke have two prefaces (in the case of Luke one is the author's own preface, which precedes the other), and Amos and Maccabees three. The arrangement of books is regular, except that the Prayer of Manasses is attached to II. Chronicles, without break or division; and Ezra and Nehemiah are joined as the 1st book of Esdras, while the 1st (apocryphal) Esdras stands as the 2nd. In the New Testament the Acts of the Apostles stands between the Pauline and Catholic Epistles. At the end (f. 426) is a table of Hebrew names with their meanings, sc. Bede's Interpretationes Nominum Hebraicorum (Beda, Opera, ed. 1688, vol. iii. pp. 371-480), and some explanatory notes on each book (arranged in a different order), entitled "glose divinorum librorum" (f. 466). The text in the Gospels in many cases agrees with the readings of the Correctorium Vaticanum [Vercellone N, Wordsworth cor. vat.], which is of the 13th cent.

Vellum; ff. 478. In double columns of 54 lines. XIIIth cent., probably written in France. The initial letter of each book is ornamented with a small, but finely executed, miniature, and larger initials extending the full height of the text are on ff. 1, 3 b, 342 b; initials of chapters are in red and blue. On the last leaf is written a bequest of the volume by John Chevrot de Polignac, Bishop of Tournay [1437-1460], to his godson John, son of Peter Falquerius, dated 1458, and attested by the signature "De Butoville." Below is the signature "Le Gouz," as subsequent owner, and on f. 1 is the inscription "dono et liberalitate DD. Le Goux (sic), fratrum, haeredum Domini de Vallepelle Patris, in supremo Burgundiae senatu Advocati Generalis [Guillaume Le Gouz, Seigneur of Vallepelle and Gurgy, near Auxerre, appointed Advocate General to the Parlement of Burgundy in 1586, cf. Palliot, Parlement de Bourgogne, p. 840], anno 1615, 1 octob." Small Folio.

2. PSALTER, in Latin of the Vulgate version, with interlined Saxon glosses. At the end of each psalm a prayer is added, identical with those in the similar and contemporary Cotton MS. Tib. C. vi. The Psalms are followed by the Canticles (f. 168 b), which are incomplete, two leaves having been cut out at the end. The glosses appear to be contemporary with the Latin text.

Vellum; ff. 180. xith cent. English half-uncials; the titles of the Psalms in red rustic capitals. One large ornamental initial letter, at the beginning of Psalm i., closely resembling the corresponding letter in Tib. C. vi.; elsewhere plain coloured initials. In the margins ritual directions and antiphons have occasionally been added in a 15th-cent. hand. On f. 9 is written the name of "Katern Rudston," in a 16th-cent. hand. The MS. belonged to Sir Henry Spelman, whose autograph is on ff. 1 and 180 b, and the text of it was published by his son, Sir J. Spelman (Psalterium Davidis Latino-Saxonicum vetus, a Johanne Spelmanno D. Hen. fil. editum, e vetustissimo exemplari MS. in bibliotheca ipsius Henrici, et cum tribus aliis non minus vetustis collatum, Londini, 1640). The official imprimatur for this edition, on behalf of the Bishop of London, is at the end of the MS. (f. 180 b), dated 17 May, 1638. Subsequently the MS. belonged to T. Astle, who refers to it (as "King Alfred's Psalter") in his Origin and Progress of Writing, p. 86, and plate xix. no. 6, and erroneously assigns it to about the year 880. Bound in leather (17th cent.), with tooled borders. Small Folio.

3. THE FOUR GOSPELS, in Latin: Vulgate version. Preceded by the prologue "Plures fuisse" (f. 9), and the Epistle of St. Jerome to Pope Damasus, "Novum opus facere" (f. 10). Each Gospel is preceded by its usual argument ("Matheus ex iudea," etc.), and by a "breviarium" or table of chapters; but while St. Mark and St. Luke are divided into the usual number of 46 and 94 chapters respectively, St. Matthew and St. John are divided into the smaller number of 28 and 14 chapters, a division which is found in the Codex Cavensis (C) alone of those quoted in Wordsworth's edition (Oxford, 1889): cf. Tommasi, Opera, vol. i. pp. 319, 346, ed. Vezzosi, 1747, where other examples are quoted. The Ammonian sections are marked in the margin. The Eusebian canons are rarely noted; but under each of the Ammonian sections is given the number of the corresponding section in the other Gospels. The text appears to be not of the first class, generally differing in doubtful passages from the Codex Amiatinus and kindred MSS. At the end is a Lectionary, entitled "capitulare euangeliorum de anni circulo" (ff. 216-224).

Vellum; ff. 224. xth cent. Probably written in Germany. At the beginning (f. 2b) is a full-page miniature of St. Matthew writing at a desk; and on ff. 3-8 are the usual columns and arches for the Eusebian canons, which, however, are not inserted. At the beginning of St. Matthew (f. 15) the first two letters of "Liber" are illuminated in green and gold, within an arch of the same colours, and the unoccupied part of the page is washed with purple, the white vellum, however, being left within the interlacings of the LI. This was done after the leaf had been gummed to the next; and, as they are now separated again, ff. 15b, 16 are blank and the text of the Gospel begins on f. 16b, the first verse being written at the top of the page in a different hand. A blank page (f. 72b) was left for the first verse of St. Mark, and a design has been partially outlined upon it. This is the case also with two large initials in St. Luke, i. 1, 5 (ff. 111b, 112), and with the first verse of St. John (ff. 172, 172b). Bound in wooden boards, recently covered with morocco. In the upper cover are inserted three plaques of carved ivory, partly gilt, the work of a Byzantine artist of the 13th century. The subject of the central one is the Virgin and Child, with an inscription in red paint,  $\overline{MP} \overline{KY}$  [Μήτηρ Κυρίου]; that on the left represents a saint whose name is almost entirely effaced [St. Theodore?], with the Archangel Michael above, and that on the right another saint, also with partially effaced inscription [St. George?], with the Archangel Gabriel above. Folio.

4. PETRI COMESTORIS (ob. 1179) Historia Scholastica: a Bible-history, with insertions from profane authors, concluding here with the Ascension, and not carried on to the end of the Acts of the Apostles, as in Migne's edition, Patrologia, vol. cxcviii. (see below, no. 5). The first two leaves are lost, the volume beginning "habet pro super ferebatur" (Gen. ch. ii., Migne, col. 1057). At the end (ff. 267-272) is a chronological digest, beginning with the Flood and summarising the chronology of the principal nations of antiquity; it then gives lists of the Roman emperors down to John Comnenus [1118-1148], of kings of France to Louis VI. [1108-1137], and of Saxon emperors to Lothair II. [1125-1138], followed by lists of the kings of Aquitaine, of the Vandals, Visigoths, and Ostrogoths, the dukes of Normandy and kings of England to Henry the younger, son of Henry II. [1170-1183], and the dukes of Normandy in Apulia. After these come genealogies of the Maccabees and the Herods, and miscellaneous lists, e.g. of the books of the Bible, the plagues of Egypt, the cities of Sodom, of towns (ancient and modern), and of writers of history; and the volume breaks off incomplete, while dealing with the prophets of Israel, with the words "significatur vii prophetæ qui pronuntiaverunt."

Vellum; ff. 272. Early thirteenth cent. Titles and initial letters of chapters in red. In the margin of f. 130 is the name of John King, 1647; and on a paper fly-leaf (f. 1) the inscription "Bibliotheca Palmeriana Londini, 1747." With book-plate of arms of Ralph Verney, 1st Earl Verney (ob. 1752), whose mother was Elizabeth, daughter of Ralph Palmer, of Little Chelsea. Quarto.

5. PETRI COMESTORIS Historia Scholastica. Begins with the epistle dedicatory to William [de Champagne], Archbishop of Sens [1168-1176, afterwards of Reims, and Cardinal], and is complete to the end of the Gospel history, with a continuation covering the Acts of the Apostles and ending with the martyrdom of St. Peter and St. Paul; by Petrus Pictaviensis [Chancellor of the Cathedral and University of Paris, ob. 1205?], entitled "Incipit commentum magistri Petri Pictaviensis super Actus Apostolorum" (f. 166 b). This is printed by Migne, vol. cxcviii., 1645, as by P. Comestor himself. Appended also (ff. 191-195 b), in a somewhat later hand, is the story of Barlaam and Josaphat, from the Legenda Aurea of Jacobus de Voragine (ob. 1298).

Vellum; ff. 195. thirteenth and (ff. 191-195 b) early fourteenth cent. In double columns of 44 lines. The initial letter of each book contains a miniature in gold and colours. That at the beginning of the epistle dedicatory represents the author presenting his work to the Archbishop of Sens, with a scroll containing the first words of the epistle, "Reverendo patri et domino suo Willelmo dei gratia Senonensi archiepiscopo Petrus servus Christi presbiter Trecentensis vitam bonam et exitum beatum." Titles of chapters in red, and initials in red and blue. Folio.

6. STJÓRN (i.e. "a steering"): a Biblical Paraphrase of the historical books of the Old Testament, in Icelandic. Begun by order of Hakon V., King of Norway, circ. 1300, but completed, from Exodus, ch. xx. onwards, by adopting the earlier Gyðinga Sögur ("Sagas of the Jews") of Brand Jónsson, Bishop of Holar (ob. 1264): see Gudbrand Vigfusson, Sturlunga Saga, Oxford, 1878, Prolegomena, p. cxxxv. The later compilation is partly based on the Historia Scholastica of Petrus Comestor (ob. 1179) and the Speculum Historiale of Vincent de Beauvais (ob. circ. 1264). The whole was edited by Carl Unger, Christiania, 1862.

Paper; ff. 376. An xviiith cent. transcript of a MS. in the library of the University of Copenhagen. Folio.

7. BIBLIA PAUPERUM, consisting of rudely executed and coloured drawings representing the typical events of Old Testament History and their corresponding fulfilments in the Life of our Lord, with appropriate texts from the Vulgate. There are in addition numerous drawings of heads of prophets, kings, etc. Beneath each principal drawing is a descriptive Latin hexameter. The texts and lines correspond with those in King's MS. 5.

Vellum; ff. 55. xvth cent. On f. 2 are the words "Orate pro anima Georgii Plompton, sacerdotis" (15th cent.); and the following names occur as those of owners:—Christopher Staynforthe (15th cent.). f. 54 b;—Thomas Smythe (16th cent.). f. 22 b;—William Cookerd, 1652. f. 41;—F. Lodman, Robert Bourgh, and Henry Brough (17th cent.). f. 20 b. The fly-leaves (ff. 1, 54, 55) consist of three leaves containing portions of ordinances (in French) relating to wool merchants and others, early 15th cent. Quarto.

8. ZACHARIAS CHRYSOPOLITANUS in unum ex quattuor sive de concordia Evangelistarum: the Concordance to the Gospels, with commentary, of Zacharias of Chrysopolis [variously supposed to be Goldborough in Yorkshire and Besançon in France]. He has recently been identified with Zacharias, "ductor scholarum" at the church of St. Jean de Besançon in 1134 (U. Robert, in the Bibl. de l'École des Chartes, vol. xxxiv., 1873, p. 380). Printed in Migne, Patrologia, vol. clxxxvi. In this MS. ff. 3 b–9 contain the table of "capitula," i.e. the first words of each of the Ammonian sections, with the number of the section and the Eusebian canon to which each belongs. Then follow the table of Eusebian canons (ff. 9 b–13), the "preseries Zacharie crisopolitani in unum ex quattuor," beg. "De excellentia evangelii" (ff. 14–21); the preface (the second in Migne) "Matheus cognomento Levi" (f. 21); another preface (the third in Migne) "Unum ex quatuor" (f. 21 b), with an additional paragraph, which looks as if it should rather have belonged to the first preface, beg. "Cuique evangelistarum sunt quattuor facies" and ending "comminaciones que malos terrent"; a third preface, being the paragraphs which in Migne follow the table of chapters (coll. 45, 46), beg. "Notum facimus lectori" and ending "hucusque Hieronymus" (f. 22); the prologue of St. Luke with the commentary of St. Ambrose and Bede, and the colophon "explicit preseries" (f. 22 b). The table of chapters of the first book follows, omitting the "admonitio lectori" prefixed to it in Migne ("Sicut ex creaturis . . . corrigere velint"); and the text of the Gospels, with the commentary, begins on f. 23. It concludes with the words "ad diem ascensionis sue," omitting the last clause given in Migne. At the end is a table showing where to find the lessons for the various church festivals (f. 190), and a glossary of the proper names and other "barbarous" words used in the Gospel (f. 191 b).

Vellum; ff. 194. xvth cent. In double columns of 50 lines. Initials in red and blue; references and titles in red. At the end of the Concordance (f. 189 b) is given the name of the scribe, Roger Albon, a Carmelite. Folio.

9. CONCORDANCE or Harmony of the Gospels, in Latin, the four narratives being combined into one by selection of passages from each. Begins with John i. 1, "In principio erat Verbum," and ends with the last words of the same Gospel, "qui scribendi sunt libros," followed by the colophon, "Explicit sanctum evangelium domini nostri Iesu Christi secundum quatuor evangelistas Matheum Marcum Lucam et Iohannem." A table of contents, with references to folios, is added at the end. References are placed in the margin at the beginning of each section, and initial letters are in red.

Paper; ff. 172. End of xvth cent. The fly-leaves (ff. i., ii.), which were fastened to the old binding, are fragments of a Latin lectionary on vellum, of the 14th cent. The stamped leather of the original binding is now laid down inside the modern covers. Duodecimo.

CLASS II.

LITURGICAL BOOKS.

10. "MISSALE secundum usum Romane ecclesie." Written apparently for a Franciscan house in Northern France. Preceded by a calendar (ff. 1-6).

Vellum; ff. 263. xvth cent. (after 1450, St. Bernardinus, the Franciscan, canonized in that year, being included in the calendar). In double columns; with a full-page illumination of the Crucifixion facing the "Te igitur" (f. 113 b), and a few illuminated initials. Bound in blue morocco. Folio.

11. MISSALE ROMANUM, executed at Lisbon for the rectification of the services of the Portuguese Church, by order of John III., King of Portugal [1521-1557], and completed after his death under the patronage of his wife, Queen Catherine, and his brother Henry [Cardinal and Regent during the minority of King Sebastian]. A preface (f. 6) by "Diegus Sygeus Toletanus senior," addressed "ad regalium sacrorum decanum dignissimum ac reliquum Sacerdotium, de Missali recens emendato," states that it was undertaken at the suggestion of Antonius Pignierius [Antonio Pinheiro, Bishop successively of Miranda and Leiria, ob. 1585], and was begun in 1557 and completed in 1563. Described on the title-page (f. 2) as "Sacerdotale Volumen ad ritum san: Romanae Ecclesiae scriptum, in quo habentur CXL. Missae: quibus Portugal: Reges interesse solenniter consuevere praeter Epistolas et Evangelia quae separatim sunt de industria exscripta, ad faciliorem Subdiaco: at Diaconor: usum, emendata omnia exactiss: pientiss: Iohannis III. Regis ductu atque imperio, Olyssip: anno salutis MDLVII." A table of contents is given on ff. 3-5. There is no calendar, and the Temporale (f. 7 b) is immediately preceded by the office "Ad aquae benedictae aspersionem." The Commune Sanctorum is also absent.

Vellum; ff. 173. In double columns, with gold borders. Profusely ornamented with illuminated initials, the larger of them containing miniatures. A leaf, which probably had a full-page miniature, has been cut out before the "Te igitur" (f. 74).

Belonged in the 18th cent. to the Abbé Garnier, chaplain to the French factory at Lisbon. Bought by George Spencer Churchill, Marquis of Blandford [aft. Duke of Marlborough] in 1812. Bound in red morocco with gold tooling. Folio.

12. BREVIARIUM, of Sarum use adapted to Norwich (see below). The contents are :—

1. Proprium de Tempore. Imperfect at the beginning, apparently a whole quire being lost. The first page begins near the end of the rubrics for the first week in Advent, followed by "Feria ii." f. 1.
2. Brief notes of English history, chiefly relating to the births and deaths of kings, from the death of Edward the Confessor [1066] to the coronation of Edward II. [25 Feb. 130 $\frac{1}{2}$ ]. f. 155.
3. Brief notes of events, chiefly in ecclesiastical history, from 1064 to the execution of Thomas, Duke of Lancaster, 22 March [132 $\frac{1}{2}$ ], entitled "gesta tercię revolutionis sequentis tabule," referring to the cycle described in the article which follows, and especially recording events connected with Norwich and the neighbouring dioceses. f. 156.
4. Table of the Paschal Cycle of 532 years, formed by multiplying together the solar cycle of 28 years and the lunar of 19 years. f. 157.
5. Calendar. f. 158. Among the entries are :—3 Mar. "Sci. Wynewalei [Winwaloe] non Sarum";—8 Mar. "Sci. Felicis episcopi et confessoris non Sarum";—17 June, "Sci. Botulphi abbatis non Sarum";—22 July, "Memoria de S. Wandregesillo abbate";—5 Aug. "Sci. Dominici conf. non Sarum";—2 Oct. "Transl. S. Thome Herford. episcopi" [Thomas de Cantelupe, d. 1282, can. 1320];—4 Oct. "Sci. Francisci conf. non Sarum";—8 Dec. "Sci. Birini episcopi et conf. ix lectiones secundum Sarum."
6. Psalter, Canticles, Litany (in two forms), Benedictions, etc. Imperf., wanting the first leaf, the text of Psalms I and II. being supplied in an early 17th-cent. hand on the preceding page. f. 165.
7. Proprium sanctorum. Imperf., wanting the first leaf. f. 223. Among the references to Sarum use are :—F. of St. Oswald and of St. Dominic [5 Aug.], "Tamen secundum Sarum nichil fiat de S. Dominico sed totum fiat de S. Oswaldo." f. 290;—"In octava S. Marie [15 Sept., as in the Calendar here] festum reliquiarum apud Sarum celebratur." f. 299 b;—F. of St. Francis [4 Oct.], "Euangelium de communi unius confessoris et pontificis cetera omnia de communi Sci. Francisci confessoris secundum Sarum de eo nichil fiat." f. 308 b;—F. of St. Edmund [of Pontigny], archbishop [16 Nov.], "In redeundo [dicitur antiphona] de S. Maria. Secundum Sarum hoc modo fiat de S. Eadmundo." f. 329.

8. Commune sanctorum. f. 388. At the end (ff. 354 b–357 b) is added in a later hand (with the initials not filled in) the Service for the F. of the Transfiguration, 6 Aug.

9. Ordinale. f. 358. This article is in a different hand, and did not originally form part of the same volume as the rest. The illuminated border round the first page also differs in style. In the initial letter are the arms az. a bend or, a label of three points arg., being those of Scrope of Masham. In the central point of the label is an indistinct charge, gules. These arms perhaps refer to Richard Scrope (3rd son of Henry, 1st Lord Scrope of Masham), Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield 1386–1398, Archbishop of York 1398–1405. In a rubric on p. 377 b is a mention of the year 1383 as future ("quod erit anno dni. m<sup>o</sup>ccc<sup>o</sup>lxxxiii<sup>o</sup>").

Fine vellum; ff. 395. Artt. 1–8 were written between 1322 (cf. art. 3) and 1325, John Salmon, the last Bishop of Norwich mentioned in art. 3, having died in the latter year. Art. 9 must have been written before 1383 (see above). The missing leaves were presumably out for the sake of the illuminations. Elaborately executed initials in gold and colours, often enclosing miniatures, at all the large divisions of the offices (see especially ff. 16 b, 23 b, 109, 150 b), with coloured initials (red and blue) at the smaller divisions, the initials being in all cases extended so as to form marginal ornamentations for every column. In the margin of f. 68 is a curious grotesque drawing. On f. 164 (a leaf left blank after the calendar) is a note, extracted from the enrolments of Mich. term, 18 Edw. III. [1344], of a receipt given by Philip de Moundeville and Walter his brother to William de Cusance [Cusans], Treasurer of England, for 100 pounds sterling due on a bond, at London, 18 July, 1343, and acknowledged by the said Philip in Court, 5 Dec. [1344]. On f. 375 b is a recipe for making ink, in a 15th-cent. hand, with another, dated 28 Dec. 1626, in Sir R. Twysden's hand. Small Folio.

13. MANUAL, with musical notes; entitled (in a later hand) "Rituale secundum usum Sarum." The contents are:—(1) Benedictio salis et aquae. f. 1;—(2) "Ordo ad cathecuminum faciendum." f. 5;—(3) Ritus baptizandi. f. 19;—(4) "Ordo ad purificandum mulierem post partum." f. 24 b;—(5) "Ordo ad faciendum sponsalia." f. 25 b;—(6) "Ordo ad servitium peregrinorum." f. 36 b;—(7) "Ordo ad visitandum infirmos." After the end of this office as given in Maskell's Monumenta Ritualia (vol. i. p. 99) some additional matter is appended (ff. 47 b, 48), including some questions and responses in English, attributed to St. Anselm. f. 41;—(8) De extrema Unctione, with the Commemdatio animarum. Some leaves have been cut out at the end of this office. f. 48 b;—(9) Vigiliæ mortuorum. f. 62;—(10) Inhumatio defuncti. f. 102;—(11) "Missæ pro mortalitate vitanda, quam dominus papa Clemens instituit cum omnibus cardinalibus et concessit omnibus predictam missam audientibus ducentos et sexaginta dies indulgentie." At the end of the office (f. 115) is a rubric mentioning an indulgence granted on 19 July, 1411, by Robert [Hallam], Bishop of Salisbury, "in castro suo de Schirborn." f. 113;—(12) "Ad missam de nomine Iesu officium." f. 115 b;—(13) "Missæ de sancta Maria per adventum." f. 119 b.

Vellum; ff. 120. xvth cent. In vellum binding, with a small oval stamp of the Crucifixion in the centre. Belonged to Thomas Astle, who gives a facsimile of a portion of it in his Origin and Progress of Writing, pl. xxviii. no. 15, p. 153. 18mo.

14. CEREMONIALE ad usum Canonicoꝝ S. Crucis, domus Parisiensis: the ceremonies and order of the church service throughout the year. Begins, "Incipit ordinarium. De pulsationibus. Quando fratres debent." etc. The title is written in a later hand on the fly-leaf. With a table of chapters at the end.

Vellum and (ff. 69–90) paper; ff. 90. The text on the vellum leaves is written in several hands of xvth cent.; the remainder, according to a note at the end, by Egidius Hunault, "conventus Parisiensis," and finished 12 June, 1610. At the beginning (f. 3 b) is a roughly executed miniature, unfinished, representing a seated figure, with landscape in the background. On f. 2 is the note "Conventus Sanctæ Crucis, 1684," and in handwriting of the same time the name "Francoisus de Prime." Above is the entry "donné par le prbe. Martin Cordelier le 28 May 1703." On f. 1 b is the title repeated by Tho. Astle. Large Octavo.

15. LESSONS from the Four Gospels, in Latin, containing the narratives of the Nativity, Baptism, and Passion, from the Synoptists, and the whole of the Gospel of St. John except the portion from ch. xx. 19 to the end, which is lost.

The Lessons occupy seven quires and one leaf of the eighth, which is imperfect (ff. 26–84), and are written in a hand of the late 12th century. They are preceded by five quires (some imperfect) and followed by one quire, containing miscellaneous notes and records, chiefly relating to the business of the Exchequer: viz. (1) Notes of committal of sheriffs' attorneys and others, for debts due to the Exchequer, and of their release, dated in the reigns of Henry VI., Edward IV., and Henry VII. ff. 3-5, 8, 88. With a mandate of Edw. I. on the subject, 26 Nov. a. 32 [1303]. f. 19 b;—(2) Notes of dues from various counties, and of the value of various quantities of "summonitiones." ff. 5 b-7, 15 b-18, 85;—(3) The oath of fealty to King Henry VIII. and the heirs born to him and his queen Jane (two copies, the name "Jane" in the second being written over an erasure of "Anne"). ff. 8 b, 9;—(4) Hymns for the vigils of the Ascension ("Eterne rex altissime"), St. Katherine ("Disputando vicit virgo"), and St. Nicholas ("Sospitate dedit egros"), in a hand of the 15th cent. ff. 9 b, 10 b, 11 b;—(5) Extracts from the Red Book of the Exchequer. ff. 13-15, 83-84 b;—(6) Contemporary notes of the capture of Berwick, 30 March, 1296, the departure of Edward III. from Harwich on 16 July, 1388, and his return on 20 Feb. 1388. f. 19;—(7) Calendar, in a 14th-cent. hand, with additions, among which are notes of the marriage of Anne of Bohemia to Richard II., 20 Jan. [1382], the days on which Easter fell in various years of Richard II. and Henry VI., a great earthquake in London, 21 May, 1382, obit of S[imon,] Archbishop of Canterbury [killed by rebels], 14 June, 1382 [should be 1381], the fight with the followers of Cade [described as "capitaneus Kantiae"] on London Bridge, 5 July, 1450, coronation of Richard III., 6 July, 1483, obit of William Laysynby [Lasingby, Chief Baron of the Exchequer], 2 Aug. 1419, obit of Blanche, Duchess of Lancaster, 13 Sept. [1369], coronation of Henry VI., 6 Nov. 1428 [should be 1429]. ff. 20-25.

Vellum; ff. 92, including two leaves lining the cover and containing fragments of a theological treatise of the 14th cent. Ff. 2, 9 are modern paper leaves. xivth-xvth centt. Bound in thick oak boards, covered with leather; brass corner-pieces, stamped with fleurs-de-lis. To the lower cover is attached a crucifix, bronze-gilt. The volume may be the "little booke with a crucifix" mentioned in Powell's Repertoire of Records, 1631, p. 123, as preserved in the chest of the King's Remembrancer, at the Exchequer, and was probably used for administering oaths. A note (f. 2) by John Ives, dated 18 Oct. 1772, states that T. Madox [author of the History of the Exchequer] told T. Martin that he believed it "was used to take the Coronation Oath upon by all our Kings and Queens till Henry VIII. "; but there does not appear to be any evidence of this. The book belonged to Richard Hodgkin in 1545 (f. 12 b); to Thomas Martin of Palgrave, the antiquary [1697-1771]; to John Ives in 1772 [ob. 1776]; to John Jackson in 1779; and to T. Astle [1735-1803]. Octavo.

16. HOURS of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Calendar. f. 3;—(2) Office of the Virgin. f. 9;—(3) The Penitential Psalms and Psalms of Degrees, with Litany. f. 48;—(4) Office of the Dead. f. 72;—(5) Hymn to the Virgin, beg. "Salve virgo virginum stella matutina." f. 120;—(6) Prayers to the Virgin, imperfect at beginning. f. 124;—(7) Miscellaneous prayers and hymns. f. 128 b.

Vellum; ff. 152. Early xvth cent. Executed in England; with good illuminated initials and borders at the beginning of each office, and a few miniatures. The calendar contains the following additions: obit of Henry VII., 21 April, 1509; "sayntt Fremunde Fayre att Dunstabyll," 11 May; obit of John Rotheram, 9 Aug. 1492; obit of Roger Rotheram, doctor of laws, 26 Aug. 1477 (cf. f. 149 b). On two fly-leaves at the beginning (ff. 1 b, 2) is a prayer, entitled "The glorious Inuo[ca]cion of our saviour Jesu," in English, apparently in the same hand as the calendar, and with the name of the writer given as Richard Wauton. At the end (ff. 150 b-152) are additional prayers of the 15th cent., including a commemoration of "Rex Henricus pauperum et ecclesie defensor," etc. (f. 151), with the litany "ora pro nobis, beate serve Dei, Henrice," and a prayer beg. "Deus qui beatum Henricum Regem tuum sanctum militem, ecclesie defensorem et pauperum amicum, in omnibus adversis (?) perfecte caritatis amore decorasti," etc. On f. 1 are the names of George Rotheram [15th cent., see also f. 150], Richard Thompson [Dean of Bristol, ob. 1685], and Walter Harte, who bought the MS. from the widow of Dean Thompson, in 1686. Three leaves have been replaced in facsimile (ff. 29, 75, 78), and a leaf is missing before f. 124. Bound in red velvet. Octavo.

17. HOURS of the Virgin, etc., in Latin and French. The contents are:—(1) Calendar, in French. Among the saints are:—30 Jan. "Adegou le virgene" [Aldegonde, Abbess of Maubeuge]; 17 Mar. "Gertrus" [Gertrude, Abbess of Nivelles]; 18 April, "Ursmart" [Abbot and Bishop of Lobbes]; 23 April, Albert [Bishop of Liège, patron saint of Maestricht]; 28 Apr. Transl. of St. Lambert [Bishop of Maestricht]; 30 Apr. "Quitin" [Quentin, patron of Hasselt]; 13 May, Servais [Bishop of Maestricht], red letter; 23 May, Wibert [Guibert, Abbot of Gembloux]; 8 June, Medart; 1 July, "Monegou" [Monegoude, of Tours]; 25 Sept. "Aman" [Amand, Bishop of Maestricht]; 30 Sept. "Folhin" [Folcuin, Abbot of Lobbes]; 3 Oct. Hubert [Bishop of Maestricht and Liège]; 23 Nov. "Tron" [founder of St. Trond]. Instead of their usual names, the months June and July are called "Resailh" and

"Fenas" (cf. Godefroy, Dict. de l'anc. langue Française, s. vv. resaille, fenal). f. 2 b;—(2) Office of the Virgin. f. 18;—(3) The Penitential Psalms. f. 140;—(4) The Psalms of Degrees (Ps. cxx.-cxxxiv.). f. 158;—(5) Litany. f. 172 b;—(6) Office of the dead. f. 188;—(7) Prayers. French. f. 256.

Vellum; ff. 273. XIIIth-XIVth cent. From the names of saints given above, the MS. was evidently executed in or near Maestricht. The calendar is followed by five full-page miniatures, and there are similar miniatures at the beginning of each office; and the borders and margins of every page are illustrated with well-executed grotesque and other designs. The titles of the offices are not given. 18mo.

18. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) "Orationes dicende in corporis Christi elevatione," etc. A later insertion. f. 1 b;—(2) Calendar. f. 2;—(3) "Hore sancte crucis." f. 14;—(4) "Antiphona de beata Maria virginis" (etc.). f. 19;—(5) "Hore beate Marie virginis secundum consuetudinem ecclesie Romane." f. 21;—(6) The seven Penitential Psalms, with Litany. f. 60;—(7) "Vigilie mortuorum." f. 73;—(8) Miscellaneous devotions, in a different hand, ending with commemorations of a large number of saints. f. 90.

At the end (f. 155) are records, in several different hands, of births and marriages in the family of Zoutelande, 1523-1611; the earlier ones and the last in Latin, the rest in Dutch.

Vellum; ff. 161. Late XVth cent. Executed apparently in the neighbourhood of Utrecht; with two coarsely executed full-page miniatures, and ten large illuminated initials with borders in the French style. The latter part of the MS., from p. 90, has no ornamentation except a few coloured initials and rubrics. Belonged in 1762 to J. L. Van de Walle, whose book-plate of arms is inside the cover. Bound in stamped leather, each cover bearing representations (now nearly effaced) of St. Michael and St. John Baptist (?), separated by four small panels, containing a stag, a dragon, a griffin, and a hound. Duodecimo.

19. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Calendar. f. 1;—(2) "Ad salutandam faciem Christi," beg. with the hymn "Salve sancta facies nostri redemptoris." f. 13;—(3) "Hore sancte crucis." f. 16;—(4) "Hore de sancto Spiritu." f. 23;—(5) "Missa beate Marie." f. 28;—(6) "Hore beate Marie virginis, secundum usum Romanum." f. 42;—(7) "Officium beate Marie quod dicitur per totum aduentum." f. 97;—(8) Commemoration of the following saints: Michael the archangel, Anthony, Bernard, Katherine, Barbara. f. 107 b;—(9) The seven Penitential Psalms, with Litany. f. 113;—(10) "Vigilie mortuorum." f. 134;—(11) "Oracio beate Marie virginis." f. 174 b.

Vellum; ff. 181. Late xvth cent. With three full-page miniatures, and many smaller miniatures and illuminated borders and initials in Flemish style; the calendar ornamented with minute figures of animals, flowers, insects, etc. At the end (f. 181) is the name of Carolus de Vos, in a 16th-century hand, with the inscription, "Nomen meum hic pono quod librum perdere nolo; si perdere voluisssem, nomen meum hic non posuisssem." The MS. was apparently bought by Tho. Astle from a Tournay bookseller in 1784. Duodecimo.

20. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Office of the Virgin. Imperf. at the beginning. f. 3;—(2) "In adventu Domini tantum, Missa de beata Maria." f. 50;—(3) Office of the Dead. Imperf. at the beginning. f. 98;—(4) The Penitential Psalms, with Litany. f. 147.

Vellum; ff. 170. Late xvth cent. Some additional prayers are inserted on the fly-leaves. With coarsely executed initials and borders, of Flemish style. On the inside of the cover at each end is a coloured woodcut, the first representing the Visitation, and the second St. Bruno (whose name, together with that of St. Anthelm, another Carthusian, has also been inserted in the Litany, f. 162 b). Both appear to have been executed in the Netherlands, the first near the end of the 15th cent., the other in the first half of the 16th cent. 18mo.

21. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Calendar. f. 5;—(2) "Hore de sancta cruce." f. 17;—(3) "Hore sancti spiritus." f. 20;—(4) "Officium misse beate marie v." f. 23;—(5) "Hore beate marie virginis." f. 39;—(6) "Septem psalmi penitenciales," with Litany. f. 76;—(7) "Vigilie mortuorum." f. 92.

At the beginning (ff. 3, 4) are some instructions in Dutch, and at the end (ff. 104-117) Dutch hymns to Our Lord, the Virgin, and SS. Michael, Joris [= George], Kerstoffel [= Christopher], Anthony, Mary Magdalene, Barbele [= Barbara], Margaret; with a Latin prayer for the protection of St. Macharius against the plague (f. 110), and a Latin prayer to the Virgin (f. 117).

Vellum; ff. 118. xvth cent. With miniatures and illuminated borders, in the French style, at the beginning of each office, small illuminated initials elsewhere. Belonged in 16th cent. to Peter Penneman, and in 1760 to J. L. Van de Walle, whose book-plate of arms is inside the cover. Small Octavo.

22. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—

- (1) Calendar. f. 1;—(2) "Quindecim orationes ad Christum." f. 13;—(3) "Commemoratio de sancta trinitate." f. 19;—(4) Commemorations of the following saints:—John the Baptist, John the Evangelist, Christopher, George, Thomas of Canterbury, Anne, Mary Magdalene, Catherine, Margaret, Barbara. f. 20;—(5) "Hore beate Marie Virginis secundum usum Sarum." f. 35;—(6) Hymns and prayers to the Virgin. f. 69 b;—(7) Miscellaneous prayers, including one (f. 82 b) entitled "oratio venerabilis Bede presbyteri." f. 80;—(8) "Septem psalmi penitenciales," with Litany. f. 89;—(9) "Vigilie defunctorum." f. 105;—(10) "Comendationes animarum." f. 126;—(11) "Psalmi de passione Domini." f. 137;—(12) "Psalterium sancti Iheronimi." f. 143.

Vellum; ff. 154. xvth cent. Executed apparently in France, but for English use, the saints especially commemorated in the Calendar being largely English. Full-page miniatures, coarsely executed, with illuminated borders at the beginning of each office, but in many cases the miniatures have been cut out. The name of St. Thomas of Canterbury has been erased throughout, and rubrics referring to promises of indulgences have been obliterated with ink (ff. 77, 86 b). A table of contents has been added at the end in a late hand. With book-plate of arms of A. C. Ducarel, LL.D. [1713–1785, Librarian at Lambeth Palace]. Octavo.

23. Vellum; ff. 224. xvth cent. Executed in France. With miniatures and elaborately designed borders. In some instances the figures of men or animals in the borders are only outlined, the colour not having been put in. Initials illuminated throughout. A note at the end (f. 224) states that the volume was given to Catharine Lecamus, by her father, that she may pray for him and for her mother, Jehanne Fortin, who died 10 July, 1595. An inscription in her own hand inside the cover at the beginning repeats this statement. The father's signature, "Lecamus, notaire, 1592," is on the inside of the cover at the end, and the binding, of brown calf stamped with gold pimpernels, bears the name of Nicolas Lecamus. A note on the fly-leaf states that the volume was in the library of [Henry Stuart] Cardinal York (ob. 1807). Duodecimo.

26. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Calendar. f. 1;—(2) "Officium sancte crucis." f. 14;—(3) "Officium de sancto Spiritu." f. 23;—(4) "Missa [de] beata virgine Maria." f. 30;—(5) "Officium beate Marie virginis secundum usum Romanum." f. 45;—(6) "Officium beate Marie virginis quod dicitur per totum aduentum." f. 124;—(7) "Septem psalmi penitenciales," with Litany. f. 135;—(8) "Officium mortuorum." f. 160;—(9) "Psalterium beati Ieronimi." f. 214;—(10) "Oracio devota [de] beata gloriosa virgine Maria." f. 236.

Vellum; ff. 244. xvth cent. Executed in the north of France. With miniatures, illuminated borders round the first page of text, and small illuminated initials throughout. Bound in red velvet. Small Duodecimo.

27. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. Vellum; ff. 129. xvth cent. Executed probably at or near Tournay (cf. calendar, 9 May, 1 Oct., 6 Dec., 14 Dec.). With miniatures and illuminated borders and initials, of inferior work. With the names, as owners, of Barbele Van de Waeterliet (f. 129), L . . . . strymeersch, 1614 (f. 2), and J. L. Van de Walle, 1760 (f. 1). The book-plate of arms of the last is inside the cover. Duodecimo.

28. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Calendar, in French. f. 2;—(2) Lessons from the four Evangelists, with prayers to the Virgin. f. 5;—(3) Office of the Virgin. f. 10;—(4) Office of the Virgin during Advent. f. 34 b;—(5) The Penitential Psalms, with Litany. f. 38;—(6) Office of the Holy Cross. Imperfect. f. 45 b;—(7) Office of the Holy Ghost. f. 47;—(8) Office of the Dead. f. 48 b;—(9) "De Trinitate antiphona." f. 64;—(10) Commemorations of Saints Michael, John the Baptist, John the Evangelist, Peter and Paul, James, Christopher, Sebastian, Mary Magdalene, Katherine, Barbara. f. 64 b.

Vellum; ff. 67. End of xvth cent. Executed in France. The calendar is surrounded with miniatures of saints and of the signs of the zodiac. Large miniatures at the beginning of each office, with smaller miniatures of the saints commemorated; and every page decorated with illuminated border and initials. Given (f. 1) by "Madame royale, Duchesse de Savoie," to M. Delaistre, her Intendant, from whom it descended to his great-grandson, the writer, "Beunie (?), procureur du Roy au presidial de Chartres," who inherited it on the death of his sister in 1714. Bound in red velvet, lined with light blue silk. Octavo.

29. Hours of the Virgin, etc., in Latin. The contents are:—(1) Calendar. f. 1;—(2) "Officium beate Marie virginis secundum consuetudinem Romane curie." f. 14;—(3) Three psalms to be used on Tuesdays and Fridays. f. 92;—(4) Three psalms to be used on Wednesdays and Saturdays. f. 99;—(5) Office of the Virgin during Advent and other special seasons. f. 105;—(6) "Officium sanctissime Crucis editum per papam Iohannem vigesimum secundum." f. 142;—(7) "Missa beate Marie virginis." f. 153;—(8) "Missa de Spiritu sanoto." f. 166 b;—(9) The Penitential Psalms, with Litany. f. 178;—(10) "Officium mortuorum." f. 210.

Vellum; ff. 275. xvth cent. Executed in Italy. With a full-page miniature of the Salutation after the calendar (f. 13 b), and illuminated borders and miniature initials at the beginning of the principal offices. In the border on f. 14 are the arms of Priuli of Venice, and at the bottom of the miniature on f. 13 b (which is apparently by a different hand from the rest) is the coat, az. on a bend sinister or the letters E A (?). 18mo.

30. PRAYERS in various languages,—Greek, Latin, English, French, Italian, Spanish, German, Dutch, and Hebrew,—beautifully written in inks of various colours, with illuminated titles and initials, for presentation to Queen Elizabeth. The prayers are preceded by a short poem in Latin elegiacs, entitled "De illustrissima Regina Angliæ certamen Deorum, Fœminam eam an Virum nasci vellent, an neutrum, an utrumque." The first page is elaborately ornamented. with the royal arms in the middle, and the date, 1578, surrounded by the inscription "Deus tueatur. Beginam Elizabeth."

Vellum; ff. 95. Bound in red velvet, with the letters E. R. sewed into the back. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Duodecimo.

CLASS III.

THEOLOGY, WITH LIVES OF SAINTS.

31. EPISTLES of St. Augustine, St. Jerome, and St. Anselm, vis. :—

1. "Epistola Anselmi archiepiscopi ad papam"; Anselm's letter to Pope Paschal II., asking for a clearer declaration of his opinion on Investitures (Migne, Patrologia, vol. clix. col. 110, Ep. iii. 73). Begins (after the salutation), "In primis quantas mea potest humilitas." f. 1.
2. "Epistola Pascalis papæ ad Anselmum," in answer to the above (ibid., col. 111, Ep. iii. 74). Begins, "Suavissimas dilectionis tuæ." f. 2 b.
3. "Anselmus ad Valeranum episcopum": Anselm to Waleran, Bishop of Naumburg, on the Eucharist (Migne, vol. clviii. col. 541). Begins, "Scienti breviter loquor"; ends imperfectly at the bottom of a page (f. 8 b) "satis igitur patet quod nec Græcis nec nobis." f. 4.

The remainder of the volume comes from another MS., the leaves being slightly larger and the hand different :—

4. "Epistola S. Hieronymi ad S. Augustinum" (Migne, vol. xxii. col. 834, Ep. cv.). A leaf is lost at the beginning, the first words here being "Hierosolimis et in sanctis locis"; ends "ad me primum fatias (sic) pervenire." f. 9.
5. "Epistola ejusdem ad eundem" (ibid., col. 916, Ep. cxii.). Begins, "Tres simul epistolas, imo libellos." f. 10 b.
6. "Epistola S. Augustini ad S. Hieronymum" (ibid., col. 936, Ep. cxvi.). Begins, "Jampridem tuæ karitati." f. 23 b.

Vellum; ff. 37. xiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Octavo.

32. "LIBER Pastoralis Cure beati Gregorii [episcopi] urbis Rome ad Johannem Ravennatem"; with the dedicatory letter, beg. "Pastoralis cure me pondera," addressed to John, Bishop of Ravenna (Migne, Patrologia, vol. lxxvii.). At the end (f. 61 b) is added a letter from Innocent III. to King John of England [28 Jan. 1209], exhorting him to submission, beg. "More pii patris" (Migne, vol. ccxv. 1535).

Vellum; ff. 62. Early xiiith cent. In double columns of 32 lines, without divisions or titles to chapters; coloured initials.

On the last page are some scribblings and doggrel Latin lines, with the dates 1805 and 1818. Bound in oak boards, covered with white kid. On f. 1 is the signature "Br. Stapleton" [? Sir Brian Stapleton, of co. Suffolk, ob. 1519]. Quarto.

- 33. ANSELM Epistolæ ccccxvii.: a transcript of Cotton MS. Claudius A. xi., containing the complete collection of St. Anselm's letters; made in 1670 under the inspection of Sir Roger Twysden, who certifies its correctness in an autograph note at the end. A table of titles of the letters is prefixed.

Paper; ff. 268. Inserted at the end (f. 268) is a petition to Sir Roger Twysden from Margaret Snode, widow of Thomas Snode, complaining of the suppression of her Inn or Alehouse at Great Chart, co. Kent, belonging to the church of Canterbury. Folio.

- 34. SHORT HOMILIES on the various virtues and vices, in English. The beginning is wanting; the titles of the paragraphs which now stand first are "Of Sorinesse" [Sorrow] and "Of Asolknesse, Unlust", [Sloth].

Vellum; ff. 49. Early xiiith cent. With a strongly marked change of hand at f. 39. Bound in crimson morocco, tooled, of the 18th cent. On the last leaf is the autograph of William Fletewood [Recorder of London, 1571-1591], and at the beginning is that of Thomas Astle. Small Quarto.

- 35. DE CORPore ET Sanguine Dei: a treatise on the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper by B[aldwin], brother of the Abbey of Ford [in Devonshire, afterwards Abbot of Ford in 1168, Bishop of Worcester in 1180, and Archbishop of Canterbury 1184-1191], dedicated to B[artholomew], Bishop of Exeter [1159-1172]. No title; begins with the dedicatory epistle "Amantissimo domino et patri B. dei gratia Exoniensi episcopo frater B. fordensis monasterii servus eternam in domino salutem." Unfinished, ending with the words "memoriam habundantie suavitatis eius eructabunt" (Tissier, p. 157, col. 2, l. 5); a few blank pages remain, which have been ruled with lines for the completion of the work. Printed in Tissier's Bibliotheca Patrum Cisterciensium, vol. iv. (1662), pp. 103-159; and in Migne's Patrologia, vol. cciv. 641.

Vellum; ff. 103. Early xiiith cent. Large coloured initials; titles of chapters in red. Belonged to Waltham Cross Abbey; and in 1800 to Thomas Bryan Richards, who has left some notes on the inner cover. It also contains the book-plate of [Rev.] Osmund Beauvoir [D.D., ob. 1789], and the name of Charles Fotherby, to whom the volume was given by his uncle Charles Fotherby. At the end is the name of William Rottorend, Canon of Waltham. Bound in boards covered with (modern) leather. Octavo.

36. EIGHT SERMONS "de Morte," and eleven "de Passione" Christi, in Latin. A short introduction is prefixed to the first series, beg. "Cum propriam imperitiam," and each sermon begins with the words "Omnes morimur." The second series begins, "Rorantes sanguine lacrimas" (f. 29 b). The end of the volume is lost. The author's name is given at the beginning of each work as Guibertus; and in a MS. at Douai containing the sermons "de Morte" he is called Guibertus Tornacensis, i.e. Guibert de Tournai, who died in 1270. In the Histoire Littéraire de la France, vol. xix., pp. 141, 142, two treatises are attributed to him, entitled "de morte non timenda" (in MS. at Tournai) and "de verbis Domini in cruce" (in MS. at Liège). The Douai cataloguer believes the former MS. to be identical with that now at Douai (cf. Catalogue Général des MSS. des Bibliothèques Publiques des Départements de France, vol. vi., p. 209). Guibert was also the author of several volumes of sermons.

Vellum; ff. 62. XIIIth cent. In double columns, of 34 lines. Initial letters in red, blue, and green. A few marginal notes in a later hand. Small Quarto.

37. "HENCHERIDIOM Magistri Alani [de Insulis] de Conquestione Naturae": a treatise against immorality, in mixed prose and verse, beg. "In lacrimas risus, in luctus gaudia verto." Printed in Migne, Patrologia, vol. ccx. 429-482. At the end, in a somewhat later hand and on two leaves which originally formed part of a different volume, are:—(a) a poem, containing a philosophical discussion of the nature of the world, beg. "Declarare fidem quis ait vos detrahit error," ending "Omnipotens opifex opus ammirabile mundi | Fecit et archetipon tribuit qui sensilis esset." f. 35;—and (b) Rhyming verses (written as prose), beg. "Omne datum optimum et donum perfectum | Apud patrem luminum nil est imperfectum," and ending "Ergo sancta trinitas, deus tam mirabilis, | Humanata deitas, simplex ineffabilis, | In die iudicii sis nobis placabilis." f. 36 b.

Vellum; ff. 36. Written in France, in the XIIIth cent.; with illuminated initials. Octavo.

38. "A TRETIS pat suffisip to eche cristen man and womman to lyuen peraftir," beg. "This tretis compild of a pore caitif," and hence commonly known as "The Poor Caitif." The authorship has been attributed to Wiclif, but see Shirley, Fasciculi Zizaniorum, 1858, p. xiii. n. 3. The headings of the different sections of the work are as follows:—(1) the bileeve; (2) of þe ten heestis; (3) Pater noster; (4) the counceill of Crist; (5) of virtuous pacience; (6) of temptacioun; (7) chartir of hevene; (8) hors eipir armer of hevene; (9) the name of Jesus; (10) desir of Jesus; (11) of verri mekenesse; (12) the effect of wille; (13) actif lijf and contemplatif lijf; (14) myrrour of chastite; (15) of glorious virgynyte. The colophon runs, "Here eendip þis blessid tretis þ' is counceillour of wrecchis . deo gratias." At the beginning of the volume is a calendar, of which the last leaf, containing Nov. and Dec., is missing.

Vellum; ff. 161. xvth cent. Initials of months in the calendar and of chapters illuminated. On the first fly-leaf (f. 1 b) are rules for ascertaining the date of the moon's changes, in a 16th-cent. hand; and at the end (f. 159) are some doggrel rhymes concerning one Bentley of Cheveley [Cheveley, co. Cambr., or Chieveley, co. Berks?], in a similar hand. The last leaf (f. 161) is from a moral treatise of the same character as that contained in the body of the volume, and of the same date, the passage being explanatory of Cant. Cantt. i. 2. On f. 159 b are the names, as owners, of Denis Beke and Isabella Beke [16th cent.]; and on ff. 1 b, 158 the name of John Bridges (ob. 1724), "ex dono — Rickman." Large Octavo.

39. 1. THE ABBEY of the Holy Ghost; an allegorical treatise, generally ascribed (e.g. by Bale, Pits, and the biographical dictionaries) to John Alcock, Bishop successively of Rochester, Worcester, and Ely, and founder of Jesus College, Cambridge (ob. 1500). This is certainly wrong, as the treatise occurs in a MS. of the xvth cent. [Add. MS. 22,283, f. 165], as well as in the present one, which belongs to the first half of the xvth cent. Begins, "My dere systre, I se þat many wuld be in religyon, bot þai may noght"; ends "God graunt it so to be: Amen, Amen, pro charite." In the printed edition of Wynkyn de Worde this beginning is found at the foot of p. 3, and from there to p. 12 the narratives are the same. In other MSS. [Harl. 1704 and 2406, Add. 22,283] the portion contained in this MS. forms a separate part by itself, the rest of the contents of the printed edition (both that which precedes and that which follows the portion above defined) forming a second part with a distinct introduction. The two pages following the end of the story (ff. 8 b, 9) contain rude coloured drawings of the foundation of the Abbey of the Holy Ghost, the persons mentioned in the allegory, etc.

2. The Desert of Religion ; a series of drawings of trees representing the various virtues and vices, explained by short descriptions in English verse, together with portraits of various saints, also described in verse. On the first page is a picture of the Virgin and Child. The poem is headed "Elongavi fugiens et mansi in solitudine," and begins :—

"David þat prophet was ay' In þe sauter boke þus here we say.
Fleand I fled fro more to les' And duelled in herd wyldernes."

There are 22 full-page drawings and the same number of smaller ones ; and the poem ends :—

"Vnto þe whilke ioye he us bryng' þat for oure sake on rode gun hyng :
Þore to duell w<sup>t</sup> holy men' W<sup>t</sup> outen ende. Amen. Amen."

On the last leaf is a representation of Death, armed with a spear, confronting a knight, a king, and an archbishop, with verses appropriate to each ; those belonging to Death run thus :—

"Be 3e wele now warre w<sup>t</sup> me
My name þon is ded
May ye none fro me fle þat any lyfe gun led Kynge kaser þen no knyght
Ne clerke þat can on boke rede
Beest ne foghel ne oper wyght
Bot I sal make þam dedde."

Another drawing of similar character occupies the reverse of the leaf. The letter þ is throughout written as a dotted y.

A second copy of this poem exists in Cotton MS. Faustina B. vi., part 2 ; and the authorship of it is ascribed in the table of contents prefixed to that MS. to Hilton the anchorite, i.e. presumably Walter Hilton, a Carthusian monk who flourished about 1440 and was the author of the "Scala Perfectionis" and other moral works. If this ascription is correct, both this and the Cotton MS. are contemporary with the author ; but Sir F. Madden in a note at the beginning of the work in the latter MS. expresses his belief that it is without authority, and due to a confusion with Hilton's prose treatise on the Contemplative Life (sc. the Scala Perfectionis).

Vellum ; ff. 34. First half of xvth cent. With illuminated initials. Belonged successively to the Rev. — Gastrell, Richard Greene, apothecary, of Lichfield (1756), whose book-plate it bears, and Tho. Astle (1767). On a loose sheet at the end is a glossary of words, and at the beginning, in Astle's hand, a biography of Bishop Alcock, the supposed author of the contents of the volume.

40. "DE SACRO Jesu Christi triumpho habito Lauduni adversus daemonem mulierculæ corpus agitantem compendiosa historia": a narrative, in Latin, of certain miracles alleged to have occurred at Laon in 1565 and 1566, edited by Jean Boulaese, priest first of Chartres and then of Laon, professor "literarum sacrarum et hebraicarum," and "pauper collegii montis acuti" [Montagu College] at Paris. Several versions of the affair are given, the contents of the volume being as follows:—(1) Narrative of Christopher de Hericourt, Dean of Laon, entitled as above, and preceded by a letter from him to Pope Pius V., dated 19 March, 1569, some verses addressed to the author by Claude Roillet, Canon of Laon, and a letter from Boulaese to the reader, dated 28 Oct. 1570, introducing De Hericourt's work as well as his own four narratives which follow; at the end is the certificate of approbation of the Paris faculty of theology. f. 5;—(2) Various letters to and from Boulaese in 1565, 1568, and 1569, testifying to his character. f. 20;—(3) First narrative of Boulaese, entitled "Summa victoriæ per corpus Christi contra Beelzebub, Launduni, 1565, habitæ historia," dedicated to the Pope [Pius V.] and cardinals, and attested at the end by the signature of Boulaese, dated 28 Oct. 1570. f. 25;—(4) Second narrative of Boulaese, bearing the same date at the end, entitled "Ejectio principis huius mundi et dæmoniorum Beelzebub," and dedicated to the Cardinal [Charles] of Lorraine, Archbishop of Reims. f. 37;—(5) Third narrative of Boulaese, entitled "Manuale victoriæ corporis Christi," and dedicated to Cardinal Hieronymus de la Souchière, Abbot of Clairvaux; it is attested by the signature of Boulaese, with the same date. f. 51;—(6) Fourth narrative of Boulaese, entitled "Thesaurus historiæ victoriæ corporis Domini contra Beelzebub habitæ." f. 92. The last is much the most complete version, containing a comparison of the narrative of De Hericourt with the third of Boulaese, and giving an account of the public investigation into the matter and the depositions of the witnesses. The signature of Boulaese recurs at the end. An engraved plate is inserted (f. 30), giving representations of several incidents in the narrative, and an explanation of it is given in the first three narratives of Boulaese.

At the beginning (f. 1 b) is the certificate of approval granted to the book by Jean [de Bours], Bishop of Laon, 5 Nov. 1570; together with an attested record (f. 3 b) of the opinion of the two theologians appointed to examine the work, 30 Oct. 1570. The narrative was written originally in French and subsequently in Latin, the former as well as the latter being by Boulaesse, as stated on f. 104. The former was printed at Paris in 1575.

Paper; ff. 228. Small Folio.

41. TRANSLATION of the dialogue entitled "Octavius," in defence of Christianity, by M. Minucius Felix. The following note is appended: "Translated by my selfe at Pyrton in the Intervalls of my Hunting & Hawking times, Anno 1632: I dare not say well, but as I could. Ignoscat Lector. Henry Knappe."

Paper; ff. 37. Folio.

42. "XVI. REVELATIONS of Divine Love shewed to a Devout Servant of our Lord, called Mother Juliana, an Anchorite of Norwich: who lived in the days of King Edward the third." By H[ugh] Cressy, Fellow of Merton College, Oxford, in 1625, who became a Roman Catholic in 1646 and died in 1674 (cf. Wood, Athenæ Oxonienses, vol. iii. coll. 1011-1015). The work is dedicated to Lady Mary Blount of Sodington, widow of Sir George Blount, and was printed in 1670.

Paper; ff. 96. Book-plate of John Hadden Hindley. Small Quarto.

43. "THE LIGHT IN DARKNESS, or The True Religion long sought, at last found out, amongst all the religions of the world here mention'd, by Martin Brethton, a true prozelyte to the Church of England, Aug. 26, 1685"; consisting of a dictionary of churches, sects, and religious opinions, in alphabetical order, concluding with a "Corollarium," in which the author declares his adhesion to the Church of England, "where is to be seen idolatry nor superstition, purgatory nor indulgences, pretended miracles nor supererogations, beads nor pilgrimages, invocation of saints nor transubstantiation, infallibility nor universality, human traditions nor ceremonies are boasted of as articles of faith or divine institution against divine institution." Under the heading "Pope" is a vigorous attack on the Church of Rome, and under that of "Puritans" a reference to Monmouth's rebellion and "our incomparable monarch James the Second."

Paper; ff. 55. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small Quarto.

44. RELIGIOUS MEDITATIONS and Bible Texts, written by Margaret [Penn], wife of Anthony Lowther; with a list of her family, and an account of the last illness and death of her eldest son, Robert Lowther, in Jan. 1693. The last entry is of the death of her eldest surviving son, Sir William Lowther, 6 April, 1705.

Paper; ff. 30. Folio.

45. Two SERMONS or treatises, on Prayer (Ps. xxxiv. 17) and on the Sacraments. The beginning and end of the latter are lost. At the head of the former is the name "Mr. Ewens."
Paper; ff. 49. Early xviiith cent. Duodecimo.
46. DRAFTS of, and notes for, sermons, by the Rev. Philip Morant, Rector of St. Mary's, Colchester (ob. 1770).
Paper; ff. 66. Folio.
47. "THE FAMOUS BOOK intitled De Tribus Impostoribus, translated from the original Latin into French, and now faithfully Englished, with a preface, annotations, and additions by the French translator": an English version of the work published by Pierre Frédéric Arpe in 1716, which professed to be a French translation of the book De Tribus Impostoribus [Moses, Christ, and Mahomet], often referred to in the Middle Ages, but never seen and in all probability never existent. Arpe pretends to have made his translation from a MS. of the original Latin which had been stolen from the Munich Library by a German officer after the battle of Blenheim, and which he had had in his possession for a short time. The contents sufficiently prove that it was written at the end of the 17th or beginning of the 18th century, instead of in the 13th, the date assigned to the original, which Arpe ascribes to Peter des Vignes, secretary to the Emperor Frederic II., about whose time the imaginary original is first mentioned. There is also extant a Latin version, professing to be the original, and bearing the date 1598, but believed to have been really printed in 1753 from MSS., of which one is known to have been bought at a sale in 1716. This differs wholly from the French version of Arpe (see De Tribus Impostoribus, texte Latin . . . par Philomneste Junior, Paris, 1861). The preface to the present translation differs in some of its contents from that of the French version, but the story of the acquisition of the pretended original MS. is the same. The contents are a criticism of Deism, Religion in general, the lives and religions of Moses, Christ, and Mahomet, and a discussion of "certain rational and evident truths" from a vague Deistic standpoint.
Paper; ff. 69. Late xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Quarto.
48. GENEALOGY of Christ from Judah son of Jacob; in the handwriting of Thomas Astle.
Paper roll. xviiith cent.
49. LEGENDA AUREA, by Jacobus de Voragine, Archbishop of Genoa [1292-1298]. The prologue, "Universum tempus præsentis vitæ," etc., is headed "Incipit prologus super legendas sanctorum quas compilavit frater Jacobus, nacione Januensis, de ordine fratrum prædicatorum," and is followed by a table of contents. The work ends with the legend "de dedicatione Ecclesie," and with the words (slightly different from the usual text), "quod ipse nobis præstare dignetur ut ipse cuius iste liber est et ipsius procurator ipsiusque scriptor et omnis in ipsum cernens et legens aut aliquod verbum quod in eo continetur devote intelligens vitam perducatur sempiternam et leticiam indeficientem; Qui vivit et regnat cum Deo Patre in unitate Spiritus Sancti Deus, per omnia secula seculorum. Amen. Amen. Amen. Amen." As in other early copies (e.g. Add. 11,882), the lives of SS. Sophia, Fabian, Apollonia and Boniface are absent; while the titles of two lives ("de sanctis Felicissimo et Agapeto" and "de sancto Tyburtio") are inserted in the table of contents, but have nothing corresponding in the text. The name of the scribe is given in the following lines at the end:—

"Qui non sum canus scripsi qui dicor Alanus, Sed niger in toto per corpus dente remoto.
Exoro Christum, librum qui cernit in istum,
Ne quin invadat fine repente cadat."

Vellum; ff. 245. Early XIVth cent. In double columns of 53 lines. With initials in red, blue, and green; and grotesque drawings in pen and ink in the margins of several of the pages. An inscription at the bottom of f. 2 states that the book was presented to the Chapel of St. Stephen, Westminster, by Robert de Elmham, canon of the same, who died there 8 March, 1365 [6]. Robert de Elmham received a canonry of St. Stephen's in 1358 (Newcourt, Repertorium Ecclesiasticum, vol. i. 745). On the last leaf is a memorandum by Sir Roger Twysden, that he bought the volume from Stephen Potts, a bookseller of Aldersgate Street, London, about 1626. Small Folio.

50, 51. LA LEGENDE DORÉE: the French version of the Legenda Aurea of Jacobus de Voragine, made by Jean de Vignay, circ. 1340, including the additional Lives given by De Vignay for which there is no original in Jacobus. There are in all 236 narratives, including those which refer to Festivals as well as the Lives of the Saints. Begins, without title, with the rubric "Cy comence le prologue de lacteur de ce liure," etc., which introduces the translator's preface, beg. "Monseigneur saint iherome." The author's preface follows, beg. "Le temps de ceste presente vie," f. 1 b. The table of contents begins on f. 2, and the text of the work on f. 4. In two volumes. The last Life is that of St. Aubin [Albinus], ending with the words "du benoit saint le pere le filz et le saint esperit. Amen."

This MS., or one very closely resembling it, appears to be the original from which the copy 1275 h. 3 in the British Museum [undated, described in the Catalogue as 1480?] was printed. They agree in omitting the names of SS. Sebastien, Losmer, and Donat from the table of contents, though their Lives are given in the text. After the Life of Ste. Wandrut, with which the first volume of the MS. ends, a blank space of nearly a leaf is left in the printed copy, so as to begin the next Life at the beginning of a new leaf. Further, the water-mark of the paper of the MS. [a shield bearing three fleurs-de-lis, with a cross pendant below] is identical with that of the first 77 folios of the printed copy.

Paper, except vol. i., ff. 1 and 10, which are vellum. Two vols.; ff. 242 and 282. Late xvth cent. The original foliation is continuous through the two vols., from i. to v<sup>xxx</sup>; but in vol. i. ff. 77-86 are misplaced between ff. 20 and 21, and in vol. ii. ff. 409-528 are misplaced between ff. 529 and 530, with which the volume ends. In double columns of 43 lines. The first page is ornamented with a miniature and decorative border. On the last page of vol. ii. is the name of Jacques Losien as owner, in a 16th-cent. hand. Folio.

52. "VITA beati Thomæ archiepiscopi et martiris": the Quadrilogus, or compilation by E[lias?] of Evesham, from the four Lives by John of Salisbury, Herbert of Boseham, William of Canterbury, and Alan, Abbot of Tewkesbury. The prologue begins "Post summi favoris dote vestitos," and the Life itself "Thomas Londoniensis urbis indigena." It ends (f. 64 b) "dies suos non dimidiarent." Printed in the Rolls Series, Materials for the History of Archbishop Thomas Becket, vol. iv., the present MS., however, not being mentioned.

The following documents are appended to the Life (as in Harl. MS. 2, Lupus' printed edition, etc.): (a) "Cathalogus eruditorum beati Thomæ," omitting the paragraphs concerning Herbert de Boseham and Edward Grim, and ending with the words "patrones conquistavit" (Rolls ed., vol. iii. p. 529, § 60). f. 64 b;—(b) "Causa exilii et martirii beati Thomæ martiris," viz. the Constitutions of Clarendon. f. 66 b;—(c) "Aliæ constitutiones . . . quas constituit rex Henricus in Normannia, proscripto beato Thoma" [Michaelmas, 1169]: cf. Rolls ed., vol. vii. p. 147. f. 67 b;—(d) "Epistola missa archiepiscopo super hiis": the letter of a friend, giving the tenor of the king's orders [Michaelmas, 1169]: ibid., p. 146. f. 68;—(e) "Litteræ de canonizatione beati Thomæ," from Pope Alexander III. to the Chapter of Canterbury [12 March, 1173]: ibid., p. 545. f. 68;—(f) Letter of Pope Alexander on the same subject to the clergy and people of England, on the same date: ibid., p. 547. f. 68 b;—(g) Letter of Pope Alexander announcing the canonization to [Walter] Bishop of Aversa: ibid., p. 549. f. 68 b.

At the bottom of the first page of the Life are three hexameter lines, giving the names of Becket's murderers, in a hand of the early 14th cent.; and on the last page, in apparently the same hand, are nine hexameter verses, beginning "Balsamus et munda," containing the manner of constructing a symbolical "Agnus Dei" (cf. Harl. MS. 2406, f. 10). At the beginning are three leaves (ff. 1-3), and at the end four (ff. 70-73), taken from a 13th-cent. MS. of the Decretal of Gratian (completed in 1151), Part II., Cause xii.-xvi. (cf. Migne, Patrologia, vol. clxxxvii. coll. 903-992). The "paleæ" are absent, and many sections which are given in Migne are omitted.

Vellum; ff. 73. xiiith cent. In double columns of 38 lines, except in the first two leaves and a half, which are in a better and slightly larger hand, with 29 or 30 lines to the column. Initials of chapters in red and blue; titles in red. Belonged (see f. 4) to Laurence Nowell [Dean of Lichfield, etc., ob. 1576]. Small Quarto.

53. "THE LIVES of Women Saints of our Contrie of England; also some other lives of holie women written by some of the auncient fathers." A compilation of the early 17th century, including the following Lives, for some of which the sources are quoted:—SS. Helena (from Baronius). f. 21 b;—Ursula (from H. Fleien [Hermann Fleien, whose work was published in 1594], Dean of St. Cunibert, etc., "in our age"). f. 25 b;—Keyna. f. 27 b;—Brigide. f. 28;—Dympna (from Peter of Cambray). f. 30;—Edburge. f. 34 b;—Eanswide. f. 36;—Ethelburge. f. 36 b;—Sexburge. f. 38;—Hilda. f. 39 b;—Ermenilde. f. 41 b;—Werburge. f. 42;—Milburge. f. 43;—Mildrede. f. 44 b;—Ebba. f. 46 b;—Etheldred or Andrie (from Bede). f. 48;—Kinesburge, Kineswide and Tibbe. f. 51 b;—Ethelburge. f. 53 b;—Hildelitha. f. 55;—Cuthburge. f. 56;—Withburge. f. 57 b;—Inthware. f. 58;—Frideswide. f. 58 b;—Walburge. f. 60 b;—Wenefride. f. 65 b;—Modwen. f. 68;—Ositha. f. 72 b;—Maxentia. f. 74;—Oswen or Osman. f. 75;—Elfdede. f. 76;—Edith. f. 77 b;—Wulfhilde. f. 79;—Margaret. f. 82 b;—Mectilde ("out of a verie good author that lived a little after, to weete, 1238"). f. 86. In the second part are contained the Lives of SS. Monica (from St. Augustine). f. 91;—Agnes (from St. Ambrose). f. 114;—Gorgonia (from St. Gregory Nazianzen). f. 124 b;—Nonna (from the same). f. 139b;—Julitta (from St. Basil). f. 149;—"A Christian maide captive in Iberia." f. 152 b; and Macrina (from St. Gregory of Nyssa). f. 155 b;—with a miracle by St. Macrina's grandfather. f. 178. To the whole is prefixed (f. 3) an essay entitled "Why God hath provided in his Christian Contries some famous Saintes above the common sorte"; with a note on Scotch and Irish saints, and extracts from the Fathers on the excellence of virgins and widows. Indices are given to both parts.

Paper; ff. 181. Early xviiith cent. On the first fly-leaf is the name of Tho. Astle, with a note by him that the MS. has not been printed, and that the Lives in it differ from those published in Britannia Sancta. Small Quarto.

CLASS IV.

HISTORY.

SECT. I.—GENERAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

54. LES LIVRES DES HISTOIRES du commencement du monde: a universal history in French from the time of Laius of Thebes to B.C. 60. Begins, "Un Roy estoit adonc en thebes"; ends, "quil nen estoit nulle qui gramment fust grevable par trestout le monde. Et ce fu lan quil ot sept cens ans que la cite de Rome avoit este comenciee a faire." The contents are as follows:—The story of Thebes, from the birth of Œdipus to the capture of the city by Theseus (ff. 2–25); the story of Hercules (ff. 25–30); the foundation of Troy, the story of Jason and the Golden Fleece, the siege and capture of Troy by Hercules and Jason, and the deaths of these two heroes (ff. 31–45); the second siege of Troy, told at great length "sicomme dient ditis et daires poetes," i.e. Dictys Cretensis and Dares Phrygius (ff. 45 b–211); the return of the Greeks (f. 212), with the adventures of Pyrrhus (f. 221 b), and the death of Ulysses (f. 226); and the life and exploits of Landomatha, son of Hector (f. 228 b). Then follows the story of Æneas (ff. 231 b–253); after which comes the history of the kings of Assyria, Media, and Persia, including the wars with Greece, down to the death of Xerxes, with a short summary to Artaxerxes Mnemon (ff. 253 b–266). Next comes the history of Rome, from the birth of Romulus to the return of Pompey from his eastern campaigns (ff. 266 b–414), where it ends abruptly.

The first portion of the work, relating to Thebes and Hercules, is identical with the Fleur des Histoires of Jehan Mansel. All that relates to Troy, from the mission of Jason to the death of Ulysses, is a close paraphrase in prose of the Roman de Troie of Benoît de Sainte-More, into which the author has interpolated paraphrases of several of the Heroidum Epistolæ of Ovid, without much reference to their appropriateness to the context. Cf. A. Joly's Benoît de Sainte-More et le Roman de Troie, 1st part, p. 424. The episode of Landomatha is taken from the continuation of Benoît found in some MSS. The author then returns to the Fleur des Histoires, the story of Æneas following the Æneid closely, with an excursus on the Trojan origin of the kings of France. The remainder of the work is taken from the same source, the portions relating to the Oriental kingdoms being, however, grouped together before the commencement of the story of Rome, while those which deal with scriptural history and the history of Alexander are omitted altogether; the history of Rome running on continuously, with only a digression to show the descent of the Bretons from Brutus the first consul of Rome. The end coincides with that of the first part of the Fleur des Histoires.

Another copy of this work is contained in Royal MS. 20 D. i., and there is one in the Bibliothèque Nationale, no. 301 (formerly 6925); cf. Joly, l. c. The title given above is quoted from these copies, there being none in the present MS.

Vellum; ff. 414. xvth cent. Contains 4 full-page and 2 half-page miniatures (ff. 30 b, 83, 185 b, 203 and ff. 82 b, 206 b); with 31 of smaller size, 2 being inserted in the text and 29 on the lower margin of the page; nearly all are near the beginning of the MS. Two columns to the page, of 38 lines each. Titles of chapters in red, and initial letters of paragraphs in red, blue, and gold. On f. 1 b are the arms (16th cent.), paly of six, argent and gules, of the seigneurs d'Esgevillie [given in Add. MS. 26,693, f. 488, as arg. three pallets gu.]; and on the last page is the device of a basket encircled with a crown and suspended on a thorn branch, with the motto on a scroll "E non plus." Over this is written in a 16th-cent. hand "Pour la librairie d'Esgevillie." Bound in pigskin, stamped with the arms of Jean Jacques Charron, Marquis de Ménars (ob. 1718). Folio.

55. "CHRONOLOGIA tum Sacra tum profana et Romana," from Sulpicius Severus, Justinus, Cornelius Nepos, Florus, Paterculus, etc. It begins with the Creation, and was intended to be carried down to the death of Augustus, but actually ends in B.C. 354, which is given as A.M. 5098, Ol. cvi. 3, and A.U.C. 401. Compiled by John Reynolds, M.A., Fellow of Eton College [1745-1758], Canon of Exeter, and Master of the Grammar School at Exeter.

Paper; ff. 82. Small Folio.

56. A COLLECTION of historical and romantic works, in Latin, viz.:—
1. "Historia de Iehrusalem," in three books, with a Prologue, by "Baldricus, Burguliensium fratrum abbas, postea vero... Dolensium archiepiscopus": the History of the First Crusade, 1095-1099, by Baudri, Abbot of Bourgueil (1079) and Archbishop of Dol (1107, ob. 1130). f. 2.

See the Becueil des Historiens des Croisades, vol. iv. Paris, 1879, pp. 9-111. As there printed, the penultimate sentence of Baudri's work ends, "Christianitas ubique terrarum, Deo gratias, exaltata est" (p. 110). In the present copy (f. 46) these words are followed, without a break, by "Sic itaque nostri triumphantes et deo gratias agentes, spoliis eorum et armis et tentoriis onerati, ad castra regressi sunt," and the history is continued down to A.D. 1106. This continuation agrees with chaps. xxxix. (mid.)-lxxii. of the anonymous "Gesta Francorum expugnantium Iherusalem" printed in the Recueil, vol. iii., 1866, pp. 518 D-543, including the verses at the end, "Venerandus Podiensis Aymar episcopus," etc. These lines are here followed (f. 59) by ten others, beg. "Contigit in nostris quiddam, Taruenna, diebus," referring to the first two kings of Jerusalem, Godfrey and Baldwin (ob. 1118), and the first two Latin patriarchs. The names of the latter are given in the last two lines:—

"Primus Euermarus sedit patriarcha sepulcri; Post hunc Arnulfus, oriundus uterque Cikes."

Properly speaking, Daimbert was the first Patriarch (1100); Ebremar, who was a native of Cikes in Térouanne, succeeding on his deposition in 1103-4, and being himself succeeded by Gibelin (1107-1111). Arnoul de Rohès, who followed (1111-1118), was thus the fourth Patriarch. The same lines, with fourteen others in addition, are printed by Martène and Durand, Vet. Script. amplissima Collectio, 1729, v. col. 539.

2. Brief summary of Norman history down to the accession of Henry I. of England, abridged from the work of William of Jumièges and its continuation. f. 59.

Begins: "Tempore Ludouici cognomento 'Nihil fecit' et Karoli simplicis filii eius." Ends: "sicque cum Anglia etiam Normanniam optinuit."

3. The History of the Trojan War, by Dares Phrygius; said to have been translated from Greek into Latin by Cornelius Nepos. f. 64.

The introductory epistle has the rubric: "Incipit epistola Cornelij ad Crispum Salustium in Troianorum historia, que in greco a Darete hystoriographo facta est." The History is headed: "Incipit hystoria Daretis Troianorum Frigii. de greco translata in latinum a Cornelio Nepote." The text is divided by coloured initials into 38 sections, including the two supplementary sections, "Quis Troianorum quem Grecorum occiderit" and "Quis Grecorum quem Troianorum occiderit." See the Catalogue of Romances in the British Museum, vol. i. p. 12.

4. Apollonius of Tyre: supposed to be a translation of an early Greek romance. f. 75.

Title: "Incipit historia Appollonii Regis Tyrii." The text is not divided into chapters or sections. Begins: "Fuit quidem rex Antiochus nomine." Ends: "et duo uolumina fecit, unum Diane in templo Ephesiorum et aliud bibliothecæ sue." The riddles propounded by "Tharsia" to Apollonius (f. 85) are only seven in number, viz.: 1. Unda; 2. Navis; 3. Balneus; 4. Spongia; 5. Sphæra; 6. Speculum; 7. Scalæ. See the Cat. of Romances, vol. i. p. 161.

5. "Hystoria de Alexandro rege magno Macedonum": the abridgment of the Latin work of Julius Valerius, translated by him from the Greek of Pseudo-Callisthenes. f. 87 b.

See the Cat. of Romances, vol. i. p. 106. Not divided into chapters. Begins: "Egipti sapientes fati (sc. sati) de genere divino primi feruntur." Ends: "uino et ueneno superatus atque extinctus occubuit."

6. The letter of Alexander to Aristotle on the Marvels of India, usually appended to the abridgment of Julius Valerius, as above. f. 99 b.

Title: "Incipit epistola Alexandri regis magni Macedonum ad Aristotilem magistrum suum de itinere et situ Indie." Begins: "Semper memor tui etiam inter dubia bellorum nostrorum." Ends: "animo et industria, optime Aristotile, sponde." See the Cat. of Romances, vol. i. pp. 108, 131.

7. Letters between Alexander and Dindimus, king of the Brahmins. f. 106 b.

The first letter is headed: "Incipit epistola Alexandri ad Dindimum regem Bragmanorum"; and the second: "Prima responsio Dindimi regis Bragmanorum contra Alexandrum regem magnum Macedonum." The letters severally begin: 1. Alex., "Sepius ad aures meas fando peruenit." f. 106 b;—2. Dind., "Desideranter (-tem), Alexander, te scire." f. 107;—3. Alex., "Si hec ita sunt, ut asseris." f. 110;—4. Dind., "Nos, inquit Dindimus, non sumus incole huius mundi." f. 110;—5. Alex., "Tu nunc ideo beatum." f. 110 b. The text agrees with that of the letters as printed by Sir Edw. Bysshe, Palladius de Gentibus Indis, etc., London, 1665, p. 85. See also the Cat. of Romances, vol. i. p. 137.

8. Historia regum Britanniae, by Geoffrey of Monmouth. In ten books, with the prologue "Cum mecum multa," etc. f. 111 b.

Divided into chapters, without numbers, by initials in red. Bk. i. is headed "Incipit Brittanice hystorie liber primus." The prologue to the Prophecies of Merlin, and the epistle to Alexander, Bishop of Lincoln, are at the end of Bk. vi. (f. 149 b), Bk. vii.

beginning the Prophecies, with the words "Sedente itaque Uortegirno." See the Cat. of Romances, vol. i. p. 203.

Vellum; ff. 185. About A.D. 1200. In double columns of 34 lines; initials in red and green. In brown leather binding, stamped with the arms of Sir James Ley, Bart. (1619), afterwards Baron Ley (1624) and Earl of Marlborough (1626). Quarto.

57. "SCUTUM BEDE. Collectivvs Gaufridi de Vfford": a collection of Latin treatises, moral, grammatical, and historical, in mixed prose and rhyming verse, viz. :—

1. List of vices, tabulated in four classes, with the reason why each should be avoided, e.g. "Irascere noli. Quare? Quia ira iuri iustitiam dei non operatur." Followed by ten lines of verse, beg. "Hęc figura scutum dicta Bede: in partes octo picta." The article is not the same as the "Scutum Bede" in the Bodleian Library (Bernard's Catalogus, no. 1953, now no. 630). f. 1 b.
2. Exhortation to the study of letters. f. 2.

Beg.: "Noli mi fili monitum mispendere vili Cipus erit laudis, si quę pater edocet audis."

Ends: "Hinc alphabetis primis insisto dietis, Quo mage scriptura tali pateat mihi cura."

After this follow (f. 3) tables of the Hebrew, Greek, and Latin alphabets, numerals, etc., together with (f. 3 b) "Litterę Norm[ann]orum quę dicuntur run-stafes" (sc. runes), and (f. 4) "Caracteres Ethyici phylosophi" (cf. H. Wuttke, Cosmographia Ethici, 1853, p. 85).

3. Explanation of certain signs of notation, as the asteriscus, obelus, etc.; in verse, with glosses in prose, chiefly from Isidore's Etymologiarum lib. i. cap. 21 (Migne, lxxxii. col. 96). f. 4 b.

Beg.: "In quibusdam laborare Sensum excedentibus Uisum quasi delirare Est discretis mentibus."

4. Instructions for the pronunciation of letters, beg. "Annotatis superius quarundam gentium quibusdam alphabetis et scripturarum notulis." f. 5.

This and the two preceding articles apparently form one work.

5. Abstract of Bible History, etc., with continuations including a Chronicle of England to 1154. f. 5 b.

Begins with a prologue explaining the author's intentions in undertaking the work, beg. :—

"Tot et tanti tractanere De raptis temporibus, Precallentes qui fuere Et uerbis et moribus.

. . . . .
Sed me causę commouere Principales geminę.
Quod, si mentem exercere Uellem uerbi semine,
Plus liceret his studere, Uiri quis et femine
Ad exemplum refulsere Diffidente nemine,
Et ut michi manulem Librum hinc conficerem
In quo summam mox annalem Dubitans conspicerem."

The preface begins on f. 6 b, with the words "Infra rerum humanarum varios nobilesque circuitus." The materials of the work are so arranged as to show the influence of the number seven ("septenarii numeri mysterium," f. 7 b). It opens with a statement of the nature of the Trinity, beg. "De conditione creaturarum verba prolaturus" (f. 8 b), which is followed by an account of the Creation. Then, as a preliminary to the narrative of the proceedings of man on the earth, comes a dissertation on the seven liberal arts (f. 15). The Bible narrative follows, prose and verse being intermixed in it, following the order of the books, and including an abstract of the Mosaic law; the period of the kings is described very summarily (ff. 19 b-74 b). A short note by the author (f. 75) introduces the account of the Captivity and of the interval between the Old and New Testaments, with which are joined lists of the kings of Assyria, Media, Persia, Sicyon, Egypt, Argos, Athens, Thebes, Lacedæmon, Corinth, Macedonia, Lydia, and Babylon (ff. 75-87). After a fresh metrical prologue, beg. "Decantaturus nova carmina, postpositurus Pristina" (f. 88), and a list of heresies (f. 88 b), comes a short abstract of the New Testament history and the spread of the Gospel, and the persecutions under various emperors to the fall of the Western Empire (ff. 90 b-100). The subjects now become historical, including lists of the kings and emperors of Rome, the kings of France from their origin from Antenor of Troy to Louis VI. [1108-1137], and the dukes of the Lombards (ff. 100-108). The author then introduces a geographical description of the different parts of the earth (ff. 108 b-113), taken from Orosius and other authorities, and concludes the whole of this part of the work with some rhyming verses on death, beg. "Morte ruunt quę uiua fluunt sub culmine celi" (ff. 113 b, 114). A fresh preface follows (f. 114 b), with references to the remaining contents either of this MS. or of one from which it is copied, beg. "Ad id usque temporis"; to which is added a verse address to the reader. Then comes a list of the popes (f. 116 b), which is very incomplete; the last names, apparently in a later hand than the rest, are Eugenius [? III., 1145], Adrian [? IV., 1154], Innocent [a mistake], and Alexander [? III., 1159-1181]. After a blank page comes a verse prologue to a chronicle of England (f. 119 b), beg.:

"Trium gentum generamen Edicturus breuiter
Ut earum lineamen Intendatur leuiter
Britte, Angle, Normanneque, Preualentis ceteris, Scripta sequor lancis eque Ponderantis ueteris."

The chronicle begins (f. 120) "Dardanus ex Jove et Electra." It includes a list of the Heptarchio kings, and ends abruptly with the coronation of Henry II. [1154]; in a list which follows, the names of "Henricus filius H. ii.," Richard and John are added in a different hand. At the end are the following lines (f. 144):—

"Explicit Anglorum series Britonumque priorum, Attigit Henrici que tempora pacis amioi Regis in hac gente, Stephano prius antra tenente, Edita quam breuiter, ut pateat leuiter."

6. "Libellus de Virtutibus et Vitiis," in verse of various metres. f. 145.

Begins: "Virtutum formam vitiorum monstra notando."

Preceded (f. 144 b) by some introductory lines, beg. :—

"Motus morum uite signum Gestorum indicium."

7. "De Natura Jumentorum, Bestiarum, et cunctorum Animalium," including lists of names of animals (with the Anglo-Saxon or Norman names sometimes added in another hand), precious stones, trees and plants. f. 156. Begins, "Omnibus animantibus Adam prius uocabula indidit." Preceded (f. 155 b) by some introductory lines, beg. :—

"Post volumen consignatum ante ceu putauimus
In cor uenit commutatum hoc quod exarauimus
De naturis bestiarum uolucrum et uermium
Lapidumque et herbarum arborum et piscium."

8. "Medicine quas probaverunt Ypocras, Aristotiles, Paulus, Plato, Cosmas et Damianus": various medical recipes, beg. "In primis ad capitis dolorem." f. 166 b.

In the margin of the last page is a recipe in verse, "De plaga," beg. :—

"Hec est curande ualidissima potio plage."

The colophon of the whole work runs :—

"Hic collectiuis doctrine per loca rinus Explicit, intentos satians, renuens male lentos."

With regard to the title "Scutum Bede" (see above, p. 36), Leland (De Scriptoribus Britannicis, p. 118) mentions a grammatical work called "scutum Bedæ" among the works falsely attributed to Bede. This title, however, would apparently apply only to the grammatical extracts on ff. 1-5; but the name of the author, Geoffrey de Ufford, probably applies to the whole volume. The work must have been originally compiled early in the reign of Henry II. The text is accompanied throughout by a great quantity of marginal and interlinear glosses, apparently in the same hand, in which various authorities are quoted, including Hugo de S. Victore (f. 14), who died in 1142.

Vellum; ff. 166. Circ. 1200. Initials coloured and ornamented. Leaves have been cut out between ff. 1 and 2, 53 and 54 (two), 86 and 87, 118 and 119 (two), 162 and 163. The volume contains the autographs of Thomas Hatcher (1611) and Thomas Martin of Palgrave (1729). Small Folio.

SECT. II.—ENGLISH.

58. "LIBER Abbatissæ de Hyde juxta Winton": a chronicle of the affairs of England, from the settlement of the Saxons to the reign of Cnut, with copies of charters, etc., relating to Newminster, afterwards Hyde Abbey, Winchester, where the work was compiled. Printed in the Rolls Series, 1866 (ed. Edw. Edwards), from an early 15th cent. MS. belonging to the Earl of Macclesfield. The present copy, which does not appear to have been known to the above editor, is imperfect, beginning in the middle of ch. vii. (Rolls ed., p. 14), and ending in the middle of ch. xix. (ibid., p. 192). The arrangement of the latter portion of the MS. differs considerably from that of the printed edition. There is another copy (from the Macclesfield MS.) in the hand of John Stow, 1572, in Lansdowne MS. 717.

Paper; ff. 70. xvth-xviii cent. Belonged to Peter Le Neve, Norroy, in 1704 (f. 3); to Joseph Edmondson, Mowbray Herald, in 1765 (f. 1); and to Dr. Andrew Coltee Ducarel, whose book-plate of arms is inserted, in 1766 (f. 1). At the sale of Dr. Ducarel's MSS. in 1786 it was purchased by Thomas Astle (f. 2). Inside the covers is also a second book-plate of arms, viz.: arg. a bull passant sable, armed or, within a bordure sa. bezanty (Cole?), quartering chequy or and gu. on a chief az. a bar wavy arg. (Rayley?), surmounted by the crest, a demi-dragon holding an arrow, headed and feathered, with motto, "Parva seges satis est," and initials I. C. Octavo.

59. "EXPLANATIO Testamenti Regis Alfredi," and other writings relating to Hyde Abbey, Winchester, in Latin and English, copied "ex libro Abbatiss de Hyda," sc. from Stowe 58, ff. 23 b-47 b, 53-68. All the documents are included in the Rolls Series edition of the Liber Monasterii de Hyda, 1866.

Paper; ff. 61. xviiith cent. Bound in crimson morocco, tooled. Belonged to T. Astle. Quarto.

60. "STEPHANI regis vita": extracts, chronologically arranged, from the Gesta Stephani (ed. Duchesne), Ordericus Vitalis, Henry of Huntingdon, and other chronicles, chiefly taken from printed editions. With a few marginal notes by Sir Roger Twysden (ob. 1672).

Paper; ff. 218. xviiith cent. Folio.

61. "JOHANNIS regis vita": extracts, chronologically arranged, from Roger de Hoveden, Matthew Paris, Ralph de Coggeshall, and other chronicles, etc., chiefly taken from printed editions. With a few marginal notes by Sir Roger Twysden.

Paper; ff. 333. xviiith cent. Folio.

62. HISTORIA ANGLO-RO-MA-NORUM, to 1198, by William of Newburgh. In five books, each with a table of chapters; preceded by the author's dedicatory letter to Ernaldus, Abbot of Rievaulx, headed "Epistola Willelmi uiri religiosi canonici de nouoburgo prefacionalis operis sequentis et apologetica ad abbatem Rieuallia." The text was used as the basis of the editions of T. Hearne, 1719, and R. Howlett, Rolls Series, 1884, being probably copied from the author's rough draft.

Owing to the loss of a quire (of 8 leaves) after f. 67 and two leaves after f. 100, Bk. iii. ch. 5-15 and Bk. iv. ch. 10-12 are wanting. The matter has been supplied by Sir Roger Twysden from MS. 73 in the Lambeth Library (ed. Hearne, vol. i. p. 269, note 2).

At the end, in a later hand of the 13th cent., are: (a) "Omelia super cum loqueretur Iesus ad turbas," sc. Luke xi. 27. f. 159;—(b) "Sermo de trinitate." The first column only, the following quire being lost. f. 166 b;—(c) "Sermo de sancto Albano." The latter portion only. f. 167. These titles are from a list of contents, of the same date, on f. 2 b. The homilies are printed at the end of Hearne's edition of Will. of Newburgh (vol. iii. p. 817), the missing portions being supplied from the Lambeth MS. as above.

Vellum; ff. 174. Circ. A.D. 1200. Written in double columns of 32 lines, with ornamental initials in red, blue, and green, and rubricated headings of chapters. At the head of the table of contents (13th cent.) and at the top of f. 3 (14th cent.) is inscribed "Liber sancte Marie de Nouo Burgo," sc. Newburgh Priory, co. York, of which house the author was a canon. The following names of owners also occur:—John Wells, 16th cent. (f. 2);—[Sir] Henry Spelman, "empt. 16 Aug. 1633, precium 16s." (f. 2 b);—[Sir] Roger Twysden (inside the cover). At the date of Hearne's edition the MS. belonged to Sir Thomas Sebright, Bart. (ob. 1736). Small Folio.

63. THE CHRONICLE of Walter Hemingburgh (al. Hemingford, al. Walter de Gisburne), from the Conquest to 1312, in Latin. The first leaf has been cut out; the second begins with the words "Normannie clam direxit" (ed. Hamilton, vol. i. p. 6). Ends "terra siluit et quieuit" (ibid., vol. ii. p. 296). After the history are three appendices, one entitled "Regna Britannie sibi deinceps succedentia," giving a list of the successive governments of England, and a description of the seven kingdoms of the Heptarchy (f. 177); the second, "de episcopis maioris Britannie sive Anglie et eorum sedibus positis et translatis" (ff. 178–180); the third, a list of the nine principal rivers of England (f. 180 b). Colophon, "Scriptum manu mea Rogeri Dalysen olim hie scholastici gremialis," 1533 (? Roger Dallison, Fellow of St. John's Coll., Cambridge, 1523, Canon of Lincoln 1554, ob. 1566). On the fly-leaf (f. 1 b) is an index to the beginnings of reigns, and in a later hand the title "Gualteri Hemmyngford canonici Gisburnensis Historia Regum Anglorum a Gulielmo I. usque ad annum 6 Edw. II., viz. ab an. 1066 ad an. 1312." The Chronicle has been edited by Gale (1687), with completion by Hearne (1731), and by H. C. Hamilton (English Historical Society, 1848), but without mention of this MS. Vellum; ff. 180. A.D. 1533. With titles and initials of chapters in red. On f. 1 b is the inscription (16th cent.) "Edm. Hayes Emptus apud Windsor novam"; and on f. 2 is the name of Sir Henry Spelman, which is repeated on the inside of the cover with the addition "precium xx." Quarto.

64. THE POLYCHRONICON of Ranulph Higden, in seven books, continued to 1377. No title, the first leaf of the index (which precedes the text) and the first two leaves of the text [from "Post praeclaros artium scriptores" to "veritas non vacillet," ed. Babington and Lumby, Rolls Series, vol. i. p. 16] being cut out and supplied in a hand of the 16th cent. The text, after the Prologue, begins (f. 12 b) "Ex senatus consulto," and the sixth book ends (f. 201) "manus ei dederunt." The seventh book is in 51 chapters; the continuation from 1342 begins in the middle of ch. 46 (f. 239 b), "die S. Nicholai obiit papa Clemens VI.," and ends with the preaching of Wiclif at Oxford in 1377, "palam in eorum sermonibus praedicantes." This continuation is identical with that contained in MS. 82 at Caius College, Cambridge [B in the Rolls Series edition], with which this MS. corresponds generally in text throughout (though including the section on Brabant, in bk. i. c. 28, which is wanting in B). There is no colophon or break at the year 1327, nor at 1342; but opposite the end of 1360 (f. 240) is written, in a later hand [apparently that of Ethelbert Burdet, see below], "hic finitur polichronicon compositum per Ranulphum monachum cestrensem et continuatur hec historia per Johannem Trevisam per 55 annos," with a quotation from the 1557 edition of Bale's Scriptorum Illustrum Majoris Britanniae Catalogus, p. 518, on which the reference to Trevisa is apparently based, stating that the 55 years covered by the continuations are from 1342 to 1397.

Vellum; ff. 243. Early xvth cent. Initials of chapters in blue and red; titles of chapters and references to authors in red; 45 lines to the page. In the margin are dates and occasional notes. Belonged (see f. 2) to Ethelbert Burdet, Fellow of All Souls College, Oxford, 1546, Canon of Lincoln 1565 (Foster, Alumni Oxon., vol. i. p. 211), "ex dono M<sup>ri</sup> Anthonii Masonii." Folio.

65. THE POLYCHRONICON of Ranulph Higden, translated into English by John Trevisa; in seven books. With three prefaces, the first beg. "Aftir solempne and wijsse writeris of artis and sciencia." The text does not agree completely with that of any of the MSS. collated for the edition in the Rolls Series. The following passages are supplied in a modern imitative hand:—Bk. i. ch. 5 (f. 4), "and wryte and certyfye" (ed. Babington and Lumby, Rolls Series, vol. i. p. 43)—ch. 15 (f. 10 b), "with moneye and grete" (ed. cit. i. 125);—Bk. i. ch. 22 (f. 14), "sholde take yonglynges" (ed. cit. i. 183)—ch. 28 (f. 21 b), "in the northe the" (ed. cit. i. 295);—Bk. iv. ch. 16 (f. 103), "to wedde his vessels" (ed. cit. v. 31)—ch. 29 (f. 111 b), "Macharies one of Egypte" (ed. cit. v. 189);—Bk. vii. ch. 4 (f. 170), "The kyng of Fraunce scorned" (ed. cit. vii. 311)—ch. 8 (f. 173 b), "the fende had hym ofte" (ed. cit. vii. 377);—Bk. vii. ch. 44 (f. 399), "the kynges brother of Nauerne" (ed. cit. viii. 350)—end. The text of the portions thus supplied is largely taken from Caxton, including the false date 1357 [for 1387] at the end. The Chronicle is followed by other translations, etc., by Trevisa, viz.:—(a) "Dialogus inter clericum et militem": a Dialogue on the spiritual and temporal power, beg. "Ich wondere, sore noble knigt," translated from the Latin of William Occam. f. 202;—(b) "Sermo dni. archiepiscopi Armacani [Richard Fitz-Ralph] factus Auinione 8<sup>o</sup> die mensis Nouembris, anno dni. 1358<sup>o</sup>": a sermon against the mendicant orders, on John vii. 24, "Demep nozt by pe face." f. 205 b;—(c) "Dialogus inter dominum et clericum": a dialogue in English on translation, as an introduction to the Polychronicon, beg. "Seppe pat Babel was buld." f. 217;—(d) Letter by Trevisa, on his translation of Higden, to his patron, Thomas Berkeley, 5th Baron Berkeley (ob. 1417), beg. "Welpe and werschip to my worpi and werschipful Lord sore Thomas lord of Berkeleye, I John Trevisa," etc. Printed by Caxton, with the Dialogue on translation, in his edition of the Polychronicon, 1482 (cf. Rolls ed., vol. i. p. lxi). f. 218;—(e) Alphabetical table of contents of the Polychronicon. f. 218. All these articles are found in most MSS. of the Polychronicon, but usually precede it; but the Latin index, which is found in addition in other MSS., is not present here.

Vellum; ff. 222. Early xvth cent. In double columns of 49 lines. Initials of chapters in red and blue. With illuminated borders at the beginning of the several books. On the last page is an acquittance to Edw. Clere [of Blickling, Sheriff of Norfolk in 1567] for rent of a tenement "in Saynt Edmondes in Norwiche, in old tyme Sir Nicholas Goldwell," 24 Nov. 1559. Folio.

66. 1. FORM of resignation of the crown by Richard II. [29 Sept. 1399], followed by the "protestacio regis Ricardi ante resignacionem," the challenge of the crown by Henry, Duke of Lancaster, and his speech after election as Henry IV. The first two articles in Latin, the others in English. See Rot. Parl., vol. iii. pp. 416, 423. f. 1.

2. Two pieces in verse: the first, of four lines only, beg. "Sic deus humani libravit tempora cursus | Vt viuens nunquam mel sine felle bibat"; the second, of twenty lines, headed "Versus in laudem Anglie," beg. "Anglia terra ferax et fertilis angulus orbis." ff. 2, 2 b. The latter piece (for another copy of which see Add. 11,983, f. 46 b) has been attributed to Richard of Cluny, Alfred of Beverley, and Henry of Huntingdon.

Vellum; ff. 2. xvth cent. Duodecimo.

67. "CRONICA bona et compendiosa de Regibus Anglie . . . a tempore Noe usque ad tempus Henrici quarti . . . et de sanctis interim in Anglia eorum temporibus existentium." Begins "Noe fuerunt tres filii"; and ends in the 2nd year of Henry IV. [1401] with the expostulatory letter of Philip Repingdon, or Repington, Abbot of Leicester, to the king, on the state of the kingdom, beginning "Illustrissime princeps et serenissime domine dignetur vestra celstudo," etc., and ending "vestre si placeat celstutudinis indignus servulus Philippus predicator vester assiduus." Repington was formerly a supporter of Wiolif, then Confessor to Henry [before the date of this letter], Chancellor of Oxford University in 1400, Abbot of St. Mary de Pré, Leicester [1393-1404], Bishop of Lincoln [1405-1414], Cardinal [1408], and died 1434. An anecdote illustrating his relations with Henry IV. is inserted in the Leicester Abbey Register, Cott. MS. Vitell. F. xvii.,

 f. 42 b (cf. Tanner, Bibl. Britannico-Hibernica, p. 622). The letter is printed in the Correspondence of Bekyngton, Rolls Series, vol. i.
 p. 151, and is also found, without the writer's name, in the Chronicle of Adam of Usk, ed. E. M. Thompson, p. 63. After the letter is added a table of kings, with the length of their reigns, from William I. down to Henry VI., whose regnal years, "xxxxviii.
 annis et ultra," are added by a later hand; and the volume concludes with two hexameter verses containing the same names.

A shorter form of this chronicle, in which little is given except the bare chronology, exists in Cotton MSS. Nero D. vi. (ff. 7 b-15 b), Tib. E. viii. (ff. 220-225), and other MSS. in the British Museum.
 All these end with the accession of Richard II. in 1377 (corresponding with f. 64 of this MS.). Mr. Churchill Babington (Higden's Polychronicon, Rolls Series, vol. i. p. xii. note) mentions a copy at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, ending in 1367, and one at Winchester College, ending in 1377. The title to the Cottonian copy Tib. E. viii. states that the chronicle was "conscripta a Ranulpho Higdeno Cestrensi monacho, qui vixit anno gratiae cio. iiii. lviii." If this ascription is correct, the present longer version may be also in part the work of Higden, but more probably it is by a later writer expanding the shorter chronicle with the assistance of the Polychronicon. There are several references to the latter in the course of the work (e.g. f. 15 b, "cetera gesta aluredi regis vide in cronica cistrensi, li° 6°, 1° 2° et iii° capitulis"), which may suit either hypothesis. In any case the later portion of the work cannot be by Higden, who probably died in 1363, and certainly not later than 1377.

Vellum; ff. 71. 25 to 28 lines to the page. xvth cent. Belonged to John Benson (f. 71 b) and William Vagger of Sussex (f. 1 b), at the end of 15th cent.; "liber Joannis Twyni ex dono Joannis Twyni (Wood, Ath. Oxon., vol. i., col. 463) patris sui, 1578"; bought by
 J. Lowe in 1771 at an auction of the books of P[hilip] C[arteret]
 Webb (ob. 1770). Small Quarto.

68. CHRONICLE OF THE BRUTE, in English. Begins with the rubric "Here may a man here hou England," etc., and proceeds

"In the noble lond of Sirrie"; breaks off imperfectly in the year 1356, ending with the words "hit was told and certified to the king." Several leaves are missing just before the last two. The last chapter is numbered 229, and begins with the sea-fight against the Spaniards off Winchelsea.

Vellum; ff. 189. Middle of xvth cent. Titles of chapters in red; initial letters in red and blue. Belonged in the 17th cent. (see f. 1) to William Browne, the author of Britannias Pastorals, 1625, etc. Small Folio.

69. CHRONICLE OF THE BRUTE, in English. Begins with the rubric "Here may a man here," proceeding "In the noble londe of Sirrie." Ends in the middle of the description of the siege of Rouen in 1418-19, with the words "and manfully countred with our Englisch men." At the end (f. 192) are four leaves which contain a brief chronicle extracted from the chronicle, especially relating to London, and one torn leaf (f. 196) on which are written some stanzas on the kings of England; those relating to William I., William II., Henry II., and Richard I. now alone remain. They are attributed to Lydgate (cf. Harl. MS. 5251, f. 2 b).

Paper, with occasional vellum leaves; ff. 197. Middle of the xvth cent. Spaces left for titles and illuminated initials, but none filled up except a few titles near the beginning. The name of William Darel, of the 16th cent., is on f. 196 b. The fly-leaves are fragments containing portions of an index of contents of a work, apparently on canon law, of the 14th cent. Small Folio.

70. CHRONICLE OF THE BRUTE, in English. Has the two introductory paragraphs, beginning "The first inhabityng of pis lande," and proceeds "Some tyme in pe lande of Surre." Ends with the siege of Rouen in 1418-19, but with words slightly different from the usual ones, "and putte pe toun in gouvernaunce and reule and cried his peace amonges the citezeins." The last chapter is numbered 238, beginning with the accession of Henry V. The language is somewhat modernised, and the arrangement of chapters altered; e.g. between Arthur and Conan there is only a single chapter, which is a confused version of the four that usually stand there.

Vellum; ff. 142. xvth cent. Titles of chapters in red, and spaces left for illuminated initials, but none filled in. The fly-leaves are fragments of Latin theological works from a MS. of the end of the 13th cent. (ff. 1, 141) and (f. 142) from a printed volume of the 16th cent. Small Folio.

71. CHRONICLE OF THE BRUTE, in English. This copy is of the same class as those contained in Harl. 1337 and 6251; it does not agree entirely with them, but all three differ considerably from other versions of the Brute. The title in the first rubric is "Here bigynneth the Boke of the Cronycolez of the kinges of England." The prologue begins, "This boke tretith and telleth of all kynges and principall lordis that ever were in this lande." Then follows the history, beg. "Sumtyme in the nobyll londe of Surre." Breaks off incomplete in the account of the siege of Rouen, with the words "whiche was byfore the forest of leonez." The four chapters between Arthur and Conan are omitted, also the prophecies of Merlin concerning Henry III. and Edward II. [cf. Sir F. Madden in Notes and Queries, 2nd Ser., vol. i. p. 1, 1856]; but that concerning Edward I. is inserted near the end of the reign of Edward II.

Paper; ff. 87. xvth cent. Titles of chapters in red; spaces left for illuminated initials, but none of them filled up. The fly-leaves (ff. 1, 2, 85, 86) are from a Latin service-book of the 13th cent., with the music. Belonged to Thomas Bromley (f. 1 b, and with the date 1576, f. 2 b) and Christopher Davye (f. 86), at the end of the 16th cent.; and on a slip of paper (formerly used as a marker) pasted down on the last leaf (f. 87) are notes of the birth of Helen Bromley, 25 July, 1583, and Elizabeth Bromley, 5 Nov. 1584. Small Folio.

72. GENEALOGICAL CHRONICLE, in Latin, of the kings of England to Edward IV., tracing their descent from Adam through the Trojan kings; with the genealogy of Christ in a parallel column. Beg. "Veterum cronicorum de successione regum anglie ordo hic insequitur." An English copy, slightly imperfect, is in Stowe 73, probably written by the same scribe.

Vellum roll, 14 ft. by 8½ in. xvth cent. With initials in gold, blue and red.

73. GENEALOGICAL CHRONICLE, in English, of the kings of England to Edward IV., tracing their descent from Adam through the Trojan kings; with the genealogy of Christ in a parallel column. Begins: "Consideryng the greet desire of many men that wold haue knowlege of olde cronicles." Imperfect, wanting certainly one leaf at the end, as well as one near the beginning (see the complete Latin copy in Stowe 72).

Vellum; ff. 48, but originally in form of a roll. xvth cent. With names, as owners, of Edward Rowe Mores, 1750 (f. 3), and Thomas Astle, 1779 (f. 1). Quarto.

74. GENEALOGICAL HISTORY of the Sovereigns of England, from Egbert, A.D. 801, to Elizabeth. Latin. With arms in trick.

Paper; ff. 39. xviiith cent. At f. 38 the writer has inscribed in the margin "decimo tertio die Novembris anno 1612. hic incipiebam." A note at f. 1 by Sir Isaac Heard, Clarenceux, afterwards Garter King of Arms, dated 9 Oct. 1781, states that the book was given to him by William Conyngham (late Burton), Teller of the Exchequer in Ireland. Folio.

75. 1. EPITOME of English history, from 1066 to the accession of Elizabeth. f. 4.

2. Genealogy of the Saxon kings, from Egbert to Edgar the Ætheling; with arms in colours. f. 18.

3. Genealogy of the royal house of England, from William I. to Philip and Mary; with arms in colours. Continued, in a 17th-cent. hand, to 1671. f. 22.

4. "The alliaunce betwext the kingdomes of England and Fraunce. Wherby the tytyle of England to the crowne of Fraunce appereth." f. 36.

All the articles, except the continuation of art. 3, were written in 1592 by M[organ] Col[man]: see ff. 3, 16. At f. 2 are the arms of Queen Elizabeth; and at f. 3, after the table of contents, is a dedication to Lord [Burghley?]. Colman, who in the latter part of Elizabeth's reign petitioned unsuccessfully for a place in the College of Arms (see Noble's College of Arms, London, 1805, p. 189), was in 1588 in the service of Burghley's eldest son, afterwards 1st Earl of Exeter (see Lansdowne MS. 99, f. 141).

Paper and (ff. 2, 22) vellum; ff. 38. Given (see f. 1) to Thomas Astle by Sir R[ichard] W[orsley] (?), 26 June, 1779. Folio.

76. "GESTA BRITANNICA, præsertim Anglorum, adjectis aliquot observationibus, maxime in iis quæ ad ecclesiam a temporibus retroactis ad A.D. mdcxlviii [Jan. 1648] spectant." The work, which is apparently autograph, is divided into ten books, the last three (ff. 211 b—362) containing the reigns of James I. and Charles I. The author states (f. 261 b) that he began the reign of Charles, "luctuosam hanc historiæ partem," on 18 June, 1660; and at the end of the index (the greater part of which is torn out) is the colophon "Finis, Deo gratias, April 28, 1664, anno ætatis 70." From marginal notes on ff. 227 b, 228 b, it may be inferred that he survived the fire of London in 1666. His name is not given; but he calls himself (f. 242) a native of Cheshire, and he was ordained priest by the Bishop of London on 31 May, 1618 (f. 245). He mentions (f. 268 b) "nostra ecclesia de Shoreditch," expresses his gratitude (f. 262) for his preservation in the plague of 1625, "licet ad cœtus et sepulchra ratione officii præsentem," and quotes from memory (f. 327 b) a speech by Laud, as Bishop of London, to his clergy on the subject of the Eucharist. He gives also (f. 314) a full account of the imprisonment by the Parliament of John Squire (ob. 1653), Vicar of St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, in 1642, styling him "amicus sincerus, cum quo multam ætatem consumpsi"; and he incidentally refers (f. 342) to his own release from confinement in the house of Lord Petre, where his place was taken (30 Sept. 1643) by Dr. Daniel Featly, Rector of Lambeth, with whom he was on intimate terms. From the list of priests ordained on 31 May, 1618, contained in the MS. ordination-books of the diocese of London, preserved in St. Paul's Cathedral, he may be identified with Roger Ley, or Lea, M.A., of Jesus College, Cambridge, who is described as "natus apud Crewe, in com. Cestrie, annorum etatis 24 aut eo circiter, constitutus ad curam sci. Leonardi in Shorediche." He was the author of two sermons preached at St. Paul's Cross and published in 1619 and 1622. Although events of general history are recorded, a large proportion of the work deals with questions of doctrine and church discipline. Many of these are discussed at considerable length, such as the Hampton Court Conference, predestination, the observance of the Lord's Day, the innovations of Laud, the agitation against episcopacy, etc. The writer complains bitterly of the treatment of the clergy and the desecration of churches during the Civil War, describing, e.g., as an eye-witness (f. 228 b) the condition of St. Paul's Cathedral. Several chapters at the end of each reign contain notices of bishops, divines, and scholars, among whom are the following:—

George Abbot, Archbishop of Canterbury, f. 249 b.

Robert Abbot, Bishop of Salisbury, f. 244 b.

Lancelot Andrews, Bishop of Winchester, f. 246 b.

Gervase Babington, Bishop of Worcester, f. 242 b.

John King, Bishop of London, f. 442 b.	Sir Henry Spelman, f. 260.
Arthur Lake, Bishop of Bath and Wells, f. 245 b.	John Spottiswood, Archbishop of St. Andrews, f. 331.
William Laud, Archbishop of Canter- bury, f. 325 b.	Ephraim Udall, Rector of St. Augus- tine's, London, f. 344.
Tobias Matthew, Archbishop of York, f. 249.	James Ussher, Archbishop of Armagh, f. 331 b.
James Montague, Bishop of Win- chester, f. 244 b.	Richard Vaughan, Bishop of London, f. 242.
	Sir Henry Wotton, f. 259.

Milton is mentioned on f. 301 b ("Miltonus quidam laicus, postea regis insignissimus adversarius") as the author of an anti-episcopal pamphlet in answer to Ussher [in 1641].

Paper; ff. 364. Folio.

77. "BEHEMOTH, or the Epitome of y<sup>e</sup> Civill Wars of England," 1640-1660; by Thomas Hobbes of Malmesbury. At the end (f. 65), in a different hand, is an exposition (incomplete) of the statute "22 and 23 Car. 2<sup>d</sup> cap. 10<sup>o</sup>, An Act for the better settling of Intestates estates."

Paper; ff. 68. Late xviiith cent. Folio.

78. "AN ALPHABETICAL MEMORANDUM-BOOK or Index, whereby several remarkable passages in Rapin's History of England (to the Revolution) may be easily turn'd to. Continued to the end of King William's Reign from another History, etc." With dedication by Charles Gibbon, 1 Mar. 1733 [4], to William, Duke of Cumberland.

Paper; ff. 52. Small Quarto.

79. NOTES on Rapin's History of England by Philip Morant [1700-1770], the historian of Essex, consisting of references to, and extracts from, the earlier chroniclers illustrating certain passages. In two volumes, bound in one, the first relating to British and Saxon times, the second to the reign of William the Conqueror.

Paper; ff. 45, 28. Quarto.

80. CATALOGUE, made by Humphrey Wanley (ob. 1726), of those chronicles and histories of England in the Cotton Collection which, at the time this catalogue was made, had not been printed; followed, on f. 25, by a similar list, made by the same, of chronicles already printed. Copy, apparently in the hand of Tho. Astle.

Paper; ff. 37. xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Quarto.

81. THE ANNALS of Ireland in the time of Henry II., by Sir James Ware. With some verbal alterations, the matter agrees with the work first printed in 1705 under the title of The Annals of Ireland from the first Conquest by the English in the reign of King Henry II., etc. Imperfect; ending abruptly with the chapter for 1180. At the end (f. 41) are added a few notes relating to the years 1170, 1171, "taken from a manuscript written by Sir James Ware."

Paper; ff. 41. xviiith cent. Small Quarto.

82. "THE HISTORY of the Execrable Irish Rebellion., trac'd from many preceding Acts, to the grand Eruption, the 23. of October, 1641, and thence pursued to the Act of Settlement, MDCLXII." The printed work, with its appendices, by Edmund Borlase, M.D., published anonymously in 1680; with numerous autograph and other corrections and additions. A note on f. 2 states that the MS. of the work was submitted in 1679 to Sir Roger L'Estrange, Licensor of the press, who erased many passages unfavourable to the King and his party, but that they are supplied in this copy by the author under his own hand. The additions are not included in the 2nd edition, published in 1743. Among them are:—

1. A letter from Sir Roger L'Estrange to the author, on alterations in his MS.; 20 Feb. 167 $\frac{3}{4}$ . Copy. f. 1.
2. The answer of Sir George Radcliffe to the Remonstrance of the Irish House of Commons against the Earl of Strafford; 9 Jan. 164 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Copy. f. 28.
3. Proclamation by Sir Phelim O'Neill and Rory Maguire "to all Catholiques of y<sup>e</sup> Romish party, both English and Irish, within the kingdome of Ireland," reciting the pretended commission to them from Charles I., under the Great Seal of Scotland, dated at Edinburgh, 1 Oct. 1641, to act against the English Protestants in Ireland, etc.; "from our camp at Newry," 4 Nov. 1641. Copy. f. 50.
4. "Mr. James Sall of Cashel, Serjeant at Law, his advice tendred unto the Confederates at Kilkenny, June 20, 1644." f. 136.
5. Arthur Annealey, Earl of Anglesey, to Dr. [Andrew?] Sall, commenting on Dr. Borlase's book, and remarking that he had copied in places from a MS. of "A short view of the State of

- Ireland from the years 1640 to y<sup>e</sup> years 1652" [written by Lord Clarendon]; Drury Lane, 22 Mar. 1679 [80]. Copy. f. 161.
6. Correspondence of the Earl of Clanricarde and Gerald Fitz-Gerald with the English Parliamentary Commissioners in Ireland, for a settlement of affairs; Galway, Garrench, Dublin, 14 Feb.—15 Mar. 1651 [2]. Printed. f. 227.
7. "Mercurius Publicus," No. 17, for 25 Apr.—2 May, 1661. Printed. Imperfect. f. 244.
8. John Davis to Lord —, relating to the examination of Sir Nicholas Plunkett by the Privy Council and the passing of the Act for the Settlement of Ireland; London, 15 Mar. 1661 [2]. f. 324.
9. Royal warrant in favour of the Marquis of Antrim; Whitehall, 11 Aug. 1663. Copy. f. 325.
10. Richard Tennison to Henry Jones, Bishop of Meath, with details of murders by the Irish at Trim, co. Meath, in 1641; Trim, 13 Apr. 1674. f. 327.
11. Evidences of cruelties committed by the Irish in cos. Cork, Kerry, etc., in 1641. f. 329.
12. Extract from "The Politicians Catechisme" [by N. N., printed at Antwerp, 1658], relating to Ireland. f. 331.
13. — Broneben (?) to Dr. Borlase, in Chester, with corrections for his history; 30 Sept. 1679. f. 333.
14. Notes of festivals and lives of Irish Saints, from 27 Apr. to 2 May: a fragment. f. 336.
Paper; ff. 356 + i. End of xviiith cent. With book-plate of Joseph Smith, LL.D. Folio.
83. "A SHORT VIEW of the State of Ireland from the years 1640 to y<sup>e</sup> years 1652": a transcript of a work published in 1719–20 under the title of The History of the Rebellion and Civil Wars in Ireland, . . . by . . . Edward, Earl of Clarendon. On f. 114 b is copied part of a letter (cf. Stowe 82, f. 161) from Lord Anglesey to Dr. Sall on the use of this work by Dr. Borlase in his History of the Execrable Rebellion, etc. (1680); Drury Lane, 22 Mar. 1679 [80];—and at f. 1 is inserted a letter from Dr. Bulkeley Bandinell to the Marquis of Buckingham on its authorship; Bodleian Library, 4 Mar. 1820. Another similar transcript is in Sloane MS. 3838.
Paper; ff. 114. End of xviiith cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Folio.

SECT. III.—FOREIGN.

84. "PROCESSUS Justificationis Johanne D'Arc": an official copy of the proceedings in the inquiry instituted in 1455-56, under a mandate from Pope Calixtus III., before the Archbishop of Reims, the Bishops of Paris and Coutances, and Jean Brehal, one of the inquisitors for France, in order to rehabilitate Joan of Arc, and annul the sentence under which she was condemned in 1431. Latin.

Three official copies of the proceedings were made, as is stated in the preface by the two clerks, Dionysius Comitiss [Denys le Comte] and Franciscus Ferrebouc, to whom the work was entrusted. Two of these are now in the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris, one known as No. 5970, the other as Notre Dame No. 138, having formerly belonged to the library of Notre Dame. The present MS. is the third official copy, and takes rank with the Paris 5970, the Notre Dame copy omitting to repeat several treatises of which use was made in the proceedings. The writers themselves say in the latter MS., "Tractatus de quibus in hoc octavo articulo fit mentio solum sunt inscripti in duobus magnis processibus propter eorum prolixitatem," which is in fact considerable, occupying about a third of the whole work. This, therefore, is one of the "duo magni processus." There are some differences of text and arrangement between it and the Paris 5970, in which the Notre Dame MS. agrees with this; and as the two fuller versions were made first, it follows that the editors, in preparing the third, preferred this text to that of the Paris 5970. (Cf. Quicherat, Procès de Condamnation et de Rehabilitation de Jeanne d'Arc, . . . publiés . . . d'après les Manuscrits de la Bibliothèque Royale, Paris, 1841-9.) Each page is signed, as is the case with all the three official copies, by one or other of the clerks, Comitiss signing the verso and Ferrebouc the recto. On the last page is the final attestation by the two clerks, with their signatures in ornamental designs, and a statement by them of the number of leaves in the volume, which is wrongly given as 163. The Latin poem given at the end of the Paris 5970 is not found here, and is, of course, not a part of the official record.

Vellum; ff. 182, measuring 20½ inches by 12½. The volume thus corresponds almost exactly in size with the Paris 5970, and is slightly larger than the Notre Dame volume. Modern binding of purple morocco. Large Folio.

85. COPY of the diplomatic correspondence, with instructions, of Godefroy, Comte d'Estrades, including his missions to England in 1637 and to Holland in 1638-1650, etc.; 1637-1657. With a letter from the Comte to Louis XIV., dated 17 June, 1672. French. The contents agree closely with Egerton 2071, ff. 1-54, and generally with the Ambassades et Negotiations de M. le Comte d'Estrades, Amsterdam, 1718.

Paper; ff. 59. Late xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle, to whom it was given by Gustavus Brander, 29 Mar. 1780. Small Folio.

86. "ETAT ACTUEL des affaires générales concernant les Finances du Royaume de France": a tabular statement of the finances of France, drawn up in or about 1762, and including statements (1) of the ordinary revenue, (2) of the ordinary expenditure, (3) of the extraordinary sums raised in 1755-1762 for the purposes of the war, and (4) of the moneys raised annually for the Pope, the Church, the nobles, etc.; with a table of contents prefixed.

Paper; ff. 78. Small Quarto.

87. "DÉTAIL GÉNÉRAL et spécifique sur toutes les parties des Finances du Royaume de France; seconde partie, 1766": an enumeration and discussion of the taxes and imposts existing in France at this period, ending with an attack on the heaviness of the burdens and the maladministration of the finances. The first part is lost, and this is pagged from 139 to 251, with a table of contents prefixed. It is not a continuation of the preceding volume, No. 86, which is in a different hand, and pagged up to 150.

Paper; ff. 60. Small Quarto.

- 88, 89. "SOME ACCOUNT of the affairs of France since the disgrace of the Duc de Choiseul [1771] to the year 1776": a minute narrative of the Court intrigues of the period, with characters of the principal persons concerned, viz. Madame du Barry, the Duc de Choiseul, the Duc d'Aiguillon, Maupeou the Chancellor, Abbé Terray, the Duc d'Orléans, the Duc de Richelieu, and several others. Two volumes. The narrative proceeds continuously to the end of 1773: after that there is, at some interval, an account of the death and character of Louis XV.; a journal of the course of affairs in Paris, written at different times in 1771; and memorials on the affairs of France in Oct. 1775 and (on some loose sheets) Dec. 1776. The author's name is not given, but he was evidently an Englishman of high position with extensive French connections; perhaps (from a note in vol. i. f. 18) Robert d'Arcy, Earl of Holderness, previously Ambassador to Holland and Secretary of State, who died in 1778. The MS. is written in different hands, some parts being in the hands of Thomas Astle and his wife; and the date of the narrative is evidently 1777.

Paper; ff. 22, 55. Bound in crimson morocco, richly tooled, the patterns on the two volumes (which differ slightly in measurement) being quite distinct. On the cover of vol. ii. the arms of Tho. Astle have been inserted. Small Quarto.

90. PAPERS relating to the French army in 1790-92, consisting of several statements and estimates for establishment and maintenance of the various branches. They chiefly form portions of several plans formed by, or submitted to, the "Comte de Latour du Pin" [Jean Frédéric de la Tour du Pin, Comte du Paulin], Minister of War (1789-90), but are incomplete. A memorandum accompanying the papers (f. 1) states that they were left with Earl Temple by the Comte de Jarnac, 30 Jan. 1807. At the end (f. 114) are "Quelques notes sur le régime des Colonies françaises pendant la Monarchie, applicables en grande partie aux Colonies anglaises"; endorsed "Notes for the Earl Temple from the Comte de Jarnac, March, 1806."

Paper; ff. 117. Folio.

91. "RELATION circonstanciée d'un voyage fait en Ecosse par la compagnie des cadets gentilshommes de la marine de France," who sailed from Dunkirk 11 June, 1746, in the brigantine "Bien Trouvé," commanded by Captain Anguier, in quest of the Pretender, Charles Edward. Written by P. J. C. Dupont, one of the officers. French. The narrative tells how, after waiting some weeks off the north of Scotland, they were compelled on 3 Aug. to surrender to Captain "Loyde," commander of the English frigate "Glascoo." Dedicated to [François] Bart, "commandeur de l'ordre militaire de Saint Louis, Chef d'escadre," etc., and therefore written not later than 1750, when Bart was promoted from the rank of Chef d'escadre to that of Lieutenant-général des armées navales (see Almanach Royal).

Paper; ff. 36. Quarto.

- 92, 93. "INVENTAIRE chronologique et détaillé de toutes les chartes qui se trouvent dans les archives des Comtes de Flandre, déposées dans l'ancienne chambre des comptes du Roi à Lille." Compiled by Denis Joseph Godefroy, Keeper of the Archives de la Chambre des Comptes at Lille. In two volumes, comprising respectively the periods 706-1240 and 1241-1270. The title-pages are dated 1784 and 1785; and in the preface to vol. i. (f. 7) the compiler states that the work, a great part of the expense of which was borne by Louis XVI., was begun in Jan. 1782.

The work has been printed, as revised by El. de Coussemaker, by the Société Impériale des Sciences, etc., de Lille, under the title, Inventaire Analytique et Chronologique des Archives de la Chambre des Comptes à Lille, Paris and Lille, 1865.

Paper; ff. 353, 318. Purchased by Thomas Astle 24 May, 1793, at the sale of the library of M. de Calonne, Prime Minister to Louis XVI. (see vol. i. f. 1). Folio.

94. "COMMENTAIRE ou diurnal de l'expédition de Thunes faite par le tresauguste et tresvictorieux Empereur Charles cinqiesme": a narrative by an eye-witness of the expedition made by Charles V. in 1535 against Khair al addin Barbarossa, Dey of Algiers, to punish and suppress piracy, in which Tunis was captured and plundered. In a contemporary hand.

Paper; ff. 79. xvith cent. A note by Thomas Astle (f. 1) states that the volume was bought by him at Lisle in 1774. Octavo.

95. "A MEMORIALl of a discourse vsed by the late worthy Emperour Charles the Vth vppon the resignement of his gouernementé and stats [in 1556] to his sonne [Philip II.] the now kinge of Spaine": a translation from the Spanish by Lord Henry Howard [cr. Earl of Northampton, 1604], with preface addressed to Queen Elizabeth (see below, no. 161, art. 1). For other copies see Harley MSS. 836, 1056, and Cotton MS. Titus C. xviii.

Paper; ff. 25. xvith cent. With signature of John Gybbon on the fly-leaf, and a note of books "lent to Mr. Gunton, Feb. 16, 1648 [9]" on f. 2. Folio.

96. RELAZIONI and other papers relating to Italy and Spain; 1620-1634:—

SECT. IV.—ECCLESIASTICAL.

104. 1. BEDAE VENERABILIS Ecclesiastica Historia. f. 1. The prologue and table of chapters of the first book are wanting. The other books have a table of chapters prefixed. In the table of chapters of book iv., chapters 14 and 15 are omitted, but in the text they are given together as chapter 15; ch. 12, "Quartus occidentalium," having been divided into two, and ch. 13, "Pulsus est," being numbered 14. The chapter following, 15, is, however, numbered 13 (cf. Introduction to the English Historical Society edition, p. xxxiv). At the end of the work (after the words "ante faciem tuam") is added, as in many other MSS., the last paragraph of the prologue, beginning "Propterea omnes," and ending "fructum pie intercessionis inveniam. Amen."
2. "Epilogium de transitu venerabilis Bede": the epistle of Cuthbert [afterwards Abbot of Jarrow] to Cuthwine, describing the death of Beda, including the Anglo-Saxon verses which are omitted in most MSS. (cf. Eng. Hist. Soc. ed., Introd., p. xv). f. 112 b.
3. Sixteen Latin hexameters, beg. "Dux Augustinus precellit in ordine primus," containing the names of the archbishops of Canterbury from Augustine to Nothelm and Lambertus [? Jaenberht, A.D. 766]. f. 113 b.
4. Three chapters and a half of the Ecclesiastical History of Beda, relating to St. John of Beverley, Archbishop of York 705-718, which are omitted from their proper place (cf. f. 89), beginning in the middle of bk. v. ch. 2, "dicenda illi proponere" (Eng. Hist. Soc. ed., p. 335), and ending at the end of ch. 5, "perhibet esse relatum" (ib. p. 340). f. 114. To these are added (f. 115 b) some sections from the life of St. John of Beverley by Folcard of Canterbury (cf. Acta Sanctorum, ed. 1680, vol. xv. 7 May, p. 168 seq.), viz. §§ 16, 17, "Magnificavit Dominus illum . . . cum eius gratia" (op. cit. p. 170), §§ 23, 24, "referebat etiam . . . inhabitacionis suae" (ib. p. 172), and §§ 18, 19, "audite quaeso . . . coram hominibus in terris" (ib. p. 171).
5. "Vita sancti Edwardi regis Anglorum": the life of Edward the Confessor, by Aelred, Abbot of Rievaulx (1150-1166). f. 118. To the Life itself are prefixed (a) table of chapters; (b) epistle dedicatory to King Henry II., beg. "Multis veterum studio fuisse"; (c) epistle to Laurentius, Abbot of Westminster, who had persuaded Aelred to undertake the work, beg. "Dilecto et diligendo." The Life itself begins, "Gloriosi ac Deo dilecti regis." Printed by Sir Roger Twysden, Hist. Angl. Scriptores X, 1652, p. 370, and elsewhere. At the end are four Latin hexameters, beg. "Gloria summa Deo, qui solus iure triumphat."

6. Prologue with part of ch. 1 of a treatise "De Virginitate sancte Marie." The author's name, as appears from the prologue (which is addressed "ad Walterum pontificem"), is Hugo, and the work is generally ascribed to Hugo de S. Victore (ob. circ. 1142), but not without some doubt (cf. Migne, Patrologia, clxxv. col. cxxi). Begins, "[San]cto pontifici G. Hugo servus vestre beatitudinis"; ends, "tam impudica et nugaci loquacitate" (Migne, clxxvi. col. 857, l. 27), the rest being lost. f. 149 b.

Vellum; ff. 149. xiith-xiiith cent. Thirty-two lines to the page. Initials decorated in red, blue, and green. There are marginal notes in a 15th-cent. hand. Small Folio.

105. "HISTORIA ANGLIÆ, maxime in iis quæ ad ecclesiam spectant": the original MS. of part of the Historia Anglicana Ecclesiastica of Nicholas Harpsfield, Fellow of New College, Oxford, Regius Professor of Greek 1546, Archdeacon of Canterbury 1554, imprisoned under Elizabeth for refusing the oath of Supremacy till his death in 1583. Latin. The whole work extends from the foundation of the Church in Britain to the end of the 15th century, the first six centuries of the Christian era forming one book, while each of the succeeding centuries occupies a book by itself. In the present MS. the first book and 68 leaves of the second are wanting, the text beginning in the middle of the 26th chapter of the 7th century; and it ends with the close of the 11th century. It is written in two or three hands, and a large number of additions, corrections, and references are made in what is apparently the author's own hand (in one case, at the end of ch. 6 of the 11th century, a passage of some length is added, which does not appear in the printed text). The portion of the original MS. containing the first book and 58 leaves of the second exists in Arundel MS. 72. A corrected copy from the beginning of the work to the end of the 10th century exists in Royal MS. 13 C. ix. What is apparently the original MS. of the book containing the 15th century is in Arundel MS. 73, and fair copies of the 14th and 15th centuries together in Stowe MS. 106 and Royal MS. 13 C. xiii.

Paper; ff. 357. Belonged to John Anstis, Garter King of Arms. Folio.

106. "DE SÆCULIS xiv. et xv., de Romanis pontificibus, de Regibus Angliæ ab Ed. 2 ad Hen. 8": the last two books of Harpsfield's Historia Anglicana Ecclesiastica (cf. description of Stowe 105). This is a fair copy of the books containing the history of the 14th and 15th centuries. With the signature of John Lumley, Baron Lumley (ob. 1609), on f. 1; and afterwards No. 77 of the MSS. of John Anstis.

Paper; ff. 106. Folio.

107. "ANNALS of Church affaires happening vnder the reigne of king Henry the second, king of England, and of the contemporary outlandish Princes, together with other famous occurments of that time, deliuered in the words of the ancient authors themselves who writ the senerall passages. Wherein (among other things) will appeare what courses were continued against the Ghospellors, who were then the visible professors of that religion which is now called Protestant, and also what was the generall and most receiued doctrine of the Church of Rome at that time. Collected by T. Hearing, Batchelour in Diuinity." Imperfect, ending in the year 1175.

The Introduction is apparently autograph; together with the marginal notes, etc., and the following note on the fly-leaf (f. 1 b), "The effect of this booke is to demonstrate cheifely how God hath defended, euen in those days, the Ghospellors . . . against the might, spight and slights of the Deuil and all his Instruments."

On the back of the title-page (f. 3 b) is a licence for printing from the Committee of the House of Commons "for examinacion of bookes," etc., 6 Apr. 1641, signed by Sir Edward Dering. The work, however, does not appear to have been published.

Paper; ff. 104. Circ. 1640. Belonged to [Sir] Anthony Irby [Knt., ob. 1670], and Thomas Astle, 1764. Folio.

108. "THE APOLOGY of the Church of England": a translation of the "Apologia pro Ecclesia Anglicana" by John Jewel, D.D., Bishop of Salisbury, first printed in 1562.

Paper; ff. 65. A.D. 1727. Belonged to George Bridges. Quarto.

109. "A PEACEABLE SURVEIWE and examination of the doctrine of the Huguenotts: provinge against the rigorous Catholickes of our time, and perticulerlie against the answere made to the Catholicke Apologie, that wee, which are members of the Catholicke Apostolicke and Romish Church, ought not to condemne the Huguenotts for heretiques vntill further prooffe be made." Apparently a translation from a French tract, written soon after the murder of Henry III. in 1589.

Paper; ff. 47. Late xvith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small Quarto.

110. BRIEF ANALYSIS of Hooker's Ecclesiastical Polity, books i.-iv. Paper; ff. 28. xviii cent. Duodecimo.
111. "A DISCOURSE concerning Puritans": a pamphlet written by Henry or Robert Parker, and published anonymously in 1641, to protest against unjust aspersions on the Puritans and misuse of the name as a term of reproach. The author declares himself not to be Puritan in any party sense. The MS. wants the introductory address "To the Puritan Reader," but has a concluding paragraph of address to the reader which is not in the printed edition. Paper; ff. 33. xviii cent. Small Quarto.
112. THE PARSON'S LAW, or a view of Advowsons, by William Hughes, of Gray's Inn. Printed in 1641, and subsequently. The present copy is without a title (cf. Add. MS. 26,648). With notes on the same subject at the end (ff. 100, 101). Paper; ff. 101. xviii cent. Belonged to Peter Le Neve, Rouge Croix, 1699, and N[icholas] Harding, 1730. Folio.
113. "THE PREVARICATION of Holy Church Libertyes": the first part, in twelve chapters, showing "what mischeivous and most deplorable consequences followed and proceeded from the unlawful marriage of Kinge Henry the 8th with Ann Bulleine, even such as vtterly ruined the Church and her libertyes, mightily wronged the Crowne and her prerogatives, and vtterly prevaricated the lawe, right, justice, and custome of the realme, especially touching spirituall matters" (see f. 107). The title is given at the head of the table of chapters (f. 108), the first of which treats of "the lawfulness of y<sup>e</sup> marriage of King Henry y<sup>e</sup> 8th with Queen Catharine, and y<sup>e</sup> severall impediments that annulled y<sup>e</sup> same with Anne Bullen, the true cause of the English schisme and y<sup>e</sup> reformation there-upon." The history ends with the Statutes 3 Jac. I., capp. 4, 5, the continuation being reserved for a second part. Another copy in Harley MS. 2303 contains a dedication to James II. from H. Tichborne, who speaks of the treatise as "comeing to me from faithfull hands, and those well learned in the law." Paper; ff. 109. Late xviii cent. Folio.
114. "THE PREVARICATION of Holy Church Libertyes": the first five chapters of the work, as above (No. 113), ending with the death of Queen Mary. No general title is given, and the text varies in places from No. 113. The first chapter is headed "The lawfullnesse of King Henry the 8th his marriage with Queen Katherine; the severall impediments which annulled the marriage of the said king with Anne Bullen and disabled their issue to the succession of the crowne of England; being the true and reall cause why Queen Mary of Scotland, the rightfull heire of the said crowne, was in her life time by the state of England persecuted and oppressed."

Paper; ff. 97. Late xviiith cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Folio.

115. "ABRÉGÉ du Traité du Docteur George Rye contre les Non-Jurans Non-conformistes." Dr. Rye's work, in two vols., in defence of the position of the Church of England, was published in 1719.

Paper; ff. 73. xviiith cent. Small Quarto.

116. EXTRACTS from William Sewel's History of the Quakers, 2nd edit., 1725, transcribed by John Kendall; with notes and further extracts by the Rev. Philip Morant, author of the History of Essex, 1768.

Paper; ff. 29. xviiith cent. Small Quarto.

117. COLLECTIONS relating to Ecclesiastical Synods, Councils, and Convocations in England, to the year 1707. The chief contents are as follows:—(1.) Record of Synods and Councils from 601 to 1377 and in 1571. f. 1;—(2.) List of Convocations from 1689 to 1700. f. 83 b;—(3.) Paper; ff. 31. With book-plate of arms of the Rev. Osmund Beauvoir, D.D. (ob. 1789). xviiith cent. Folio.

125. "STATUTES for the government of the Metropolitan Cathedral Church of Canterbury," made by Archbishop Laud, and confirmed by Charles I. by letters-patent dated Westminster, 3 Jan. 1636 [7]. At the end is a letter from Laud to the Dean and Chapter; Lambeth, 26 Jan. 1636 [7]. Copies.

Paper; ff. 14. xviiith cent. With book-plate arms of the Rev. Osmund Beauvoir, D.D. (cf. Robinson's Hist. of Hackney, 1842, vol. i. p. 177); and below, in Astle's writing, "Thos: Astle bought, March 14th, 1800." Folio.

126. "LIBER TAXACIONUM: ex antiquissimo libro communiter verèque vocato Doome-Booke Ecclesiæ Cathedrali Sanctæ Trinitatis Norwicensis pertinente, transcripta, necnon alia, quoad Lynne Regis com. Norff., ex aliis libris (eandem Ecclesiam Cathedralem concernentibus) fideliter et memoriæ ergo collecta, per Tho. Searle, Notarium publicum." Apparently extracted from the "Norwich Domesday Book" (see Historical MSS. Commission, 1st Report, 1870, App. p. 87, and cf. No. 9635 of the MSS. of John Moore, Bishop of Norwich [1691-1707], Catalogi Manuscriptorum Angliæ, 1697, vol. ii. p. 373). The volume begins (f. 3) with copies of statutes of (a) Bishop Everard (ob. 1149), instructing all Deans, etc., of the Diocese to warn their parishioners to visit the mother church of Norwich once yearly, and to have collections made in each parish and paid to the Sacrist of the Cathedral; and (b) of Bishop William de Rawlee [1239-1242], enjoining all parish chaplains to visit the mother church "with solemn procession" once yearly, and to see that their parishioners do the same. Following these (f. 3 b) is a list of the fifty-seven churches of the Deanery of Lynn, with the taxation of all tithable goods and ecclesiastical values arranged under parishes. Under Walpole St. Peter's (f. 6) John de Brews and John de Langetone are mentioned. They were respectively Rectors of St. Andrew's and of St. Peter's, Walpole, in temp. Edw. I. (cf. Blomefield's History of Norfolk, 1808, vol. ix. pp. 117, 119; Add. MS. 23,021, ff. 62, 63). The values also of these rectories as given by Blomefield for temp. Edw. I. agree with those in the MS. Under Hillington (f. 17) the names of Ralph Sursy and John Blome appear. The above-quoted authority gives them as Ralph Cyrezy and John Blomes, Rectors of the two moieties of Hillington in temp. Edw. I. At the end

(f. 17 b) is "Taxacio Bonorum temporalium virorum Religiosorum in Decanatu de Lenne copiatu per Registrum de Scaccario Domini Regis." The note on the upper margin of f. 5 b, "Posted all, 1721," and others through the volume appear to be in the hand of Francis Blomefield, the historian of Norfolk.

Paper; ff. 18. xviiith cent. With the initials T. M., i.e. Thomas Martin, of Palgrave, inside the cover. Folio.

127. NOTES relating to the history of the Bishopric of Norwich; with a few devotional commonplaces interspersed. Supposed by Thomas Martin, of Palgrave (who has inserted some notes at ff. 1, 2, and an index at f. 70), to have been written by Richard Peade, Proctor of the Consistory Court of Norwich and Notary Public in 1634 (see ff. 1, 36 b). From notes on ff. 1, 70, the volume appears to have been called the "Carleton MS."

Paper; ff. 71. xviiith cent. Book-plate, with arms, of T. Allen, F.S.A. (circ. 1800). Duodecimo.

147. TRANSCRIPTS of English State papers and letters; 1522–1571.
They consist chiefly (1) of the correspondence of Cardinal Wolsey with Secretary Pace and the English Ambassadors at the Papal and Imperial Courts during the years 1522-1525, relating to the Cardinal's designs on the Papedom on the death of Adrian VI., and to the French war; and (2) of the correspondence of Sir Francis Walsingham, Ambassador at Paris, with Qu. Elizabeth, Lord Treasurer Burghley, Lord Leicester and others, relating to the negotiations on the proposed marriage of the Queen with the Duke of Anjou, 1570-1571.

All the letters in the latter series are printed, in a more correctly chronological order, in The Compleat Ambassador, by Sir D. Digges, 1655. In the printed volume, however, the negotiations come to an end with the recall of Walsingham in March, 1572; whereas in the present MS. the correspondence breaks off in September, 1571. The earlier series are generally included in Brewer's Letters and Papers of the Reign of Henry VIII., vols. iii. and iv. (1865-1876).

The originals are mostly in the Public Record Office, but copies of many of the letters are also to be found in the Harley and Cotton collections in the British Museum. The contents are as follows:—

155. COLLECTION of State papers, letters, and miscellaneous documents, many of which relate to the Civil War and the affairs of the Commonwealth; 1564–1760. The letters at the end relate to literature and kindred subjects, and several of them are addressed to Dr. John Hill, Apothecary, etc., who acquired notoriety as a playwright and literary critic. The contents are:—

1. "A List of severall Consultations amongst the Cardinalls, Bishops and others of the severall orders of Rome now a contriveing and conspiring against her Gracious Majesty and the Established Church of England"; preceded by a letter from E. Dennum to —, enclosing the same for Qu. Elizabeth, dated Venice, 13 Apr. 1564. f. 2.

Found, according to the heading, "amongst several Memorials of the L<sup>d</sup> Cecills (sc. Burghley's) transcribed out of a Booke of his, being lent unto mee by John King, Minister and Deane of Tuam, Anno 1656"; and the present copy was "extracted from a manuscript in the hon<sup>ble</sup> Mr. Bridges Library (sc. James Brydges, cr. Earl of Carnarvon 1714, and Duke of Chandos 1719), London, May 8th, 1712." The MS. referred to is now Brit. Mus. Add. MS. 4784, one of the collection of Sir James Ware, which subsequently belonged to Henry Hyde, 2nd Earl of Clarendon, and to the above Duke of Chandos. The original is in the hand of Robert Ware, son of Sir James; and the paper was printed by him in Foxes and Firebrands, 2nd Part, Dublin, 1682, p. 49. It was probably concocted by himself, though purporting to be an extract made by his father, and inserted by him among the latter's papers to give it more authenticity.

Taken from Bridges MS. xliv. (now Brit. Mus. Add. 4791, f. 38), 12 Sept. 1712, and of the same origin as the preceding art., being printed in Foxes and Firebrands, 2nd Part, p. 11.

3. Warrant from Qu. Elizabeth to John Fortescue, Master of the Great Wardrobe, for delivery to Edward Wyngate, "Clerk of the Checque of our Garde," of £219 for "provisyon of cloathe for Watchinge Lyveryes," to Sir Christopher Hatton, Gentleman of the Privy Chamber and Captain of the Guard, and to 205 yeomen grooms and pages of the Chamber, whose names are given; "At our Honor of Hampton," 6 Nov. 1574. Signed at the top by the Queen, and at the foot by Edward Wyngate; with paper signet. Vellum. f. 11.
4. [Sir] Francis Walsingham, Secretary of State, to Edward Balshe, "generall surveiour of the Quenes mat<sup>r</sup>. victualles for the sea causes," directing him that besides victualling "for two monthes for ix<sup>c</sup>. men in The Revenge, The Dreadnought, the Swiftsuer, and the Foresight," he is to victual for 50 men one of the Queen's pinnaces called the Achates; Greenwich, 11 Aug. 1579. Signed. f. 13.
5. Thomas Ferrers to his brother Sir Humphrey Ferrers, of Walton,

- giving an account of the operations of Count Maurice in Flanders, and his defeat of the Archduke Albert's forces at Nieuport, with news from Ireland, France, and Spain; London, 27 June, 1600. Added is a list of prisoners taken by Count Maurice, and of the principal officers slain at the battle of Nieuport, 1 July. ff. 15, 16.
6. Cardinal Arnaud D'Ossat to Henry IV. of France, on the designs of Spain and the Pope for marrying Card. Farnese and Lady Arabella Stuart, and securing to them the succession of the English crown on Qu. Elizabeth's death; Rome, 26 Nov. 1601. Translation. Imperf. The original is printed in Lettres du Card. D'Ossat, Amsterdam, 1708. f. 18.

160. LETTERS of the Privy Council of the reign of Elizabeth. Copies. The first part (ff. 3-85) is apparently arranged in chronological order, covering the period from the last months of 1578 to March, 1580; but the exact dates are rarely given. The rest of the volume is not arranged chronologically; the letters are all dated and mostly belong to the years 1579-1581, but among them is one dated 29 May, 1574, relative to the guarding of the coasts (f. 112 b), another of 7 May, 1577, concerning uniformity of religious rites (f. 116), a letter of the Duke of Alva to the Pope, 21 Aug. 1556 (f. 116 b), and a paper of "Instructions touching the dealing with the French K. for Ma: Queen of Scots or for Elizabeth his daughter to marry with K. Ed: the 6," to which is appended a note on French and English dowries in former times (f. 141 b). The latest letters in the volume are two of December, 1582. Most of the letters in the second part refer to the affairs of Ireland; and very few of those in either part are mentioned in the Calendar of State Papers. Introductions, conclusions, signatures, etc., are omitted, only the bodies of the letters being given, with headings describing the contents. A table of contents is placed at the end.

Paper; ff. 169. xviiith cent. Belonged successively to John Anstis (f. 2), and to Tho. Astle, who has added a note (ff. 1 b, 2) on MSS. in the Cottonian and Harleian collections and in the State Paper Office containing proceedings of the Privy Council, tempp. Rich. II.—Chas. I. Folio.

161. HISTORICAL TRACTS and papers; tempp. Elizabeth and James I.

1. "A coppie of the last instructions which y<sup>e</sup> Emperour Charles the Vth gave to his sonne Phillipp before his death. Translated out of Spanishe" [by Lord Henry Howard, cr. Earl of Northampton 1604]. This is followed by the translator's letter presenting his work to Queen Elizabeth, in the hopes of obtaining a return of her favour. The original Spanish was published by Sandoval in his Life of Charles V. in 1634; the translation has never been printed, but other MS. copies (with some verbal variations) exist in Stowe MS. 95, and Harley MSS. 836, 1506 (incomplete). ff. 3, 24.
2. "The Revolucon of the five periods of 500 yeares": a short treatise showing that important crises have occurred about the end of each cycle of 500 years, beginning from Brute the Trojan (circ. 1000 B.C.) and ending with the reign of Elizabeth. f. 28.

166-177. COLLECTION of State Papers and correspondence of Sir Thomas Edmondes, Knt.; 1592-1633. A few earlier and later papers are included in the last volume. Edmondes was English Agent at Paris, 1592-1599; Ambassador at the Archduke Albert's court at Brussels, 1605-1609; Ambassador to France, 1610-1617; Comptroller of the Household, 1616; Treasurer of the Household, 1618; and died in 1639. Twelve volumes. Paper. Folio.

The collection includes original letters of English ambassadors to France and Spain, and at Brussels, the Hague, Venice, etc., the correspondence of Edmondes with statesmen and others at home, the instructions of Elizabeth and James I. to their ambassadors, reports of negotiations, etc. The letters of Edmondes himself are all either drafts or copies, partly in his own hand, and are chiefly addressed to successive Secretaries of State, and, on the death of the Earl of Salisbury in 1612, to the King in person. Except in a few instances, they do not appear in the following descriptions, but all the other letters and papers are noticed, preceded by a summary of the events which the contents of each volume illustrate.

The collection has been successively in the possession of Secretary John Thurloe (ob. 1648); Lord Chancellor Somers (ob. 1716); and Hon. Philip Yorke (2nd Earl of Hardwicke, 1764, ob. 1790), in whose hands it was when Thomas Birch used it for his Historical View of the Negotiations between the Courts of England, France, and Brussels from the year 1592 to 1617, London, 1749. The contents of the several volumes are as follows:—

166. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. I. (ff. 305). 18 June, 1592—16 May, 1596. In addition to the letters described below, the volume contains numerous drafts of Edmondes's despatches to Lord Burghley, the first dated 18 June, 1592, and the last 31 Dec. 1595, during the whole of which time he was Agent at the French Court. His letters give a minute account of the contest of Henry IV. with the Catholic League, as well as of the aggressions of Spain in Brittany, Picardy, and Normandy. Henry having recourse to Qu. Elizabeth for succour, in 1591 the Queen engaged by treaty to send into Brittany and Picardy 3000 men, who were commanded by Sir John Norris and Sir Roger Williams. Henry, however, not only left the English to bear the brunt of the Spanish attacks, while he employed his own forces to consolidate his position in the rest of France, but failed to fulfil his contract to pay the English troops; and new treaties were constantly being made in 1592 and 1593, with the same results.

1. Instructions from the Privy Council to Edmondes to further the suit of John Dowdall, merchant, of Drogheda, for restitution of goods of which "one La Fleur, captain of a shipp of Deipe," had robbed him on the Spanish coast; Greenwich, 2 July, 1592. Signed by Lords Burghley, Hunsdon, Howard [of Effingham], Buckhurst, and Cobham, John Puckering [Lord Keeper], [Sir] Ro[bert] Cecyll, and others. f. 7.

167. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. II. (ff. 371). 26 Oct. 1597—10 Mar. 1604[5]. Edmondes came to London at the end of 1596, and his first letter after his return to Paris is dated 28 Oct. 1597. With the exception of one or two short visits to England, he stayed abroad till June, 1599, when he was recalled. In Dec. 1599 he was sent to the Archduke Albert, Governor of the Netherlands, with instructions to treat for peace, and was one of the commissioners at the Boulogne Conference in May—July, 1600. On his return he was appointed Clerk of the Privy Council, and, beyond two short journeys to France in 1601, he remained in England till April, 1605, when he went to Brussels as Ambassador to the Archduke. He was succeeded at Paris by Ralph Winwood, whose original letters form the bulk of the latter half of this volume. Winwood was, however, sent in a similar capacity to the Hague, on the death of George Gilpin, in Jan. 1602[3], and his last seven letters are written from that place.

The principal events touched on in this volume are:—(1) The intrigues of Henry IV. for a separate accommodation with Spain, which ended in the Treaty of Vervins [2 May, 1598];—(2) a project between the "Legatt and the Englishe" to encourage the King of Scots to allow the Roman Catholics in Scotland a toleration;—(3) the rumours, at the end of 1598, of the latter king's inclination to Popery, and the attempts to injure him in the eyes of Elizabeth;—(4) the designs of Lord Bothwell on Berwick, etc.;—(5) the intention of Philip III. to assist the Irish Rebels against England;—(6) the Boulogne Conference in 1600;—(7) the military operations in the Netherlands, the sieges of Ostend, Grave, Sluys, etc.;—(8) the Conference on depredations on English merchants by the French, at which Edmondes was a Commissioner;—(9) the proposals of President Richardot for peace between Spain and England in 1602, etc.

By embracing, at the end of 1593, the Roman Catholic faith Henry so materially strengthened his position that in January 1594[5] he was able to declare open war against Spain, again having recourse to Elizabeth for co-operation, as she had recalled her forces on the pretext of defending Ireland from an impending revolt. The volume ends with remonstrances from the Queen at his charges against her of lukewarmness against their common enemy. The contents are:—

1. Sir R. Cecil, giving as a reason for the recall of the English troops from Picardy, that "this very day advertysment is come to the Queene of the Fleet of Spaine, which is issued from Feroll and the Groyne, the viiiith of this moneth, beinge 120 sayle, wth 10,000

168. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. III. (ff. 385). 21 Feb. 1605—22 Mar. 1606, N.S. Edmondes started for Brussels on 19 April, 1605, and his first letter here is dated 3 May, containing an account of the Marquis Ambrosio Spinola, the newly-appointed Spanish General in the Low Countries. The principal events treated in the volume are (1) the military operations of Spinola and Prince Maurice;—(2) the levy of British troops for the Archduke's service under the Earl of Arundel;—(3) the attack on the Spanish fleet in the Straits of Dover by the Dutch, and the protection given to the Spaniards by the guns of Dover Castle;—and (4) the Gunpowder Plot. Edmondes in his letters to Salisbury in the autumn had already called attention to the practices of the Jesuits and English fugitives in the Low Countries, and Sir T. Parry in October wrote in a similar strain from Paris, their letters making it clear that the conspirators designed that Arundel's English Regiment should, as Edmondes expresses it, "serve for the seconding of their enterprizes after the execution thereof." The letters in the latter part of the volume chiefly refer to the harbouring of Owen, Baldwin, and other suspected conspirators by the Archduke.

169. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. IV. (ff. 309). 29 March, 1607—16 March, 1607 [8]. A gap of a whole year occurs between this and the preceding volume. The latter part of 1606 had been taken up by the secret negotiations of John Ney, Commissary General of the Friars Minor, on behalf of the Archduke, for a cessation of hostilities in the Low Countries, which resulted in a truce for eight months being made in April, 1607, subject to ratification by Spain. This was not obtained till July, and as it omitted the paramount clause that the United Provinces should be treated with as a "free and independent state," the latter would not accept it. The difficulty was partly surmounted by November, when the preliminary negotiations for a general peace began. The French Deputies, President Jeannin, Buzenval, etc., had reached Holland as early as April; the English Deputies, Sir Ralph Winwood and Sir Richard Spencer, in August. Spinola and the other Spanish representatives arrived in February, 1607 [8], when the conference formally began at the Hague. In the previous month France had formed a defensive alliance with the United Provinces. The first point, namely, the admission of the United Provinces to the conference as a free state, was somewhat unexpectedly granted by Spain; but the second, as to the rights of trading to the Indies, caused great discussion and delay, in the midst of which the volume ends. Among other matters treated may be noticed the flight of the Earl of Tyrone and his fellow rebels from Ireland, their being allowed to pass through France, and their reception and entertainment at Brussels by the Archduke.

170. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. V. (ff. 385.) 28 Mar. 1608—23 Mar. 1608[9]. This volume is principally taken up with the Peace Negotiations at the Hague. Ney was sent to Spain at the end of March to procure ampler instructions on the disputed points, viz., the sovereignty of the Provinces and trade to the Indies; and during his absence the commissioners met only at intervals, the truce being extended till May and subsequently to July. In the meantime the question of a defensive league between England and the States was much discussed, and a league was signed on 26 June. No reply came from Spain up to the end of July, but Pedro de Toledo and Fernando Girono had been despatched to France and England respectively, to induce Henry IV. and James to desert the States and form secret alliances with Spain. These attempts having failed, Philip, in August, at length sent his ultimatum, to the effect that he would give up the sovereignty of the Provinces, but only on condition that the Roman Catholic religion be tolerated there; and in return for this concession he expected the States to desist from any claim to trade to the Indies. The States peremptorily refused these proposals, and the Spanish Commissioners withdrew. England and France now strove to persuade the States to agree to a long truce, and though some of the States, notably Zealand, were unwilling, ultimately, at the end of December, they agreed to the re-opening of the negotiations. The Commissioners met at Antwerp, and in April a truce for twelve years was concluded, which will be more fully referred to in vol. VI. The last letter of Edmondes, dated 22 March, alludes to the death of John William, Duke of Cleves and Juliers, and gives the names of intending claimants to the succession.

171. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. VI. (ff. 387). 28 March, 1609 — 24 March, 1610[1]. A truce for twelve years having been signed at Antwerp on 9 April, 1609, the letters of Edmondes from Brussels, of Carew from Paris, of Cornwallis from Madrid, and of Winwood from the Hague show how it was received in those places. Edmondes was recalled from Brussels early in September, leaving his secretary, William Trumbull, in charge of the Embassy ; and in May, 1610, immediately after the assassination of Henry IV., he succeeded Sir G. Carew at Paris. Cornwallis also left Spain in September, 1610, Francis Cottington remaining in charge ; and Sir Henry Wotton was succeeded at Venice by Dudley Carleton at the end of the same year.

The chief topic, however, in this volume is the succession to Cleves, Juliers, etc. The principal claimants were John Sigismund, Prince Elector of Brandenburg, son-in-law of the late Duke's eldest sister, and Wolfgang William, Elector Palatine of Neuburg, husband of the late Duke's second sister ; but, on the Emperor Rodolph II. claiming the succession, the two agreed that the Duchy should be jointly governed and the Emperor jointly opposed. They were supported by France, the States General and England. In the autumn of 1609 the Archduke Leopold seized Juliers for the Emperor, and the Dutch, English, and French troops were on their way to besiege it when Henry IV. was assassinated. The Queen Regent Marie de' Medici was unwilling to support the two Protestant claimants, and equally unwilling that the Emperor should extend his dominions upon the Rhine. In July, however, Marshal de la Châtre was ordered to co-operate with the Dutch and English force under Prince Maurice ; but before he could arrive Juliers had been forced to surrender, 22 Aug. [1610]. The letters of Winwood, who was watching events at Düsseldorf, give details of these movements.

1. Sir C. Cornwallis, on the arrival in Portugal of the King of Fez, etc. ; Madrid, 28 Mar. 1609. f. 1.
2. Dudley Carleton, on the probability of Edmondes being sent to France on his recall from Brussels, and on affairs of the English Court : "The sword cuts even now betwixt Papist and Puritan, but prohibitions are beaten downe with a club, yet rise like Hydras heads and prove the more for preaching against. The Kings booke in defence of his Apologie (which he now

- avowes to be his owne) is in the press, whereof I have seene part, and therein he little spares the Pope or his partie . . . . The Kings day passed over with the ordinarie solemnities of running and ringing . . . . The D. of Lennox exceeded all in fethers, the Ld. Walden in followers, and Sir Ri. Preston in a pagent, which was an Elephant with a castle on the back," etc.; London, 30 Mar. 1609. f. 5.
3. Sir R. Winwood, on the Princess de Ligne's case (cf. vol. v. art. 103) and on the truce: "For my part I will not sweare we shall at length conclude thys treatye, for howsoever the States were content to treat at Berghen, yet voluntas est ambulatoria usque ad mortem, and every day doth hatche new phantasies and devices" etc.; Antwerp, 1 Apr. 1609. f. 7.
  4. Sir T. Edmondes to Sir E. Hoby, on the conclusion of the truce: "I will not denye unto you but that the maledictions be as great against it of our interested men of warre, with whom also are spetiallie conjoynd the Jesuittes, but they must now swallowe the pyll"; Brussels, 5 Apr. 1609. f. 12.

  8. Sir H. Wotton, on the Cleves succession and Italian affairs: "The Duke of Nevers is now departed, whose reception heere was very transcendent and is likely enough to breed envie in the Spaniards, jealousy in the Pope, and, I thinke, some little wonder in all wise men," etc.; Venice, 10 Apr. 1609. f. 25.
  9. Sir G. Carew, on French and Swiss affairs, etc.: "They seeme here to be of opinion that the matters of Cleve are in a manner come to a peaceable conclusion, and that they doe wholly incline to the advantage of the Marquis of Brandenburg," etc.; and reporting the arrest of [Louis de Comboursier, Seigneur] du Terrail for an entrepryse undertaken by him "by the avow of the Duke of Savoy" against Geneva and other Swiss fortresses; Paris, 21 Apr. 1609. f. 31.
  10. D. Carleton, on Edmondes's treatment at the hands of Winwood and Spencer at Antwerp, the observance of Easter at Court, etc.: "The tuesday (whereof the afternoone was spent in beare bayting) was as well fitted with a chaplen, one D[oc]tor] Smith, head of a house in Cambrige, who so well baighted all the great ones, terming them suffragatores aulicos for abusing the Kings eare in preferment of sutes, judges for prohibitions, patrons for impropriations and selling of benefices and all sort of officers for corruption in theyr places, and that in so plaine and brawde terms that I know not how he scaped baighting himself . . . The K. is at this present at Tibbalds but lookt for quickly here in towne, having now in hand the translation of his booke into Latin," etc.; London, 25 Apr. 1609. f. 35.

172. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. VII. (ff. 321). 26 March, 1611—30 June, 1612. During this period affairs connected with the succession of Cleves were quiet. The two Electors were content, after Juliers had been recaptured, to renew their engagement to continue joint rulers of the disputed Duchies; while the Emperor was fully occupied in the conflict with his brother Matthias in Bohemia and Hungary, and the Queen Regent of France in establishing her authority over her enemies at home and elaborating her design of a union with Spain by intermarriages. This design was accomplished in March, 1611 [2], and its progress, together with internal French politics, forms the chief topic of Edmondes's letters. Sir John Digby was sent to Madrid in June, 1611, to negotiate a marriage between Prince Henry and the Infanta, but on his arrival he found her already engaged to Louis XIII., and he was instructed instead to make overtures for a match between Philip III. and Princess Elizabeth. Meanwhile the hand of this Princess was desired by the Duke of Savoy for his son the Prince of Piedmont, and Carleton in his letters from Venice has much to say on this subject, as well as upon the affairs of the Italian States generally. The Duc de Bouillon, however, came to England on an embassy in April, 1612, and, while fulfilling his mission, he succeeded in giving the finishing stroke to the negotiations for the marriage of Princess Elizabeth with the Elector Palatine, his own nephew. The Lord Treasurer, Salisbury, died on 24 May, 1612, and after his death Edmondes's letters are addressed to the King.

173. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. VIII. (ff. 311). 1 July, 1612—24 March, 1612 [3]. Edmondess's drafts are very numerous in this volume, and are addressed to the King and to Robert Carr, Viscount Rochester. They give a very particular account of the dissensions in the French Court. James I. took great interest in the state of French parties in so far as they affected the Protestant religion, and his letters are devoted to this subject and to the negotiations for a marriage between Prince Henry and Christine, second daughter of Henry IV. Prince Henry died 6 Nov. 1612, but the negotiations can scarcely be said to have been broken off, for three days later a letter from Rochester expresses the King's pleasure that they should be continued, only with the substitution of the name of Pr. Charles for that of Pr. Henry. The King had not filled up the Lord Treasurer's places, thinking that, with the aid of Rochester, he could carry on the duties, at any rate of Secretary of State, himself, and this accounts for the number of letters (sixteen) bearing the royal signature. The more important of these are in the handwriting of Rochester.

1. James I., instructing Edmondes how to act with regard to the disputes among the Protestant leaders in France, and on the proposals for the marriage of Prince Henry and [Christine] "second daughter of France"; Oatlands, 3 July, 1612. Signed. f. 1.
2. The same, on the divisions in the reformed churches of France, and more particularly between Du Moulin and Tilenus; Westminster, 10 July, a<sup>o</sup>. 10 [1612]. Signed. f. 5.
3. Sir D. Carleton, on the election of the new Doge [Marco Antonio Memmo]: "The solemnity of his swearing in St. Mark's Church, capping of him on the topp of the Pallace Stares, and carrying him on mens shoulders about the Piazza, where he flung money amongst the people, was better worth the sight then the relating, it being a true representation of the old popular goverments," etc.; Venice, 21 July, 1612. f. 13.
4. [Sir] Thomas Lake, in explanation of the King's letter (art. 5), and on Rochester's influence: "The sayd lo. groweth potent in affaires, and therefore you shall doe wisely to respect him thereafter," etc.; Amptill, 23 July, 1612. f. 20.
5. James I., giving an account of his conference with the French Ambassador, respecting the Scotch Guard (cf. vol. vii., art. 75); "Hams," 23 July, [1612]. f. 22.
6. Rowland Whyte, on the proposed economies at the Court and the filling up of the Lord Treasurer's place: "My Lo. of Rochester keepes all the signet seales and makes daily dispatchez into all partez . . . Yt is thought his Honor will be one of the Principall Secretariez and some other that he shall like of," etc.; "The Court at Ashby, the L. Comptons," [Castle Ashby, co. Northt.], 30 July, 1612. f. 24.
7. Henri de Rohan [Duc de Rohan]; St. Jean [d'Angely], 30 July, 1612. f. 26.

8. Henry, Prince of Wales, to the Duc de Bouillon; Richmond, 31 July, 1612. Copy. f. 28.

10. Henry, P[rince of Wales], sending Edmondes a copy of his reply to the King's request for his opinion on the match with the Princess Christine: "I will only add one thing, which is that, if the King and I make this match upon worse conditions then Spaine hath done with the other, it will be very dishonorable"; Richmond, 31 July, 1612. Holograph. f. 34.
11. G[eorge Abbot, Archbishop of] Canterbury, recommending Mr. Turville, who is "by order from his ma<sup>ty</sup> come over [to France], to printe certaine bookes which were formerly composed by his Highnesse and are now done into French by this gentleman"; Croydon, 31 July, 1612. f. 36.
12. George Calvert, on affairs at Court, etc.: "Our Secretaries no man can tell who shalbe, but the fairest is Nevill, and some say Wynwood also . . . Of Tresorer point encore, par ce qu'il n'y a point de trésor," etc.; Charing Cross, 1 Aug. 1612. f. 38.
13. Sir D. Carleton, on the joy at Rome at the death of the Doge, on the arrival in Venice of Friar Ney, who "gave out that this journey of his to Rome and Spaine was an employment from the Archduke Albert to change the truce of the Low Countreys into a peace," etc.; Venice, 3 Aug. 1612. f. 46.
14. James I., instructing Edmondes to contradict the report that Prince Henry had been promised in marriage to the sister of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, and to assure M. de Villeroy that "as yett wee had never gone further in the bestowing of any of our childring then by way of forecasting upon all likelihoods and harkening what cours might prove fittest for our honor and the establishment of our posteretie"; Apthorpe, 9 Aug. 1612. Signed. f. 48.
15. Thomas Murray [of the Prince of Wales' Household] thanking Edmondes for his services in the matter of the Scotch Guard; Richmond, 6 Aug. 1612. f. 51.
16. [Sir] Thomas Smythe; London, 13 Aug. 1612. f. 60. .
17. James I., on controversial writings of [Pierre] Du Moulin and [Daniel] Tilenus: "You shall say plainly to the Duke [de Bouillon] and pray him so to deliver to Tilenus that wee find it a very impertinent discourse. . . . Wee thinke it fitt that both the Duke of Bouillon toward Tilenus, and you in our name to Du Moulin, do require theire conformitie to our judgement delivered, that is, that the question be for ever buried in silence, and neither by writing or

- preaching revived"; Newstead, 16 Aug. a° 10 [1612]. Signed. f. 64.
18. Sir D. Carleton; Venice, 18 Aug. 1612. f. 71.
19. Sir J. Digby, on the reception of the French Ambassador [Duc de Mayenne] at Madrid, the probable visit of Philip III. to Portugal, etc.; Madrid, 21 Aug. 1612. f. 73.
20. Ro[bert Carr, Viscount] Rochester, on the King's anxiety to conclude the match between P. Henry and Princess Christine; Woodstock, 27 Aug., 1612. f. 77.
21. James I., on the differences between the Queen Regent of France and the Princes of the blood: "Wee observed that wee ressavd your letter upon a St. Bartholme day in the morninge, which maid mentione of a St. Bartholmoy businesse, and surely wee have too great cause to feare that that bloodie Sainct will once againe besturre himself in France, if it be not tymously prevented"; Woodstock, 27 Aug. 1612. Signed. f. 79.
22. The same, on the opposition of the French Ambassador to the attempts of the States of Holland to establish a trade at Constantinople, the despatch of an English Ambassador to the Emperor, the Cleves succession, etc.; Woodstock, 27 Aug. a° 10 [1612]. Signed. f. 83.

174. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. IX. (ff. 368). 26 March, 1613—8 July, 1614. The negotiations for the marriage of Prince Charles with the Princess Christine are continued throughout this volume, and the letters and discussions of the proposed articles by James I. show his eagerness for the match. Most of the letters of 1613 have reference to this subject, and to the disturbances in Montferrat occasioned by the death of Francis III., Duke of Mantua, leaving a widow [Marguerite, dau. of Charles Emmanuel, Duke of Savoy] and an infant daughter. Ferdinand, the brother of Francis, succeeding, assumed the custody of his niece, but Charles Emmanuel claiming her guardianship made the refusal of his demands an opportunity for reviving the old claim of the Dukes of Savoy to the Duchy of Montferrat, which for the last eighty years had formed part of the dominions of Mantua.

Edmondes came to England at the end of January, 1614, but returned to his post in the middle of July. During his absence from France, a formidable cabal was made by French Princes and Nobles (secretly encouraged by the Duc de Bouillon), of which the Prince de Condé, the Ducs de Vendosme, Mayenne, etc., were the chiefs. They retired from the Court and seized Mezières. The negotiations which took place between the malcontents and the Queen Regent resulted in the treaty of St. Ménehould, 15 May, 1614, whereupon some of the Princes were reconciled to the Queen. There was, however, at the end of June, a fresh outbreak of hostilities on the part of Condé, who attempted to seize Poitiers, but was successfully resisted by the Bishop. A minute history of these proceedings is given in this volume, in the letters of John Beaulieu, French Secretary to James I. The letters also of David Home deal with the subject.

175. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. X. (ff. 389). 16 July, 1614—24 Mar. 1615 [6]. The volume opens with the instructions of James I. to Edmondes on his return to France. The latter continues to give full details of the dissensions in the French Court, which lasted through 1614 and 1615 and resulted in the Conference of Loudun in Feb.—May, 1616, at which Edmondes was present. He seems, however, to have made himself obnoxious to the Queen Regent in the autumn of 1615, for in a letter dated 3 Sept. his Secretary, Woodford, then in London, reports that the French Ambassador had complained that Edmondes's house in Paris was the "ordinary resort of all the malcontents and ill-affected persons of the State." There is no letter from Edmondes in reply to these charges, and indeed his letters at this time are so few that Secretary Winwood in a letter, undated, but written probably at the end of August, 1615, writes that the King thinks it strange that he hears from him so seldom. The negotiations for Prince Charles's marriage still continued.

In the beginning of 1614 the Elector of Neuburg had become a Catholic and thrown himself on the protection of Spain. The Dutch States had openly espoused the cause of Brandenburg, and Prince Maurice had, on his behalf, taken possession of Juliers. Spain at once put an army into the field under Spinola, who seized Aix-la-Chapelle, Düren and Wesel, while Maurice retaliated by possessing himself of Emmerich and Rees, but both generals were careful not to endanger the truce which existed between Spain and the United Provinces by engaging directly with each other. A treaty of accommodation was set on foot at Santen, and Sir Henry Wotton was sent thither in August, 1614, to assist in the negotiations jointly with the French representative M. de Reffuge. Wotton's letters give an account of the conference. The treaty was signed in December, and after some delay, owing to his reluctance to give up Wesel, was ratified by the King of Spain.

176. EDMONDES PAPERS. Vol. XI. (ff. 296). 25 March, 1616—28 Jan. 1632 [3]. During Edmondes's absence at the Loudun Conference, which resulted in a treaty signed 5 May, 1616, his secretary, Woodford, reported the state of affairs at the French Court. In September of the same year Edmondes requested James I. to recall him, and he was allowed to come home in November on the understanding that he was to return to his post. On his arrival in England the King appointed him Comptroller of the Household, and admitted him to the Privy Council. He resumed his duties in France in April, 1617, and finally retired at the end of that year. His letters continue to give full reports of the state of parties and events in France, including the arrest of Condé and his imprisonment in the Bastille, the arrogance and unpopularity of the Concinnis, which ended in the assassination of the Maréchal by order of Louis XIII. and the execution of his wife, the disgrace of Marie de' Medici and her retirement from Court, the government of the kingdom by Louis XIII., and the advancement of his favourite De Luynes, etc.

The only letter in the volume from the end of 1617 to the beginning of 1620 is one from Carleton, Ambassador at the Hague, written in September, 1618.

From 1620 to 1623 the letters consist of the correspondence of Edmondes with the Duc de Bouillon and Du Moulin at Sedan, with the town, etc., of La Rochelle, and with the Duc de Rohan and others, relating to the persecution of French Protestants. The remainder of the correspondence is of a miscellaneous character, and includes letters from Lord Falkland, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Lord de la Warr, Vice-Admiral in the Duke of Buckingham's expedition against Cadiz, Sir Robert Anstruther, Ambassador to Denmark, and others, many of whom refer to the war in the Palatinate.

Edmondes was sent again to France in June, 1629, as special Ambassador to procure the ratification by Louis XIII. of the treaty between France and England, made at Suze in the preceding April. He was also Special Ambassador to the same Court in Jan.—July, 1630, as is evident from several letters of that date being addressed to him there, but this embassy seems to have escaped the notice of his biographers.

179. RELATION of the negotiations for peace between England, Spain, and the Archduke Albert, Governor of the Spanish Netherlands, carried on at Brussels and subsequently at Boulogne; Jan. 1598[9] — Dec. 1600. The narrative commences with Sir R. Cecil's account of the arrival in London of Geronimo Coomans, an Envoy from the Archduke, and describes his interviews with the Queen and himself, which lasted till Dec. 1599. This is followed (f. 14) by copies of the correspondence between Queen Elizabeth and Andrew, Cardinal of Austria, Governor of the Netherlands in the absence of his brother Albert, who had gone to Spain to marry the Infanta Isabella. Thomas Edmondes, English Agent in France, was ordered to Brussels to arrange for a conference, and his instructions, dated Dec. 1599, are given on f. 24. Edmondes at this point takes up the relation (f. 28) and describes his reception at Brussels, and the proceedings of each day until his return to France at the end of Jan. 1599 [1600]. Then follow at f. 48 the instructions, 11 Mar. 1599 [1600], to Edmondes for a second journey to Brussels, and the account of further interviews with the Archdukes. At f. 63 are given the instructions to Sir Henry Neville, Ambassador at Paris, John Herbert, Secretary of State, Robert Beale, clerk of the Privy Council, and Edmondes, who had been appointed commissioners to negotiate the treaty at Boulogne, followed by the history of the negotiations, which, however, never passed the preliminary stage in consequence of a dispute for precedency between England and Spain. The arguments, etc., relating to the dispute will be found on f. 107 seqq. Interspersed are copies of letters between the various powers and their secretaries, etc., of which other copies are given above in 167 ff. 103–207.

200-217. ESSEX PAPERS: Royal warrants, official and private letters and other papers addressed to Arthur Capell, Earl of Essex, while Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, followed by a register of his own letters; 1672-1677. Eighteen volumes. Paper. Folio.

The correspondence chiefly relates to appointments to offices in Ireland, grants of lands under the Acts of Settlement and Explanation, pensions, the farming of the revenues, the irregularities in the payment of the forces in Ireland, the disabilities of the Roman Catholics, and other public matters. A few of the letters (vol. i. ff. 3-103 passim) are addressed to the retiring Viceroy, John, Lord Berkeley of Stratton; and a few later letters addressed to Essex in 1679 are included in vol. xiii. ff. 351-368. The names of the writers are given in the index, together with references to the subject-matter.

Among the letters those of Francis Godolphin, William Harbord and Sir Cyril Wich, who successively acted as Secretaries in England for Lord Essex, together with those of Lords Aungier, Annesley and Conway, are very full of Court news and intrigues. Other letters are from Lords Orrery and Ranelagh, the Duke of Ormonde, Sir Arthur Forbes [cr. Viscount Granard in 1675], Sir William and Sir John Temple, Sir Henry Capell, Lord Essex's brother, Father Patrick Maginn, Chaplain to the Queen, Colonel Richard Talbot [cr. Earl of Tyrconnel in 1685], and the several Secretaries of State. A selection has been printed by the Camden Society, Essex Papers, ed. O. Airy, 1890. Among the contents are :—

218. ROUGH LIST of Manuscripts belonging to George Capel, 5th Earl of Essex, as offered to the British Museum in Dec. 1808, and ultimately purchased by the Marquis of Buckingham. In the hand of Edward Jeffery, bookseller; and certified by F[ranc]ois D[ouce], Keeper of MSS. in the British Museum. The MSS. now form Nos. 200-217 above.

Paper; ff. 8. Small quarto.

219, 220. LETTER-BOOK containing copies of the letters of James Brydges, 8th Baron Chandos, when Ambassador at Constantinople, written to the successive Secretaries of State in England, the Levant Company, the Consuls of the various Mediterranean Ports, and especially Gamaliel Nightingale, Consul at Aleppo, and William Raye, Consul at Smyrna, etc.; 30 Mar. 1681—16 July, 1688.

Most of the letters relate to the transactions and interests of the Levant Company and to the Mediterranean Trade; but curious details are frequently given of political matters, such as the progress of the war in Hungary, the intrigues of the Turkish Ministers, and the Ambassador's difficulties with the Porte. The last letter dated at Pera is of 21 Sept. 1687, (vol. ii. f. 98 b), the remainder being written when Lord Chandos was on his way home and after he had reached his own house in Old Palace Yard, Westminster. A few are in Italian. Two volumes.

Paper; ff. 277, 105. Large folio.

Vellum sheet, 2 ft. 8 in. × 2 ft. 2 in. With illuminated borders, containing the royal arms, etc.

222-232. HANOVER PAPERS, being the correspondence and papers of J— Robethon, private secretary (1) to William III., (2) to George William, Duke of Zell, and (3) to George Louis, Elector of Hanover, and George I. of England; 2 Oct. 1692—13 Nov. 1719. Eleven volumes. Paper. Folio. Vols. i.—x. have been re-arranged chronologically; vol. xi., consisting of intercepted Jacobite correspondence, remains unaltered.

At Robethon's death the collection passed to his eldest son, Col. Robethon, and after the latter's decease it was sold, circ. 1752, under an execution, to Matthew Duane, by whom it was bequeathed to his relation, Michael Bray, of Wimbledon. At Bray's death it was purchased by Thomas Astle, Keeper of the Records in the Tower, who by his will, in 1803, offered it for purchase to the Marquis of Buckingham, and it thus became part of the Stowe library. While in the hands of Matthew Duane, the correspondence was examined by James Macpherson, and many of the letters between 1702 and 1765 were transcribed for his Secret History of Great Britain from the Restoration to the Accession of the House of Hanover, London, 1775.

In the following list of writers the names in each volume are arranged alphabetically. The collection deals almost exclusively with the fortunes of the Electoral House of Hanover, both before and after its accession to the throne of Great Britain; and, except where otherwise noted, the letters are in French.

243–245. LETTER-BOOKS of Hon. Alexander Stanhope, Envoy to the States-General, April, 1700—Jan. 1704 [5]; consisting of transcripts of his despatches to James Vernon, William Blathwayt, Sir Charles Hedges, Charles, Earl of Manchester, Daniel, Earl of Nottingham, and Robert Harley, successive Secretaries of State, James Cressett, Minister at Hamburg, Hugh Greg, Minister at Copenhagen, Sir George Rooke, the Duke of Marlborough, and others. Three Volumes. Paper. Folio. Vol. I. (ff. 171).  $\frac{1}{3}$  Apr. 1700—3 Mar. 1702. Vol. II. (ff. 270). 10 Mar. 1703—2 Oct. 1703. Vol. III. (ff. 270).  $\frac{19 \text{ Sept.}}{8 \text{ Oct.}}$  1703— $\frac{26 \text{ Dec.}}{6 \text{ Jan.}}$  1704.

The letters in Vol. i. which are in the hand of James Dayrolle, Resident at the Hague, illustrate particularly the history of Northern Europe, the designs of the Czar Peter I., in conjunction with the Kings of Denmark and Poland, against Charles XII. of Sweden, the attempts at mediation by William III. and the States General, and the ultimate despatch of a combined Dutch and English fleet to the Sound under the command of Sir G. Rooke. At the end, reversing the volume, are a few memorials to the States General, etc., in French, other copies of which are in Add. 15,883, also in the hand of Dayrolle. Vols. ii. iii. relate to the various negotiations, intrigues and military actions consequent on the Partition Treaty, the death of Charles II. of Spain, and the struggle for the Spanish succession. Several of the original

246, 247. COLLECTION of letters, principally on state affairs, addressed with few exceptions to James Craggs, Jun., Secretary at War [13 Apr. 1717], and Secretary of State [16 Mar. 1718]; 1711—1720. With a few papers of an earlier date. Two volumes. Paper. Folio.

The most important series consists of letters of John Dalrymple, 2nd Earl of Stair, appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to France in Jan. 1715 and Ambassador in Feb. 1719. They are his private letters, as distinct from his formal despatches, and their nature may best be described by the following quotation from that of 2 Apr. 1718 (vol. i. f. 79): "I shall continue from time to time to write you epistles of this kind for yourself only, which will give you hints sometimes of things that are not proper to put into dispatches that must in the first place be communicated to a cabinet counsell, and after lye in offices on record. There is no need of signing such letters, and the best is to burn them on both sides." The principal matters of which he treats are as follows;—

Firstly, the negotiations for the treaty between England, France and the Emperor, which was ultimately agreed to by the Regent Orléans in July, 1718, by the Emperor a little later, and by the States of Holland in the following spring, and was known henceforth as the Quadruple Alliance.

Secondly, the Spanish expedition against Sicily, which ended in the destruction of the Spanish fleet by Sir George Byng in Aug. 1718. In writing on this subject Lord Stair finds occasion, in Aug. 1718 (vol. i. f. 120), to remonstrate with Craggs on the difficulties of his own position, consequent on the attitude and conduct of the Abbé Dubois, at that time French Minister in London, whom he describes as "fearfull, distrustfull and jealous to a supreme degree." He continues, "He [Dubois] had sent two couriers to the D. of Orleans about that matter, as a mighty mystery of State he had discovered, before I knew one word of it from our court. If I had been acquainted with the matter in the first place, I should have told the story to the Regent naturally as it was, and you would have heard no more of it, but, as it happened, the Abbé filled the Regent's head with distrusts and jealousies and putt him upon consulting with D'Huxelles and the rest of our ennemys, who upon that occasion bid fair to overturn our whole treaty. To such accidents you will be ever lyable as long as you lett the foreign ministers that reside at your court be apprised of your secrets and designs before your own ministers abroad know anything of 'em; by that means you make your own ministers abroad entirely useless, and take it out of their power to negotiate any thing." In a later letter, 11 Feb. 1719 (vol. i. f. 225 b), he again expresses his opinion of the Abbé: "I appear to believe all the Abbé tells me. The worst of the Abbé is that he will now and then accommodate truth to what he fancies his present purpose, and that is what I have all along liked worst in him. He seems to be playing a very difficult game, that I think cannot be played through."

Thirdly, the affairs of the Northern Courts, complicated by the intrigues of Card. Alberoni with Sweden and Russia, which, however, were rendered abortive by the death of Charles XII. at the siege of Frederikshald on 11 Dec. 1718.

Fourthly, the dispute between Lord Stair and the French Princes of the Blood on the question of ceremonial, arising from the former's formal entry as Ambassador in Feb. 1719.

Fifthly, the expedition against England projected by Card. Alberoni in support of the Jacobites, under the command of the Duke of Ormonde in April, 1719.

Throughout the letters of Lord Stair (as well as those of some of the other writers) there are frequent allusions to the prospects and plans of the Pretender and the Jacobites, and to the various attempts to organize movements in their favour. From time to time he also mentions "Mr. York," as Lord Bolingbroke was called, who had now broken with the Pretender, but was still living in exile in France, e.g. in his letter of 4 Mar. 1719 (vol. ii. f. 26 b), "I have a letter from our poor friend York, who begins to be in great pain as to his destiny." Among the other writers are the following:—

250. OFFICIAL TRANSCRIPTS of intercepted Jacobite correspondence, to which are added copies of letters addressed to the Secretary of State by the English Ambassadors in France, Italy, etc., on the plots of the Jacobites; April—August, 1722.

The earlier letters contain much information concerning the various Jacobite leaders, the Duke of Ormonde, Lord Lansdowne, Gen. Dillon, the two Kellys, the Earl of Mar, and others, the projected invasion of England from Spain under Ormonde, etc.; but they more especially show the part played by Bishop Atterbury and his relations with the Pretender. All the above persons are alluded to under fictitious names, but in most cases the real names are given, with other notes, in the margin. The Pretender himself has five or six pseudonyms, but is generally "Mr. Jackson"; Atterbury is known as "Mr. T. Illington" and "Mr. T. Jones," Lord Oxford is referred to as "Nestle"; and the letters from 10 May to 5 July contain several allusions to the attempts of the Jacobites to induce him to take an active part in their plans. On f. 53, John Semple, in a letter to Francis Semple, gives the details of an intended rising in London on the night of the Duke of Marlborough's funeral, viz. 9 August. Ff. 62-72 contain extracts and copies of letters already given earlier in the volume.

In the latter part of the volume, letters from Sir Luke Schaub, English Minister at Paris, Thomas Crawford, Secretary to the Embassy at Paris, [Henry?] Davenant, Envoy at Genoa (who writes from Rome), Col. Stanhope, Ambassador at Madrid, and others, to Lord Carteret, Secretary of State, show the serious nature of the intended expedition from Spain. It was known (f. 75) that the Pretender had had a conference with the Pope on the subject, that arms and soldiers, principally from Ireland, were being collected, and that ships of war, manned and officered by Irish Jacobites, were ready to sail from Cadiz and other Spanish ports so soon as news should be received from England that everything was ripe for a simultaneous insurrection there. A letter from Stanhope, 8 June, reports (f. 83) that Ormonde "intends speedily to pass into England with a great number of Irish officers now in the service of his Catholic Majesty, in order to put himself at the head of the rebels there," that Capt. Morgan with three ships of "thirty odd guns" was to transport 12,000 arms into England, together with Ormonde, and "that the place for landing is most certainly either Bristol, Milford, or Highlake" [perhaps Hoylake, co. Chest.]. Stanhope's next letter, however, 15 June (f. 84), breaks off to say that news is just brought "that the design for passing into England is for the present at least entirely laid aside, the late discovery there of the conspiracy having disappointed all measures." But though the King of Spain, about the end of June, at the instance of Col. Stanhope, forbade Irish officers and other suspected Jacobites to quit Spain without special licence, it is evident from letters [of Sir Anthony Wescombe] from Corunna and Bilboa in July and August, that active preparations were still being carried on at the various ports.

The contents of the volume are printed, with some omissions (more particularly of compromising names, etc.), and without the marginal notes, in the Appendices, and partly in the body, of the "Report from the Committee appointed by the House of Commons to examine Christopher Sayer and others," reported 1 Mar. 1723; (Reports from Committees, vol. i. 1803, p. 99). See also Howell's State Trials, vol. xvi., col. 323.

3. Memoranda of proceedings at the Court of France, extracted from letters of English Ambassadors and Agents at Paris, relating more particularly to intrigues and secret influences; 7 Jan. 1767—18 Dec. 1774. f. 5.
4. Extracts of letters from the English envoys at the Court of Denmark, especially of Col. [afterwards Sir] Robert Murray Keith, who succeeded Robert Gunning at Copenhagen in Feb. 1771 (v. Eg.

2700, f. 44), to the Secretary of State, throwing light on the influence and conduct of Count Johann Friedrich von Struensee; 12 Feb. 1771—17 Dec. 1772. f. 19.

Paper; ff. 22. xviiith cent. In dark-green morocco binding, tooled. Quarto.

- 263. TRANSCRIPTS of letters addressed to Sir Charles Hanbury Williams, Ambassador at St. Petersburg; 1755-1757. The letters give an account of transactions in Parliament, movements of parties and court intrigues immediately before and after the fall of the Duke of Newcastle's ministry in Nov. 1756, the subsequent acceptance by the Duke of Devonshire of the post of First Lord of the Treasury, with Pitt as Secretary of State, their resignation, and the settling of the Newcastle and Pitt joint-administration in June, 1757. A note on the fly-leaf by Thomas Astle states that in 1775 the originals were "in the possession of Mr. Hanbury Williams." The writers are:—(1) Henry Digby, [Baron Digby 1765, 1st Earl of Digby, 1790]; 23 Dec. 1753, 10, 13 Nov. 1756, 12 June, 1757. ff. 2, 4 b, 9 b, 13 b;—(2) George Hanbury;—Nov. 1756. f. 10 b;—(3) Henry Fox, [Baron Holland in 1763]; 29 May, 26 Dec. 1756. ff. 11, 12.

Included also are:—(4) Memoranda "from a paper in the handwriting of the Duke of Newcastle, entitled Business for Lord Hardwicke, Lord Mansfield, and Mr. Stone, Newcastle House, Feb. 18, 1760," the subjects being, (a) a Discourse between the Duke, W. Pitt, and [Dodo Heinrich, Baron] Knyphausen [Prussian Ambassador], (b) "Mr. Pitt's project about Belle Isle," and (c) Treasury affairs, etc. ff. 15 b-18;—(5) Henry Fox to [? John Stuart, 3rd Earl of Bute, First Lord of the Treasury]; 15 Apr. 1763. f. 19.

Paper; ff. 19. "Bibl. T. Astlei, 1775." Bound in black morocco, tooled. Quarto.

- 264, 265. TRANSCRIPTS of official correspondence of the various Governors of the British North American Colonies with the Board of Trade and Plantations, and the Secretaries of State, on the subject of the Stamp Act and the disturbances caused by the attempt to put the Act into execution; 1764-1766. Two volumes.

Paper; ff. 384, 406. xviiith cent. Folio.

- 266. REPORT of the Commissioners and Trustees for managing forfeited estates in Scotland annexed to the Crown; Edinburgh, 6 May, 1765. Signed by John Campbell [Lord of Session?], [Sir] David Dalrymple [afterw. Lord of Session?], G. Beauclerk, G. Drummond, M. Cardonnel, Robert Oliphant [Postmaster General of Scotland?], and [James, Lord] Somerville.

Paper; ff. 20. Folio.

267. LIST of state letters, tracts, speeches and bills in Parliament, ballads, and other papers illustrating the history of England from 1624 to 1735; in the hand of Rev. Philip Morant (ob. 1778). At f. 20 begins a chronological list of State Trials and literature relating to the same, from 1388 to 1716.

Paper; ff. 51. xviiith cent. Quarto.

SECT. VI.—POLITICAL TRACTS, COLLECTIONS, CARICATURES, ETC.

268. "A BREYFFE DISCOURSE in prayse of Kyng Rychard the Thyrd, Kyng of England. . . . Said to have been composed by Sir William Cornwallis the younger." With the note (f. 4) by Thomas Astle, "... transcribed from the original formerly in the library of John Anstis, Esq<sup>r</sup>., Garter K. at Arms. The title-page was written in a different hand from the rest of the book." The text is headed "The Life and Death of King Richard the Third." Printed in Essayes of Certaine Paradoxes, 1616 (2nd ed. 1617), ascribed to Cornwallis, and reprinted in the Somers Tracts, ed. W. Scott, vol. iii., 1810, p. 316. In Add. 29,307, however, is a 16th cent. copy with a preface addressed to Sir Henry Nevill, Knt., and signed "Hen. W."

At f. 1 is inserted a letter, with notes on the author, from [Caroline], wife of Hon. Fred. Cornwallis, Archbishop of Canterbury [1768-83].

Paper; ff. 16. xviiith cent. Quarto.

269. "A COMMYSSION sent to the bloody byshop of London, and to al couents of Frers, by the high and mighty prince lord Sathanas the deuill of hell": a satire against the Church, apparently composed in the reign of Henry VIII. A note at the end states that it was "transcribed from a copy in the hands of Mr. George Ballard, [the antiquary], Sept. 20, 1748."

Paper; ff. 16. Duodecimo.

270. "THE COPPIE of a letter written by a Mr. of Artes in Cambridge to his friend in London, concerning some conference passed of late betweene twoe worshipfull and graue men about y<sup>e</sup> present state and some of y<sup>e</sup> proceedings of the Earle of Leicester and his friends in England": the tract known as "Leicester's Commonwealth," and attributed to Robert Parsons, the Jesuit. Printed in 1584, and subsequently.

Paper; ff. 73. "Written 1594." Small quarto.

271. 1. "LEICESTER'S Commonwealth": the political tract attributed to Robert Parsons, the Jesuit (see No. 270). f. 1 b.
 2. "Encyclopædia sive tabulæ artium liberalium": a summary of philosophy, theology, etc., in the form of deductive tables, in Latin and English. f. 49.

Paper; ff. 79. xviii cent. Belonged in 18th cent. to Edward Umfreville. Small folio.

272. 1. "A TREATISE touchinge the right, title, and interest of the moste excellente princesse Marie, Queene of Scotland, and of the moste noble Kinge James, her Graces sonne, to the succession of the crowne of Englande . . . compiled and published before in Latine and after in Englische by the right reuerend father in God John Lessey [Lesley], Bysshop of Rosse . . . An. 1584." Apparently copied from the printed edition [Reims, 1584, 8vo], but without the tabular genealogy. f. 2.
 2. "Heavenly and divyne meditations, or the blessed wishes of a blessed soule," beg. "What should I wishe? For on the earth." In verse, and addressed to Dorothy, Lady Fowler [3rd wife of Sir Thomas Fowler, Knt., of Islington]. Apparently autograph. The author's initials are given as G. T., and he is called on the cover "Mr. Tashe." A George Tashe, a writer of anagrams, was at one time page to Henry Darnley, father of James I. (Cal. of State Papers, 1611-1618, p. 174. See also Add. 24,489, f. 272 b). At the end of the "Meditations" (f. 66) are anagrams on "Francis, Countesse Hertforde" [3rd wife of Edward Seymour, 1st Earl], and "Edovardus Cocus" [Sir Edw. Coke]. f. 55.
 3. "Certaine proverbs and aphorismes collected as they weere at severall tymes spoken by King James." f. 67. Followed by characters, in prose and verse, of "Averyce and prodigallitie," of "the Romishe Catholique," and of "the Athiest." ff. 72, 72 b, 73;—and by "versus recurrentes," the first line in each distich being "written by the French preists in a windowe of the guard-chamber at Saint James." f. 73 b. In the same hand as art. 2, and addressed to "Sir Richard Sainot George, Knight, one of the Kings of Armes" [Norroy, 1603, Clarenceux, 1623, ob. 1635].
 4. "A meditation of the Passion," in verse, beg. "O you that care-lesse passe along this way," by George Tashe (?). f. 76. For another copy see Harley MS. 761, f. 43.

Paper; ff. 76. xviiith cent. In vellum covers, stamped with the arms of Sir Richard St. George. Folio.

273. "AN ANSWER to a discourse of John Lesley, Bishop of Rosse (see above, No. 272, art. 1), intended to prove that Mary, Queen of Scots, was intituled to the crown of England in preference to Queen Elizabeth, because the Pope had deposed her, and that her son was intituled to the crown of this realm after her decease," beg. "Though all things in this worlde be subiect to alteration." The title-page is in a modern hand.

Paper; ff. 51. End of xviiith cent. In vellum covers. Folio.

274. "A LARGE and excellent discourse of the estate of Christiandome, written by an vnknowne author about the yeare of our Lord 1594 . . . conteyning many secret passages and hidden mysteries of the tymes both past and present, with much variety of good matter both historicall and politicall." The address "to the reader" begins, "After that I had lived many yeares in voluntary exile and banishment, and sawe that the most happy and fortunate successe which it hath pleased the Almighty to send my gracious Sovereigne against the malicious and hostile attempts which the Spanish monarch both openly and covertly practised against her sacred person and invincible state and kingdome, I begann to despaire of my long desired retorne into my native country, and to consider with myselfe with what price I might best redeeme my sweete and inestimable libertie." Further on (f. 3) the author states that, with this view, he wrote the work at the suggestion of "an honest and kind English gentleman, whoe was lately come out of Italie, and meant to sojourne a fewe monethes in Fraunce, and then to returne into England"; and the latter (f. 6), among other reasons for his undertaking the task, refers to his "creditt with Cardinall Allen, [his] acquaintance with [Thomas] Morgan, [his] freindshipp with Thomas Throgmorton, [his] conversation with Charles Pagett, and [his] long experience in forraigne affaire," etc. The conclusion of the treatise is (f. 552) "that the Spanish monarch may lawfully bee excommunicated and deposed . . . see long as hee shall continue to bee, as hee is, the common and onely perturber of Christian peace and tranquillity." For another copy, see Harley MS. 3499.

275. "AN APOLOGIE of [Robert Devereux] the earle of Essex against those which falsly and maliciously take him to be the onely hinderance of the peace and quietnes of his countrye": a defence of the policy of war with Spain, addressed to Anthony Bacon in 1598. To this is annexed, in the same hand, a report of the speeches made by the Lord Keeper Egerton, Secretary Cecil, and others in the Star Chamber on 29 Nov. 1599, in reference to the Earl's conduct in Ireland (f. 13), and copies of a letter from T[homas] E[gerton], Lord Keeper, to Essex [15 Oct. 1598], urging him to make his peace with the Queen, and of Essex's reply [18 Oct.], refusing to follow this advice (ff. 15, 15 b). The Apology appears to have been first printed in 1600, and immediately suppressed (Birch, Memoirs of Qu. Elizabeth, ii., 1754, p. 444). It was published in 1608; and again in 1729, as The Earl of Essex's Vindication of the War with Spain, being followed in this edition (p. 55) by a summary of the speeches delivered in the Star Chamber, not identical with the report here. The letters are printed in Cabala, 1654, pt. ii. pp. 27-31, Birch, op. cit., ii. p. 348, and elsewhere.

Paper; ff. 16. xvith—xviii cent. Small folio.

276. 1. Copy of the letter of [Robert Devereux], Earl of Essex, to [Henry Wriothesley], Earl of Southampton, written shortly before the execution of the former in 1601. Printed in 1642. f. 3 b.

2. Treatise, "Of the foundation of a State and the essential parts that form a Prince." A note in another hand ascribes it to the Earl of Essex, with date 1523. The date is, however, impossible, as there is a reference in the past tense to Pietro Strozzi, who died in 1558; and it appears to belong to the time of James I. [1623?]. f. 5.

On a fly-leaf (f. 2) is a copy of the poem on Sir Henry Lee, referring to his retirement (in 1590) from his self-assumed office of Champion to Queen Elizabeth, beg. "His golden locks time hath to silver turned." It was recited, but in the first person, on the occasion of the ceremony accompanying Sir H. Lee's retirement (Segar, Honor, Military and Civill, 1602, p. 197). The present copy is signed by O. St. John [i.e. Oliver, Lord St. John, afterwards first Earl of Bolingbroke, 1584-1646; see his signature in Cott. MS. Jul. C. iii., f. 8], but the poem is generally assigned to George Peele, having been printed in 1590 with his Polyhymnia, a poem written with reference to the same occasion (Works, ed. Dyce, ii. p. 192). Reprinted by Mr. A. H. Bullen (who does not doubt the correctness of the ascription to Peele) in Lyrics from the Dramatists of the Elizabethan Age, 1891.

Paper and (ff. 1, 25) vellum; ff. 25. Early xviii cent. The two vellum leaves are from a MS. of the 14th cent., containing portions of a work on Canon Law, and were formerly used as covers. Folio.

277. "DISCOURSE concerning the prerogative of the Crown," by William Camden, beg. "The lawes of England which men call the common lawes." Apparently a draft.

Paper; ff. 12. Early xviii cent. Small quarto.

278. "FRAGMENTA REGALIA, or observacions on Queene Elizabeth, her tymes and favourites," by Sir Robert Naunton, Secretary of State. First printed in 1641.

Paper; ff. 69. xviii cent. Small folio.

279. 1. "MAXIMS, religious and political, of King James I. f. 2. Printed, but with variations, in The Prince's Cabala, etc., 1715, under the title of "The Table-Talk of King James I., etc. Collected by Sir Thomas Overbury."

2. "Observations upon the state of the 17 Prouinces, as they stood a<sup>o</sup> 1619" [1609], by Sir Thomas Overbury. f. 15. Printed in 1626, together with the two articles following.

3. Observations upon "the Archdukes country 1619" [1609], by Sir Thomas Overbury. f. 24 b.

4. "France under Henry the 4th, 1609," by Sir Thomas Overbury. f. 28.

Paper; ff. 42. Early xviii cent. Belonged to Gustavus Brander (ob. 1787) and Thomas Astle (ob. 1803). Small quarto.

280. 1. "A DISCOURSE of passages betweene the Earles of Essex, Northampton and Somerset, the Countesse of Somerset, Sir Thomas Overbury and others, with theyre risinge and fall, with diverse other matters acted duringe the late raigne of King James, as alsoe of the Duke of Buckingham's first cominge into favoure." f. 2. This title is from Harley MSS. 4302, 6242, the present copy having no title-page. Harl. MS. 4302 is dated 4 Sept. 1629. Printed in 1643 under the title, The five yeares of King James, or the Condition of the state of England and the relation it had to other provinces [this second title properly refers only to the first chapter]. Written by S<sup>r</sup> Foulk Grevill, late Lord Brooke. The ascription of the tract to Lord Brooke is obviously erroneous. Reprinted in 1651 as the first part of Truth brought to light and discovered by time, or a discourse and historical narration of the first xiiii yeares of King James reigne. See the Harleian Miscellany, vol. vii., 1811, p. 407; and the Somers Tracts, ed. W. Scott, vol. ii., 1809, p. 262.

Paper; ff. 24. xviiith cent. Small Folio.

288. "THE DUKE OF LENOX his speeche before his Majestie concerning the warre with Scotland": apparently addressed to Charles I., dissuading him from the war with Scotland in 1629 and counselling concessions to the Scots. According to Dr. S. R. Gardiner (Hist. of England, vol. viii. 1884, p. 367) a forgery, which was widely circulated at the time for political reasons.

Paper; ff. 4. xviiith cent. Folio.

289. PARALLEL between Robert Devereux, Earl of Essex, and George Villiers, Duke of Buckingham, by Sir Henry Wotton, 1641. Printed in Reliquiae Wottonianae, 1672.

Paper; ff. 20. xviiith cent. Small Folio.

290. PAMPHLET, in form of a letter to a person unnamed, in reference to the proposed marriage of James, Duke of York, [James II.], urging by historical examples the right of the royal family to arrange its marriages without reference to Parliament, and without taking into consideration the question of religion. Signed "Philaethes," 4 February, 1678 [9].

Paper; ff. 17. Folio.

291. "A VINDICATION of y<sup>e</sup> Revolution, or a Hearty Endeavour to unite all the Members of the Church of England to the present Government, in a Dialogue between a Jacobite Tory and a Williamite Tory." Apparently written before the death of Qu. Mary (27 Dec. 1694).

309. ALLEGORICAL DESIGNS in colours, relating to political events in the reigns of James I. and Charles I.

The designs include a man (Charles I.?) lying in bed, a street scene, the Pope and others burning, a procession, a man carrying a bust of Charles I., the demolition of a house, etc., together with five signboards. The first of these exhibits a lion issuing from a wood, with the date 1628 in one corner, and, above, the initials G. H. on either side of a shield of arms, over which is the text, "Now the axe is laid to the root of the tree"; the second has an anchor and shears, the royal arms and Prince of Wales's feathers, the date 1623 and initials N. F.; the third, an anchor and sheep, the arms of London and of the Merchant Taylors' Company, 1619, and B. W.; the fourth, a sun, 1625, H. W.; the fifth, a clock, 1628, L. V. On the front page is a monogram made up of the letters C. N. F. G.

Vellum sheet, 16 × 12 in., doubled in the middle. Folio.

310. COLLECTION of engraved political caricatures illustrating the closing years of George II., and more particularly the last Administration of Thomas Pelham-Holles, Duke of Newcastle.

Among the characters caricatured are the Duke, Robert Darcy, 4th Baron Holderness, Philip Yorke, 1st Earl of Hardwicke, George Anson, 1st Baron Anson, George Lyttelton, Baron Lyttelton, and Henry Fox [1st Baron Holland, 1763]. A short explanation has been written over each print. The plates are identical with those in A Political and Satirical History of the Years 1756 and 1757, in a series of seventy-five Humorous and Entertaining Prints, London, [1759], 16°, where the explanatory key, here written, was also given. Plates 1-4, 8, 9, 16, 17, 33, 49, 75, are here wanting. An earlier edition [1757?], with 74 plates and somewhat different explanations, was published under the title England's Remembrancer.

Paper; ff. 47. XVIIIth cent. Quarto.

CLASS V.

REVENUE.

311. DIALOGUS de Scaccario [by Richard Fitz-Nigel, Bishop of London, 1189–1198], here entitled “Gervasii Tilberiensis de Necessariis Scaccarii observationibus Dialogus”; the false ascription to Gervase of Tilbury being common before Madox (History of Exchequer, vol. ii.). After the author's prologue is placed Bale's notice of Gervase; then comes the table of chapters in the whole work, 46 in all. There is no division into books, though the author's preface to the second book is inserted in its place. A note at the end (cf. f. 1 b) states that this MS. is a copy of one in the possession of the Archbishop of Canterbury (probably the present No. 138, Art. 5, in the Lambeth Library), which was made by William Lamhard, the antiquary [1536–1601], and dedicated to [Sir] Thomas Bromley, then Solicitor General and afterwards Lord Chancellor, in 1572.

Paper; ff. 43. End of xvith cent. Folio.

312. 1. DIALOGUS de Scaccario [by Richard Fitz-Nigel, Bishop of London, 1189–1198]. Copied under the direction of Sir Roger Twysden in 1636 from a MS. on vellum, “optimae notae,” in the possession of Sir Henry Spelman. The supposed authorship of Gervase of Tilbury is mentioned in the title; but in a note on f. 1 Twysden expresses his doubt of this, and quotes the reference to the dialogue as the work of Richard, Bishop of London, by Alexander [de Swereford], Archdeacon of Salop [Treasurer of St. Paul's 1231, Baron of the Exchequer 1234, ob. 1246], in the Red Book of the Exchequer. The table of chapters in the first book follows the prologue; but the original division in the text was into 35 chapters instead of 18, the sections of chapters 5, 6, and 7 being numbered as separate chapters. Similarly in book ii. the table contains 28 chapters, the text 31, chapters 1 and 2 of the table being each divided into two chapters, while the author's preface is also numbered as a chapter. f. 4.

2. A table of the times allowed for the issue of summonitions to the various counties of England, with a note by Twysden stating that it is found (though with different arrangement) in the Red Book (f. 82 b), and certified by Twysden's signature. f. 89.

3. Collections "de Scutagiis," from the time of Henry II. to the death of John, made by the above-mentioned Alexander de Swereford in 1230, and placed by him next after the Dialogus de Scaccario in the Red Book. Certified by Twysden's signature, with the note at the end "Examinat. 8 Septembris, 1644." ff. 90, 95 b.

Paper; ff. 96. Folio.

313. Accompts of Ralph Asheton, Receiver General for the Crown for the archdeaconry of Richmond, co. York (f. 1), the bishopric of Durham (f. 11), and the county of Northumberland (f. 22), 17-19 Jas. ## CLASS VI.

PARLIAMENT.

329. 1. "MODUS tenendi Parliamentum"; with a note at the beginning in the hand of Sir Roger Twysden (ob. 1672), referring to other copies in the library of Sir Thomas Cotton. f. 1.

2. A short treatise on the "Court of Parliament," beg. "This is the King's Majesties principall Court of Record." The author proceeds to derive the name from par and lamentum, "an equall and iust complaint of all the members of our nation," etc. He refers to Sir Thomas Smith's De Republica Anglorum, 1584. f. 13 b.

Paper; ff. 17. Early xviiith cent. Small folio.

330. TREATISE on the origin and powers of Parliaments, in Latin; beg. "Longa temporis duratione sensim attrita et vulnerata gloria Romani Imperii," etc. Preceded by an "Elenchus sectionum Introductionis," the first section concluding, "Quarum legum et consuetudinum [Saxonum] hæc erat lex fundamentalis, quod populus fuit pars essentialis Communis eorum Concilii sive Parliamenti."

Paper; ff. 126. End of xviiith cent. Folio.

331. 1. "A TRUE PRESENTATION of forepast Parlyaments to the view of present tymes and posteritye." Attributed in T. Hearne's Curious Discourses, 1771, vol. ii. p. 433, to Sir John Dodderidge (ob. 1628), Justice of the King's Bench. The author, however, in his preface (f. 4) states that the work was written in answer to "a booke lately printed, 1628," entitled The Priueledges and Practises of Parlyamentes in England, collected out of the Common Lawes, etc. He describes himself, moreover (f. 3), as "not onely the Kings seruant in Court, but also a seruaunt to the Common wealth in my countrie in beeing an vnworthie member of the Honourable Howse of Commons." According to a copy in Lansdowne MS. 213, f. 146, the tract was written in 1629.

2. "The Antiquitie of the Parliaments in England, with the dignitie and orders therof, written by Judge [Sir John] Dodderidge." In a different hand from art. 1. Imperfect, the conclusion being added by a later hand. See Hearne's Curious Discourses, vol. i. p. 28. f. 123.

Paper; ff. 181. xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small folio.

332. TREATISE on Judicature in Parliament, evidently written in the reign of Charles I., beg. "The execucion of all our lawes." Precedents are freely quoted, the last being the accusations of the Earl of Bristol and the Duke of Buckingham in 1626; and the treatise must have been written between that date and the trial of Stafford in 1640. A table of contents is prefixed in a later hand.

Paper; ff. 73. xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small folio.

333. "WHITELOCKES Historie of the Parleмент of England. And of some resemblances to the Jewish and other Councells"; by Bulstrode Whitelocke, Commissioner of the Great Seal (1648-1655, 1659), etc. Holograph. Cf. Add. MS. 31,984. The work is incomplete, the volume ending with Bk. i., ch. 22, entitled "The Constitution of the Parleмент." This chapter begins, "Having discoursed of the three pure and originall sorts of governement, Monarchy, Aristocracy and Democracy, and of the three cankers or evils of them Tiranny, Oligarchy and Anarchy, we come now to make an application therof to the constitution of our Parlemente"; and it ends, "We may now discourse of three estates in Councell."

Paper; ff. 134. With signatures on the fly-leaf of [Sir] George Savile [Bart., ob. 1784] and Isaac Reed, 1788. Duodecimo.

334-337. "AN ESSAY upon the ancient and modern government, conventions and parliaments of England. With abstracts of the most observable laws and the frequency of later parliaments, in which is treated principally of the Saxon and Norman constitution of government and the legislative (sic) and laws during the time of the Saxon and first six Norman kings. After which succeed several necessary observations on succeeding parliaments, their frequency and prorogations to the reign of Elizabeth." Four volumes.

The author, who gives no clue to his identity, wrote the work at the desire of a patron whom he addresses as "My Lord," and to whom he writes in the opening paragraphs, "Having perused some late tracts you sent me, and finding them the products rather of byass or overweening confidence . . . I have set apart so much of my time as I could well spare to consult the best authors I have by me, in a series of time, to give an account of all those conventions in the Saxon times which had any appearance of Assemblies like our Parliaments, and so down from the Norman Conquest to the reign of Queen Elizabeth." The work, however, is incomplete. Vol. i. (ff. 317) ends with the death of Henry II.; vol. ii. (ff. 292) contains the reigns of Richard I. and John; and vols. iii. (ff. 320) and iv. (ff. 333) contain the reign of Henry III.

Paper. xviiith cent. Folio.

- 338. REFERENCES to, and short extracts from, the Records in the Tower and other documents, being apparently a collection towards a Parliamentary history of England. In the hand of Rev. Philip Morant (ob. 1778).

Paper; ff. 48. Duodecimo.

- 339. "REPERTORIUM sive Elenchus Parliamentorum," tempp. Edw. III. — Edw. IV. : an alphabetical index of subjects.

At the end (f. 41) is a copy of the recantation by Edward Spence, on 6 Nov. 1686, of a sermon preached by him before the University at St. Mary's Church, Cambridge, on the previous day against the Pope and the Romish Church.

Paper; ff. 48. xviiith cent. Duodecimo.

- 340. "REMEMBRANCES for Order and Decency to be kept in the Upper House of Parliament by the Lords, when his Majesty is not there," the dates extending from 14 Dec. 1621 to 7 May, 1712.

Paper; ff. 55. Early xviiith cent. Bound in red morocco, tooled. Duodecimo.

- 341. "REMEMBRANCES for the Order and Decency to be kept in the Upper House of Parliament by the Lords when his Majesty is not there," etc., extending to 1731 [2]; with index.

Paper; ff. 56. xviiith cent. Small quarto.

- 342. "REMEMBRANCES for Order and Decency to be kept in the Upper House of Parliament by the Lords when his Majesty is not there"; with index.

Paper; ff. 50. xviiith cent. Bound in red morocco, stamped with the royal arms. Duodecimo.

- 343. "REMEMBRANCES of some Methods, Orders, and Proceedings, heretofore used and observed in the House of Peers, extracted out of the Journals of that House, by H[enry] S[cobell], C[lericus] P[arliamenti], and J[ohn] W[alker], Deputy to J[ohn] B[rown], Cl[ericus] P[arliamenti]." For other MS. copies of this treatise see Harley 4879, 6423, and Hargrave 167. Printed and published with the name of Scobell in 1689, but a note in the Hargrave copy says that more is contained in it than is in the printed copy, and the present MS. agrees with the Hargrave MS. in the passages indicated. The latest precedents quoted are in 1680.

Paper; ff. 58. Bound in red calf, stamped with the royal arms. Folio.

- 344. "OBSERVATIONS, rules, and orders collected out of divers journals of the House of Commons," tempp. Edw. VI.—James I.; with a table of matters. Preceded (f. 1) by a copy (imperfect at the beginning) of the apology of the House of Commons made to James I. touching their privileges in 1604.

Paper; ff. 44. xviiith cent. Folio.

345. ABSTRACT of the Rolls of Parliament for the reigns of Richard II., Henry IV., and Henry V., with several lists of the peers summoned to attend. The text of statutes is not given, but it is stated in each case if the printed copy agrees with the record, and in some instances it is noted that statutes appear in print for which there is no authority in the record. The numbers of the sections of each Roll are preserved, and the contents are summarised. The Rolls for the following Parliaments are not given: Gloucester, Oct. 1378; Northampton, Nov. 1380; Westminster, Nov. 1381, first twelve sections, the rest being appended to the session of May, 1382; Westminster, 1391, last sixteen sections; Winchester, 1393; Leicester, 1414; Westminster, 1415, 1420, and 1421. In the case of some of these Parliaments the list of "summonitiones" is given, though the proceedings are not.

Paper; ff. 279. xviiith cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Small folio.

346-353. ROLLS of Parliament, 1 Rich. II. [1377]—39 Hen. VI. [1460]: transcripts, apparently made for Sir Roger Twysden, with notes, and extracts from other records, in his hand. Eight volumes:—

together with a table of contents, is by Thomas Astle. The first part (ff. 3-25) is occupied by Petyt's report of precedents and the consequent decision of the House of Lords respecting the impeachments of the Earls of Salisbury and Peterborough. The rest includes miscellaneous precedents in connection with impeachments, of which the chief are :—(1) Notes on the impeachment of the Archbishop [Alexander Neville] of York and his associates in 1387, in the hand of Thomas Parker, Earl of Macclesfield [Lord Chancellor, 1718-1725]. f. 32 ;—(2) Proceedings against William de Longchamp, Bishop of Ely [1189-1197] and Lord Chancellor [1189-1190]. f. 34 ;—(3) Defence of Hubert de Burgh, Earl of Kent [Justiciar of England, 1215-1232], in 1239, from Matthew Paris (two copies). ff. 63, 82 ;—(4) Notes concerning trials for high treason, written later than 1683, containing suggestions as to the line of defence to be adopted in such cases, and marked by Astle as "very curious." f. 133 ;—(5) "A short disquisition of high treason upon the subject of Mr. Sydney's case," written shortly after the trial [1683]. f. 142 ;—(6) Notes on the case of the Bishop of Salisbury v. Nash, Feb. 171 $\frac{1}{2}$ , in the hand of Lord Chancellor Macclesfield. f. 147 ;—(7) "A method propos'd to reform proceedings on penal statutes and popular actions," by William Barrett, jun., forwarded by the Lord Treasurer to the Attorney and Solicitor General, 11 May, 1710. f. 149.

Paper; ff. 151. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small folio.

377. PRECEDENTS of Impeachments, from 1330 to 1474, containing articles of impeachment, proclamations, petitions, and other documents connected with some of the chief cases within that period. These are followed by a list of impeachments and attainders, tempp. Edw. I.—Will. III. At the end is a table of the records and papers contained in the volume.

Paper; ff. 85. Early xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small folio.

CLASS VII.

LAW.

378. DECRETUM GRATIANI; with marginal notes and references. Complete, except that the "paleae" are mostly wanting. At the end (f. 222) is a list of popes, with the names of the emperors contemporaneous with them, ending with the 16th year of Alexander III. [1174] and the antipope John [Calixtus III, 1168-1178]; also (f. 223) some additional canons and an imperfect index of contents.

Vellum; ff. 229. *xiii*th cent. In double columns of 53 lines. Initials ornamented in red and blue; with spaces left for larger illuminations at the beginning of the greater divisions of the work. On the flyleaf (f. 1) is the inscription, of the 14th cent., "Decreta, de dono dni. Johannis Bereford [with the name Herefeld written above in another hand], vicarii de Pluonstede [Plumstead, co. Kent]. De libraria sancti Augustini Cantuariensis [to which house the parish of Plumstead was appropriated until the dissolution]. De gradu III." There is also a note by Sir Roger Twysden, stating that he bought the volume from Lawrence Sadler, a bookseller, 15 Oct. 1629, for 20 shillings, and paid 4 sh. for a new binding. Folio.

379. "TRACTATUS de praxi Romanæ Curie": a treatise on the procedure of the Roman Curia, with specimens of official documents, apparently by a former clerk in the Chancery.

Paper; ff. 28. Written in France, *xviii*th cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Duodecimo.

380. BRACON De Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliæ. No title; begins with a table of chapters. Instead of the usual division into five books, there are here seventy divisions, the number of chapters in each varying between two and 109. At the heads of the pages is a further division into sixteen books [apparently seventeen originally, as at the end of the table of chapters is written, in a later hand, "septemdecim libri," but the end of the work is lost]; but no notice is taken of this in the text. As in other early copies, the name of the author is omitted from § 3 of ch. 1. At the end of bk. ii. ch. 2 [ed. Twiss, Rolls Series, vol. i. p. 544] there is no drawing of the tree of consanguinity, and the reference to it runs "in figura inferius depicta" (f. 41). In the writ of mort d'ancestor [cf. Twiss, Introd., vol. i. pp. xviii-xx] the limitation of time is omitted altogether, the passage running, "cum pertinenciis in tali villa, et si idem propinquior eius heressit" (f. 129). The reference to the case of Petrus de Sabaudia [cf. Twiss, ib., p. xv] in 46 Hen. III. [1261-1262] is present (f. 84 b). The passage concerning the responsibility of the king (referred to by President Bradshaw during the trial of Charles I.) is absent (f. 24 b); [cf. F. W. Maitland, Bracton's Note-Book, Introd. vol. i. pp. 29-33]. The end is lost; the last words are "ut infra totum tempus illud possit qui ius" [bk. v. ch. 29, § 1, ed. Twiss, vol. vi. p. 444]. The MS. is described by Twiss, vol. vi. p. lxiv, but does not seem to have been used for the text. It has also been consulted by Maitland, and is quoted by him as MN.

Vellum; ff. 202. End of xiiith cent. In double columns of 50 lines. Initials coloured in red and blue. Titles of chapters in the margin, and page-headings. On f. 1 are the names of Mary Lucas and Anne Parke, in a hand of the 17th cent.; and that of Thomas Astle is written inside the cover. Bound in boards, covered with stamped leather of the xvith cent., rebacked. Folio.

381. ENGLAND'S EPINOMIS, by John Selden [1584-1654]: a sketch in ten chapters of the history of the laws of England, with the text of some of the most important, from the earliest times to Magna Carta. A short chronological table is annexed. Printed in 1683, with two other tracts.

Paper; ff. 61. xviiith cent. Folio.

382. "OBSERVATIONS taken from the Laws of England": an analysis of a work by Christopher Saint-Germain (ob. 1540), entitled, Doctor and Student, or Dialogues between a Doctor of Divinity and a Student in the Laws of England, concerning the grounds of these Laws, first published in 1523 and repeatedly reprinted. The present analysis is from an edition of 1531. Followed by an account of the names of the various ways by which land can pass, with an index, and a note on the styles of some of the kings of England before and since the Conquest.

Paper; ff. 29. Early xviiith cent. Small quarto.

383. "A PLAINE and sumarie Treatise of the whole grounds and maxims of the lawes of this Kingdome": a handbook of the law of property for the use of students, compiled "in the latter yeares of Queene Elizabeth and the rest in King James his raigne, some at the barr and the rest out of divers learned writers of the Lawe." Originally written in French, of which this is a translation.

Paper; ff. 85. xviii cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Small folio.

384. LAW TREATISE, in 23 chapters, dealing with the following subjects: hereditaments and chattells, freehold, estates (general and particular), possessions, reversions, remainders, rights, assurances, recoveries, fines (a long discussion, in seven chapters), assurances by deed, deed-poll and deed-parole, conveyances by will, and assurances by will. A table of chapters and index of subjects are appended. A note at the beginning states that the volume was copied from a MS. in the possession of Talbot Yelverton, Earl of Sussex [1717-1731], which contained a note by Sir Christopher Yelverton [Justice of the King's Bench, 1602-1612] affirming it to deserve printing.

Paper; ff. 79. Early xviii cent. Folio.

385. "ANE EPITOME or Abridgement off the most Substantiall thinges contained in the books off that famous and Learned Jurisconsult Mr. Thomas Craiges off Riecartown, Advocat befor the Lords of Counsell and Session, treating upon the feudal Law": an epitome of the Jus Feudale (published in 1603, in Latin) of Sir Thomas Craig [1548-1608], the Scottish jurist, one of the commissioners appointed by the parliament of Scotland to treat for the Union with England. In three books; preceded by an index of chapters.

Paper; ff. 168. Early xviii cent. Duodecimo.

386. STATUTES of the Realm, Law tracts, etc., as follows:—

1. "Carta de Libertatibus Anglie": Magna Carta, as re-issued by Henry III., 11 Feb. 1225. Lat. f. 2.
2. "Carta de Foresta"; as re-issued in Feb. 1225. Lat. f. 4.
3. Statute of Merton, 1235. Fr. f. 5.
4. "Provisa Oxonie, edita anno r[egis] H[enrici III.] xlvij"; apparently the re-issue, with alterations, of the Provisions of Westminster, in 1262. Fr. f. 6.

6. The treatise "Fet asaver." Fr. f. 11.
7. "Casus curie": writs and forms of procedure in the Curia Regis. Fr. f. 20.
8. Statute of Westminster I., 1275. Fr. f. 24.
9. Statute of Westminster II., 1285. Lat. f. 32.
10. Statute of Winchester, 1285. Fr. f. 43 b.
11. Statute of Gloucester [1278, but here misdated the 7th year of Edward, i.e. 1279]; with the explanations. Fr. f. 44 b.

12. Statute "de die et anno [bissextili]"; generally attributed to 1256. Lat. f. 47.
13. Statute of Rageman, 1276. Fr. f. 47 b.
14. Statute "Religiosorum," [1279]. Lat. f. 47 b.
15. Statute "de injusta captione Averiorum," elsewhere entitled "districciones de scaccario," and printed in the Statutes, i. p. 197, among "les Estatuz del Eschekere," of uncertain date. Fr. f. 48.
16. Statute of Westminster III., i.e. "Quia emptores," 1290. Lat. f. 50.
17. "Statuta Mareschacie": the statute entitled "de Pistoribus" in the Statutes (ed. 1810, i. p. 202), and there entered as of doubtful date. Here it is preceded by the words "Precepta facta ex parte domini regis maiori et ballivis comitatus Sussex qui pro tempore fuerant post festum Decollationis S. Johannis Bapt. anno regni regis Edwardi tercio [1275] per magistrum Robertum de Beverley et Johannem de Swyneford ad placita mereschaucie tunc assignatos sub pena c. li. ad opus domini regis observandum." To this is appended the "Assisa Panis et Seruisie [Cervisiæ]," at the end of which is a clause, "De compositione Mensurarum," differing from that given in the Statutes, i. p. 290, and also from that on p. 204. Lat. f. 50.
18. Statute against Maintenance and Champerty, 1292; to the same effect as that printed among the Statutes, i. p. 216, but in different wording. Fr. f. 52.
19. Statute of "Quo Warranto," 1290. Lat. f. 52.
20. New Statute of "Quo Warranto," 1290. Fr. f. 52.
21. Statute "de Conspiratoribus": the second part of the statute given in Statutes, i. p. 216. Lat. f. 52 b.
22. Statute of "Circumspecte Agatis," [1285], with the additional article, "De Impetracione Prohibitionis." Lat. f. 52 b.
23. Statutes of Exeter; here miscalled "statuta Oxonie." Fr. f. 53.
24. "Articuli Brevium qui narrando indigent specificari": notes on points of law (cf. Harley MS. 1208, f. 133). Lat. f. 55.
25. Statute of Merchants, or of Acton Burnell, 1283. Fr. f. 57.
26. The treatise known as "Hengham Parva," [by Ralph de Hengham, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, 1273-1289]. Lat. f. 58.
27. "Tractatus de Difficultate Essoniorum." This is really only the title of the first chapter of the treatise, which is elsewhere entitled "Summa judicandi essonia," and is attributed to Ralph de Hengham (cf. Tanner, Bibl. Brit.-Hib., p. 392). Lat. f. 62 b.
28. Statute "de illis qui debent poni in Juratis et Assisis," [1293]. Lat. Without title. f. 66.
29. Statute "de Vocatis ad Warrantum," [1292]. Lat. Without title. f. 66.

30. Statute on fines; beg. "Quia fines," the preamble given in the printed Statutes not being given here. It is here dated 28 Edw. I., but should be 27 Edw. I., i.e. 1299. Lat. f. 66 b.
31. Statute "de Bigamis," [1276]. It is here dated 24 Edw. I., instead of 4 Edw. I. Lat. f. 67.
32. Classification of penalties for various offences. Lat. f. 68 b.
33. Glossary (Engl.-Fr.) of technical terms, such as sac and soc, etc. f. 70.

43. Handbook of legal decisions on various points of law, quoting the justices of the reigns of Edward I. and Edward II., e.g., Mettingham, Hertford, Mutford, Touthaby, Spigurnel, Ormesby, etc. Begins, "Si un homme seyt oblige a un altre par un obligacioun en x livres." The end is wanting. f. 91.
Vellum; ff. 222. In several hands, most of early xivth cent. Coloured initials. A leaf of church-music, of xvth cent., is pasted on the inside of the covers at each end. Small quarto.

387. STATUTES from 1 Edw. III. to 14 Hen. VI., in chronological order. As in No. 388 below, the third statute of 15 Edw. III. is combined with the first of 18 Edw. III., but in this case the joint statute is ascribed to 17 Edw. III., as also is the statute on Ireland, which in the printed edition is assigned to 17 Edw. II. The remaining statutes of 15 Edw. III., and the statute of 17 Edw. III., are omitted. The additional paragraphs of the statute of Labourers, 23 Edw. III., are not found here. An index of the subjects contained in the volume is prefixed.

At the end (ff. 329-334) are additions (17th cent.?) written in a cipher, which Dr. O'Connor (Catalogue, ii. p. 292) states to be that of the Tally Court of the Exchequer.

Vellum; ff. 334. Middle of xvth cent. With an illuminated border at the beginning of each reign, and initials illuminated in gold and colours. Small quarto.

- 388. STATUTES, from 1 Edw. III. to 20 Hen. VI., in chronological order. The collection is almost complete, though the arrangement of statutes under any given year sometimes differs from that adopted in the printed edition. The statute on Ireland, which is printed in the edition of 1810 as belonging to 17 Edw. II., is here assigned to 17 Edw. III. The statutes of 15 Edw. III. are omitted, except the third, which is combined with the first of 18 Edw. III. under the latter year, and the statute of 17 Edw. III. is also omitted. The statute of Labourers (23 Edw. III.) has the same concluding paragraphs as in Roy. MS. 19 A. xiv.; and an additional article, stated to have been issued at Northampton, is appended to the first statute of 38 Edw. III. The leaf containing the end of the first statute of 1 Edw. III. (§ 8) and the beginning of the second (§§ 1-3) is wanting; so also are the leaves 17-21 Rich. II. At 12 Hen. VI. is inserted a long statute, re-enacting several previous statutes concerning purveyance, weights and measures, the staple, etc., which does not appear among the printed statutes.

Vellum; ff. 325. Middle of xvth cent. With a decorated border at the beginning of each reign, and initials in red and blue. The initial on f. 1 contains a rude portrait of Edward III. Small quarto.

- 389. STATUTES, from 1 Hen. IV. to 12 Hen. VI., in chronological order. Under 2 Hen. VI. is inserted a writ from the king to the sheriffs on the subject of purveyance. The collection concludes with the statute on purveyance, weights and measures, etc., re-enacting several previous statutes, which is omitted from the printed edition (cf. No. 388 above).

Vellum; ff. 125. xvth cent. With initials ornamented in red and blue, those at the beginning of each reign enclosing a coarsely executed miniature of the king. On some leaves left blank at the end (f. 120) the musical notes of some songs, etc., were written, "by one Raphe Bowle to learne to playe on his lutte, in anno 1558." The name of Thomas Dent, 1602, æt. 26, occurs on f. 124 b. Small quarto.

- 390. LIST of "statutes expired, repealed, and altered, before anno 1632." On the title-page is inscribed "Willielmo (corrected into

Paper; ff. 19. xviii cent. 32mo.

391. "PLACITA in curia Regis, tempore Regis Ricardi Primi," from the original rolls in the Chapter House, Westminster, now in the Public Record Office. They relate (with the exception of ff. 61-74, which bear the date of Rich. I., and refer to various counties) exclusively to co. Wilts, and will be found printed under the date 6 Rich. I. in the Abbreviatio Placitorum, 1811, pp. 11-22. At f. 75 is added a copy of the confirmation by Edward I. of the Great Charter, 12 Oct. a<sup>o</sup> 15 (1287), taken from the Statute Rolls.

Paper; ff. 84. xviii cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Folio.

392. "ADJUDICATA tempore regis Johannis": abridged transcripts of pleas, 1-15 John [1199-1214]. After the 11th year several pleas are given as "incerti temporis regis Johannis," and at the end are "fragmenta regis Johannis."

Paper; ff. 32. Late xviii cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Folio.

393. ABSTRACTS of pleas, tempp. John—Henry V.; with references to the sources from which they are taken. Some parts of the work are arranged alphabetically, according to subjects. At f. 58 is a vocabulary of obsolete terms; and at f. 99, in a plea at York, East. term, 16 Rich. II. [1393], is a copy of English verses circulated by rioters at Hull.

Paper; ff. 110. xviii cent. Small folio.

394. PLEAS in Parliament and before Justices itinerant, 18 Edw. I. [1290]—35 Edw. I. [1307]; together with (ff. 302-358 b) pleas in the parliament of 14 Edw. II. [1320]. Latin. Printed, with omissions, by William Ryley, Placita Parliamentaria, 1661. A transcript from the original rolls, then "in the Tally Court of the Exchequer at Westminster"; with a few corrections and marginal notes, some of which (e.g. f. 8) are in the hand of Sir William Dugdale.

Paper; ff. 547. xviii cent. Belonged to Peter Le Neve, Norroy, in 1709; to Edw. Coke Wilmot and Thomas Bryan Richards in 1798; and to Thomas Astle in 1800. Folio.

395. INDEX to Year-Books, 2-20 Hen. VI., 1-24 Hen. VII., arranged alphabetically.

Paper; ff. 58. xviii cent. With the name R. Nicholls on the fly-leaf (f. 3 b). Small quarto.

396. REPORTS of State Trials, 1521-1666, viz. :—

(1) Edward Stafford, Duke of Buckingham, 1521: from Grafton's Chronicle. f. 3;—(2) William Dacre, Lord Dacre of the North, 1535. French. f. 5 b;—(3) Henry Howard, Earl of Surrey, 1546. f. 8;—(4) Thomas Howard, Duke of Norfolk, 1571 [misdated 1657], with his letter to the Queen before the trial, and his confession before his execution. ff. 9, 13, 24;—(5) Philip Howard, Earl of Arundel and Suffolk, 1589. f. 14 b;—(6) Anthony Babington and his confederates, 1586: the same report as in Howell's State Trials. f. 29;—(7) John Charnock and others, 1586: the same report as in Howell's State Trials. With the confessions of these and of the rest of Babington's confederates at their execution. f. 45;—(8) Sir Griffith Markham and others, 1603. f. 67;—(9) Sir Walter Raleigh, 1603. f. 70 b;—(10) Henry Brooke, Lord Cobham, and Thomas Grey, Lord Grey, 1603. f. 83;—(11) James Elphinston, Lord Belmerioneth [Balmerinoch], 1609: the same report as in Howell's State Trials. f. 87;—(12) Robert Crichton, Lord Sanquair [Sanguhair], 1612: the same report as in Howell's State Trials. f. 90;—(13) Richard Weston, Anne Turner, Sir Jervis Ellovis [Helwys], and James Franklin, for complicity in the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury, 1615: all, except the last, the same reports as in Howell's State Trials. f. 105;—(14) Mervin Tuchet, Earl of Castlehaven, 1631: the same report as in Howell's State Trials. f. 156;—(15) Thomas Parker, Lord Morley, 1666 [misdated 1668]. f. 178.

Paper; ff. 194. A table of contents is prefixed in a different hand. Late xviiith cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Small folio.

397. STAR-CHAMBER CASES. The first part (ff. 1-66) contains brief records of cases in the Court of Star-Chamber in 1565, 1607, 1608, 1610-1615, 1617, 1621-1623. The second part (ff. 67-188) contains a detailed account of the action brought by the Crown against the City of London for failure to fulfil its contract in reference to the plantation of Ulster, Jan.—Feb. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . At the end is an index to the first part.

Paper; ff. 197. xviiith cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Small folio.

398. REPORTS of cases tried in the Queen's Bench, Michaelmas term, 40, 41 Eliz. [1598]; in a contemporary hand.

Paper; ff. 18. Folio.

399. 1. "THE ARRAIGNMENT of Robert, Earle of Essex, and Henry, Earle of Southampton, at Westminster, the 19 of February, 1601."

This report differs to some extent from that contained in the State Trials (vol. i. p. 1333), being somewhat fuller in detail. f. 1.

2. Report of the discussion on Essex's case in the Star-Chamber on 29 Nov. 1599, in which speeches were delivered by Lord Keeper Egerton, Lord Treasurer Buckhurst, Secretary Cecil, and others (cf. No. 275, above). The report is verbatim, and much fuller than the published one. The names of the speakers are not given in the original hand, but have in most cases been added later, with some hesitation. f. 41.

Paper; ff. 72. xviii cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Small folio.

400. LAW REPORTS: the decisions of Sir Henry Hobart, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas 1613-1625. The volume is lettered on the back "Lord Hubbert's Cases, Vol. I," and corresponds with pp. 1-256 of the printed edition of Sir H. Hobart's Reports, 1641.

Paper; ff. 351. xviii cent. With book-plate of Algernon Capell, Earl of Essex, 1701. Small folio.

401. SUMMARY of proceedings in the divorce-suit brought against Robert Devereux, 3rd Earl of Essex, by his wife, Lady Frances Howard, 1613[4]; and in the trials of the murderers of Sir Thomas Overbury, 1615. Printed as A True and Historical Relation of the Poisoning of Sir Thomas Overbury, etc., 1651, but without the address to the reader which forms the concluding paragraph of the present MS.

Paper; ff. 68. xviii cent. Folio

402. COLLECTION of State Trials, etc. :—

1. "The proceedings which happened touching the divorce betweene the Ladye Francis Howard [Countess of Essex, afterwards Countess of Somerset] and Robert, Earle of Essex," Jan. 161 $\frac{1}{2}$ . As in Howell's State Trials. f. 1.
2. The trials of Richard Weston and others for complicity in the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury. As in No. 396, above, except that the account of Franklin's trial is here the same as that in State Trials, and that the trial of Sir Thomas Monson is given in addition, also corresponding with the account in State Trials. At the end of the trials (f. 24) is a copy of the elegy on Sir Thomas Overbury by Richard Corbett, [Bishop of Oxford 1628, of Norwich 1632], beg. "Hadst thou, like other sirs and knights of worth." f. 5.
3. A legal paper on "an Act against abuses in Election of Scholars and presentation to benefices" (31 Eliz. cap. 6), entitled "Mr. Gerard's Reading" [? William Gerard, Reader at Gray's Inn, 1597, or Philip Gerard, Reader at Gray's Inn, 1611]. f. 25.

4. Judgments of Justices Warburton [Sir Peter Warburton, Justice of Common Pleas, 1603-1621] and Tanfield [Sir Laurence Tanfield, Justice of King's Bench, 1605-1607, Chief Baron of Exchequer, 1607-1625] and Sir Edward Coke, on a question affecting the legal constitution of a hospital. f. 30.
5. "A letter written by the Lords of the Counsell to his Majestie to certefie the proceedinge against my lord Cooke [Sir Edward Coke] at the Counsel table"; 26 June, 1616. f. 32.

Paper; ff. 33. Early xviiith cent. Folio.

403. LEGAL COLLECTIONS of John Fortescue Aland, Baron of the Exchequer [1718], Justice of the King's Bench [1718-1727] and Justice of the Commons Pleas [1729-1746], cr. Lord Fortescue, 1746. Partly autograph, and entitled by himself "Informations, Indictments, Commissions and Patents, in Exchequer, King's Bench, etc., and some other precedents." The cases quoted fall within the years 1629 and 1703. Followed (f. 39) by a selection entitled "Cases at the Delegates, Serjeants Inn, Fleet Street," in Justice Aland's own hand, dated 1722-1734. The greater part of the volume is blank, but at the end (f. 45 b) is a copy of the writ admitting Justice Aland to the dignity of Serjeant, 31 Jan. 1717.

Paper; ff. 45. Folio.

404. 405. HAMPDEN'S CASE of Ship-money: full reports of the arguments and judgments, 1637-1638. 447. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. I. (ff. 12). "A Journal [of Jacob Richards] from London to Vienna, and so to Buda"; 1 Nov. 1685 (O.S.)—21 June, 1686 (N.S.). Preceded by instructions from the Ordnance Office "to improve himselfe in Forreigne Parts beyond Seas, to be employ'd at his return as one of His Majestie's Engineers in England." His route took him, among other places, through Dover, Nieuport, Bruges, Sluis, Rotterdam, the Hague, Dort, Bois le Duc, Maestricht, Aix la Chapelle, Juliers, Cologne, Frankfort on the Main, Ratisbon, Passau, Linz, Vienna, Raab, Komorn, Parkany, to Buda, then occupied by the Turks and besieged by the Imperialists. In most towns he gives some account of the fortifications, etc., and particulars connected with artillery and engineering. Among the persons whom he met are:—The Prince of Orange; Bevil Skelton, English envoy at the Hague; Capt. Collombine, of an English regiment at Bois le Duc; Sir George Etherege, English envoy at Ratisbon; Count Taaffe [3rd Earl of Carlingford, etc.]; Prince Herman of Baden; Cardinal Francisco Bonvisi; Count Rudolph von Rabota; the Duke of Lorraine; Lord George Savile [3rd son of the Marquis of Halifax]; Viscount Mountjoy and Alexander Steward, his son; Col. Forbes; Capt. Bellamy; and — Herbord.

448. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. II. (ff. 19). A Diary by the same of the siege of Buda, from 15 June, 1686, down to its capture on 2 Sept.; continued to the return of J. Richards to Vienna on 17 Sept. Among the generals, etc., mentioned during the siege are:—The Duke of Lorraine; Field Marshal Count Guidobald von Starhemberg; Count Archinto; the Duke of Croy; Count Taaffe; Gen. Donneval; Gen. Commerce; Gen. Meyrell; Gen. Sheuts; Ahmet Pacha; and, in the English contingent, Mr. Fitz-James and Mr. Negas. Among the killed are named:—Capt. Rupert, Mr. Wiseman, Mr. Moore, Capt. Talbot, Col. de Fontaine, and Mr. Kerr; and among the wounded:—Lord Mountjoy, Lord George Savile, Col. Forbes, Capt. St. George, and Capt. Bellis. For another copy see Harley MS. 4989, said, on the fly-leaf, to have belonged to James II. The diary was printed at London in 1687.

449. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. III. (ff. 11). “A Journal [by the same] from Vienna to Venitia,” in company with Lord George Savile, and “Mr. Steward, my Lord Monjoixe’s [Mountjoy’s] son”; 24 Sept.—10 Oct. 1686, N.S. Among the places he passed through are:—Neustadt, Neuenkirchen (with chapel reputed to have been built by Richard I. of England), Glocknitz, Bruck, Leoben, Knittelfeld, Judenberg, Friesach, St. Veit, Villach, Arnoldstein, Pontebba, Resiutta, Spilimbergo, Pordenone, Sacile, Coneglia, and Treviso. The descriptions are principally taken from Travels in divers parts of Europe [by Edward Browne, M.D., London, 1685]. At the conclusion is a description of Venetian public buildings, etc., at some length.

450. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. IV. (ff. 20). “A Journal [by the same] from Venitia into Lombardy”; 1 Nov.—5 Dec. 1686. Among the places visited are:—Padua, Vicenza, Verona, Mantua, Parma, Reggio, Rubbiera, Modena, Bologna, and Ferrara; of many of which he gives very full accounts, largely extracted from Browne’s work (as above, vol. iii.).

451. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. V. (ff. 31). “A Journal [by the same] from Venitia to Zante, with a Diary of the Venitians’ proceedings and conquests in the Morea”; 31 Mar.—10 Sept. 1687. He reached Zante 12 Mar., and gives sketches of various islands, etc., sighted on the voyage. After joining the Venetians, he describes the capture of Patras and Lepanto and the occupation of the ruins of Corinth. Among the persons mentioned are:—[Francesco] Morosini, Venetian Capt.-Gen., [Doge next year]; [Otto Wilhelm], Count Königsmarck; [Louis de la Tour], Prince de Turenne; [Karl Ludwig], Rangraf zu Pfalz; the Duke of Brunswick; General Davila; Mr. Egerd; Mr. Proctor; and Mr. Folliard.

452. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. VI. (ff. 29). “Traité de l’Artillerie, Par le Sieur Guillaume Dilichij, traduit de l’Alleman en François”: in the hand of Jacob Richards. The original, by Wilhelm Dilich, was published at Frankfort, 1689. The vellum covers are stamped with the arms of William III.

453. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. VII. (ff. 147). "Receuil (sic) de plusieurs Devis des places que l'on a fortifiées en France": details of the fortifications of Dunkirk, St. Omer, Ypres, Sedan, and other places about the Flemish frontier, with accounts of the sieges of Luxembourg, Pignerol, Charlemont and Charleroi, from 1677 to 1693. In a French hand. The plans for the fortification of Phalsbourg in 1679 and the account of the siege of Luxembourg in 1684 are by the Marquis de Vauban. At the end are inserted the measurements of the camp at Maintenon, in 1688, with a plan, and other papers. With book-plate of John Lewis Petit, M.D., F.R.S. (ob. 1750). Cf. vol. xxxiii.

454-456. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vols. VIII.—X. (ff. 80, 27, 94). Treatise on Artillery, in French, in the hand of Jacob Richards. Three volumes, the last two containing illustrations. Inserted at the end of the third (f. 89) is a map of Newbury, co. Berks; followed (f. 90) by a French treatise entitled "Épreuves du Tir des Bombes avec le Canon par M. Lombard, Professeur royal aux Écoles du Corps-Royal de l'Artillerie à Auxonne, 1787."

457. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XI. (ff. 78). "Eight Books of the Ellements of Euclid with the Use of the Propositions"; 1700. In the hand of Jacob Richards. He breaks off, however, at the end of the 2nd book. He does not follow Euclid's method in the treatment of parallel straight lines or in the proofs of several propositions.

458. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XII. (ff. 22). Diary of Jacob Richards, of the artillery train in Flanders, narrating events up to the battle of Landen; 1st Apr.—30 July, 1693. He was present, among other places, at Ghent, Grembergen, Vilvorda, and Parc Abbey near Louvain, and gives plans of the camps. Among the persons mentioned are:—Lieut.-Gen. Talmash; Lord George Hamilton; Col. Selwyn; Col. Stanley; the Duke of Wurtemberg; Gen. Overkerke; and Gen. Ginkel, Earl of Athlone. Followed (f. 15) by a Diary of the same on his voyage from the Nore to St. Helen's, 5-25 June, 1695, with a fleet of bomb-vessels, which eventually took part in the bombardment of St. Malo, 5 July. With the arms of William III. stamped on the vellum covers.

459. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XIII. (ff. 76). Diary of John Richards; 30 Jan. 1694—29 May, 1699. He started from Dublin to London, and thence through Holland and Germany to Venice, which he reached on 2 April. He served the campaign with his brother Jacob in the Morea; and at its conclusion they made a tour together from Venice through Tuscany to Rome, returning from Brindisi in time for the next campaign. During both campaigns they were principally occupied in the fortification of the Isthmus of Corinth. Among the persons mentioned are:—[Adam Heinrich], Graf von Steinau, Venetian general; three successive "generals of the kingdom" of the Morea, Sagredo, Nani, and Grimani; Gioseffo Vecelli, patron of Jacob Richards at Venice; [George] Stepney, English envoy at Frankfort; — Paul, Consul at Zante; Capt. Therry; Capt. Suiny; and — Latham. At the other end are accounts of expenses during the journeys. Octavo.

- 460. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XIV. (ff. 45). Copies of letters to and from Jacob Richards, and of other documents connected with his engagement in the Venetian service as "Sergente Generale"; 29 Nov. 1696—30 Mar. 1699. Italian. They deal principally with the organisation of the artillery, fortifications at the Isthmus of Corinth, etc. Among other topics treated are:—(a) A proposal by J. Richards to raise troops among the Irish Catholics, who should be settled in the Morea as colonists at the conclusion of the war; 20 Mar. 1698. f. 9 b;—(b) A description of his part in the bombardment of St. Malo, 1695. f. 13;—and (c) A long account of forts, etc., in Dalmatia and Albania. f. 27.

- 461. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XV. (ff. 45). Letter-book of Jacob Richards, principally in Venice and Napoli di Romania [Nauplia]; 14 June, 1697—14 Aug. 1700. The letters relate chiefly to the subjects touched upon in vols. xiii., xiv.; and in the last he appears to be taking service under the King of Poland. Among his correspondents are:—James Craggs, sen., who married his sister; Francesco Morosini; [Adam Heinrich], Graf von Steinau; Gen. Sagredo; Gen. Nani; Gen. Grimani; Gioseffo Vecelli, his patron; Consul Paul at Zante; and Col. Charles O'Donnel. At the end (f. 37) is inserted a paper by John Richards concerning his brother's plans for the fortification of the Isthmus of Corinth; followed (f. 41) by a fragment of a Diary describing Malta.

- 462. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XVI. (ff. 97). Diary by John Richards on a journey from Napoli di Romania [Nauplia] to Constantinople and thence to Vienna, on his discharge from the Venetian service; 15 July, 1699—21 Sept. 1700. Among the places he describes are Napoli di Malvasia, Canea, Candia, Rhodes, Samos, Soio, Tenedos, the Dardanelles, Gallipoli, etc. He gives a very long and detailed description of Constantinople; and on his return goes by way of Adrianople, Philippopolis, Sophia, Nissa, Belgrade, Buda, etc. At the end (f. 94) is a paper entitled "Of the Decadence of the Ottoman Empire." Small quarto.

463. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XVII. (ff. 44). Journal of Capt. Michael Richards from London to Torbay on his starting with Col. Gibson's expedition to Newfoundland; Sept. 1696—20 Apr. 1697. Followed (f. 4) by a "memorandum of the present state of Ordnance at St. John's, Newfoundland," and (f. 5) a Journal of a voyage from London to Newfoundland, 27 Jan.—8 June, 1700. At the other end (f. 42b) is a Journal of the same from his arrival at St. John's, 7 June, 1697, to his departure, 8 Oct. The object of both expeditions was to fortify St. John's, of the N. side of which a water-colour sketch is inserted (f. 44). Among the military and naval officers mentioned are:—Capt. Cleashby, Capt. Littleton, Capt. Dalzel, Capt. Drake, Lieut.-Gen. Handeside, Captain Spencer, Capt. Hergrove, and Capt. Pettit.

464. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XVIII. (ff. 86). Letter-book of Capt. Michael Richards, while engaged in completing Fort William, etc., at St. John's, Newfoundland, including various official papers, requisitions for assistance, etc.; 1 Apr. 1700—Oct. 1703. Among the persons to whom letters are addressed are:—the Earl of Romney, Master-General of the Ordnance, and the Board; Commander [Stafford] Fairborne; [William] Blathwayt; Commander John Graydon, Commander-in-Chief of the W. Indian Squadron; Capt. Powell, in command at St. John's; Mons. Monic, Governor of Placentia; James Craggs, sen.; Commodore John Leake; the Duke of Marlborough; and the Earl of Nottingham.

465. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XIX. (ff. 57). Log-book of Capt. Michael Richards at St. John's, giving daily observations of the weather and abstract of work done; 1 Mar. 1701—1 Mar. 1702.

466. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XX. (ff. 34). Letter-book of John Richards, when in the Polish service, into which he had, in 1701, followed his brother Jacob (whose death on 4 May, 1701, he mentions at f. 6b); 23 Mar. 1703—23 Mar. 1704. The letters are written from London and Lisbon, and give interesting particulars relating to the affairs of Sweden, Saxony, and Poland, and the position of his brother and himself. The later letters refer to the adhesion of Portugal to the Grand Alliance; to his own discharge at the request of Qu. Anne that he might enter the Portuguese service; and to events, etc., after his landing at Lisbon, the arrival of the Archduke, etc. Among his correspondents are:—[Augustus II.], King of Poland; Prince Fürstenberg; Baron Schenck; Mons. Reyna; — Robinson, British envoy in Poland; Capt. Michael Richards, his brother; and James Craggs, jun., his nephew.

- 467. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXI. (ff. 101). "Diary of the Campaigne in Portugal," by John Richards, giving a full account of the movements of both armies; 23 May—29 Dec. 1704. Followed (f. 16 b) by a similar "Diary of the Campaigne in Portugal, anno 1705," continued on his departure with the Earl of Peterborough for Catalonia; 2 Mar.—24 Oct. 1705. The latter part gives an interesting account of the landing at Barcelona, and the capture of Montjuick and the city. J. Richards was in command of the artillery and had a large share both in deliberation and action. On f. 30 is the key to a cipher with his brother Michael, which he employs in many letters.

At the end are inserted:—(a) "Reflections upon the late Treaty of Portugal"; 1704. f. 44;—(b) "Relation of the Campaigne of Portugal"; 1704. f. 57;—(c) "Relation of the Campaigne of Portugal; 1705." Two copies. ff. 69, 79;—(d) "Memorial sur le Portugal." f. 89;—(e) "Regulation of the pay of the Reg<sup>t</sup> of foot in winter quarters," etc., to begin 4 Nov. 1704–5. f. 97.

- 468. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXII. (ff. 129). Letter-book of John Richards at Lisbon, Monsanto, Peñamacor, Pinhel, Almeida, Estremóz, and Albuquerque on the Portuguese frontier, and later at Barcelona; 16 Apr. 1704—3 Nov. 1705. The most detailed and interesting letters relate to the capture of Montjuick, the citadel of Barcelona. Among the persons addressed are:—Baron Schenck; Lord Paget; the writer's brothers, Michael and Godfrey Richards; James Craggs, sen., and his son; Sir Charles Hedges, Secretary of State; Prince Fürstenberg; Lord Godolphin; the Duke of Marlborough; the Earl of Nottingham; the Duke of Schomberg; the Earl of Galway; Paul Methuen, British Envoy at Lisbon; Prince George of Hesse-Darmstadt; and Prince Lichtenstein. The key of the cipher employed in some of the letters is in vol. xxi., f. 30. A few letters follow, written at Valentia and Alicante, to the King of Spain, the Earl of Galway, James Stanhope, James Craggs, sen., etc.; 12 Feb.—27 Mar. 1707. At f. 128 is inserted a "Post-route from Genoa to Holland, 1707."

- 469. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXIII. (ff. 10.) Diary of Michael Richards in Flanders, giving a brief account of the movements of the Allies, up to the time when troops were detached for the recapture of Huy; 25 Mar., O.S.—to 8 July, N.S., 1705.

470. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXIV. (ff. 52). Establishment of the Ordnance Office in 1705, 1706; giving full particulars of the garrisons in England and abroad, and of the trains on active service. Inserted at the end are:—(a) "The Pay of a Portuguese Regiment of Foot" by the Allies. f. 40;—(b) "Establishment of the Foreign Forces" [from Denmark, Prussia, Hesse, and Hanover and Zell] in the service of England and the United Provinces, circ. 1703.
471. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXV. (ff. 67). Miscellaneous papers, principally in the hand of John Richards.
1. "A memoriall of the Expedition to Barcelona"; 1705. f. 1. Followed (f. 20) by minutes of the Council of War at Barcelona, 26 Aug. 1705, O.S., and various papers presented by Col. J. Richards on that occasion.
  2. Journal of J. Richards; 2 Feb. 170 $\frac{1}{2}$ —[Jan. 170 $\frac{1}{2}$ ]. f. 30. He narrates the movements of Sir John Leake's fleet, the relief of Barcelona and other events in Catalonia and Valentia during the campaign. He criticises the dilatoriness of the Allies and the conduct of the Earl of Peterborough, by whom, at his own request, he was sent home with dispatches via Italy and Holland. According to his own account he was largely instrumental in diverting the expedition under the Earl of Rivers, by proposing a descent upon Cadiz and Seville, which was frustrated only by the long delay at Lisbon. He accompanied this expedition to Valentia.
  3. Memorial to the Duke of Marlborough on the train for Catalonia, "to be read in the Privy Council"; 3 Feb. 170 $\frac{1}{2}$ . f. 52.
  4. Memorial on the attempt on Cadiz and Seville, proposed as above. f. 54.
  5. Proclamation by the Earl of Galway, inviting the Spanish troops to acknowledge Charles III.; Alcantara, 20 Apr. 1706. Span. Printed. f. 56.
  6. "Disposition on board the several transport shippes of the forces for the descent" [under the Earl of Rivers]; Portsmouth, 22 July, 1706. f. 57.
  7. Draft of a proclamation by the Earl of Rivers inviting the Spaniards to acknowledge Charles III.; 1706. Span. f. 59.
  8. "Orders to be observ'd in winter quarters, by my Lord Gallway." f. 61.
  9. "Plan de la Frontière de Cerdagne contiguë à l'Arragon, à la Catalogne, et au Roussillon." f. 63.
  10. "A list of all the towns upon the river Ebro, or within three or four leagues of it, from Tortosa up to Mequinença on the Aragon side," with sketch map; 16 May, 1707. Made by Capt. Massey, by order of Michael Richards. f. 65.

11. Note of a Cypher. f. 67.

472. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXVI. (ff. 44). Letter-book of Michael Richards, when Colonel of the train with the Earl of Rivers; 21 July 1706—3 June 1707. The letters, which are very brief, relate generally to matters of the service, and are written at Torbay, Lisbon, Alicante, Valentia, Xativa, Alcoyra, Tortosa, Barcelona, etc. Among the persons addressed are:—Sir Cloudesley Shovel; Sir John Norris; James Craggs, sen.; Lieut.-Gen. Erle; the Earl of Rivers; Col. Borgard; the Earl of Galway; and the writer's brother, John Richards.

473. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXVII. (ff. 39). Letter-book of Michael Richards; 1 June—8 Oct. 1707. The letters are written at Lerida, Valentia and Barcelona, and narrate events during the campaign, particularly relating to the siege of Lerida. Among the correspondents are:—the Earl of Galway; Lieut.-Gen. Erle; Col. Borgard; Maj.-Gen. Stanhope; James Craggs, sen.; the Duke of Marlborough; Charles, Lord Tyrawley; William Bridges, Surveyor-General of the Ordnance; Maj.-Gen. Wills; and the writer's brother, John Richards. At f. 38 is inserted a plan of the "Order of battle of the Allies at the Camp of las Borrás," 3 Nov. 1707.

474. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXVIII. (ff. 140.) Letter-book of John Richards, as Governor of Alicante; 7 Apr.—24 Oct. 1707. At the reverse end are a few letters of 30 Mar.—9 Apr. 1707. The letters relate to the preparations for the defence of Alicante and Denia, and the siege of the latter; the raising of a Spanish regiment under J. Richards as Colonel; the battle of Almanza; the capitulations of the French in Italy; the siege and capture of Xativa and Alcoyra; the siege of Lerida; and the attack on Toulon, etc. Among the persons addressed are:—the King of Spain; Conde de la Corsana, Viceroy of Valentia; Lieut.-Gen. Erle; Col. Michael Richards; the Earl of Galway; Don Ramon de Vilana Perlas, Secretario de Estado, Barcelona; James Craggs, sen.; Paul Methuen, British Envoy at Lisbon; Sir George Byng; Sir Cloudesley Shovel; the Earl of Godolphin; Maj.-Gen. J. Stanhope; the Comte de Noyelles; Maj. Charles Percival, Governor of Denia; the Viceroy of Majorca; Gen. Basset y Ramos, Denia; the Duke of Marlborough; the Earl of Sunderland; Prince Lichtenstein; and the Earl of Rivers. At the end (f. 140) is inserted a paper entitled "Rota de Massegoso a la Ciudad de Saragoza por la Carretera Real."

475. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXIX. (ff. 134). Letter-book of John Richards, as Governor of Alicante, continued; 31 Oct. 1707—26 Feb. 1709. The letters relate to the affairs of his Spanish regiment; the victualling, etc., of Alicante and Denia, and their siege by the Spaniards; the surrender of Lerida; the expedition of Mahoni to Sicily, and of the Pretender to Scotland; the loss of Tortosa; and the occupation of Minorca and Port Mahon. The last letters, 25, 26 Feb., speak of the mine under the castle of Alicante by which the writer was daily expecting to be blown up: a fate which befell him 3 Mar. following, as noted on the fly-leaf (f. 1). Among the correspondents are:—the Earl of Galway; Col. Michael Richards; Maj.-Gen. Mahoni; the Earl of Rivers; Paul Methuen, British Envoy at Lisbon; Maj.-Gen. Stanhope; Maj. Charles Percival, Governor of Denia; Maj. Martin Bladen, secretary to the Earl of Galway; Col. Albert Borgard; Capt. [George] Carleton, author of the Memoirs, captured at Denia; Sir John Leake; Sir John Norris; Robert Cole, Algiers; James Craggs, jun., junior secretary to Gen. Stanhope, Barcelona; James Taylor, first secretary to Robert Walpole, when Secretary-at-war; the Earl of Godolphin; James Craggs, sen.; Brigadier Elliot, Gibraltar, etc. The key to the cipher employed in some letters is in vol. xxi., f. 30. At the end (f. 133) is inserted a paper, endorsed by Michael Richards, "My Brother's reasons against capitulating for the surrender of the Castle of Alicante."
476. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXX. (ff. 51). Letter-book of Michael Richards at Barcelona; 9 Jan.—15 Apr. 1711. At the end are inserted a few letters carrying on the correspondence to 14 July. The period covered immediately follows the battle of Brihuega, and much information is given of the state of affairs after the battle, the losses, etc. Among the correspondents are:—James Craggs, sen.; James Taylor; Brigadier Pettit; and Lord Dartmouth, Secretary of State.
477. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXXI. (ff. 29). Copies in the hand of Michael Richards of his letters, etc., to the Board of Ordnance, as "chief engineer of Great Britain"; 11 Nov. 1711—20 July, 1714. The papers relate to the fortifications, etc., of Gibraltar, Portsmouth, Hull, Berwick, Carlisle, Tynemouth, Port Mahon, St. John's, Newfoundland, Stirling Castle, Sheerness, etc. With the arms of William and Mary stamped on the vellum covers.
478. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXXII. (ff. 12). Tables of the increase and decrease, etc., of the Royal Navy between 1 Oct. 1697 and 1 Nov. 1698, with the establishment at the end of the period, giving the fullest particulars regarding each ship. Followed by lists of salaries at the Admiralty, in the Fleet, and in the Royal Yards.

479. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXXIII. (ff. 14). "Devis des ouvrages . . . à l'embouchure du havre de Dunkerque." At the end, "Signé Vauban." With four plans. See above, vol. vii.

480. RICHARDS COLLECTIONS. Vol. XXXIV. (ff. 74). "Transactions between England and France, relating to Hudson's Bay; 1687." Followed (f. 50) by similar Transactions for 1699.

481. COLLECTIONS relating to military affairs, etc.; circ. 1689-1712.

1. Papers of Generals M. and J. Richards (cf. Nos. 447-480), viz. :—

CLASS X.

PUBLIC RECORDS.

489. ORIGINAL MINUTES of the Privy Council from 2 Sept. 1661 to 28 Jan. 1678, with the names of the members present at each meeting. In the hands of Sir Edward Walker and various other clerks of the Privy Council. On ff. 2-5 is a list of "Committees appointed by the Councell Board"; 8 Aug. 1660—26 Dec. 1661. Bound in at the end (ff. 266, 267) is a list of business for a meeting of the Council, of the time of George II.

Paper; ff. 267. Belonged to John Anstis. Folio.

490. REGISTER of the Acts of the Privy Council, 1-19 Henry VI. A transcript of the contemporary Cotton MS. Cleopatra F. iv. Printed in the Proceedings and Ordinances of the Privy Council of England, vol. iii.

Paper; ff. 235. Late xvth cent. At the beginning are the names of W[illiam] Whiston, J[ohn] Topham, and Thomas Astle, to whom the volume was given by Topham in 1789. With book-plate (18th cent.) of the arms of Markham, of Sedgebrook, co. Notts, with the monogram J. S. M. Folio.

491. REGISTER of the Acts of the Privy Council from 10 Aug. 32 Henry VIII. [1540] to 22 July, 35 Henry VIII. [1543]. Copy, the original being in the Privy Council Office. A note by Tho. Astle on the inside of the cover states that the volume contains more than the book in the Council Office; but this appears to be a misapprehension due to the fact that the entries relating to the period from 4 June to 7 Oct. 1541, which are omitted in their proper place, are added at the end, and hence the volume has been marked on the cover as extending to 7 Oct. 1544, whereas it in fact ends at the same point as the book in the Council Office. The first portion, extending to 8 April, 1542, has been printed in the Proceedings and Ordinances of the Privy Council of England, vol. vii.

Paper; ff. 214. Late xvth cent. Folio.

492. REGISTER of the Acts of the Privy Council from 31 Jan. 1547 to 4 Oct. 1549. Copy. Attached to the cover is a letter from Charles Gray [written in 1750] mentioning that the original Council Book of Edward VI. had been bought a few years before at a cheesemonger's, for waste paper, by Mr. Guthrey the historian [William Guthrie, 1708-1770, author of a History of England, 4 vols., 1744-51] and had just been presented by him to the Lords of the Council, at their request. At the end (f. 112 b) are extracts from the Journals of the House of Commons for 2 Nov.—7 Dec. 1641, relating to the case of Robert Philips, a priest, who refused to consider himself bound by an oath on the English Bible; also (f. 115) a copy of the writs for summoning Parliament in 2 Henry VI. with a list of the lords spiritual and temporal to whom they were sent.

Paper; ff. 118. xvith cent. Belonged to Tho. Astle. Folio.

493-496. REGISTERS of the Privy Council, chiefly in the reign of Elizabeth; in four volumes. Copies, in various hands of the latter half of the xvth cent. Paper. Folio.

Vol. I. (ff. 263) 16 April, 1581—26 June, 1582, and 19 Feb. 1585 [6]—11 June, 1587. Vol. II. (ff. 302) 15 May, 1589—6 April, 1590. At the end is a doggrel inscription beg. "John Diggons his booke," etc., 1666, and below is the entry "When you John Diggons have made an end of this booke, you are to receive a reward of the said Right Honourable the said Lord Roberts, Lord Keeper of the King's Majestye's Privy Seale," etc. The volume therefore belonged to John, Lord Roberts or Robartes, Keeper of the Privy Seal, 1661-1669, and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland 1669-1670, Viscount Bodmin and Earl of Radnor in 1679; and the name of Henry Roberts, his 3rd son, afterwards 3rd Earl of Radnor, is written repeatedly on the inside of the cover, once with the date 1667. Vol. III. (ff. 268) 6 April—23 Dec. 1590, and 20 Sept. 1597—31 July, 1598. Vol. IV. (ff. 246) 20 Dec. 1590—30 Sept. 1591, the portion which overlaps the preceding volume differing considerably from it in contents. These Registers are followed by extracts from the Registers of the Privy Council of Charles II., entitled "Out of y<sup>e</sup> Councill Register of King Charles y<sup>e</sup> second, this being an appendage to an other manuscript which was written through." The periods covered by these extracts are from 17 Aug. 1670 to 10 March, 1670 [1]; 1 June to 20 July, 1677; and 1 June, 1677, to 21 April, 1679; and references are given to the folios of the volume from which they were taken.

cellaneous expenses of the government, with schedules of fees and allowances, and other similar documents. A description by Thomas Astle, together with the title as above, has been inserted at the beginning, with a table showing some of the principal contents.

Vellum; ff. 138 (including 7 inserted paper leaves). Bound in leather with brass clasps, corner-pieces and bosses, rebacked. Atlas folio.

498. REGISTER of warrants of Thomas Wriothesley, Earl of Southampton, Lord High Treasurer, relating to grants and leases of crown-lands, etc., with copies of petitions, letters and other documents; 23 Feb. 1660 [1]—22 Aug. 1661. With index of names.

Paper; ff. 138. "E. MSS. J[ohannis] Anstis, no. 409." Folio.

- 499, 500. DOCKET-BOOK of the Privy Seal, containing docketts of all documents passing the Privy Seal between May, 1661, and August, 1669; with separate record of docketts of "immediate" warrants between the same dates. The counter-signatures of the clerks of the Privy Seal are given occasionally, that of Samuel Pepys occurring between August, 1661, and August, 1662, as deputy for the Earl of Sandwich; but they are not autograph. Two volumes.

Paper; ff. 268, 160. Late xviiith cent. Folio.

501. COPIES of Royal Grants, Commissions, Pardons, Letters-Patent, etc., chiefly of the reigns of Henry VII. and Henry VIII., with a few of Edward IV. The dates are often omitted, and chronological order is not followed. In the latter part of the volume are several documents of a different character and earlier date, e.g. the letter of Henry V. to the King of France in 1419 proposing peace (f. 120), the names of counties and boroughs sending representatives to parliament in the reign of Henry VIII. (f. 129), a list of nobles who came over to England with William the Conqueror (f. 139), other treaties and proclamations connected with the peace of Troyes in 1420, etc.

Paper; ff. 181. Temp. Hen. VIII. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small folio.

502. "ABSTRACT of the Grantes of all Offices and Places, Commissions, Licenses, Promotions, Protections, Leases, Special Grants, Privileges, and Franchises made by Ki. James and Ki. Charles, as they are recorded in the Exchequer"; beginning with 1 James I. [1603] and extending to 16 Charles I. [1640]. On f. 59, where the part dealing with the reign of Charles begins, the date of the collection is given as 1657—1658. A small portion of an alphabetical index is prefixed.

Paper; ff. 261. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small quarto.

503-517. "SELECTA Quædam ex Rotulis Patentibus": a collection of transcripts from the Patent Rolls, 3 John—22 Edw. IV. They are in chronological order and comprise proclamations, treaties, pardons, and all the most important Royal Acts. Fifteen volumes.

503. Vol. I. (ff. 72). 3-18 John.	511. Vol. IX. (ff. 314). 6-23 Rich. II.
504. " II. (ff. 306). 1-57 Hen. III.	512. " X. (ff. 348). 1-14 Hen. IV.

506. " IV. (ff. 320). 1-19 Edw. II.	514. " XII. (ff. 463). 1-19 Hen. VI.
507. " V. (ff. 232). 1-9 Edw. III.	515. " XIII. (ff. 223). 20-39 Hen. VI.
508. " VI. (ff. 265). 10-22 Edw. III.	516. " XIV. (ff. 247). 1-10 Edw. IV.
509. " VII. (ff. 274). 22-51 Edw. III.	517. " XV. (ff. 175). 49 Hen. VI.,
510. " VIII. (ff. 228). 1-5 Rich. II.	11-22 Edw. IV.

Each volume contains at the beginning a detailed list of contents. At the end of vols. iv.-vi., viii.-x. are a few extracts from the Crown Pleas and other kindred MSS. bequeathed by Sir Matthew Hale to Lincoln's Inn.

Paper. xviiith cent. Bound in Russia leather, tooled, with the arms of Thomas Astle. Large folio.

518-526. "EXTRACTS out of the Charter, Patent and Claus. Rolls" and other Records, from 1 John to 57 Hen. III., with a few additions to 5 Edw. IV. With occasional marginal notes, some of which are possibly in the hand of William Prynne (see below, Nos. 527-531). Nine volumes, the last of which is a later addition. The dates covered are as follows:—

518. Vol. I. (ff. 333). 1-18 John, with additions to 17 Edw. I.	523. Vol. VI. (ff. 178). 48, 49 Hen. III.
519. Vol. II. (ff. 291). 1-19 Hen. III.	524. " VII. (ff. 234). 50-57 Hen. III.

522. " V. (ff. 228). 40-47 Hen. III.	23 Edw. I., with additions to 5 Edw. IV.

At the end of vol. ix. seven separate documents of a character similar to the contents of the volumes have been inserted.

Paper. Middle of xviiith cent. and (vol. ix.) xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle, whose arms and motto are on the back of each volume. Folio.

527-531. "MISCELLANEA," consisting of voluminous extracts and copies of deeds from ancient records, viz. Domesday Book, Patent and Close Rolls, Exchequer Proceedings, Assize Rolls, Chartularies, Registers of Religious Houses, and many other records preserved in public repositories and private collections. Five volumes.

Paper. Middle of xviiith cent. Folio. Belonged to Tho. Astle, whose arms are on the back of each volume. Inside the cover of vol. i. is inscribed, in the hand of Thomas Astle, "Collectanea Arthur Agard," a copy of whose monumental inscription (ob. 1615) is inserted at f. 1. Some of the documents copied are, however, of a later date than his death (see below, and in vol. v. art. 6.) The hand is the same which appears in Nos. 518-526 above, and there are similar marginal notes, some possibly by William Prynne.

Among the contents are: Vol. i. (ff. 286). (1) "Nomina illorum qui arma tulerunt contra Dominum Regem [Johannem] in guerra." f. 32;—(2) List of Chief Justiciaries from 1066 to 1266. f. 45;—(3) Genealogy of "Caradocus Wallicus historicus . . . out of a Booke of Mr. [Robert] Glovers owne handwreiting." f. 132. # 550. TRANSCRIPTS of records, chiefly relating to Scotland:—

1. "Rotulus de superioritate Regis Angliæ in Regnum Scotie, annis 19-23 E. i."; usually called the Great Roll of Scotland. f. 2.
This copy does not exactly agree with the text in Rymer's Fædera, vol. i. pt. ii. (London, 1816), p. 762; it resembles more closely the version in Cotton MS., Vitellius E. xi., f. 178.
2. Notarial instrument narrating the events from 1292 to 1296, which - ended in the deposition of John Balliol. f. 45. Compare Palgrave, Documents illustrating the Hist. of Scotland, 1837, p. 141.

3. Extracts from the Close Rolls relating to Scottish affairs in 1291–1296. f. 52 b;—in 1305. f. 58;—in 1278. f. 61;—in 1301. f. 62. Many of the documents given here have been printed in Rymer's Fœdera, or analysed in Bain's Calendar of Documents relating to Scotland, vol. ii., 1884.
  4. Two letters from Edw. III., extracted from the Close Rolls, vis.:—(a) to R[ichard Bintworth], Bp. of London, Chancellor, enclosing a roll of ordinances concerning loans under the Privy Seal and other matters affecting the Treasury; Walton, 12 Jul., a<sup>o</sup> 12 [1338]. f. 65 b;—and (b) to the Sheriffs of London, respecting complaints of corruption against the judges, with the oath to be administered to the latter; Westminster, 28 Apr. [1346]. f. 68.
  5. Processus ad Coronationem Ricardi Secundi. f. 71;—ad Coronationem Henrici Quinti. f. 79.
  6. Royal charter concerning the Duchy of Lancaster; Westminster, 4 Nov. 1 [Edw. IV.]. f. 88. Printed (with date 14 Nov.) by W. Hardy, Charters of the Duchy of Lancaster, 1845, p. 285.
Paper; ff. 99. xviiith cent. With table of contents at f. 5, in the hand of John Anstis. Small Quarto.

551. "DIPLOMATA SCOTIÆ": transcripts of charters relating to Scotland, made by direction of Thomas Astle from originals then in his possession. They include charters of David I., William the Lion, David, Earl of Huntingdon, Alexander II., Alexander III., John de Balliol, Robert de Brus (father of Robert I.), Edward Balliol, Robert II., etc., and range between 1128 and 1382. The originals are now in the British Museum (Campbell charters xxx. 1–19).

In addition to these the volume contains:—(1) Grant by David I. of lands in Melrose, etc. to Melrose Abbey; Ercheldon [Ercildoune], June [1142–1147]. f. 7;—(2) Agreement between Euphemia, wife of Robert II., and David, Earl of Strathern, her son, on the one part, and Alexander de Moray of Drummesergorth [Drumsergath] on the other, for the marriage of the latter to Joneta de Munymuske, sister of the queen, and for the marriage of Walter de Moray, brother of Alexander, to the elder daughter of the said Joneta; Perth, 4 Nov. 1375. f. 42;—(3) Grant from Inchaffray Abbey to Alexander Stabart and Elizabeth Hamilton his wife, of the tithes of Dunning [co. Perth] for three lives; Inchaffray, 17 Dec. 1558. In Scots. This is charter 18, and the original never came to the British Museum, but was given by Astle to Andrew Berkley Drummond, as stated in a note by Astle dated 15 May, 1798. f. 48. Drawings of the seals appended to the charters are given, very carefully executed; in the case of charters 2, 5, and 11, the seal appears to have been since separated from the deed. Notes are appended to some of the charters, sometimes in Astle's own hand.

The volume also contains brief descriptions of Scottish charters in the Harleian collection (f. 52); notes on charters in the Scotch College at Paris, made by Andrew Stuart in July, 1789 (f. 56); and a printed tract entitled Charta authentica Roberti Seneschalli Scotiae ex Archivo Collegii Scotorum Parisiensis edita, etc., Paris, 1695, pp. 31 (f. 59).

Paper; ff. 78. In red morocco binding, stamped with the arms of T. Astle. xviiith cent. Quarto.

Belonged formerly to Peter Le Neve, Norroy King of Arms (ob. 1729), who has marked many passages in the later articles; afterwards to Thomas Martin of Palgrave (ob. 1771). Folio.

573. "THE LIVES and successions of the Treasurers of England," by Francis Thynne [Lancaster Herald in 1602]. The series begins with Odo, Treasurer to King Athelstan, and ends imperfectly with Hugh de Segrave, appointed Treasurer in 1381. With a few exceptions, coats of arms, in colours or trick, are placed at the heading of each life, and marginal references are given to original records. The treatise, which is preceded (f. 3) by a copy of the letter of dedication to Lord Treasurer Burghley, 17 Mar. 1593 [4], is entirely in the hand of the author and has apparently never been printed.

Paper; ff. 219. Late xvith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Quarto.

Artt. 2-5 are in a different hand from art. 1; and art. 2 begins on the back of a leaf, the obverse of which is covered with theological matter in Latin, half-erased. Artt. 2, 3, and 5 are imperfect, owing to the mutilation of ff. 15, 17.

Vellum; ff. 17. xvth cent. At f. 17 b is the signature (16th cent.) "Oliuerus Bamforthe." Quarto.

579. DECISIONS on claims to perform services at Coronations, with fees for the same, tempp. Rich. II.—Jas. I., viz.:—

1. "Processus factus ad coronationem Domini Regis Anglię Ricardi Secundi post conquestum anno regni sui primo." f. 3. From the Close Rolls for 1 Rich. II. For a detailed analysis see description of Harl. 1309, ff. 4-24, in the Catalogue of the Harleian MSS., vol. i., 1808, p. 655.
2. "Clamea ad coronacionem Henrici Quarti: ex rotulo serviciorum factorum domino Regi Henrico Quarto die coronationis suę per dominos magnates et alios ligeos suos anno regni ejusdem regis primo." f. 24.
3. "Petitiones et clamea ad coronacionem Regis Henrici Quinti." f. 42.
4. "The names of those persons that have putt in their claimes to doe service att the coronation of our Soueraigne Lord King Edward the Sixt." f. 61.

On the margin of the first page is a note: "The originall of these claimes remayneth in the Paper Chamber att Whitehall in the custody of Sir Thomas Wilson" [Keeper of State Papers, temp. Jas. I., knighted 1618].

5. "Processus coram commissionariis Domini Regis ad audiendum et terminandum clamea et seruicia in die coronationum Domini Regis Jacobi et Annæ consortis ejus xviii. die Julii 1603, vi<sup>to</sup> die ante coronacionem predictam." f. 75 b. Preceded (f. 74) by the Commission granted by James I. for hearing the claims, 7 July, 1603. From the Coronation Rolls enrolled 3 Jas. I.

6. Alphabetical table of claims. f. 99.

Paper; ff. 103. xviiith cent. Folio.

580. 1. PROCEEDINGS of the Committee appointed to arrange the Coronation of Charles II.; 26 Sept., 22 Oct., 1660. Including the report drawn up at their order by Sir Edward Walker, Garter King-of-arms, on the Coronations of Richard II., Henry VI., and all the sovereigns from Richard III. to Charles I. f. 2.

2. History of the Order of the Garter from 1641 to 1661; by Sir Edward Walker. Copy. f. 18.

Paper; ff. 41. xviiith cent. On the vellum covers are stamped the arms of Sir Edward Walker. Belonged to T. Astle, and before that, probably, to Rev. P. Morant, who has prefixed a title to art 2. Folio.

581. "PROCESSUS factus ad coronacionem serenissimi domini Caroli Secundi Regis Anglie, etc., anno regni sui decimo tercio" [1661]: being (see f. 1) the "Proceedings of the Court of Claims on the services and fees claimed at the Coronation of Charles II.," with an account of the ceremony, etc., on 23 April, 1661, as delivered to the Lord Chancellor for record on 9 May. Followed (f. 36) by a similar "Processus" at the Coronation of James II., 23 Apr. 1685.

Paper; ff. 69. xviiith cent. Folio.

582. "LE SACRE couronnement triumphe et entree de la trescrestienne Royme et Duchesse ... Claude de France" (dau. of Louis XII of France and Anne of Brittany, and wife of Francis I. of France), in May, 1517. Printed by T. Godefroy, Le Ceremonial de France, Paris, 1619, p. 167. A similar copy is in Cotton MS. Titus A. xvii.

Vellum; ff. 51. xviiith cent. With illuminated initials, and ten full-page miniatures, coarsely executed. Bound in crimson morocco, with the arms and cipher of Philippe, Comte de Béthune (ob. 1649) on each cover (see Guigard, Nouvel Armorial, 1890, ii. p. 56). Quarto.

583. 1. "THE MANNER and order taken for christeninge of the high and mighty Prince Edward att Hampton Courte"; 15 Oct. 29 Hen. VIII. [1537]. f. 4.
2. "The manner and order taken for the christning of the high and mighty Prince Arthur sonne to the King our soueraigne lord Henry the VIIth"; 19 Sept. 1486. f. 8. A different version from that printed (from Cotton MS. Julius B. xii., f. 19 b) in the Somers Tracts, 1809, vol. 1. p. 22.
3. Treatise "of the order and maner of combatinge in listes"; addressed to King Richard II. by Thomas, Duke of Gloucester, Constable of England. f. 17 b.
4. Description of the funeral of Elizabeth, wife of King Henry VII. (ob. 11 Feb. 1503). f. 27.

Artt. 1, 2 and 4 are accompanied by pen-and-ink drawings of the processions.

Paper; ff. 41. Late xvth cent. At f. 2 b is a note signed by Robert Blackelache; and at f. 1 is the entry, "Given to me by Mr Bennet, 1768." Folio.

584. 1. "COMMEMORACION et aduertissement de la mort [1514] de ... Anne deux foiz Roynne de France [wife successively of Charles VIII. and of Louis XII.], Duchesse de Bretagne," etc. By [Pierre Choque, al.] Bretagne, "son premier herault, et lun de ses rois darmes." With ten full-page miniatures of her lying-in-state and obsequies, and with coloured initials and coats-of-arms. Dedicated to "Le Seigneur de Beton, escuyer de la Roynne et Duchesse." f. 2 b.

Contrary to the usual arrangement (probably through a binder's mistake), the poem, preceded by the title as above, which in other copies comes first, here (f. 59) follows the description of the funeral (cf. Cotton MS. Vesp. B. iii., Add. 6277, and the printed edition in the Trésor des Pièces Rares, Paris, 1858). Moreover, f. 64 should follow f. 67. The account of the funeral, without the poem, is in T. Godefroy's Ceremonial de la France, Paris, 1619, p. 96.

2. "Discovrs des ceremonies dv sacre et mariage d'Anne de Foix [dau. of Gaston de Foix, Comte de Candale] avec Ladislaus [VI. or VII. of Hungary and Poland, II. of Bohemia], Roy de Hongrie Poloigne et Boeme, mis en escript du commandment d'Anne, Roynne de France, Duchesse de Bretagne, par [Pierre Choque, al.] Bretagne, lun de ses Roys darmes": a narrative of the bride's journey (in 1502) from Venice to "la ville Dalbregast" [Alba Regia, al. Stuhlweissenburg], of the marriage and coronation ceremonies and the festivities there and at Buda. With miniatures, coloured initials and coats-of-arms. Imperfect after f. 71, and also perhaps at the end. In a different hand from art 1. f. 69.

In the Bibl. de l'École des Chartes, 5th series, vol. ii. 1861, p. 156, Le Roux de Lincy has edited the first part of a fuller copy (in the Bibliothèque Nationale), describing the journey from Crema to Venice.

Vellum; ff. 78. Early xvth cent. With the signature and monogram of Claude d'Argentré and the motto "Στερεὸς βραδεὺς" at ff. 2, 3. A note at f. 1 states that the volume was presented on 14 Feb. 1774, by the Princesse de Rohan to [Charles de Rohan] Prince de Soubise; after the death (1787) of the latter, it was sold with the rest of the library (see Sale-cat., Paris, 1788, p. 503). Quarto.

585. 1. "THE ORDER and Proceedings at the Funerall of . . . Elizabeth, Queene of England . . . the 28th of April, 1603." By Henry Chettle. f. 1. Printed at the end of Chettle's Englandes Mourning Garment, 1603, and in Somers Tracts, 1809, vol. i. p. 248.
2. Prolegomena prefixed to Coverdale's translation of the Bible, taken from the edition published at London, 1577. f. 5. Somers Tracts, as above, i. p. 86. This and the two following articles are in the same hand.
3. Notes on the English Bible published at Reims, 1609, and extracts from the title-pages, etc., of other English Bibles. f. 23.
4. "A Sermon preached at St. Maries in Oxford the 17 day of November 1602 in defence of the Festivities of the Church of England, and namely that of Her Majesties Coronation." By John Howson, D.D. Copied from the 2nd impression (Oxford, 1603). Imperfect at end. f. 25. Somers Tracts, i. p. 109.
5. "The order and preecedence of the Nobility of England." An insertion, of the 17th cent. f. 28.
- Paper; ff. 35. xvth-xviii cent. Folio.

586. 1. DESCRIPTIONS of funerals served by the College of Arms, 1565-1594; with arms in trick. ff. 8, 103 b, 110. The writer, as appears by a statement at f. 46, was Nicholas Dethick, Blue-Mantle Pursuivant (1565), Windsor Herald (1583, ob. 1596). At ff. 2-7 b he gives a list of "Funeralls sarvid to my knowledge sithens anno 1583" to 1595, with the names of the heralds present.
2. Similar descriptions of funerals, 1559-1571; in different hands. f. 100 b, 105, 111.
3. Funeral of Sir John Gage, K.G. (ob. 1556). f. 160. This article, as well as the following, is in a 17th cent. hand.
4. "Funeralls done in the countie of Yorke, Nottingham, Darby, Lincolne, and Northumberland, whiche was supposed to be the deede of William Dakyns, which is not soe." f. 162. An article including (f. 163) "the names of diverse funeralls" in the above counties, 16th cent., "with the severall names of the painters solemnizinge them, as heralds of armes." At f. 164 a book (presumably at the College of Arms) is mentioned as containing "severall pedigrees forged by Dakins."

5. "Order of carrying trophies observed by Mr. Kealle." On an inserted leaf, 18th cent. (after 1722). f. 166.
6. Fees due to the King of Arms and Herald, and painter's bill, for the funeral of a knight. f. 170 b.

At ff. 167 b, 172 b, are indexes, and at f. 1 are some notes as to the authorship of the book, by some former owner.

Paper; ff. 174. xvith-xviii centt. Folio.

587. NOTES of funerals, with the arms (in trick) of the deceased, the earliest and latest dates given being 1597 and 1655. With later index.

Paper; ff. 97. xvith-xviii centt. With the signature, 18th cent., "John Holland, no. 8." Folio.

588. NOTES of funerals, with arms (in trick) of the deceased, the earliest and latest dates given being 1614 and 1659. The first hand ends (f. 32 b) with 1630. With a more modern index at the beginning.

Paper; ff. 50. xviii cent. With the signature, 18th cent., "John Holland, no. 9." Folio.

CLASS XVI.

ARMS AND HERALDIC COLLECTIONS.

661. 1. "A PROBATIONERS first discourse (very playne and familiar) of the true placing of the ordinarye difference of younger brothers and families in every coate armour incident"; written in the form of a dialogue between "three wandring knights," named respectively Sir Beraro, Sir Challamor and Sir Persides. Late 16th or early 17th cent. f. 1.
2. Pedigrees of Northumbrian families, from the Visitation of 1615; with arms in trick. f. 19.
3. Arms, in trick, of various English families, the last few pages in pencil and dated 1762-4. f. 26.
Paper; ff. 50. Folio.
662. "A SHORT HISTORICALL ACCOUNT of such marks and ensignes of honour, as are commonly called Armes: shewing their originall, true use, and the antient practise in bearing them. Whereunto are added (f. 50) certain breife observations touching the antiquitie of Heraulds, their employments, rights, priviledges and succession." A work compiled apparently about 1680. It includes (a) the text of numerous grants of arms. f. 32;—(b) the sheriffs' returns to a writ requiring them to send up to Westminster, in Lent, 142§, such knights and squires as were fit to do personal service to the King. f. 51;—and (c) chronological tables of the Kings of Arms, Heraulds and Pursuivants, to 1680. f. 109. At f. 12 are engravings of two seals of Roger de Quenci, Earl of Winchester and Constable of Scotland (ob. 1264).
Paper; ff. 126. Late xviiith cent. Duodecimo.
663. "LES PRINCIPES DU BLASON," by T[homas] Dingley; with pen-and-ink drawings, consisting of heraldic illustrations, arms of a few French nobles, and drawings of animals and landscapes, and a frontispiece of Orpheus playing to wild beasts. At the end, reversing the volume, is a "Sermon [by Thos. Lenthall, of Pembroke Hall, Camb., 1642] touching the Power of a King" (a royalist sermon on Eccl. viii. 4), with the name T. Dingley, and the date 1648, on the titlepage. This date apparently refers to the preaching, not to the copying, of the sermon; for Dingley only entered Gray's Inn in 1670 (J. Foster, Reg. of Admissions to Gray's Inn, 1889, p. 310).

Paper; ff. 77. xviiith cent. With bookplate of John Brand, F.S.A. (ob. 1806). Duodecimo.

664. THE ART of Blazoning; with numerous coats-of-arms, coloured or tricked, in illustration. Followed (f. 14) by a Catalogue of the Baronets of England from the institution of the order in 1611 to 1721; with their respective arms in blazon, and the first thirteen also in trick.

Paper; ff. 47. xviiith cent. Folio.

665, 666. "ASPILOGIA, sive de Iconibus scutariis gentilitiis commentarius," by John Anstis, Garter King of Arms (ob. 1745), with additions by Thomas Astle. In two volumes. The first part of Vol. I. is divided into thirteen chapters, in the autograph of Anstis, as follows:—Chap. i.–vi. Introductory treatise on the antiquity and history of seals, and their uses and value for heraldic and other purposes. ff. 1–21;—Chap. vii. Seals of the Crown. • f. 21 b;—Chap. viii. Seals of the Nobility. f. 38;—Chap. ix. Seals of Knights and private persons. f. 42;—Chap. x. Seals of Ladies. f. 53;—Chap. xi. Seals of Ecclesiastics. f. 58;—Chap. xii. Seals of Communities. f. 64;—Chap. xiii. Seals of Officers. f. 68. The rest of Vol. I. and the greater part of Vol. II. (ff. 1–114) contain facsimiles and copies of charters with the seals elaborately drawn or engraved, the number of the drawings being 758. In Vol. II., ff. 114 b–117, are found facsimile, with a few autograph, signatures of the sovereigns of England from Henry VI. to George II.; and at ff. 118, 131 are indexes (a) "Of the Names of the Persons and Societies whose Seals are delineated in these Volumes," and (b) "to the Names of Places mentioned in the charters contained in these Volumes."

Paper; ff. 122, 143. xviiith cent. Bound in crimson calf, tooled, with the arms of Thomas Astle. Folio.

667. "ART OF HERALDRY: 41 [coloured] plates of arms blazoned, by the late Thomas Barber." With an index of names.

Printed, with subsequent additions, in an undated edition (Antwerp, 1560?).
4. Letter from [Philip] Duke of Burgundy [to his vassals in Picardy and Artois], summoning them to arm for the defence of Hainault; Dijon, 20 Dec. [1424]. Followed by three letters between him and Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester, concerning the invasion of Hainault by the latter; 12 Jan., 13 Mar., 26 Mar., 1424[5]. Fr. Copies. f. 32 b. The last three letters are printed in Monstrelet, Chronique, Liv. ii., chapp. xxv.-xxvii., ed. Douët d'Aroq, vol. ii., 1860, pp. 213-222; in Wavrin, Croniques, ed. Hardy, Rolls Series, 1879, pp. 139-157; and in St. Remy, Chronique, vol. ii., ed. Morand, 1881, pp. 96-105.
5. Certificate by Charles, Duke of Burgundy, of his having received the Garter; Gand, 4 Feb. 1469[70]. With the commission to Galiard [de Durfort], Seigneur de Duras, and others to present it to him; Westminster, 10 Jan. 1469[70]. Fr. Copies. f. 36 b. The former is in Rymer, Fœdera, vol. v. (Hague, 1741), p. 173.
6. "Cest le double de lespitre que saint Bernard envoia au seigneur du chastel ambroise." f. 38. A French translation of the "Epistola ad Raymundum de regimine domus" once ascribed to St. Bernard of Clairvaux, but now generally agreed to be by Bernard of Chartres (see Hist. Litt. de la France, vol. xii., pp. 265-7).
7. Explanation of the symbolical meanings of the metals and colours in heraldry, beg. "Primo aurum quod in arte blasonandi." Lat. f. 41. Headed by a rubric, relating to the appointment of marshals, and totally unconnected with this article.
8. Oaths taken by pursuivants, heralds and kings of arms on their appointment. Engl. f. 42 b.
9. Translation, in French, of the "Tractatus de insigniis et armis" of Bartolo of Sassoferrato, the Latin original of which was printed at the end of Feschi, De Insignibus, Altorf, 1727. f. 45.
10. "[C]y commence la traictie de maistre Jehan de Bado Aureo avec Francoisque des Fosses": a French translation of the Tractatus de Armis of Johannes de Bado Aureo and Franciscus de Foviis, the Latin text of which was edited by Sir E. Bysshe, with N. Upton's De Studio Militari and Spelman's Aspilologia, 1654. f. 52 b.

11. Cases in which duels are allowed by "la ley lombarde." Fr. f. 74 b.
12. "Des heraulx et de leur office, etc.," beg. "Heraulx par mon aduys," etc. f. 79 b.
13. Statutes of the Order of the Garter, ordained by Edw. III. Engl. transl. f. 82.
14. Ceremonies to be observed at the burial of a king. An addition written on the fly-leaf. f. 89.
Vellum; ff. 89. Late xvth cent. Belonged to Robert Glover, Somerset Herald (ob. 1588). Bound in oak boards covered with stamped leather. Quarto.

669. HERALDIC COLLECTIONS, in English and Welsh, viz. :—

1. Copy of an ordinance (imperf. at beg.) concerning the duties of heralds in processions, etc., dated 3 Sept. 1417, and of another ordinance regulating the fees of the serjeant-at-arms; n. d. f. 1.
2. Analysis of the contents of the volume; written (see f. 3 b, last line) in 1629. f. 3 b.
3. "Llyfyr descriad arfaii gweidi /i/ dynnii or Llyfyr Gwiinn o hergest /r/ hwynn y scryfenodd Lewis Glinn Cothi /n/ amser Edward y trydudd": a treatise on heraldry, in Welsh, by Lewis Glynn Cothi. Illustrated by drawings of scutcheons, in colour; and with the arms (in colour or in trick) of the kings of England from Brutus to Edward III., that of Charles I. being added at ff. 28 b–29 b. f. 18.
At f. 17 a note, said by O'Connor (Bibliotheca MS. Stowensis, vol. ii., p. 537) to be "in the handwriting of Mr. Charles Williams Wynne," states that "this is a transcript of part of the White Book of Hergest, a folio MS. on vellum containing a large collection of Welsh Poetry, Heraldry, and History compiled in the reigns of Henry VI. and Edward IV. by Lewis Glyn Cothi, who was himself a Welsh poet and served under the Earl of Pembroke, to whom and to his brother many of his compositions are addressed. The original MS. was in the Wynnstay collection and unfortunately destroyed when in the hands of Mackinley, the bookbinder, by fire in 180—, together with many others." In the table of contents (f. 3 b) this article is described, as "an antient treatise of the discription of armes written in Brittiish with a fayer antique sett hand in vellom by Lewis Glinn Coathi, in the time of Edward the third." This last statement is a mistake, since Lewis Glynn Cothi lived in the reigns of Hen. VI.—Hen. VII. (see the edition of his Poems for the Cymmrodorion, Oxford, 1837).
4. "A true copie of an auncient memorable treatise touching the pedigree and dissente of the noble name and familie of the Herberts by commission from King Edward the 4th, Anno Domini 1460"

[the date being apparently a blunder for 1468, in which year William Herbert was created Earl of Pembroke]. f. 31. Followed (ff. 32, 33) by the pedigree and arms (in trick) of Edward, 1st Baron Herbert of Cherbury.

5. Poem, in Welsh, beg. :—

Yesterday I had an obligation upon mee to wayt upon the King towching the Dutchess of Portsmouth's warrant, and went with my Lord Arlington at the rising of the Councell into the Cabinet. I there presumed to tell the King that the warrant being to her and the heirs males of her body, the title would descend only to such as should be begotten after marriage, but, if there were any other whom his Ma<sup>ty</sup> would wish some care should be taken of, they would be wholly past by; that I held it my duty to make this bold address because I had observed in the course of my service that after the Pattent to the Dutchess of Cleveland was past his Ma<sup>ty</sup> began to wish that the Earl of Euston had been thought of sooner. I never saw the King more surprizd in my life nor I think displeasd, which, whither it were that he thought I made difficultys or that I was putt upon it by my L. Arlington, whom he suspects to be partiall to my Lady Cleveland in this matter, or that he were angry with those who drew him into this mistake, I know not," etc.; 6 Aug. The Quakers are here very numerous, butt as for Independant Anabaptists, Presbeterians, and other sectary's, they have little or noe place here. Most who profess themselves D<sup>m</sup> and Attorneys are scandalls to their profession; impudence and notorious impertinence make up their character. Itt were to be wish'd that the Rev<sup>d</sup> clergy had more encouragement, especially respectu officii, from the lives and conversations of the people. The decay of Christian piety is in such large characters that he that runs may read . . . As to what you desire to know of the Indians, some are civil and some barbarous, they using the seabord. They live in small townes of barke cabbins, pallisado'd in with 2 or 3 rows of stakes. Every towne or nation has its perticular king and different language. They have some notion of the flood, butt very obscure. They offer the first fruits of

- everything they eat to the Devil, by whome they cure diseases, and act severall strainge things, as laying the wind, etc. . . ."; "Perquimans River, in the county of Albemarle, N<sup>o</sup> Carolina," 5 Aug. 1703. f. 12.

751. ORIGINAL LETTERS of John Churchill, Duke of Marlborough, and Sarah his wife, to James Craggs, Sen. [Postmaster-General in 1715], who was acting as financial secretary to the Duchess; 1711–1718.

The Duke's letters are twenty-one in number, and with one exception (f. 15), dated "Camp before Bouchain, the 9th Sept. 1711," are holograph. This letter, though dated from the seat of war, contains no military intelligence, but relates to the debt on the building accompt of Blenheim Palace. The remaining twenty, which extend from 11 Apr. 1713 to 18 July, 1714, during which time the Duke was in retirement abroad, relate almost exclusively to the same subject. The letters of the Duchess, seventy-five in number, are all holograph, and comprise the period between the time of her final rupture with the Queen in 1711 and the year 1718. The first letter of the series bears no date, but from the opening sentence, which is as follows, "If you have not been with the Duke of Shrewsbury this will save you the trouble of it, for I have removed most of my things out of St. James's, and all my lodgings, I believe, will be cleared by to-morrow night," it must have been written between May and July, 1711 (cf. Coxe, Memoirs of the Duke of Marlborough, 1819, vol. iii. p. 357). The Duchess's letters, which are couched in vigorous and at times spiteful language, throw considerable light on the financial side of her disputes with the Queen and Government. At the end (f. 226) is a key to the numerical cyphers used by the Duchess.

Paper; ff. 227. Folio.

752-754. ORIGINAL LETTERS addressed to Charles Lyttelton, LL.D., Dean of Exeter [1748-1762] and Bishop of Carlisle [1762-1768], President of the Society of Antiquaries [1765], chiefly on literary and antiquarian subjects; 1730-1768. Three volumes. Paper. Folio. The contents are:—

4. Warrants, etc., relating to appointments of officers and other business connected with the Customs in Scotland; 1710-1812. ff. 10-116 passim.

5. Letters, etc., relating to the transactions of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, chiefly relating to the Welsh Bible, etc., and the election of members of the Society; 1747-1815. ff. 13-146 passim.
6. Letter from Martin Joseph Routh, President of Magdalen College, Oxford, to —, acknowledging the receipt of books; Oxford, 6 Feb. 1814. f. 126.
7. Dialogue, in verse, between Britannia and Sir Walter Raleigh; [by Andrew Marvel]. Printed in his Works, ed. 1776, vol. iii., p. 314. f. 147.
8. "A rare shew, or a Knave in Querpo with his back stript and basely whipt by the taile of a Monster out of Stow Wood," being an answer to "a pamphlet called New News of a strange Monster found in Stow Woods." This is virtually an attack on Sir W. S. [i.e. Sir William Smyth, Bart., of Redclyffe, co. Bucks.], and an exposure of his conduct in securing his election for Buckingham in the second Parliament of Charles II. [1661]. Written after 1675. f. 151.
9. "Paris, a satire," in verse; addressed to the Duke of Buckingham [? John Sheffield, Duke of Buckinghamshire, 1703-21]. f. 164.
Paper; ff. 167. xviii-xixth centt. Folio.

759. 1. EPILOGUE of Church history, from the birth of Christ to 1612. ff. 3-49 b. Followed (ff. 50-59) by notes, in the same hand, on the Apostles and Evangelists, the early Bishops of Rome, Jerusalem, and Alexandria, and other Fathers of the Church. At ff. 1 b, 2, are memoranda of commercial transactions, dated 1639; and at f. 60 is the record, in Italian, of a sale by Filippo Williams and Francesco Hoyer to Ottaviano Bartoli of caviare expected from Russia, dat. Livorno, 7 Dec. 1641.
2. "Observations on the Messina trade for Customes," etc.; 1642. f. 61.

At the other end of the volume (ff. 119 b-62 b) are:—

3. Register of letters of Philip Williams ["P. W.," f. 89], who appears from them to have been an English merchant, resident at Galata, 30 Mar.—5 July, 1639 (ff. 118-111 b), at Constantinople, 13 July, 1639—10 Feb. 1639 [40] (ff. 111 b-100 b), and at Leghorn, 13 July, 1640—20 June, 1647 (ff. 99 b-73 b). ff. 119 b-73 b. One letter (f. 85 b), dated 9 Aug. 1642, is to Sir Henry Garway [al. Garraway, Lord Mayor of London 1639-40], thanking him for his "word in my behalfe, that made mee part Commissioner in Livorne for the India Compy."

The letters relate solely to private and business affairs, a large proportion being addressed to the writer's brother, William

- Williams, with whom he seems to have been in partnership (see also f. 1 b). His sisters appear to have married respectively men named Backhouse (f. 99, etc.), Browne (f. 96, from which it appears that Mrs. Browne died before 11 May, 1641), Riccard (f. 75 b; see also ff. 71 b, 1 b, 2), and Garway (a relation, probably nephew, of Sir Henry, see f. 93). Some of the letters are addressed to Edward Barnard, "Consull in Alleppo" (ff. 113 b, 111 b, 109 b, 105 b); and one is to "Mr. Tho. Symonds, in Zant, Consull" (f. 78).
4. Schedule of deeds, 1517-1684, relating chiefly to property in and near "Charleton Canvill" [Charlton Horethorne], co. Somerset, which appears to have come into the possession of the Williams family about 1639. ff. 72 b-62 b.

Paper; ff. 119. xviiith cent. Quarto.

760. 1. "FORMULÆ LITERARUM collected out of the most quaint authours in diverse languages." The only English authors mentioned are Sir Henry Wotton and Sir Francis Bacon. f. 2.
2. "Formes of Passeports in Latin, English, French, Italian, etc.," chiefly granted by Heneage Finch, Earl of Winchilsea, ambassador at Constantinople; among others, to Lord Henry Howard (1 Oct. 1665), Sir Philip Mathewes, Bart., Will. Golt, merchant, and the Marchese Bernardo Pecori. f. 15.
3. "Certaine rules and observations for a Secretary," as to the conduct of his correspondence. f. 21.
4. "Superscriptions and Addresses of letters," arranged alphabetically in index form; probably written by a secretary of the above Earl of Winchilsea. f. 23.

Paper; ff. 32. xviiith cent. Small Folio.

CLASS XVIII.

BIOGRAPHY, AND PERSONAL.

761. BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES of literary, scientific and other persons living, for the most part, in the latter half of the 17th century, arranged in dictionary form. According to a note appended the MS. is in the hand of Thomas Coxeter, of Trinity College, Oxford (ob. 1747).

Paper; ff. 26. Late xviiith cent. Bought by Thomas Astle at the sale of the library of Dr Richard Farmer, Master of Emmanuel College, Cambridge (ob. 1797), on 15 June, 1798. Sm. Octavo.

762. LIST of English Authors in rough chronological order, 1598–1695, with dates when they died or flourished. The names are taken from Wood's Athenæ and Fasti Oxonienses, those from the Fasti having references to the second edition [1721]. At the end (f. 43) are added earlier names from the Catalogue of Boston of Bury.

Paper; ff. 44. xviiith cent. Narrow Octavo.

763. 1. "CARTE SIGILLATE": a collection of copies of charters relating to the families of Berkeley, Sackville, and others, with drawings (some coloured) of the seals, made by Sir Edward Dering (cf. No. 924, below), who has inserted marginal notes concerning the originals. f. 1.

2. Another similar collection, preceded by a pedigree of the Bromley family made by Sampson Erdeswick in 1594 (cf. another copy in Harley MS. 4031, f. 71 b), and including pedigrees of the families of Greystock, Montfort, Montauban, and others, the latter part (beginning at f. 42) being copied "ex magna Historia Britanniae Armoricanæ." f. 28.

Paper; ff. 60. xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Folio.

764. ACCOUNT of the life of Colonel Hume Caldwell, son of Sir John Caldwell, Bart.; who was born in 1735, entered the Austrian service in 1750, and died from a wound at Schweidnitz on 19 Aug. 1762. Followed by copies of letters from Austrian officers and others, bearing testimony to his bravery; and by some account of his brothers, especially his eldest brother Sir James, who was made a Count of Milan by Maria Theresa.

Paper; ff. 71. About A.D. 1776 (see f. 69). Octavo.

- 765. SURVEY of the estates forming the jointure of Mary, widow of Sir William Cobbe, Knt., in Babingley, Wolverton and Sandringham, co. Norfolk; taken 4 and 9 Mar. 8 James I. [1617] and 30 Dec. 9 James I. [1611]. Latin. At the end are:—(a) Copy of "The booke of the taske of Wolferton," made 26 Aug. 15 Hen. VIII. [1523] by Jeffrey Cobbe, Esq., and others, his tenants. f. 47;—(b) "The tenthes or fivetenthes payde" in Wolferton, 35 Hen. VIII. [1543-44]. f. 47 b;—(c) Extracts from the Court-Roll of Wolferton, 1455, 1487. f. 48 b.

Paper; ff. 49. Folio.

- 766. "ANE ACCOMPT of what past betwixt the Lords of Justitiarie and Mr John Dick when his sentence was re-intimat to him the nixt day after he was apprehended, which was upon the 4 of March, [16]84." With an account of his execution on the following day in the Grass-market, Edinburgh, including a full report of his address to the people. Printed in A Testimony to the doctrine . . . . . of the Church of Scotland . . . . . by . . . . . Mr. John Dick, [1684], pp. 51-58; see also Wodrow's Church of Scotland, iii. (Glasgow, 1829), pp. 445, 473, iv. (1830), pp. 58-61.

Paper; ff. 8. Late xviiith cent. Quarto.

- 767. COLLECTIONS made by John Anstis, Garter King of Arms, for a history of the family of Granvill or Grenville, of co. Cornwall; consisting of extracts from charters and other records, and pedigrees of the family and of families allied with it.

Paper; ff. 97. xviiith cent. Small Quarto.

- 768. EXTRACTS from Newspapers, 1643-1657, illustrating, from a Parliamentary point of view, the conduct and character of Sir Richard Grenville, royalist. The newspapers from which the extracts are taken are, A Perfect Diurnal, Mercurius Veridicus, Mercurius Britannicus, Perfect Occurrences, Perfect Passages, Mercurius Politicus, etc., and from a pencil-note on the fly-leaf by M. Stace, who made the extracts, they formed part of the collection of Dr. Charles Burney.

Paper; ff. 37. xviiith cent. Oblong Quarto.

- 769. CATALOGUE of ancient deeds, royal and autograph letters, and other MSS. formerly in the possession of Rev. George Harbin, Non-juror [f. 1713], and said (f. 1) to have been purchased at his sale in 1745. With others added (see f. 14).

At the end (f. 31) are notes on a grant by Gilbert Tisun to Selby Abbey, co. York, temp. Will. I.

Paper; ff. 33. xviiith cent. With the bookplate of Osmund Beauvoir, D.D. (ob. 1789), and note of purchase by Thomas Astle, 1800. Folio.

770. DIARY of Henry Hyde, 2nd Earl of Clarendon, for the year 1688.

Holograph. The earlier part is taken up chiefly with a law-suit brought against him by the Queen Dowager, to whom he had been Treasurer and Receiver-General from 1680 to 1685, arising out of the question of the allowances due to him in that capacity; and with references to the trial of the Seven Bishops. The latter part is almost wholly occupied with the occurrences of the Revolution, and the writer's own part in it, the diary concluding, "Thus ends this unhappy yeare, fatall I fear to England. God grant the next may prove more fortunate then it seems to portend."

Another copy of the same Diary, also autograph, is in Add. MS. 22,578, but the entries in many cases differ, the present copy being generally the fuller of the two and more in the nature of a fair transcript. Together with others for 1 Jan.—8 Feb. 1688 and 1 Jan. 1688—17 Aug. 1690, this Diary for 1688 was printed by Dr. John Douglas, The State Letters of Henry, Earl of Clarendon, etc., Oxford, 1763, vol. ii., being taken from a copy of the present volume made when it was in the possession of Bryan Richards, to whom it had been given by the third Earl of Clarendon (ibid., vol. i., p. xxxiv.). The original had then disappeared, having been lent to a Mr. Carlton and never returned. It was reprinted, apparently from Dr. Douglas's text, by S. W. Singer, The Correspondence of Henry Hyde, Earl of Clarendon, etc., London, 1828, vol. ii., p. 153. For small memorandum-books of Lord Clarendon, for 1690, 1691, see Add. MSS. 22,550; 28,190.

At the end (f. 169) is inserted a copy of the will of Edward Hyde, 1st Earl of Clarendon, dat. 11 Dec. 1674; with probate, 14 Dec. 1675.

Paper; ff. 170. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Folio.

Paper; ff. 28. Small Quarto.

772. LIFE of George Monck, 1st Duke of Albemarle; by his physician, Thomas Skynner, M.D. From the title-page (f. 3), and from the spaces left for the insertion of portraits (ff. 2 b, 73, 100, 105, 109), this seems to be a fair copy written out for the press; but the work was not published until 1723, when it was edited by William Webster from Skynner's original MS. It appears to have been composed between 1678 and 1685 (see two letters from the author to Dr. Sam. Barrow in Egerton MS. 2618, ff. 136, 138, and the allusion to Charles II. as "his present Majesty" at f. 13 b of the present MS.).

Paper; ff. 115. Late xviiith cent. Bound in red morocco, very richly tooled. Bookplate, with arms (f. 1 b), of James [Brydges], Earl of Carnarvon [1714, cr. Marquis of Carnarvon and Duke of Chandos, 1729]. On the inside of the cover is also the bookplate, with arms, of his grandson, James, Marquis of Carnarvon [1744-1771, succ. as 3rd Duke of Chandos, 1771]; but the volume appears to have been sold with the 1st Duke's library in Mar. 1747 (Catalogue, No. 2575). Folio.

773. SCHEDULE of goods and chattels (including pictures) of Hon. George Mountagu, deceased, contained in Manchester House, Canons' Row, Westminster, and in Horton House, co. Northampton; attached to a deed of sale of the same by his executors to Edward Mountagu, his son and heir, the use for life being reserved to Lady Elizabeth Mountagu, his widow, 5 Apr. 1682.

Vellum roll, 17 ft. 9 in. × 1 ft. 1 in.

774. ACCOMPT-BOOK of the household and personal expenses of Roger North, 2nd Baron North, of Kirtling, co. Cambr.; 1 Jan. 1575[6]—3 Feb. 1581[2], and 1 Apr. 1582—20 Dec. 1589. Two volumes, now bound in one. The accompts are generally entered in the hand of Lord North himself, and are signed by him at the end of each week. In vol. i., f. 73, is "a brief collection and declaration of all suche provision as was spent at the house of . . . Lord North of Kertlinge at the Q. Majesties commyng thither on Mondays the first of Sept. [1578] to supper and taryng there untill Wednesday after dynner next following," etc. Among entries elsewhere are gifts (a) "to my l. of Essex players liii<sup>s</sup> iiiii<sup>d</sup>," 13-19 May, 1576. vol. i. f. 16 b;—(b) "to my l. of Svssex minstrells v<sup>s</sup>," 2-7 July, 1576. vol. i. f. 20 b;—(c) "to my l. Howards plaiers v<sup>s</sup>," 1-7 Dec. 1577. vol. i. f. 55 b;—(d) "to the Queens plaiers xx<sup>s</sup>," 2-8 June, 1583. vol. ii. f. 35 b;—(e) to "the Queens plaiers x<sup>s</sup>," 12-19 July, 1584. vol. ii. f. 65 b;—(f) to "my l. of Lester's plaiers x<sup>s</sup>," 5-11 July, 1585. vol. ii. f. 94. Numerous entries of "losses at play" are included, e.g. "Lost to the Q[ueen] at imperiall xi<sup>li</sup>," 29 Jan.—4 Feb. 1576. vol. i. f. 9;—"lost at maw with the Queen xxviii<sup>li</sup>, lost at premerow xxxiii<sup>li</sup>," Aug. 1576. vol. i. f. 23;—"lost with the Q. at play v<sup>li</sup>, with my

ld. of Lester iii<sup>u</sup> x<sup>s</sup>, with my ld. Ritch xxx<sup>s</sup>," Dec. 1586. vol. ii. f. 104 b. In vol. i., f. 164 b, are payments "for froggs and flies for the Queens gloves l<sup>s</sup>, for gloves for the Q. xv<sup>s</sup>," Nov. 1581; and in vol. ii., f. 158 b, "for the booke of martirs xl<sup>s</sup>," May, 1589. Extracts are printed in Archæologia, vol. xix. 1821, pp. 283-301.

Paper; ff. 172 and 179. At the beginning of vol. i. is inserted a water-colour sketch of Kirtling Hall, by I. R. Thompson. Folio.

775. BAILIFFS' and other accompts relating to the lands and possessions of Sir Richard Southwell, Knt., in co. Norfolk, for the year ending at Michaelmas, 3 Eliz. [1561]. Latin.

Vellum; ff. 47. Belonged to Thomas Astle, 1790. Folio.

776. CHARTULARY of the estates of John de Vallibus or Vaux (ob. 16 Edw. I.) and of his daughter Petronilla and her husband William de Nerford, in Wissett, co. Suffolk, and Thurton ("Therstone"), Shottesham, Holt and Cley, and Narford, co. Norfolk; tempp. Hen. III.—Edw. II. Latin. Two leaves have been torn out after f. 9, and two after f. 10. At f. 21 b is a release, by Sir Will. de Roos, of Hamelake, and Matilda his wife to Sir Will. de Nerford and Petronilla his wife, of the next presentation to the Priory of Pentney, co. Norfolk, after the death or cession of Prior Hugh de Narburg, dat. Palm Sunday, 1302. The last deed entered, though not the last in date, is (f. 53) the "Seperacio terrarum Domini Johannis de Vallibus inter heredes," dated 3 Feb. 16 Edw. I. [1288]. Inside the cover are some notes by Thomas Martin of Palgrave, and T. Astle has inserted a short introduction, dat. 30 Oct. 1773 (ff. 1-2 b).

Vellum; ff. 54. XIIIth—XIVth centt. Bound in dark purple velvet (18th cent.). Quarto.

777. "EXTRACTS from the Court Rolls of the several manors belonging to the Earls of Oxford in the counties of Essex, Hertford, Huntingdon, Buckingham, Middlesex, Cambridge, Norfolk and Suffolk," tempp. Hen. III.—Edw. IV.; made early in the 16th cent. Latin. Preceded (ff. 6-35) by an index of "Nomina dominorum et tenencium."

Paper; ff. 129. On f. 4 is the inscription "Liber Petri Leneve, 1694, Rougecroix," together with a few notes by the same. Belonged also (f. 1) to Thomas Martin of Palgrave (ob. 1771), and, in 1775, to Thomas Astle, who added the title as above. Quarto.

778. "COPIES of Deeds, Charters, and other Muniments," the originals of which are stated on the title-page to have been in 1731 in the possession of James West. The deeds are forty-five in number, and relate to lands in various counties. The earliest is dated in 4 Edw. II., the latest, in 13 James I.; and rough drawings of the seals are added.

Paper; ff. 55. A.D. 1731. Octavo.

779. "AN INVENTORY of the Earl of Sussex's goods at Easton Mauditt," co. Northampton, probably taken after the death of George Augustus Yelverton, 2nd Earl, in 1758.

Paper; ff. 8. Folio.

780, 781. A COLLECTION of English Wills, chiefly copies, with a few originals; 1002-1768. In two volumes, arranged in chronological order. The names of all the testators are given in the Index. The collection was originally arranged by T. Astle in three volumes, and included what are now Stowe charters 622-642. Paper. xvith-xviiith centt. Large Quarto. The principal contents are:—

780. Vol. I. (ff. 179). 1002-1698. The first article is a translation of the will of Wulfric, the founder of Burton Abbey (cf. Thorpe, Diplom. Sax., 1865, p. 543). Among others are copies of the wills of:—(a) Lionel, Duke of Clarence (ob. 1368). f. 3;—(b) Cardinal Pole (ob. 1558). f. 23;—(c) Sir Henry Wotton, Provost of Eton (ob. 1639), with an account of the Wotton family. f. 66;—(d) Sir Leoline Jenkins (ob. 1685), with an indenture between his executors and the Principal, etc., of Jesus College, Oxford (11 Mar. 1684<sup>5</sup>), and the Master in Chancery's report (7 July, 1687). f. 128.

781. Vol. II. (ff. 133). 1701-1768. Included are the wills of:—(a) William [Cavendish, 1st] Duke of Devonshire, dated 1707. f. 20;—(b) Sir John Holt, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, 1708. f. 26;—(c) Hugh Fortescue, of Filleigh, co. Devon, 1714. Draft, with corrections in the hand of Sir Thomas Parker (afterwards Earl of Macclesfield and Lord Chancellor), who is named as one of the executors. f. 40;—(d) John Hedges, of London, in doggrel, 1737. f. 98;—(e) Translation of the will of [Henrietta] Caroline, Landgravine of [Hesse-] Darmstadt (ob. 1774). f. 111;—(f) Printed pamphlet containing the will of Louis XVI., 1792, with translation and prefatory notes (London, 1793). f. 119;—(g) Cuttings from newspapers, containing the wills of Frederic II. of Prussia, Edmund Burke, the American General Charles Lee (ob. 1782), and Richard Rigby, Paymaster-general 1768-1782 (ob. 1788). ff. 119-133.

782-784. "EXTRACTS of wills from the Registers in the Prerogative Court at Doctors Commons from 1385 to 1660," compiled, with extreme neatness, by Edward Rowe Mores, F.S.A. In three volumes: Vol. i. 1385-1533; Vol. ii. 1533-1591; Vol. iii. 1592-1660. The introduction (vol. i., f. 2) contains an account of the Prerogative Court, and of the registers there; and at the end of vol. iii. are complete indexes of names and places. Most of the wills extracted are those of inhabitants of Berkshire.

Paper; ff. 178, 143, 141. xviiith cent. Belonged to T. Astle, who purchased several of Mores' MSS. after his death in 1778 (see Nichols, Lit. Anecd., v. p. 403). He has inserted the title-page quoted above, and a few notes at the beginning of vols. i. and ii. Octavo.

785. "VITA e Costumi di Don Giulio Alberoni": a violent attack on the character of Alberoni, on the occasion of his being promoted to the Cardinalate in April, 1717. Italian.

Paper; ff. 27. Small Folio.

786. DEDICATION-LETTER to George II. from Andreas Beyer, Engraver, of Regensburg, to accompany the engraving made by him from the picture of the king by Joachim Kayser, of Hanover; 26 Dec. 1730. Elaborately written, partly in gold lettering. Germ.

Paper; ff. 6. Bound in violet velvet, lined with blue silk. Folio.

CLASS XIX.

GEOGRAPHY, TOPOGRAPHY, AND LOCAL HISTORY.

787. "THE ELEMENTES or groundes of Geographye, both Theoreticall and Practicall"; by Richard Baby. Preceded (ff. 2-11 b) by a dedicatory epistle from the author to "the Worshipfull and his much honoured freinde and Master, Mr. Arthure Capell." In two books; the first (ff. 14-121) theoretical, explaining the scheme of the universe on the Ptolemaic hypothesis, and the artificial division of the earth's surface by great and small circles; the second (ff. 122-277) practical, containing directions for finding the horizon, meridian, equator, etc., at any place, and for the construction and use of the terrestrial globe and the "mappe or planisphere." The work ends (ff. 260-277) with "a breife discourse of chorographye, which is an appendix vnto Geographye." With numerous diagrams.

Paper; ff. 277. Early xviiith cent. Octavo.

788. "ABREGÉ de la Geographie"; compiled towards the end of the 17th century (see ff. 1 b, 21).

Paper; ff. 150. Late xviiith cent. Belonged to George Bridges. Quarto.

789. 1. "ABREGÉ de la Geographie"; apparently compiled between 1742 and 1763 (see ff. 186, 187). Not the same work as No. 788, and much less full.

2. "Principes de la langue françoise": a short treatise on French grammar. f. 186.

Paper; ff. 197. xviiith cent. Quarto.

790. "RELATION of a Journey from London to Paris and thence home through Flanders and Holland," starting "from the Spread Eagle in Gracechurch street" on 7 May, 1720, and ending "at the Tower Wharf" on 19 Aug. 1721, after a seven days' passage from Rotterdam "on board the Hampton Court sloop, Captain Annibal, Commander." Besides what is included in the title, the writer travelled from Aix-la-Chapelle to Cologne and Bonn, returning by way of Düsseldorf. From the references to religion and politics

(e.g. at ff. 32 b, 103 b) it appears that he was a Protestant Whig; that he was also a commoner is evident from the way he tells (at f. 108 b) how the landlord at Cologne showed his vanity "in procuring our passport from the City, wherein, perhaps to make the Magistrates believe his house was taken up with great men, we were inscrib'd English Barons, which I can hardly think he was so ignorant himself as really to imagine."

Paper; ff. 192. Quarto.

791. "JOURNAL of a summer's excursion, by the road of Montecasino to Naples, and from thence over all the southern parts of Italy, Sicily, and Malta, in the year MDCCCLXII"; by [Sir] William Young [2nd Bart., F.R.S., etc.]. Printed; with marginal notes in the author's hand, and a few pen-and-ink sketches. f. 9. The preface is signed, and is dated Delaford [near Uxbridge], 24 Apr. 1774. Followed (f. 82) by seventeen small water-colour drawings of antiquities in Sicily.

An entry by the author on the title-page states that the work was not published, that twenty copies were printed in 12<sup>mo</sup>, but only the present one in 4<sup>to</sup>, and that "the marginal memoranda were written by the author, W. Y., who gave it to the Most Noble George, Marquis of Buckingham, March, 1787." At the beginning are, in Sir W. Young's hand:—(a) Two copies (the second being apparently an amended version of the first) of an Epistle, in Latin elegiacs, to Richard Aldworth Neville [2nd Baron Braybrooke]. ff. 1 b, 2 b;—and (b) "An Essay relative to Pœsti or Posidonia, the remains of which are yet visible in the Gulph of Salerno, 50 miles south of Naples," illustrated by seven water-colour drawings (see below, No. 1022). ff. 4, 7.

Paper; ff. 86. At f. 2 is an entry: "Marquis of Buckingham, e dono autoris W. Y. 1785"; and at f. 9 b is a copy of a note from Sir William Hamilton, dated 23 May, 1784, to the dowager Lady Young, thanking her for a copy of the Journal (described above), and presenting her with his own "melancholy account of Calabria." Small Quarto.

792. ACCOUNT of "a tour into the Indian Nations" made by General James Edward Oglethorpe, Commander of the British Forces in S. Carolina and Georgia, "to establish peace between them and the English," and of his subsequent operations against the Spaniards, including an attempt on the Fort St. Augustine, on the coast of Florida; 8 July, 1740—4 Sept. 1742. The narrative was written by a "Ranger in Georgia" in attendance on the General.

Paper; ff. 20. Quarto.

793. "JOURNAL of a Voyage performed by order of the N. W. Company, in a bark canoe, in search of a passage by water through the N. W. Continent of America from Athabasca to the Pacific Ocean, in summer 1789"; [by Sir Alexander Mackenzie]. A pencilled entry on the first fly-leaf states that this is the original journal in Mackenzie's hand, and O'Connor says further (Bibliotheca MS. Stowensis, 1818-19, ii. p. 247) that it was presented by the author to George [Grenville, 1st] Marquis of Buckingham. Printed, in a slightly expanded form, by Mackenzie in his Voyages from Montreal . . . in the years 1789 and 1793 (London, 1801), pp. 1-119. Paper; ff. 81. Quarto.

794. JOURNAL of the ship Chesterfield, Matthew B. Alt commander; 28 May, 1793-21 Oct. 1794. In two parts: Part i. (ff. 1-28) is the journal of the voyage made in company with the Hormuzeer, William Bampton commander, from Norfolk Island through Torres Strait to Timor, 28 May-11 Sept. 1793. An abridgment of Bampton's journal of this voyage has been printed by Matthew Flinders, A Voyage to Terra Australis, vol. i. (London, 1814), pp. xxx.-xlv. Part ii. (ff. 29-72) is the journal from 20 Dec. 1793 to 21 Oct. 1794, during which time the Chesterfield cruised about in the South Atlantic Ocean, starting from the Cape of Good Hope, and then returned to England. Paper; ff. 72. Folio.

Paper; ff. 287. Quarto.

- 804. 1. LETTERS to Rev. Thomas Langley on matters connected with his History of the Hundred of Desborough (see above); 1788–1799, with a few undated. The names of the writers are given in the Index. Among them are George Canning (f. 53); Richard Gough (ff. 38–42); George Temple Nugent-Grenville, 1st Marquis of Buckingham (ff. 34, 58); George John Spencer, 2nd Earl Spencer (f. 62); George Pretymen Tomline, Bishop of Lincoln (f. 24); Brownlow North, Bishop of Winchester (ff. 26, 27, 51). f. 1.
2. “Copy of a letter said to be written from a young lady near Windsor,” containing an account of Marlow Races; Oct. 15, 1752. f. 70.
  3. Miscellaneous additions to the History of Desborough, including (f. 97) a printed sermon on Ps. ix. 16, entitled David and Saul (London, 1696), preached by T[homas] B[eesley], Vicar of Little Marlow, an ancestor of Langley’s (see f. 97 b), on the occasion of the plot to assassinate William III.; also (f. 112) the printed Report on the affairs of the Charitable Corporation, 1732. f. 79.

Paper; ff. 119. Folio.

805, 806. “A REGISTER of the names and occupations of all persons residing within the county of Buckingham (not engaged in any military capacity) between the ages of 15 and 60 years; and also of the number of draught horses, waggons, carts of burthen, wind and water corn-mills, within the same. Returned to John Penn, Esq., High Sheriff, pursuant to a precept issued by him for the better ascertaining the Posse Comitatus. Carefully examined and arranged by Acton Chaplin, Undersheriff, 1798." In two volumes, arranged according to hundreds. At the end of vol. ii. are indexes of the hundreds and of the parishes, with the main results of the return in tabular form; followed by official notices and forms, mostly printed.

Paper; ff. 255, 296. Folio.

807. CAMBRIDGE COLLECTIONS, by Francis Blomefield; containing materials for short historical notices of the several colleges and of their most noteworthy members, in the form of extracts from various sources and newspaper cuttings, together with an account of the churches in Cambridge and of the monumental inscriptions in them. At the end are a few notes on Ely Cathedral.

Interspersed are numerous woodcuts and engravings, including views of many of the colleges, "the academical habits of the severall degrees" (f. 40), and the following portraits:—(a) John Caius, engraved by J[ohan] Faber [the elder] from a painting in Caius College. f. 6;—(b) Charles Mason, Fellow of Trinity, Woodwardian Professor 1734-1762. f. 64;—(c) Francis Leicester, of St. Peter's College (author of two sermons published in 1786). f. 74;—(d) Frances Sidney, Countess of Sussex [wife of Thomas Ratcliffe, 2nd Earl], foundress of Sidney Sussex College. f. 100;—(e) Richard Farmer, Master of Emmanuel College 1775-1797. f. 103;—(f) Elizabeth de Clare, foundress of Clare College. f. 107;—(g) Thomas Audley, Baron Audley of Walden, Lord Chancellor 1532-1544, engraved, after Holbein, by P[eltro] W[illiam] Tomkins. f. 119.

Blomefield's Collectanea Cantabrigiensia, 1750, contains the substance of most of what is here written concerning monumental inscriptions. After Blomefield's death in 1752 (cf. Dict. of Nat. Biogr., v. p. 226) the volume appears to have come into the possession of Thomas Martin of Palgrave; for there are many additional entries in his hand (see ff. 26, 107, etc.), and an inn-bill endorsed by him on 21 July, 1765 (f. 28). Some of the prints and cuttings must have been inserted after his death (1771).

Paper; ff. 175. With bookplate of arms of Francis Blomefield, 1736. Folio.

808. "STATUTA Aulæ Divæ Catharinæ": copy of the statutes of St. Catherine's Hall (now College), Cambridge, drawn up by Robert Woodlark, the founder [in 1475], and augmented by the Royal Visitors [in 1549. See Cooper's Annals of Cambridge, vol. ii. p. 31]. Printed in Documents relating to the University and Colleges of Cambridge, 1852, vol. iii. p. 78. At the end are forms of service for Commemoration (f. 17 b), and for "Gostlyn Day," in memory of John Gostlyn, M.D., Master of Gonville and Caius College (f. 20 b).

Paper; ff. 20. xviiith cent. Duodecimo.

809. COPIES of statutes of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, in Latin, with other papers :—(1) Bishop Bateman's statutes for Gonville Hall; 7 Sept. 1353. f. 2;—(2) "Expositiones seu Interpretationes" of passages in the above, by John Caius the second Founder. f. 12 b;—(3) The statutes of John Caius; "Datum Londini, Martii 30, a<sup>o</sup> Christi 1558, ac postea auctum Januarij 1, 1572 [3]." f. 14;—(4) Extracts from a letter written by Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, to the Master and Fellows, 1 Jan. 157½, explaining certain passages in the statutes. f. 66 b;—(5) Note "concerning absence from the College." f. 73. Artt. 1-4, including Parker's letter in full, are printed in Documents relating to . . . Cambridge, 1852, vol. ii. pp. 226, 238, 241, 314. At the end (f. 74 b) is a copy of a letter from James I. to Cambridge University (Cooper's Annals, vol. iii. p. 114), notifying his refusal to grant the town a new charter; Westminster, 4 Kal. Mar. [26 Feb.], 1616 [7].

Paper; ff. 75. Early xviiith cent. From entries on the fly-leaf and f. 1, the volume appears to have belonged to Robert Eade [of Caius College, B.A. 1661?] and Thomas Astle; and on f. 12, at the end of art. 1, is written: "Hunc librum casu repertum 19<sup>o</sup> die Maij A : D : 1697, in usum Collegij olim fortean cessurum, tradidit in manũ Custodis infrà quadriduum Joshua Burton, socius hujus Collegii." Quarto.

810. COPY of the statutes of Trinity College, Cambridge; drawn up, as appears from the preamble (f. 3) dated 4 Cal. Apr. 2 Eliz. [29 Mar. 1560], by Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, Sir William Cecil and others, who lately visited the University at the Royal command. Latin. This preamble is quoted at length in that of the revised statutes issued in 1844 (see Documents relating to the Univ. and Coll. of Cambridge, 1852, vol. iii. p. 411). At f. 1 is the signature of Zachary Pearce, [Bishop of Bangor 1748, and of Rochester 1756-1774]; and at f. 2 is a letter concerning the statutes from George Holmes, Deputy-keeper of the Records in the Tower, to Lord Chancellor Macclesfield, 5 Apr. 1717.

Paper; ff. 86. xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small Quarto.

811. COLLECTIONS for the history of Chester, containing :—

1. "The antiquitie[s] of the most antient and famous cittie of Chester, collected by learned and experienced authors of great antiquity, being here born," etc.; chiefly derived from the collections of Robert Rogers, Archdeacon of Chester (see Harley MS. 1948). f. 2.

This and the following articles are the same as the contents of Add. 29,780, but more complete.

- 2 "A Collection of the Majors [Mayors] who governed the city of Chester and the time when they governed the same, with the antiquitie[s] of the said city, by William Aldersey a cittizen thereof. Anno Domini 1594"; containing a list of mayors and sheriffs, with historical notes, beginning with 1241, and continued from 1595 (in which year William Aldersey was mayor) to 1771. f. 30.
3. Miscellaneous matter, viz.:—(a) The articles concluded 1 Feb. 164½ for the surrender of the city to the Parliamentary forces (Ormerod's History of Chester, vol. i. p. 208). f. 73 b;—(b) "Legacies given to the city of Chester." f. 75 b;—(c) Brief notes on Chester Cathedral. f. 78 b;—(d) Rating of the several parishes of co. On f. 1 is the signature "Fran : Bassano," above which is written in the same hand "E A O. Mr Orme of Chester"; and below is a note, in the hand of George Temple Nugent-Grenville, 1st Marquis of Buckingham: "Francis Bassano married . . . . (sic) daughter of Randall Holmes [sc. Holme] of Chester, Pursuivant at arms." Bassano was appointed deputy for Norroy King of arms, for Chester and North Wales, in 1733 (Noble, College of Arms, 1805, p. 409).

Paper; ff. 105. xviiith—early xixth centt. Folio.

812. PAPERS relating to a suit between the city of Chester and Sir Ranulph Crewe, Chief Justice of the King's Bench 1625–6, concerning the tolls at the East-gate; 1627–1631. For more documents respecting the same suit, see Harley MS. 2091, ff. 243–300. At the beginning is a table of contents, in the hand of the third Randle Holme (ob. Mar. 1700, see Ormerod's Hist. of Chester, vol. ii. p. 252), headed: "Things of most note in this Booke, anno 1669." The original foliation begins with 320, and that of Harl. 2091 (to which is prefixed a similar list of contents) ends with 319, so that the two MSS. were no doubt originally in one volume. The letters addressed to Edward Whitby, Recorder of Chester 1613–1639, are all originals; of the remainder (of which only a few are originals) a large proportion are endorsed by Whitby, and there is much of his writing elsewhere. The contents are as follows:—

1. Notes on ancient customs and laws regarding the tolls at East-gate, in Whitby's hand. ff. 3, 110.
2. Letters from Sir Ranulph Crewe (a) to the Mayor and aldermen of Chester; 2 Jan. [162 $\frac{1}{2}$ ], 25 Sept. [1629]. ff. 8, 28 (copy);—(b) to E. Whitby; 2 Jan. Lloyd,] the Judges of Chester; 19 July, 29 June, 1630. ff. 40, 82;—(d) to E. Whitby; 4 Feb. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Signed by Charles Walley, Mayor, Thomas Cowper, Sheriff, and thirteen aldermen, including Randle Holme [the first, ob. 165 $\frac{1}{2}$ ]. f. 70;—(e) to Lord Savage; 21 Dec. 1630—26 Apr. 1631. ff. 48, 50, 63, 78;—(f) to the Privy Council, and to individual members of it; 29 June, 1630—Jan. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . ff. 45, 46, 52–55, 60, 80, 84, 86, 94, 104–108.
5. Miscellaneous letters, vis.: (a) Thomas Bavand to his uncle, E. Whitby, reporting the proceedings of the Privy Council; Inner Temple, London, 15 July, 1630—15 Jan. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . ff. 34, 43, 72, 74;—(b) Thomas Gatcliffe to T. Bavand; 7 Sept. 1630. f. 41;—(c) [Thomas Savage, 1st] Viscount Savage, to the Mayor and aldermen of Chester, E. Whitby and Sir R. Crewe; 17, 29 Jan. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ , n.d. ff. 56, 58, 62, 65 (copy), 66;—(d) to Sir R. Crewe; [1630–1]. Copy. f. 62;—(e) Charles Walley, Mayor of Chester, to E. Whitby; 4 Feb. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . f. 68.
6. Letters from the Privy Council to the Mayor and aldermen of Chester; 9 June, 20 Dec. 1630. With order in favour of Sir R. Crewe; 12 Jan. 163 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Copies. ff. 88, 92, 102.
7. Certificate to the Privy Council from Sir John Bridgeman and Sir Marmaduke Lloyd, Judges of Chester, of their judgment in the suit; 17 July, 1630. Copy. f. 96.

Besides the above, there are two petitions not connected with the suit;—(a) Richard Halliwell and Richard Burrowes, concerning a lease in Dodleston [co. Chester]; 1633. f. 2;—(b) Richard Sneyd to the Mayor, etc., of Chester, requesting that Robert Gryce, Sergeant at the Mace, may be compelled to yield him his place according to their bargain; 4 Sept. [1634]. Copy. f. 98.

At f. 7 b is a portrait of Sir Ranulph Crewe, engraved by Hollar, 1664.

Paper; ff. 117. Folio.

813. TRANSCRIPT of the royal charter granted to the borough of Saltash, in Cornwall, 27 Nov. 35 Chas. II. [1683]; with a note on the changes introduced by the charter of George III. [1774]. At f. 48 b is an entry signed "Nic. Nepean," to the effect that the writer was appointed a burgess 14 June, 1774, and that "the New Charter" was brought to Saltash 25 June, 1774; followed by a description of the boundaries of the borough.

834-839. COLLECTIONS relating to Colchester, by Rev. Philip Morant; consisting of copies and extracts of various documents, with notes, forming the materials for his History of Colchester (first published in 1748, afterwards enlarged and incorporated in his Hist. of Essex, 1768). In six vols., each of which has at the beginning a general description of its contents. Vols. i. and ii. deal with the town generally; vol. iii. with the civic government; and vols. iv.-vi. with the monasteries of St. John and St. Botolph, vol. iv. consisting of an abstract of the chartulary of the former, from the original "in the possession of the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Philip Yorke, Esq." The only original documents are (vol. ii. f. 45) a letter from Thomas Ruse to Alderman Boys, 19 June, 1684, concerning the surrender of the Charter of the borough; and another letter (vol. iv. f. 2) from Dr. Birch to Morant, 1 Oct. 1748.

Paper; ff. 109, 102, 96, 89, 100, 65. Small Quarto.

840. COLLECTIONS relating to Colchester, co. Essex, with other miscellaneous papers, circ. 1300-1800, viz.:—

2. Draft of a bill for excluding placemen from the House of Commons. f. 10. Of the three Place bills introduced between 1688 and 1701, this must be the third, which was thrown out on 20 Feb. 1694 (see Commons' Journals); for the sovereign is spoken of as "his Maj<sup>ty</sup>," and the two previous bills were disposed of during Queen Mary's lifetime. (See Macaulay's History, ed. 1880, vol. ii., pp. 406, 473, 497.)
3. Abstract of the will of Sir Richard Temple, 3rd Bart., of Stowe, co. Bucks (ob. 1697). Imperfect at the beginning. f. 12.
4. Perambulation of Bernwood Forest, co. Bucks, 28 Edw. I. [1299-1300]: an official copy made in 1609, and examined by Arthur Agarde. f. 17.
5. Miscellaneous papers relating to Colchester, from the collections of Rev. P. Morant. f. 2. Among them are:—(a) Three letters from Browne Willis to P. Morant; 1748-59. ff. 20, 21, 24;—(b) Decimary of lands in the parish of Stanway, co. Essex, "belonging to the late dissolved house of St. Johns beside Colchester"; copied in or soon after 1621. f. 25;—(c) Rating of parishes in Colchester, in various years from 1610 to 1662. ff. 26-32;—(d) Receipts from Nathanael Rich, Receiver-general of the Land-tax, 1691-1693. ff. 33-39;—(e) Letter from the bailiffs of Colchester, praying for the issue of a writ for the election of a burgess in Parliament in place of Nicholas Clere deceased, and the sheriff's return of Robert Middleton as the new burgess, 1579. ff. 40, 41;—(f) Verdicts of juries at Colchester, against Margaret Sand, "communis fascinatrix et incantatrix tam hominum quam animalium," for having bewitched a woman on 28 Nov. 35 Eliz. [1592], and against John Lock, for using "witchcraft, enchantment, charme or sorcerie," 8 Nov. 1651. Vellum. ff. 42, 43;—(g) Weekly tables of deaths in Colchester from the plague (4731) and from other causes (528), 14 Aug. 1665—7 Dec. 1666. Followed by "The Bearers oath" and "The oath for the Searchers of the Plague, 1665." Copies by P. Morant (see Creighton, History of Epidemics, 1891, p. 688). ff. 44, 46;—(h) Letter on the antiquities of Colchester by Anthony Holbrook, Rector of Waltham Parva and Pandfield, co. Essex (early 18th cent.). f. 47;—(i) Grants of arms, extracted from chartularies, patent rolls, etc. f. 54;—(k) Essex pedigrees. f. 65.

Paper; ff. 79. xvth-xviiith centt. Folio.

841. COLLECTIONS, chiefly transcripts, of records relating to Colchester and Essex, and more particularly to St. John's Abbey, Colchester, made by Rev. Philip Morant. Among the contents are:—

1. Charters of confirmation by Henry I., Stephen, Henry II., Pope Alexander III. and others to St. John's Abbey, extracted from the Abbey Register by P. Morant. f. 1;—and charter of Henry IV. [1405]. Imperfect. f. 19.
2. Note "de Decimis in leyre de la haye," with records of pleas, etc., of the Abbey. In hands of the 15th cent. ff. 29-32.
3. Charter of confirmation by Edward III. to the Leper Hospital of St. Mary Magdalen; [1336]. f. 33.
4. Deeds relating to the chantry in St. Mary's-at-the-Walls founded by Joseph Elianor [in 1348]. ff. 35, 37, 44.
5. "Letters patent of King James I. to the Strangers of the Dutche Congregation in Colchester"; 17 Oct. 1612. f. 41.
6. Deeds of foundation of a scholarship at St. John's College, Cambridge, by Robert Lewis, Fellow of the same, and Preacher at St. Peter's, Colchester; 19 Sept. 1622. f. 45.
7. Two vellum leaves of a chartulary of Earl's Colne Priory, co. Essex, founded by Aubrey de Vere, circ. 1100, recording grants by successive Earls of Oxford; 15th cent. f. 52.
8. Record of the election of members of Parliament for Colchester by the Common Council; 9 Jan. 1 Eliz. [1559]. "Transcribed by me P[hilip] M[orant], Octob. 16, 1754, from an original." f. 55.
9. Notes by the same on the "Knights or Representatives in Parliament" for co. Essex. f. 56.

Paper; ff. 66. xvth, xviiith centt. Folio.

842. PAPERS relating to Colchester, co. Essex, 1644-1684, viz.:—

1. Original book of the proceedings of the Committee for Colchester, 1644-1656 (the writing having begun at both ends). ff. 1-32 b. At f. 22 is added a list of persons summoned to appear on 10 Sept. 1663 before the Commissioners for the subsidies granted to Charles II., and at ff. 24 b-23 b the proceedings of the said Commissioners, 28 Aug.—10 Sept. 1663.

2. Transcripts by Rev. P. Morant of various papers respecting the siege of Colchester in 1648, with an original list (f. 39) of the "poor and sufferers in the siege, among whom a distribution was made of the 2000<sup>l</sup>. return'd back by the Lord Fairfax." ff. 33-54.
3. Original accoupts of John Maynard, Chamberlain of the borough, for the year ending Michaelmas, 1683. ff. 55-69. With a few receipts, 26 Nov. 1683—10 June, 1684, on ff. 70 b, 71.
Paper; ff. 71. xviiith, xviiiith centt. Folio.

843. FORMS OF OATHS of Mayors, Aldermen, Justices of peace and other civil officers of the borough of Colchester; 18th cent. With a list in the hand of Rev. Philip Morant.
Paper; ff. 10. xviiith cent. Octavo.

844. COPY of the charter granted to Colchester by William and Mary [on 27 July, 1693]. Lat. See H. Harrod, Repertory of the Records and Evidences of the Borough of Colchester, 1865, p. 3; and Morant's Hist. of Colchester, p. 88.
Paper; ff. 34. xviiith-xviiiith centt. Octavo.

845. COLLECTIONS relating to Hampshire, vis. :—

1. Three documents relating to Portsmouth, viz. :—(a, b) Charters granted 7 Nov. 3 Charles I. [1627], and 12 Oct. 8 Rich. II. [1384]; transcribed in 1718, the former from a copy "penes Johannem White apud Portesmouth" (see f. 23), and the latter apparently (see f. 28) from the original "in manibus Georgii Huish observata apud Portesmouth." ff. 2, 24;—(c) Commission to inquire into the burning of the town by the French in 1369 (Rymer, Fœdera, ed. London, 1708, vol. vi. p. 638, to which reference is here made at f. 30). ff. 2, 24, 29.
2. Notes of monumental inscriptions, and on the descent of the manors, in several parishes in Hampshire, taken at various times from 1702-1706; with indexes of names and places at the end. f. 31.

The contents of the volume are in the same hand as Add. 14,296 (also a volume of Hampshire collections), viz. that of William Pavey, whose signature is at f. 1 (and at f. 2 of Add. 14,296), and whose book-plate, with arms, is inside the cover. Perhaps he is the William Pavey whose name appears in 1717 among the founders of the Society of Antiquaries: see Archæologia, vol. i. pp. xxviii., xxxv., and also Add. 6182, f. 15 b (where he is described as "Mr. Will. Pavey, of Clements Inn, Att. at law, Secr. in 1718." Inside the cover is pasted a note in the hand of Thomas Grenville.
Paper; ff. 159. Small Quarto.

846. ENROLMENT-BOOK of the Mayor and Bailiffs of Winchester, containing enrolments of charters, deeds, wills and other documents entered in various years from 31 Edw. I. to 42 Eliz. [1303-1600]. There are entries for almost every year down to 7 Hen. VI., after which the next enrolment was in 31 Hen. VI., and the next after that in 4 Hen. VII. At the end the entries are less orderly than in the earlier periods; the last date of enrolment given is Michaelmas, 8 Eliz. [1566], at f. 192 b, but after this come several deeds of later date, the latest of them (f. 197) being of 3 June, 42 Eliz. [1600]. Lat. and Engl.

Included also are:—(a) List of the sovereigns of England “qui possiderunt totum regnum,” from Alfred the Great; originally ending with Henry VI., but continued by later hands to Elizabeth f. 1;—(b) List of the Mayors and Bailiffs from 1485 to 1603 ff. 2, 3 b-4 b;—(c) Copy of an indenture (having probably been omitted in its proper place) concerning merchants trading at Winchester, dated Winchester “ad Burghmotum,” Tuesd. aft. F. of St. George [23 Apr.], 8 Hen. VI. [1430]. f. 2 b;—(d) Oath of the Mayor, to be taken “coram xxiiii<sup>or</sup> senioribus de ciuitate,” viz. “je schal obserue and kepe alle the Statutes and vsages of thys cite, and alle Ordynauncez ymad of oure predecessours by fore thys tyme. And je schal no man discharge for Offys ne non Officer ne ministre make newe ne chaunge be thoute the sent of the xxiiii. and of the Comunus. Bute wel and trewelyche alle the Statutes and vsages je schal putte in excucion, and by youre power lawfullyche hem excute. So God helpe you at the holy dom. Et respondet, ‘je so God helpe me at the holy dom’. Ita fiat.” Written opposite the enrolments for 36 Edw. III. [1362], but apparently inserted later. f. 53 b.

The first twelve pages, and part of the thirteenth, of the enrolment-book (ff. 5-11) have been printed by Sir Thomas Phillipps (at Evesham, 1857).

Vellum; ff. 202. Bound in boards covered with (modern) purple morocco. A short account of the MS., written by Sheffield Grace in 1826, has been inserted at f. 3; whence it appears that the volume formerly belonged to Edmund Abbot, of Winterbourne Dantsey, co. Wilts., after whose death (in 1761) it descended to his grandson, the Rev. Edmund Benson, Priest-vicar of Salisbury Cathedral. On the margin of f. 1 is written “Robert Benson, Close, Salisbury,” possibly the autograph of the Recorder of Salisbury (ob. 1844), son of the above Edmund. Folio.

847, 848. COURT-BOOKS of several manors in Hertfordshire, and some in Essex, Surrey and Middlesex; 1689-1704. In two volumes.

Vol. i., 1689 and 1701. The manors are as follows:—Baas (al. Boxe), Bayly Hall, Bedwell Lowthes, "Andrewes le Mote" in Cheshunt, Essendon, Geddings, Hadham Parva, Hatfield, Hertford Castle, and Hoddesdonbury, co. Hertford; Cannons in Great Parndon, Roydon Hall and Roydon Temple, co. Essex; South Mimms, co. Middlesex; and Rotherhithe, co. Surrey. Vol. ii., 1701–1704. Only eight of the above manors occur, viz. Baas, Bedwell Lowthes, Geddings, Hadham Parva, Hatfield, Hoddesdonbury, Roydon Hall and South Mimms. These manors (with the exception of Cannons) were the property of James Cecil, 4th Earl of Salisbury. He sold the two Roydon manors to Sir Josiah Child, Bart. (who was also lord of the manor of Cannons) between 29 Mar. 1692 and 18 Apr. 1693; the rest descended at his death (25 Oct. 1693) to his son James, 5th Earl. Sir Josiah Child left Cannons and the Roydon manors at his death (22 June, 1699) to his son Richard, or. Viscount Castlemaine (1718) and Earl Tynney (1731). All the manors were administered by the same steward, Samuel Percivall. At the beginning of vol. i. are some memoranda relating to the manors, and at the end of each volume is an incomplete index.

Paper; ff. 273, 72. Folio.

849. RECORDS of the halimote-courts of the manor of Codicote, co. Hertf.; 21 Hen. III.—4 Hen. V. [1237–1416]. Latin. Transcribed from the court-rolls, probably by a monk of St. Alban's, to which abbey the manor belonged (see Clutterbuck's Hertfordshire, vol. ii. p. 305). The names of the cellarers of St. Alban's are given for almost every year from 9 Edw. I. to 51 Edw. III. Imperfect at the end.

Vellum; ff. 126. Late xvth cent. Large Folio.

850. COLLECTIONS relating to Kent and other counties, articles 6–8 having originally formed separate MSS. :—

1. Transcripts of deeds and other documents relating to Canterbury, chiefly tempp. Hen. VII.—Hen. VIII., with a few of earlier date. Lat. and Engl. ff. 1 b, 45, 115 b. Included among them are:—

8. Transcripts and translations of writs, ordinances, etc., concerning Sherwood Forest, issued temp. Edw. I.; and an original letter on the Forest Laws from William Fleetwood, Recorder of London, dated 1582. ff. 314, 339.

At f. 1 are eleven lines: “Arise erli; Serve god devovteli . . . . . And slepe svrlie”; and at f. 5 is a recipe “to make Inke” (16th cent.).

Paper; ff. 341. xvth and xvith centt. The name of a former owner, Christopher Levyns, is written on ff. 1, 143, and elsewhere; and on f. 1 is also the name of William Coppyn, Sheriff of Canterbury 1538-39, who is mentioned in the first few charters at ff. 1 b, etc. Folio.

851. “Copy of Domesday for the county of Kent,” by Abraham Farley, “Chief Clerk in the Chapter House”; with an index showing the modern names of places. Thomas Astle states in a note on the fly-leaf that Farley transcribed the whole Domesday book, from which transcript it was published. On f. 2 b is "Mr. Bailey's estimate for engraving Doomsday Book," 28 Nov. 1768.

Paper; ff. 125. xviiith cent. Folio.

852. ALPHABETICAL LIST of parishes in Kent, showing, in tabulated form, the various manors with their descents.

Paper; ff. 86. xviiith cent. Octavo.

853. COPIES of thirty charters, mostly relating to Kent. Latin. The first 28, ranging in date from the end of the 7th century to 1053, have been printed in Kemble's Codex Diplomaticus or Birch's Cartularium Saxonicum (and some also elsewhere). The last two are of Stephen and John respectively (printed by Stubbs, Select Charters, pp. 120, 288).

Paper; ff. 39. In two hands, of the first half of the 17th century. Said by O'Connor (Bibliotheca MS. Stowensis, ii. p. 151) to have belonged to Sir E. Dering, and afterwards to Thomas Astle. In the hand of the latter, at f. 39, is a list of "Charteres with T[homas] A[stle] and not in this Book" (now included among the Stowe Charters). Folio.

854. CHARTULARY of the lands belonging to the family of Valoines in Godmersham and Wye, co. Kent; tempp. Edw. I.—Hen. VI. Latin. The following are later additions:—(a) Particulars of a court-baron of Thomas Brodnax for the manor of Ford and Yallans [Yallande, in Godmersham] held 26 Oct. 32 Eliz. [1590], with rental taken at the same time. ff. 17 b, 18;—(b) Rental of lands "holden in meane of Thomas Astyn by (sic) and the right of his tenement called the Fourde [Ford] withyn the seid parisshe of Godmersham, whiche the seid Thomas lately emongis landis and tenementis purchased and had of Thomasyne Ince, wedowe, daughter and heire of William Valaunce"; Mich., 11 Hen. VIII. [1519]. f. 19;—(c) Account of the stock of money and household goods belonging to the Chantry of Godmersham handed over to John Joye, chaplain (probably on his appointment), on 11 May, 11 Hen. VIII. [1519] by John Poope and John Lulle, churchwardens of Godmersham. f. 20 b.

Vellum; ff. 20. xvth–xviiith centt. Large Folio.

855. ABSTRACTS by E—H— of transcripts of charters belonging to the Hospital of St. Nicholas, at Harbledown, near Canterbury, and now in the Archiepiscopal Library at Lambeth (Nos. 1131, 1132); made in 1768 by Henry Hall, Rector of St. Michael's, Harbledown. At f. 44 b are the statutes of Archbishop [Robert] Winchelsey regulating the Hospital.

Paper; ff. 164. Purchased by Thomas Astle in 1796. Quarto.

856. "LIBER presidencie diversorum Instrumentorum tam spiritualium quam temporalium": a common-place book of formulas for grants, legal pleas, etc., composed by John Hebylthwayte, [? of Lydd, co. Kent], whose name, with two Latin verses containing it, is written at the beginning and end of the volume.

To these are added:—(a) Record of certain rates of "Denge mershe," etc., collected by the same John Hebylthwayte and others in 1550-1556. f. 18;—(b) Rental of the manor of Langeporte [Langport] in Lydd. f. 22;—(c) Memoranda of "cocketts" had by various persons for "redd herynge," "wracke sacke" [wreck sack] and "allegant" [allicant], etc., 18 Dec. 1558-11 Feb. 1559. f. 31;—(d) Miscellaneous writs and notes relating to Lydd and the Cinque Ports, including "The tenure of a cockett" (f. 32), and warrants from William Brooke, Lord Cobham, Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, and Lord Robert Dudley, Master of the Horse, concerning the export of horses, etc., June, 1559 (f. 34). ff. 32-37;—(e) Rental of the manor of Warehorne [in Romney Marsh, co. Paper; ff. 44, including two vellum leaves (ff. 1, 44) of a xvth cent. service-book, which formerly served for a binding. Dated 1547 on the title-page, but the entries extend to 1559. Small Folio.

857. COPIES of letters and papers relating to a dispute between the town of Lydd and the Seven Hundreds (Cranbrook, Blackburn, Barkley, Great Barnfield, Selbrightenden, Rolvenden, and Tenterden), co. Kent, as to the charge of providing watchmen at "Denge Mershe" (Dunge-Marsh); 1587-1589. Followed (f. 16) by a short account of the beacons in Kent, 1585-1592. With notes (ff. 3, 17-18 b) in the hand of Sir Roger Twysden (ob. 1672). For other documents concerning the Dunge-Marsh dispute, see Archæologia Cantiana, viii. (1872), pp. 299-310.

Paper; ff. 19. xvith cent. Folio.

858. SURVEY of the manor of Northbourne, co. Kent, late belonging to the see of Canterbury, but then parcel of the jointure of Queen Anne, made 30 Aug. 6 James I. [1608], by Sir Thomas Palmer, Knt., and John Hercye, Esq., by virtue of a royal commission. A copy made, according to O'Connor (Bibliotheca MS. Stowensis, ii. p. 220), in 1681; the last leaf, on which the date was written, is now mutilated.

Paper; ff. 68. Quarto.

859. COPIES of the statutes and ordinances of Wigston's Hospital in Leicester, 1574-1656. The contents, with one exception, viz. an "Abstract of such of the foundation statutes . . . as may manifest the donor's intention" (ff. 6-11), are included in the account of the Hospital given by Nichols, Hist. of Leicestershire, 1815, vol. i. pt. 2, pp. 471-504.

Paper; ff. 24. About A.D. 1700. Small Quarto.

860. NAMES of the Companies of the city of London, and names and arms in trick of the "Portgraves" and Lord Mayors from the Conquest to 1639, and of the Sheriffs from 1189 to 1469. With index added (ff. 2, 90).

Paper; ff. 91. xviiith cent. Belonged (18th cent.) to John Holland, no. 3. Folio.

861. REGISTER of Documents concerning a chantry in the church of SS. Anne and Agnes within Aldersgate, founded by Sir William Gregory, Knt., citizen and skinner of London [Lord Mayor 1451-2]; 1461-1503. Lat. and Engl. The contents are:—(1) Will of the Founder, made 18 Aug. 1461, and enrolled 7 Edw. IV. [1467]. f. 3;—(2) Deed modifying the terms of the bequest by his executors, Nicholas Lathell, Baron of the Exchequer, and Stephen Saundre, B.D., General Confessor of Syon monastery beside Brentford, dated 4 Dec. 1498. f. 20;—(3) Analysis of the preceding "Reformation." ff. 32, 35;—(4) "The forme of observaunce and keepyng of the obite for Margaret Holmehegge," etc. f. 34;—(5) Further ordinance of the executors. f. 37;—(6) Confirmation of the foundation thus modified, by William Warham, Bishop of London, 2 Dec. 1503.

Vellum; ff. 48. xvth-xviiith centt. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Small Quarto.

862. 1. COPIES of warrants, orders and letters relating to the Tower of London during the period Sir William Waad was Lieutenant [1605-1611], with extracts from public records of the privileges of the Tower and of the laws and regulations from the time of Henry III. Apparently an imperfect copy of the original register of Sir William Waad, now Add. MS. 14,044. Followed by copies of other papers relating to the Tower down to 1721. ff. 1-31.

2. Rental of the manor or prebend of Neasdon in the parish of Willesden, co. Middlesex, 1510. "Transcribed out of an old paper book called Warham." f. 33. Followed by:—(a) Copy of a lease of the prebend from Thomas Wilson, Prebendary, to Francis Roberts, of Willesden; 17 June, 1624. f. 35;—and (b) "An account of the Prebend or Manor of Nesdon alias Neasden . . .

belonging to the Cathedrall Church of St. Paul in London from 1510 to 1707." f. 38.

Paper; ff. 60. xviiith-xviiith centt. Belonged to Thomas Astle, who purchased it at the sale of the MSS. of Paul Field, in 1783. Folio.

- 863. ACCOUNT of St. Katharine's Hospital, near the Tower of London, by Andrew Coltee Ducarel, LL.D., Commissary of the Hospital; 1763. With notes and corrections in the author's hand, and with ten engravings and two pen-and-ink drawings of various parts of the hospital, and coloured drawings of some coats-of-arms copied from Harley MS. 2259, ff. 132-134. At f. 2 b is an engraving of Ducarel's portrait painted by Soldi. At f. 1 he notes that he presented another copy of this book to Queen Charlotte on 10 Mar. 1763. Printed, in an expanded form, and with some additional plates, by Nichols in vol. ii. of Bibl. Topogr. Brit. (forming no. 5, 1782). See Nichols, Literary Anecdotes, vol. vi. p. 392.

Paper; ff. 61. With bookplate of arms of A. C. Ducarel. Folio.

- 864. COLLECTIONS for the history of St. Katharine's Hospital, by Andrew Coltee Ducarel, LL.D.; partly in his own hand. With ten engravings. Included (f. 30) is a paper, written in 1679 or 1680, to prove that "The Patronage and Visitation of St. Katherine's Hospitall belongs of right onely to her Majestie Katherine, Queene Dowager."

Paper; ff. 84. xviiith-xviiith centt. With bookplate of arms of A. C. Ducarel; together with his signature and the date 1763. Folio.

- 865. MISCELLANEOUS TRACTS and papers, as follows:—

1. Papers relating to the Savoy Hospital in the Strand, London, viz. (a) "Case of the Savoy," being a brief account of it from the time of Henry III. to about 1725. f. 2;—(b) "Lord Keeper Wright's sentence for dissolving the Savoy, July 31, 1702." f. 3 b;—(c) "Remarks on this case by Sir Nathaniel Lloyd, Knt. LL.D." f. 6 b. All in the hand of Dr. Andrew Coltee Ducarel, who adds a note (f. 9) dated Doctors' Commons, 16 Sept. 1754, that he copied them from the originals, belonging to Dr. Richard Rawlinson. f. 1.
2. Project for the "Total expulsion of the French from Maritime India" by means of a blockade of the Isles of Bourbon and Mauritius; circ. 1809. f. 10.
3. "On the Silver Coinage of this Kingdom," by John Porter, of the Office of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade; 28 Oct. 1804. f. 23.
4. "A sketch of the presant (sic) state of Smuggling"; circ. 1800. f. 38.
5. Short abstracts of the first five books of Herodotus; 19th cent. Imperfect. f. 54.

6. "Elegia scripta in Coemeterio Rustico," a translation into hexameters of Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," by W— H— Roberts. f. 86. Followed (f. 95) by "Epitaphium in templo Abergavenny, Comitatu Monmouth," by the same, 1789.

Paper; ff. 95. xviiith-xixth centt. Quarto.

866. RECORD of burials in Westminster Abbey, from 1 Dec. 1705 to 29 June, 1745, generally mentioning the exact locality of interment, and giving in some cases the inscription upon the coffin; with notes of a few earlier burials, and a description (f. 30) of the burial of Princess Louisa Anne, dau. of Frederic, Prince of Wales, on 21 May, 1768. With an index of names. At the end (ff. 31-41), reversing the volume, is an analysis of J. Blaeu's Nouveau Théâtre d'Italie, 1704, and of his Nouveau Théâtre du Piémont et de la Savoye, 1725.

Paper; ff. 45. xviiith cent. With the name "Monfaucon" inscribed on f. 45 b. Folio.

867. ABSTRACTS of fines relating to lands in Norfolk; 1 John—23 Hen. VII. Latin. With an index of places (not quite complete); and with interlinear notes and corrections in the hand of Peter le Neve, Norroy King of Arms (ff. 20 b, 32, etc.).

Paper; ff. 112. xviiith-xviiith centt. Folio.

868. TRANSCRIPT from the Liber Feodorum, or Testa de Neville, for Norfolk and Suffolk. See the Testa de Neville, 1807, pp. 282-301. The transcript was probably made for Peter le Neve, who has added the title and several marginal notes.

Paper; ff. 34. Early xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Folio.

869. "LIBER GENERALIS taxationum, tam temporalium quam spiritualium, in com. Norfolk, pro auxilio levando anno 3 Hen. 4th [1401-2] ad maritandum Blanchiam filiam suam primogenitam." With indexes of hundreds and parishes at ff. 2 b, 193. The title is in a modern hand; and the volume includes numerous extracts from other records relating to Norfolk down to temp. Jas. I. Followed (f. 206) by "a proportion agreed upon" to be paid by the several hundreds in Norfolk for the muster-master's salary, 3 Oct. 1609; and (f. 207) by an account of some armorial bearings seen in "the late abbey of Thetford."

Paper; ff. 208. xviiith cent. Inside the covers, taken from the original binding, are stamped in gold the royal arms with a label of three points, within the Garter, ensigned with a coronet of crosses and fleurs-de-lys. These arms were used by Henry, eldest son of James I. (see Sandford, Genealogical History, 1707, p. 563); but as O'Connor mentions "the letters J.R. on the back" (Bibl. MS. Stowensis, vol. ii., p. 197), the volume would appear to have belonged to James II., who used these arms when Duke of York (Sandford, p. 655). The volume afterwards belonged to Tho. Astle. Quarto.

870. TERRIER of East Carlton and Hethel, with parts of Bracon-Ash and Mulbarton, co. Norfolk; taken in May, 1571. Latin.

Paper; ff. 252. Inside the cover is the signature of Thomas Martin of Palgrave, with a note that the book was given him by John le Grys of Norwich, 1729. Quarto.

871. INVENTORY of service-books, plate, copes, vestments, napery, etc., belonging to the church of St. Peter Mancroft, in Norwich; temp. Hen. VIII.

The list begins with "one Antiphenare of the large volume garnished with blew silk and bottons of the same... of Sir Robert Cutler, alias Sexten (Chantry-priest of Cosyn's Chantry in 1490, Blomefield's Norfolk, vol. iv. p. 202), bryngyng in to the Church, etc., and of Sir William Bilham [h]is gifte" (in 1498, ibid. p. 214). The copes are 47 in number and include (f. 8 b) "a cope of grene cloithe of tissue, with an orpheras golde brodered werke of the life of Sent Thomas of Canterbury, and in the cape Sent Petir garnyshid with perylles [pearls] and of the gifte of Thomas Mayne"; and (f. 10 b) "a cope for the boy that is the bushope, paned yelow and blew." Among the plate is (f. 16 b) "a crose with the crucifixe, our lady and sent John, with iij euangelestes in amell [enamel], at euery vpper end one, and the xij appostellis in amell at the lower end, with vi wrethyng wormes betwene the appostelles, and the knope of the soket and the crose selfe is enameld in the myddes with blew amell, and whight roses boith be hynd and afore, with the recidne gilte; with a fote also to the same, grauen with iiij euangelestes and iij prophettes, with the gospelles and prophecez in vii quarters, and in the viii quarter sent Petir sittying in blew amell, hym selfe wight, and a man, woman and i child knellyng uppon grene amell afor hym . . . and this crose with the fote ponderith clxvi vnces."

Paper; ff. 33. Small Folio.

872. ANNALES OXONIENSES: brief notes of events relating to the town and university from 1066 to 1310. In the hand of E. R. Mores (see Nos. 782-784 above).

Paper; ff. 17. xviiith cent. Quarto.

873. "INDEX of eight MSS. of Mr. [Elias] Ashmole in the museum at Oxford." The MSS. are numbered 835 and 1097 Lib. II.-VII., that is, seven in all, and not eight as given in the title. The title of Ashm. 835 given in W. H. Black's Catalogue of the Ashmolean MSS., 1845, is "The Herald's Repository," etc., and this index is a subject index only. The volumes referred to above as Ashm. 1097, Lib. II.-VII., are in Black's Catalogue numbered 1098-1103, the volume there numbered 1097 being apparently the original Index of Names contained in the next six volumes, of which this part of present MS. is a copy. The MSS. form part of the thirty-nine volumes of Ashmole's Collections for a History of the Order of the Garter.

Paper; ff. 70. xviiith cent. Folio.

874. RECORD of the prices of wheat and barley in the market of Oxford, with the assize of bread and other ordinances regulating prices issued by the Vice-chancellors, with their original signatures and those of the Clerks of the Market, from 26 Sept. 1663 to 3 Mar. 1668[9].

Paper; ff. 163. Duodecimo.

875. EXTRACTS from assart-rolls, perambulations, etc., relating to the royal forests in co. Rutland, tempp. John—Hen. VIII.

Paper; ff. 20. A.D. 1662 (see f. 20). Inside the cover is the monogram of Thomas Martin of Palgrave (ob. 1771). Folio.

876. "LIBER CENSUALIS Gulielmi Primi pro Statfordscire"; or Domesday Book for Staffordshire, transcribed by Edward Vernon, D.D., in 1754 (cf. No. 816 above). At the end is an alphabetical list of the modern names of places.

Paper; ff. 26. Belonged, in 1764, to Thomas Astle. Folio.

877. "A SURVEY of Staffordshire," by Sampson Erdeswicke. The printed edition of 1723, interleaved, with numerous additions in the hand of Edward Vernon, D.D. (cf. No. 816 above). Between the introduction and the first page of the "Survey" (f. 13) is inserted a printed "Scheme or Proposal for making a Navigable Communication between the rivers of Trent and Severn," by Thomas Congreve, London, 1717.

Paper; ff. 352. Belonged to Thomas Astle (cf. Shaw's Staffordshire, vol. i., 1798, p. viii.). Quarto.

878. "THE PAROCHIAL ANTIQUITIES of Staffordshire"; written about 1745 (see f. 6) by Thomas Loxdale, Rector of Tixall. With an index and a few notes added by Edward Vernon, D.D. The work is noticed in Sir Thomas Clifford's Description of Tixall, Paris, 1817, p. 74; and a brief account of the author, together with some of his letters on antiquarian subjects, is in Shaw's Staffordshire, vol. ii. pp. vi.-ix.

Paper; ff. 50. Belonged to Thomas Astle, 1761. Quarto.

879. "LIBER NIGER de Nedewood": containing 15th cent. transcripts of the charters of the free tenants of Needwood Forest, co. Stafford, who claimed liberties and commons by exhibition of their charters before Roger le Brabbacoon, steward of the Honour of Tutbury, on St. Clement's Eve, 16 Edw. I. [22 Nov. 1288]. Followed (f. 36 b) by similar copies of various documents relating to the forest in later times, continued to 1652. With a brief introduction (f. 1), table of contents (f. 4), and index (f. 80), of the 18th cent.

Paper (with a few leaves of vellum); ff. 80. xvth-xviiith centt. Bound in boards covered with stamped leather, 17th cent., rebaked. Belonged to T. Astle, by whom some of the later transcripts were made (see ff. 37, 38). Daniel Astle, his father, was keeper of Needwood Forest (see Shaw's Staffordshire, vol. i. p. 67). Quarto.

880. MISCELLANEOUS COLLECTION of papers relating to Needwood Chase, co. Staff.; interspersed with which are sundry papers relating to other parts of the county. Among them are:—

1. Assessment of the county for a tenth and fifteenth; 29 Hen. VI. [1450-1]. f. 1.
2. Rental of Alrewas; Mich. 15 Edw. III. [1342]. f. 28;—and of Yoxall, Tutbury and Hoarcross; 14 Hen. VII. [1498-9]. ff. 46, 49 b, 58.
3. Taxation of the estates of the Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, and of several religious houses, within the archdeaconry of Stafford; late 15th cent. f. 39.
4. Notes concerning the family of Wells, and their property in co. Staff.; 15th-16th centt. ff. 54-70 b passim.
5. Assize of bread, ale, etc.; late 15th cent. ff. 65, 71.
6. Relation of proceedings of the Lord Protector and Council with regard to Needwood Chase, beginning 20 Oct. 1654; with the petition presented 5 Feb. 1654 (see Shaw's Staffordshire, vol. i. p. 62). By Zachary Babington (f. 78), Carborough, 19 Feb. 1654[5]. f. 74.
7. Orders and penalties made at a wood-mote, 1558, and by Sir Tho. Parry, Knt., Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, in 1610 and 1611. ff. 88, 94, 95 b.
8. Two copies of a charter of King Edward the Confessor (see Kemble, Chartes Anglo-Saxonice, vol. iv. p. 201, no. 842): copied "from the original in Westminster Abbey." f. 109.

A large portion of the volume is filled with notes of records in the Augmentation and Duchy of Lancaster offices, many of them in the handwriting of T. Astle, to whom the volume belonged.

Paper; ff. 114. xvth (artt. 1-5)-xviiith centt. Quarto.

881. ANTIQUARIAN COLLECTIONS relating to the borough of Ipswich, co. Suffolk, viz.:—(1) Extracts from royal charters from 1199 to 1518; 18th cent. f. 1;—(2) Original accompts of Edward Cage, Borough Treasurer, for the year ending Michaelmas, 1588. f. 5;—(3) Extracts from “a curious and large book called Domesday-Book (written on vellum) [and compiled, as the prologue shows, in 1520] belonging to the corporation of Ipswich”; followed by copies of various deeds relating to, and inscriptions found in, the town, with drawings of seals and arms, and by notes on the churches of Ipswich. In the hand of Thomas Martin of Palgrave. f. 11.

The volume also contained some original charters, now numbered separately as Stowe Charters 382-413.

Paper; ff. 89. xvth, xviiith centt. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Folio.

882. “REGISTRUM Magistri Johannis Blauncharde, Archidiaconi Wygornie, de cartis, literis et aliis evidenciis concernentibus manerium suum de Bereforde Sci. Martini juxta Wyltoun in comit. Wiltes.” Latin and French. Blauncharde, who was Archdeacon of Worcester 1371-1383, obtained the manor of Barford St. Martin by grant from William Chuseldene (f. 48) in 1373, and held it till his death on 2 Dec. 1383. The first part of the volume (ff. 4-47) contains transcripts of deeds from 1221 (see f. 39) to 1387; the first entered being a grant of the manor [in 1288] from Edmund, Earl of Cornwall, to William Cheynduyt. The second part (ff. 48-71) has a separate heading: “Hic incipiunt carte et munimenta Magistri Johannis Blauncharde,” etc., and contains only deeds relating to the tenure of the manor during Blauncharde’s lordship, with the exception of a few at the end, which concern the succession of his brother Thomas after his death. At the end (f. 72) is a fragment of a rental of “Honybryge,” co. Wilts, for 1400. This place was owned by John Blauncharde and his successors (Cal. Inquis. post Mortem, vol. iii. 1821, pp. 57, 92, 188). Following this (f. 73) is a leaf containing some deeds already included in the register (at f. 54). At f. 1 is inserted part of a letter from Richard Clarke, Registrar of Worcester, to his brother Thomas, Registrar of Hereford, dated Sept. 1774; and at f. 74 is a list of lords of the manor of Barford, 37 Hen. III.-16 Edw. IV., taken from the Escheat Book for Wilts, and enclosed in a letter from R[obert] Lemon, dated Tower, 30 Mar. 1790.

Vellum; ff. 76. Late xivth cent. Belonged to T. Astle, who has made notes in various places. Folio.

883. SURVEY of the manor of Aldborough, W. Riding, co. York, "by W. D. a<sup>o</sup> Dom. 1714." Preceded by an "Explanation," describing some of the antiquities of the place; and followed by two plans in pen-and-ink, one of the borough, the other of the manor, of Aldborough. On the latter, which is partly coloured, is written: "Surveyed An<sup>o</sup> Dom. 1708, by R. Smithson. April 14th, 1714. W. D."

Paper; ff. 17. Purchased (see f. 1) by T. Astle from Major Morgan at Lichfield, 9 Oct. 1767. Small Quarto.

884. "HISTORY of the Cathedral Church of St. Peter, in York"; written (see note at f. 1 b) at York in 1774 by Edward Abbot, painter, at the house of Thomas Beckwith, the painter and antiquary. The title-page and "advertisement" show that the work was intended for publication. Included also (f. 112) are several notes on the antiquities of York, in the same hand as the entry above referred to (presumably that of Beckwith), together with (ff. 151, 152) engravings of the tombs of two of Beckwith's ancestors, viz. that of Sir William de Bruce, at Pickering, and of Sir Walter Malebyse, at Acaster-Malbysse.

Paper; ff. 152. With book-plate of T. Beckwith, to whom the volume was presented by the author. Folio.

885. CANONS and constitutions for the ecclesiastical government of Jersey, as drawn up by David Bandinel, lately appointed Dean, and other ministers of the Island, and examined and amended by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishops of Lincoln and Winchester, under a Royal Commission; 1623. At the beginning is a copy of the ratification of King James I.

Paper; ff. 27. Quarto.

886-914. MEMOIRS on the provinces of France, drawn up by their several Intendants in accordance with instructions issued by Louis XIV. in 1697 (see below, Vol. I.). French. In 29 volumes. A full analysis is in Boulainvilliers' État de la France, London, 1727, Vols. I. and II. The series originally contained two more volumes, in which were memoirs on Alsace and Bretagne (see O'Connor's Bibl. MS. Stowensis, ii. p. 245). Another copy of the complete series is in Lansdowne MSS. 175-186, in a hand of the same period as that in which the present volumes are written, viz. the beginning of the XVIIIth cent. Paper. Quarto. The districts treated in the several volumes are as follows:—

886. Vol. I. (ff. 632). GENERALITÉ de Paris; by [Jean] Phélypeaux, Intendant. Preceded (ff. 2-36 b) by the "Mémoire pour Messieurs les maîtres des requestes commissaires departis dans les provinces," conveying the king's instructions. This "Mémoire," which is printed in extenso by Boulainvilliers at the beginning of vol. i., is a verbal reproduction of the "Mémoire rédigé pour les commissaires envoyés dans les provinces en 1664": see A. Chéruel, Histoire de l'Administration Monarchique en France, Paris, 1855, vol. ii. pp. 121, 455, and C. Dugast-Matifeux, État du Poitou sous Louis XIV., Fontenay-le-Comte, 1865, pp. ii., 123. Boulainvilliers has by mistake printed (p. 13, line 26) the beginning of the memoir on Paris as the conclusion of this letter of instructions.

887. Vol. II. (ff. 254). PROVINCES de Picardie (f. 2) et Artois (f. 133); by [Jérôme] Bignon, Intendant, 1698.

888. Vol. III. (ff. 61). GENERALITÉ de Soissons; by — Sanson, Intendant, 1698.

889. Vol. IV. (ff. 121). GENERALITÉ d'Orléans; [by Michel André Jubert de Bouville, Intendant].

890. Vol. V. (ff. 408). DUCHÉS de Lorraine et de Bar. f. 1;—Les Trois Evêchés de Metz, Toul et Verdun; by [Dominique Claude Barberie] de St. Contest, Intendant, 1698. f. 100. In Boulainvilliers (i. p. 150), the latter article is ascribed to [Jacques Etienne] Turgot, Intendant (at Metz, see Almanac ou Calendrier for 1699, p. 38; he was succeeded there by St. Contest in 1700, see Almanach Royal for 1701, p. 39).

891. Vol. VI. (ff. 185). PROVINCE de Champagne; by [Michel] Larcher and [Jean Baptiste] de Pommereu, Intendants, 1698. In Boulainvilliers (i. p. 190), the article is ascribed to Larcher alone; the latter was, in fact, Intendant in Champagne until 1700, when De Pommereu succeeded him, being transferred from Alençon (see Almanac, afterwards Almanach Royal, 1699–1701).

892. Vol. VII. (ff. 503). GENERALITÉ de Dijon, i.e. Duché de Bourgogne; by [Antoine François] Ferrand, Intendant, 1700.

893. Vol. VIII. (ff. 86). COMTÉ de Bourgogne, i.e. Province de Franche Comté; by [Claude] De Lafonds and — D'Harrouis, Intendants, 1698.

894. Vol. IX. (ff. 99). LA FLANDRE Flamingante; by MM. Desmadris and De Barentin, Intendants, 1698.

895. Vol. X. (ff. 111). LA FLANDRE Gallicane; by [Dugué] de Bagnols, Intendant, 1698.

896. Vol. XI. (ff. 75). PROVINCE de Haynault; by [Charles Etienne Maignard, Sieur] de Bernières, Intendant, 1698.

The three foregoing articles are treated by Boulainvilliers (i. pp. 337, 354, 375) as one, and the authors' names are not given.

897. Vol. XII. (ff. 42). GENERALITÉ de Rouen; [by — De La Bourdonnaye, Sieur de Cotyon, Intendant].
898. Vol. XIII. (ff. 360). GENERALITÉ de Caën; [by Nicolas Joseph Foucault, Intendant].
899. Vol. XIV. (ff. 129). GENERALITÉ d'Alençon (f. 1), and Province du Perche (f. 85); by [Jean Baptiste] De Pommereu, Intendant, 1698.
901. Vol. XVI. (ff. 112). GENERALITÉ de La Rochelle; by [Michel] Begon, Intendant, 1698.
902. Vol. XVII. (ff. 91). GENERALITÉ de Limoges; "par M. de la Bourdonnaye, Intendant, Année 1698." This ascription is clearly a blunder; for in Boulainvilliers, as in other MS. copies, the article is ascribed to De Bernages, who was Intendant at Limoges in 1698, while De La Bourdonnaye was at Rouen (see above, vol. xii., and Almanac ou Calendrier for 1699, pp. 37, 39).
903. Vol. XVIII. (ff. 210). GENERALITÉ de Tours, consisting of the three provinces of Touraine (f. 7), Anjou (f. 74), and Maine (f. 143); by [Thomas Hue, Marquis] de Miromenil, Intendant, 1698.
904. Vol. XIX. (ff. 66). GENERALITÉ de Bourges, i.e. Province de Berry; [by — Dey, Sieur de Séraucourt, Intendant at Bourges, or else by Nicolas Etienne Roujault, who succeeded him in 1700, on his transference to Rouen]. See Almanac ou Calendrier for 1699, p. 39; Almanach Royal for 1701, p. 41.

906. Vol. XXI. (ff. 140). PROVINCE d'Auvergne, i.e. Generalité de Riom; by [Antoine François de Paule Le Fèvre] d'Ormesson, Intendant, 1697 (finished in 1699).
907. Vol. XXII. (ff. 178). GENERALITÉ de Montauban; by [Antoine Gaspard François] Le Gendre [de Lormoy], Intendant, 1699.
908. Vol. XXIII. (ff. 104). PROVINCE de Roussillon, i.e. Generalité de Perpignan; by — Rousselot, Grand Vicaire de l'évêché d'Elne à Perpignan, 1707.

909. Vol. XXIV. (ff. 134). GENERALITÉ de Bordeaux; by M. de Bezons, Intendant, 1697.
910. Vol. XXV. (ff. 31). [GENERALITÉ de Pau, contenant les Provinces de Bearn et Basse Navarre; by [François] Guyet, Intendant, 1698.
911. Vol. XXVI. (ff. 223). GOUVERNEMENT de Lyon, contenant les trois Provinces de Lyonnais, Forest et Beaujolois; "par M. Trudaine, Intendant, Année 1698." According to Boulainvilliers (ii. p. 358) the author was [Henri François] Lambert d'Herbigny, who was Intendant at Lyon 1694-1702. Trudaine appears not to have become Intendant there until 1704 (see Dict. de la Noblesse, xi. p. 323, and Almanac ou Calendrier, succeeded by Almanach Royal, 1699-1705).

913. Vol. XXVIII. (ff. 455). LA PROVENÇE; by [Pierre Cardin] Le Bret, Intendant, 1701.
914. Vol. XXIX. (ff. 289). PROVINCE de Languedoc; by [Nicolas Lamoignon] de Basville, Intendant, 1698. The article, however, is dated at the end (f. 286), Montpellier, 31 Dec. 1697.
915. DESCRIPTIVE REMARKS, in French and English, on Amsterdam, Brussels, and other towns in the Low Countries. Preceded (f. 2) by the beginning of a journal, in the same hand, of a tour in the Netherlands, starting from London, in 1710. At f. 1 is an engraved map of Holland, by Pieter Schenk, 1705.
Paper; ff. 23. Circ. 1710. Quarto.
916. DESCRIPTION of Flanders, Brabant, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Germany; translated from the Voyages de Monsicur Payen, Paris, 1666, and again 1667. Followed (f. 43 b) by a description of Picardy, the Isle of France, and La Beauce, "being the particular observations of S. D., 1675."
Paper; ff. 91. Small Quarto.
917. "Promissio Serenissimi Principis Domini Laurentii Prioli, Indlyti Ducis Venetiarum": the statutes of Venice, with the undertaking of the Doge, Lorenz. Priuli, to observe the same; 14 June, 1556. Latin and Italian. On f. 54 b is written "Presbyter Joannes de Vitalibus scripsit hunc librum, M.D. LVIII." For a similar volume see Add. 15,816.
Vellum; ff. 54. With a note by P. Edwards, a former owner, on f. 1. Folio.

918. REPORT of the revenues of Malta and Gozo, with remarks on the trade, laws, etc., of those islands. The writer expresses (f. 12 b) his opinion that it would be advisable for the British Government to cede Minorca rather than Malta. This report must therefore have been written between 5 Sept. 1800 (when the British forces gained possession of Malta) and 27 Mar. 1802 (when Minorca was ceded at the Peace of Amiens).

Paper; ff. 13. Folio.

919. ACCOUNT of the churches of San Salvador [Saragossa Cathedral] and Nuestra señora del Pilar at Saragossa. In two hands, one of which, according to an entry at f. 2 b, is that of a Mr. Burch, the other that of Lady Parker Long [Martha, wife of Sir Philip Parker-Morley-Long, Bart., who d. 1741?].

Paper; ff. 7. XVIII cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Quarto.

920. "CORRECCION de la Historia de Mallorca": historical notes by Guillermo Terrassa correcting the histories of Majorca by Juan Bautista Benimelis (1595) and by Juan Demeto and Vicente Mut (1632-50), chiefly upon ecclesiastical matters; 1774. With an index. Spanish.

Paper; ff. 110. Folio.

921. "ABSTRACT of British West Indian trade and navigation," 1770-1805, by Sir William Young, Bart. On ff. 31 b-32 b are tables showing (a) the "comparative mortality of British troops of the line in each West Indian Island during 4 years of inactive war," viz. 1799-1802;—(b) "Returns of British troops in the West Indies from 1795 to 1803";—(c) "Comparative mortality in different months, in the West Indies, on average 3 years of inactive war, 1799, 1800, 1802." On ff. 33 b-37 b are five roughly coloured charts showing the various passages to and from the W. Indies. Autograph. The matter in the MS. was incorporated in Sir W. Young's West-India Common-Place Book, 1807.

Paper; ff. 37. Small Octavo.

922. "HISTORICAL, Statistical, and Descriptive Account of the Island of Tobago; to which is added an Essay on the commercial and political importance of the possession. By Sir William Young, Bart., Governor, 1809." Autograph. Finished (see f. 156) on 30 Dec. 1809, and presented by the author to the Marquis of Buckingham, 1 Jan. 1810 (see f. 3). It contains 36 water-colour drawings made by the author during his excursions for survey, 1807-9; and also (f. 1) a print of his portrait by J. Brown, 1788.

Paper; ff. 156. Folio.

923. "AN ALMANACK for the Island of Tobago," for 1810. *Printed.

With marginal and interleaved notes, and various statistics concerning the island, as well as four water-colour drawings, by Sir William Young, Bart., who was Governor from 1807 till his death in 1815. His crest and motto are at f. 1 b, with a note that "this the first Tobago Almanac and Calendar printed" was presented by him to the Marquis of Buckingham, 1 Jan. 1810.

Paper; ff. 47. Octavo.

CLASS XX.

MONASTIC CHARTULARIES, etc.

924. ABSTRACTS of chartularies of the following Religious Houses, etc., in Latin, made originally by Sir Edward Dering, 1st Bart., of Surrenden-Dering, co. Kent (ob. 1644), and afterwards re-written for him in their present form:—

- 1 Chartulary of Horton (al. Monk's Horton) Priory, co. Kent; from the register drawn up by Prior James Holbeck [temp. Hen. VI], which was then "in manu Georgij Rooke, Ar.," but which afterwards (see Tanner's Notitia, 1744, p. 215) became the property of William Somner of Canterbury. It is now No. 935 below. The present transcript was made in 1627 "per manum Henrici Hutton, Dunelmensis." f. 2.

A fragment of another chartulary of Horton, written in the 15th cent., is in Add. MS. 5516, ff. 1-8 (from which several charters have been printed in Archæologia Cantiana, vol. x., 1876, pp. 269-281).

2. Chartulary of Beigham [al. Bayham] Abbey, co. Sussex; from the original in the Cottonian Library (Otho A. ii., which was afterwards injured by the fire in 1731). f. 48. Another copy of this abstract is in Add. MS. 6037, ff. 75-121.
3. Chartulary of Christ Church, Canterbury; from a register "in ejusdem Ecclesie Thesauraria reservato." Transcribed in 1630 "calamo Oliveri Marshall, Cantabrigiensis." f. 88. Another copy is in Add. MS. 6037, ff. 1-74.
4. Chartulary of St. Augustine's Abbey, Canterbury; from the Cotton MS. Julius D. ii. Preceded (f. 185), as in ff. 1-21 of the original, by lists of English Kings, Archbishops of Canterbury, and Abbots of St. Augustine's, and brief annals; and (f. 189 b) by an abstract of the rule of St. Benedict (which occupies ff. 24-39 of the Cotton MS.). Transcribed in Sept. 1628. f. 192 b.
5. Chartulary of Knolton Manor, co. Kent, from a MS. "in manu Johannis Philpot, alias Somerset, ar." (sc. John Philipot, Somerset Herald 1624-1645). f. 245.

Besides the above, there are in the table of contents at f. 1 the titles of five more articles, for one of which see No. 927 below.

Paper; ff. 254. xvth cent. With the arms of Sir E. Dering on both covers. Folio.

925. "REGISTRUM Cartarum Prioratus de Bradenstoke in comitatu Wiltes," founded in 1142 by Walter de Evreux. The title is modern, and was probably added by T. Astle. The contents, which are preceded by a table and (f. 24 b) by a "Taxatio bonorum temporalium," are arranged under the following heads:—(1) "Munimenta ecclesiarum," being grants of churches and church property to the Priory. f. 26;—(2) Grants, etc., in Wilts (ff. 34 b, 157), Dorset (f. 111), Somerset (f. 119), Bristol (f. 122), Gloucester (f. 126), Berks (f. 144), Oxon (ff. 144 b, 182), Northampton (f. 150), York (f. 153 b), and Hertford (f. 155);—(3) "Fines." f. 168;—(4) "Confirmaciones Regum." f. 173 b;—(5) "Confirmaciones comitum." f. 180 b. Among the additions are copies of:—(a) Deeds relating to Savernake Forest, 15th cent. f. 188;—(b) Confirmation of grants to the Priory by Popes Lucius III. 1184, and Clement III. 1188 (of which there are also copies among the Munimenta Ecclesiarum, above). ff. 191 b, 192 b;—(c) Deed of surrender of the Priory, with list of pensions to the Prior and servants of the Priory, 18 Jan. 30 Henry VIII. [1539]. A copy made in 1766, and collated by T. Astle. f. 194. At the end of the table of contents, which is in a different hand to the rest of the MS., are the words "Orate pro anima fratris T. de M., qui hunc librum scripsit." Another Register of this Priory, in a late 14th cent. hand, is in Cotton MS. Vitellius A. xi.

Vellum; ff. 195. xivth-xvth centt. Folio.

926. "REGISTRUM Cartarum Prioratus de Brenkeburne [Brinkburn] in agro Northumbrie," founded by William de Bertram, Baron of Mitford, temp. Hen. I. The title is modern, and on f. 3 is a short account of the Priory, followed by a table of contents (continued at the end of the volume), also in a modern hand. The volume is divided into eight chapters; the number of charters in each chapter, with the names of the principal benefactors to the Priory, being as follows:—Ch. I. Thirty-five charters, of Roger Bertram, David de Strabolgi, Earl of Atholl, Ralph de Scaucebi, Nicholas de Aketon, and others, the last being dated 1347. The first leaf, which contained two charters and part of a third, is missing. The founder's charter, which was probably the first in the collection, has been supplied in a modern hand from Dugdale's Monasticon, vol. vi. p. 332, where the present manuscript is noticed. The second remaining leaf having been mutilated, the greater part of charter 5 is also missing. ff. 8-26;—Ch. II. Twenty-nine charters, of William Puffyn, Roger Bertram, Hugh Vigorns, John Vescy, Adam Maufetour, William Blumville, Godfrey Mauduit, and others. ff. 26-37 b;—Ch. III. Fifty-two charters, of William de Framlington, William Pigace, William de Latur, William Brien, John de Eslington, Robert de Felton, William Pyon, and others. ff. 37 b-54;—Ch. IV. Forty-two charters, of Roger de Merlay, John de Kesterne, the family of Tirwhit, and others. ff. 54-68 b;—Ch. V. Twenty-three charters, of Robert de Eslington, William de Vesey, Henry Comes [Northumbriæ] filius [David] Regis Scotiæ (ob. 1152), William de Gwarenne, Comes Northumbriæ [2nd son of Earl Henry, and, in 1165, King of Scotland], Bernard de Baillioll, Hugh de Ballioll, William and John de Vesey, and others. ff. 68 b-73 b;—Ch. VI. Sixty-six charters, of John de Plessiz, Symon de Plessiz, the family of Schotton, Walter de Bolum, Thomas de Fenwic, and others. Several leaves between ff. 78 and 79, containing charters 21-57, are missing. ff. 73 b-82 b;—Ch. VII. Twenty-two charters, of William de Felton, Hugh [de Puisac], Bishop of Durham and Earl of Northumberland (ob. 1195), Philip [de Poitou], Bishop of Durham (ob. 1208), and others. ff. 82 b-88;—Ch. VIII. Nine charters, of King John [1201], Henry III. [1253-1259], Henry II., Henry, Comes Northumbriæ (ob. 1152), Edward I. [1293], Edward III. [1334]. ff. 88 b-93. There are also added grants by (a) Pope Urban III. [1185-1187]. ff. 93 b, 95;—(b) King Richard II. [1386]. f. 96;—(c) Ralph, Baron of Greystock, [1387]. f. 96;—(d) Walter [Skirlaw], Bishop of Durham, [1391]. f. 96 b.

Vellum; ff. 106 (including 11 inserted leaves, part paper, ff. 1-7, 103-106). xivth-xvth centt. Stated on f. 3 b to have belonged in 1630 to Lord William Howard, of Naworth Castle, co. Cumberland. It subsequently came into the hands of Thomas Astle, who has added several marginal notes and whose arms are on the back. The modern covers are inlaid with stamped leather of the 15th cent., displaying four impressions of the same stamp, containing the words, "sancta maria mat[er]," with foliage, animals, etc. Octavo.

927. ABSTRACT, made in 1630, of a chartulary of Christ Church, Canterbury, preserved "in ejusdem ecclesie thesauraria." Latia. This is one of the articles mentioned in the table of contents of No. 924, above, but not contained in the volume itself. Imperfect, beg. with Charter 10 (A.D. 905), and some leaves being apparently missing after f. 3. The last charter entered is one of Henry IV. (no. 337).

Paper; ff. 12. Folio.

928. CHARTULARY of Croxton Abbey, co. Leicester, transcribed in 1755 from the original MS. at Belvoir Castle (Hist. MSS. Comm., 1st Report, 1870, App. p. 11). Latia. At the end (f. 79) is a copy of the Deed of Surrender of the abbey to the Crown, 8 Sept. 1538, made from the original in the Augmentation Office, and collated by Thomas Astle, 6 June, 1768. On ff. 2, 3 are engravings of the seals, etc., of the abbey, and of "A Croxton monk in his Common Dress," taken from Nichols's Leicestershire, 1795, vol. ii. p. 151; and on the cover at the end is a pen-and-ink drawing of a stone coffin with inscription of "Robert de Todnei le Fundeur," and the note, "I saw this stone, in the scite of the Chapel of the Priory of Belvoir, under the Castle in letters of lead in 1726. W<sup>m</sup> Stukeley."

Paper; ff. 84. Sm. Quarto.

929. CHARTULARY of West Dereham Abbey, co. Norfolk, founded in 1188 by Hugh Fitzwalter, Dean of York [Archbishop of Canterbury, 1193]. Latin. By far the greater part of the deeds refer to lands in Wiggenghale St. Mary Magdalene. The MS. is stated on f. 1 to contain "twoe hundered twenty seaven deedes taken oute of an antient booke some time pertayninge to the disolved monestarie of West Derham . . . the old booke and this being examned by Robert Derham, William Guybon, Esquires, and Thomas Baker, gent., and Symon Pyttes, yoman, whose names are subscribed to every written leafe of this booke." The original Register is not now known to exist. The above note was written by Thomas Guybon in 1622, and he adds that the cost of the transcript was 41s. 2d.

Vellum; ff. 53. Belonged to Thomas Martin of Palgrave (ob. 1771), to whom it was given by Robert Underwood, of King's Lynn, gent.; and subsequently, in 1777, to Thomas Astle. Folio.

930. REGISTER of the Cathedral-Priory of Durham, in Latin; composed apparently of several distinct portions bound up together. The contents, which include (art. 10) an early 14th cent. copy of the "Baldon Book," range in date from the 12th to the end of the 14th cent., but a few of the documents were entered in the 15th cent.

1. "Statuta dni. Ricardi . . . episcopi in sino[do?]" : sixty ordinances apparently of Richard de Marisco, Bishop of Durham 1217-1226, or Richard le Poor, Bishop of Durham 1228-1237, but with occasional references to York. In a 13th cent. hand. The above title, which is half obliterated, is in a different hand from that of the text, and somewhat later. The introduction begins, "Cum rex celestis glorie de natura," the title of the first statute being "De irregularibus qui indigent dispensacione apostolica." The series concludes, "Statuimus eciam quod in singulis ecclesiis in Ebor. diocesi ad nostram uisitationem spectantibus post suscepcionem litterarum nostrarum de uisitacone facienda omnes cause tunc temporis mote et non terminate nostre discussioni cum ad partes illas uenerimus reseruentur." The statutes mostly agree with the "Constitutiones" printed by Wilkins, Concilia, 1737, vol. i. p. 572, as those of Bishop Richard de Marisco, but they are less numerous and frequently shorter. f. 3.

On f. 8 is a contemporary note that on 17 Feb. 1280 [1] "Hospitatus fuit Dns. Petrus de Monteforti, miles"; and on the reverse (f. 8 b) has been added the hymn, with music, "Ave, stella matutina."

2. "Constitutiones synodales Domini N. Dun[elmensis] episcopi," beg. "Cum ars arcium sit regimen animarum." Written in double columns in a 13th cent. hand, but differing from that of art. 1. The title, as above, is added, and the words "N. Dun.," viz. Nicholas de Farnham, Bishop of Durham 1241-1249, are written over an erasure. With verbal differences, the constitutions are the same as those ascribed by Wilkins, vol. i. p. 704, to Bishop Walter de Kirkham, circ. 1255. f. 9.
3. Register of letters and other documents relating to Durham Priory, circ. 1245-1275. f. 15.
This and the next six articles are in various hands of the latter part of the 13th cent.
4. List of churches belonging to the Priory, with names of the donors, etc. f. 26 b.
5. "Submissio Prioris et conuentus super ordinacione ecclesie de Houeden [Howden, co. York] in prebendas"; 30 Apr. 1265. f. 27 b. With letters of Walter Giffard, Archbishop of York, and other deeds, etc., relating to the same church; 1265-1273. ff. 35, 65 b-68, 77-79.
6. Bulls, etc., of Innocent IV. concerning the Priory, sc. (a) "Ex parte tua"; Lateran, 27 Feb. 1254. See Potthast, Regesta, vol. ii. p. 1255, and Wilkins, p. 702, and cf. art. 19, below. ff. 28 b, 29, 58 b, 59; —(b) to the abbots of York and Selby, "Ex parte dilecti filii prioris monast. Dunelm"; same date. ff. 29, 58 b; —(c) "Editum a nobis," enclosing "Postquam regimini generalis" (see below, art. 16); Lateran, 3 Nov. 1253. f. 29 b.
7. "Excommunicacio dni. pape [Innocent IV.?] super perturbatores libertatum ecclesie sci. Cuthberti Dunelm."; [1254?]. f. 30 b.
8. "Declaracio Dni. pape [Gregory X.] de decima in subsidium terre sancte deputate (sic)"; Lyons, 5 Nov. 1274. Beg. "Cum pro negocio decime" (cf. Potthast, Regesta, vol. ii. p. 1688). f. 31.
9. "Littera [Walteri Giffard] episcopi eboracensis, missa visitatoribus suis in Diocesi sua"; Wilton, 8 Apr. 1275. Beg. "Salus et sanguis subditorum." With "articuli," or heads of subjects for enquiry. f. 34.
10. "Boldon Buke": a survey of the Palatinate of Durham, taken in 1183 by direction of Hugh Pudsey [or de Puisac], Bishop of Durham.

The original MS. is lost, but the present copy is one of four known to exist, of which two are at Durham and one in the Bodleian Library. Printed, for the Record Commission, ed. Sir H. Ellis, in the Appendix to Domesday Book, 1816, p. 563, and for the Surtees Society, ed. W. Greenwell, 1852; but neither editor used this MS., which is the earliest of the four, being in a hand of about 1320. It is contained in two quires (of 12 and 4 leaves respectively) inserted between matter written earlier. f. 36.

11. "Acta apud Seleby in capitulo generali," 1256, present the Abbots of Whitby and Selby, the Prior of York and the Sub-prior of Durham. f. 52. See below, art. 24. This art. and those following down to f. 76 b (except art. 22) are in hands of the 13th cent.
12. "Copia composicionis inter Hugonem Gobiun et nos [sc. Prioratum Dunelmensem] de terra in Spennyngmore"; 1279. f. 52 b.
13. Grants to the Priory by Walter [de Kirkham], Bishop of Durham; 1269 [? for 1259] and [1249-1258]. f. 53.
14. "Concilium Archiepiscoporum et Episcoporum Anglie, Anno dni. m<sup>o</sup>cc<sup>o</sup> Quinquagesimo Tertio, presente Rege Henrico," with the later title "Concordancia controversiarum inter Regem et clerum." f. 54.
15. "Littera Roberti Grossetest, Episcopi Lincolnensis, summo Pontifici (sic) directa contra provisiones apostolicas"; [1253]. Beg. "Noverit discrecio vestra" (see R. Grosseteste Epistolae, ed. Luard, 1861, p. 432). The title is in the margin, in a 14th cent. hand, the letter being really addressed to the papal commissioner. f. 54 b.
16. Bull of Innocent IV. on the collation to benefices; Lateran, 3 Nov. 1253. Beg. "Postquam regimini generalis." With covering letter to the Abbot, etc., of St. Albans. See Matthew Paris, Chron. Majora, ed. Luard, vol. vi. p. 260 and Potthast, Regesta, vol. ii. p. 1248. f. 55 b.
17. "Convencio facta inter R[adulfum] de Nevill et B[ertramum] Priorem Dunelmensem de bosco [de Aldwde] empto"; 1254. f. 57.
18. Memorandum of the "Subsidium petatum per Dominum Regem a clero"; 1254. f. 57 b.
19. Bull of Innocent IV. to abbots of the Order of St. Benedict "super statuta et reformationem monachorum ejusdem monachis a Gregorio IX. edita"; "Perusii, Kal. etc." [1252 or 3]. Beg. "Ex parte tua." This copy is addressed particularly to the Abbot of Bernay, dioc. Lisieux, the contents being identical with art. 6 (a), above. f. 58.
20. Bull of Alexander IV. relating to the "Terminus statutus a summo Pontifice consecrandi electos in Episcopatum"; Naples,

- [5 Apr. 1255]. Beg. "Cum ad Romanam ecclesiam." See Potthast, ob. cit., p. 1300. f. 59.
21. Rental of Durham Priory, apparently drawn up about 1255. f. 60.
22. "Decima bonorum spiritualium et temporalium Prioris et conventus Dunelmensium soluta Domino Regi Anglie, secundum novam taxam." On an inserted leaf (14th cent.) sewed on to f. 68. f. 69.
28. Various valuations and taxations of churches in Durham and Northumberland. f. 70.
24. "Hec sunt capitula que statuta sunt et recitata in omni capitulo generali inter Abbates de Eboraco, de Seleby et Witeby et priorem Dunelmensem"; circ. 1250-1260. f. 72 b. See above, art. 11.
25. "Compositio inter Priorem et conventum Dunelmensem et hospitale de Aluerton" [North Allerton, co. York]; [1233-1244]. f. 76 b.
26. "Ordinacio" by Walter [Giffard], Archbishop of York, as to the church of Eastrington, co. York; 13 Sept. 1269. f. 79 b;—and by William [Wickwane], Archbishop, as to the church of Skipwith, co. York; 29 Jan. 1279[80]. f. 80.
- This art. and the following down to f. 145 are in hands of the 14th cent.
27. Deeds relating to the fishery "del pole" in Northamshire; 1252, etc. f. 81 b.
28. "Placita apud Dunelmum coram Willelmo Berford et R[adulfo] de Heyham, justiciariis Domini Regis, ad veteres querelas et assisas hominum episcopatus Dunelmensis prius Domino Regi portatas et non determinatas audiendum et terminandum assignatis"; Easter term, 33 Edw. I [1305]. f. 83.
29. "Nota de Aqua de Tyne," with copies of other records relating to fishing and sailing rights on the R. Tyne, made in the middle of the 14th cent. ff. 116, 117.
30. Inquisitions and other records relating to various places in co. Durham, York and Northumberland in connection with Durham Priory, to circ. 1370. ff. 118-128.
31. Charters relating to Greatham Hospital, co. Durham (cf. G. Allen's Collectanea ad statum . . . .com. Dunelm., Darlington, 1774). f. 129.

41. Royal grants of privileges to the Burgesses of Newcastle-on-Tyne, some of which refer to fishing and other rights on the R. Tyne; tempp. Hen. II.—Edw. I. f. 161. In a 15th cent. hand.
Vellum; ff. 173. xiiith–xvth centt. Belonged to Thomas Astle, to whom it was given in 1783 by M[ichael] Lort, D.D. Quarto.
931. CHARTULARY of the College of SS. Mary, Thomas the Martyr, and Edward the Confessor, at Higham-Ferrers, co. Northampton; containing 15 charters, ranging from 1422 (in which year the college was founded by Archbishop Chichele) to 1437. Latin. Followed (f. 76 b) by an ordinance by John [Gynewell], Bishop of Lincoln, concerning the portion to be assigned to the Vicar of Higham-Ferrers by the Dean and Chapter of the collegiate church at Leicester, 15 Kal. Feb. 1357[8], and (f. 79) a grant from the latter body to the vicar, 3 July, 1429.
Vellum; ff. 83. With an illuminated initial (f. 1). xvth cent. Quarto.

932. EXTRACTS from the Register of the Abbey of St. Benet of Hulme, co. Norfolk. An entry on the margin of f. 2, signed "P[eter] Le Neve, Rougecroix," states that this is a transcript of part of Cotton MS. Galba E. ii. (to which references are given throughout), and that it was compared therewith 13 Feb. 1695[6].

Paper; ff. 42. xviii cent. On f. 1 are the signatures of Sir William Le Neve, Clarencieux King of Arms [1635-1661], and Thomas Astle. Folio.

933. RENTAL of Marham Abbey, co. Norfolk, made by a jury of fifteen, in Dec. 39 Edw. III. [1365]. Latin. At the end are inserted:—(a) Acquittance from John Alcumbury to Thomas Schuldire for 40 sh. paid on account of the Abbess and Convent. dat. London, 5 July, 24 Hen. VI. [1446]. f. 38;—(b) Fragment of a leaf containing particulars of some wills, 1416-1429, proved by the Abbess, who had power of probate within the jurisdiction of the House.

Vellum; ff. 40. Folio.

934. REGISTER of the College of St. Mary, Mettingham, co. Suffolk, containing:—(1) Surveys of the several manors belonging to the College, taken at various times from 1461 to 1508. f. 5;—(2) Royal charters from 1343 to 1489, followed (f. 169 b) by two bulls of Pope Boniface IX., and (f. 170 b) by two charters from Thomas [Percy] and Henry [Spencer], Bishops of Norwich. f. 153;—(3) Register of bequests for the celebration of obits. f. 174 b.

Paper (with a few leaves of vellum); ff. 193. xvth cent. A note inserted by T. Astle (f. 1 b) states that before coming into his possession the volume was owned successively by Peter Le Neve, T[homas] Martin [of Palgrave], and J. Ives of Great Yarmouth; and a letter (f. 193) from Ja. Harvey, of Cockfield, shows that it was purchased from him (presumably by Le Neve) in 1714. A table of contents has been prefixed by Astle; and Martin had added (f. 187) an index of places. For an earlier Register see No. 939 below, and for accounts of the College, 1402-1516, see Add. MSS. 33,985-33,990, which also formerly belonged to T. Martin. Folio.

935. CHARTULARY of Monk's Horton Priory, co. Kent, founded by Robert de Ver, temp. Hen. I. Latin. The rubric states that the contents were collected from the original evidences by James de Holbeoh, Prior, temp. Hen. VI. The last date recorded in the body of the MS. is 1440; but on f. 77 is a procuration dat. 9 May, 1445, naming William Wynchelse as Prior, and another on f. 77 b, dat. 6 May, 1477, naming Richard Keter as Prior. It is the MS. from a copy of which, taken by himself, Sir Edward Dering caused the abstracts in No. 924 above, ff. 2-47, to be made in 1627. The latter MS. fortunately supplies some of the charters which are now missing from the present volume. It already wanted several leaves when Sir E. Dering copied it, as may be seen by his notes on ff. 40 b, 42 b. These deficiencies, as well as others at ff. 59 b, 77 b, are witnessed by W. M., the initials, according to O'Connor, of W. Martin, but which are more likely to be those of one of the Mantle family, who obtained possession of the Priory in temp. Edw. VI. and again in temp. Eliz. A Walter Mantel has written his name, as owner, on the lower margin of f. 4 b. The only other leaf missing when Dering's copy was taken is that which preceded f. 6; but further mutilations have since been made before ff. 14, 16, 17, 18, 20, 29, 32, 33, 34, 35, 39, 40, 52, 54, 55, 56, 57, 59, 60, 61, 64 and 78. The earliest charters are those of the founder Robert de Ver, Constable of the King, and Adelna his wife. On f. 35 is a "Prohibitio versus Willelmum Veland," by King Henry the younger (ob. 1182) under the style "H. rex Anglie . . . Regis Henrici [II.] filius." At the end (f. 78) is a list, imperfect at the beginning and end, of "Beneficia ecclesiastica Prelatis vel Religiosis non app[ro]priata in Dioc. Cantuar. et in jurisdictionibus immediatis subjectis eidem una cum Taxatione Decime singulorum in Decanatibus" (for which title see No. 924 above, f. 37). There is a note in the margin of f. 38 in Sir E. Dering's hand.

Vellum; ff. 80. xvth cent. Belonged in 1627 to George Rooke (cf. No. 924 above, f. 2) and subsequently to William Somner (Tanner, Notitia, p. 215). Folio.

936. TERRARIUM Prioratus Norwici: a rental of Norwich Priory from lands in the following places in co. Norfolk, viz. Hindringham (f. 1), Hindolveston (f. 9), Newton (f. 15), Eaton St. Andrew (f. 22 b), Taverham (f. 27), Elmham (f. 30 b), Catton (f. 33), Plumstead (f. 36), and Martham (f. 37). Imperfect at the beginning. The Priors named are: Will. de Crukes, a° 5. f. 23;—W[illiam] de Kirkeby [1272-1288], a° 8. f. 28;—H[enry] de Lakenham [1289-1309], a° 4. f. 37 b. On f. 28 a note of a grant by Ingulph, first Prior of Norwich, dated 1119, has been added by a later hand.

Vellum; ff. 115. xivth cent. With the name, as owner, of Thomas Martin of Palgrave (ob. 1771), and a note of contents (f. 1) in the hand of Rev. Philip Morant (ob. 1778). Belonged also to Thomas Astle. Folio.

937. CHARTULARY of Pipewell Abbey, co. Northampton, compiled, and written by various hands, in the latter half of the 13th cent. Other chartularies of the same Abbey are in Cotton MSS. Otho B. xiv. and Calig. A. xii., xiii. The volume begins with quire vii., four leaves of quire vi. (ff. 69-72) being inserted in the middle of quire xxviii.; quires xi.-xv., xvii.-xxiv. are missing altogether (though without any apparent loss of matter), and quire xxvi. consists of two leaves only. After quire xxx. there is no further numeration. The charters refer to lands in the following places, viz.:—(a) co. Northampton: Braybrooke, ff. 8, 72 b, 73 b, 76, 125, 147, 148 b, 153; Cold Ashby, ff. 22, 77 b, 120 b; Eltington, ff. 27, 79 b, 119, 133; Winwick, ff. 35 b, 63; Northampton, ff. 56, 61, 154; Scaldwell, f. 57 b; Brixworth, ff. 60, 81 b; Benefield, f. 65; Desborough, ff. 68 b-72, 76, 125; Walgrave, f. 99; Broughton, ff. 101, 128; Holcote, f. 103; Thornby, ff. 122, 153 b; Ashley, f. 124 b; Carlton, f. 126; Rushton, f. 126 b; Catesby, f. 138;—(b) co. Warwick: Rugby, ff. 38, 134; Lawford, ff. 38 b, 129; Dunchurch, ff. 85, 130 b; Thurlaston, ff. 114 b, 118, 118 b; Cawston, f. 130; Bilton, f. 131 b;—(c) co. Bedford: Wroxtton, ff. 91, 95, 96-98; Barford, ff. 91 b-94, 96; Stagsden, ff. 94, 94 b;—(d) co. Lincoln: Whaplode, f. 46; Stamford, ff. 103 b, 151;—(e) co. Leicester: Kilworth, f. 106; Cotes, ff. 112, 113;—(f) co. Rutland: Uppingham, f. 122 b. Amongst the miscellaneous entries are the following:—

1. Note of the foundation of the Abbey. f. 66 b.
2. "Littera [Oliveri Sutton] episcopi [Lincoln.] pro clericis incarceratis liberandis"; 7 May, 1298. f. 82 b.
3. "Taxatio bonorum nostrorum temporalium in com. Warwik." f. 87 b.
4. "Carte de terris pertinentibus ad hospicium." f. 114.
5. Charters of Henry III. relating to the observance of Magna Charta and Charta de foresta; 1253. f. 135. Followed by "Consuetudines et assise que debent observari in foresta Domini Regis," and "Placita corone et articuli inquirendi"; 1253-1255. ff. 139 b, 140 b.
6. Short description of England, as far as regards the sees and shires. f. 144.
7. "De forma tradendi terras ad feodi firmam." f. 145.
8. "Confirmacio societatis et pacis inter domos ad Cisterciencie capitulum pertinentes et eas que pertinent ad ordinem uel capitulum de Sempinghan" [Sempringham]; 1164. f. 145 b.
9. Grant by Richard I. to Earl David, brother of the King of Scotland, of the Honour of Huntingdon, 24 June, a<sup>o</sup> 1 [1190]. f. 152 b.
10. "Hic notantur contra quos et de quibus habemus cyrographa regis." f. 154 b.

At the end (f. 157) is inserted a certified copy, made in 1787, of the surrender of the Abbey, 5 Nov. 30 Hen. VIII. (1538).

Vellum; ff. 157. XIIIth cent., with a few additions of the XIVth. With the name "Joseph Spence, 1677," on the outside of the lower cover; and "Bibl. T. Astlei, arm." and "Chandos Buckingham, July 18, 1813" [sc. Richard, 1st Duke of Buckingham and Chandos] on the inside of the upper cover. In binding (18th cent.) of dark red morocco, richly tooled; rebacked, and with the arms of Tho. Astle inserted in the centre. Octavo.

938. 1. "HISTORIA Monasterii Ramesensis": a 17th century copy of the MS. of the Chronicle of Ramsey Abbey now in the Bodleian Library [Rawl. MS. B. 333], and formerly in the possession of Sir Henry Spelman (cf. Macray's edition, Rolls Series, 1886, pp. ix.-xii.). Described by Macray, op. cit. p. xiv. The first three parts are complete; then follow the charter of William I. in 1077 (cf. Macray, pp. 200-204), the charter of Henry VI. in 1442 (ib. p. 324 note), and the Narratio de Abbate Gualtero (ib. pp. 325-336). f. 3. The whole is preceded by two extracts from the chronicles, and a bull of Gregory V. [997], concerning Peter's Pence; and at the end (f. 76) are notes on the coming of the Carmelites to England in 1240, their establishment at Aylesford, co. Kent, in 1246, and the dedication of churches there in 1248 and 1417.
2. Dialogus de Scaccario [by Richard Fitz-Nigel, Bishop of London 1189-1198], "authore Gervasio Tilburiense (ut creditur)." f. 77. From a comparison of passages it appears certain that this is a copy of the MS. belonging to Sir Henry Spelman from which No. 312 above is taken (cf. especially the numbering of the chapters in the table to book ii.). At the end (f. 127) is the same table of times allowed for the issue of summonitions to the various counties.

Vellum; ff. 127. The whole in one hand, of the xviiith century, very clearly written. Blank spaces are left where the scribe of this MS. or (more probably) of those from which it was copied was unable to read the original. Folio.

939. "MONUMENTA tangencia ecclesiam de Ravenyngham," being a chartulary of the College of Raveningham, co. Norfolk, founded in 1343 by John de Norwico, removed to Norton Subcourse in 1371, and finally transferred to Mettingham, co. Suffolk, in 1382. Some of the earlier charters of the volume relate to Raveningham church prior to the foundation of the College, and to Norton church before the removal of the College there. On ff. 14-21 are seven charters of Edward III., four of Richard II., and one of Qu. Anne wife of the latter, all relating to the endowment or the several removals of the College. At the end (ff. 23, 24 b) are two Bulls of Pope Boniface IX., dated 1395, 1398. For a fuller, though later, Register, see above, No. 934.

Vellum; ff. 25. xvth cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle in 1777. Folio.

940. EXTRACTS from the Textus Roffensis, containing many articles not printed in Hearne's edition; copied in imitation of the ancient writing by James Smith (described at f. 21 as "puer decennis"), and collated with the original by William and Elizabeth Elstob in 1712. At f. 2 is a list by Dr. Samuel Pegge of the articles included in this volume and not in Hearne.

Paper; ff. 136. Dr. S. Pegge mentions this transcript in his "Historical Account of the Textus Roffensis" (no. xxv. of Bibliotheca Topographica Britannica, 1784, pp. 10, 11), and states that on W. Elstob's death (1715) it came into the hands of his uncle, Dr. Charles Elstob, Prebendary of Canterbury, that on the latter's death (1721) it was bought by Joseph Ames, and that he (Pegge) bought it at Ames's auction in 1760. In a note on f. 1 Thomas Astle states that he bought it in 1798 at the sale of the MSS. of Michael Bray, who had it from Matthew Duane. Folio.

941. "REGISTRUM cartarum Sacristarie sancti Neoti factum ad festum Annunciacionis Sancte Marie Anno incarnationis domini m<sup>o</sup> cc<sup>o</sup> octogesimo sexto, tempore fratris Willelmi le Caron de Becco tunc Sacriste." The charters are ninety-nine in number, and refer exclusively to the Sacristary of the Priory of St. Neots, co. Huntingdon. After the grants of the principal benefactors (ff. 4-17), the deeds are arranged under the places to which they refer, a list of them being given on f. 3 b. At the end (f. 55) are "Nomina eorum qui debent redditus Sacristarie Sancti Neoti . . . in villa Sancti Neoti." For an abstract of the contents, with copies of some of the charters, see G. C. Gorham, Eynesbury and St. Neots, 1824, vol. ii. p. 311, and supplement, p. lviii.; and cf. Dugdale, Monasticon, ed. 1821, vol. iii. p. 468, note a.

Vellum; ff. 59. Bound in boards covered with crimson velvet, having in the centre a small enamelled medallion of the arms and motto of Thomas Astle. Octavo.

942. CHARTULARY of the Hospital of St. Thomas the Martyr in Southwark. Latin and English. The deeds are entered, not chronologically, but according to the parishes in which the lands concerned are situated, and include conveyances of the several estates between private persons, before they came into the possession of the Hospital. Imperfect, wanting the first leaf, and a few others in various parts of the volume. The principal headings are:—"De fundacione." f. 1;—"Bulle"; all scored through with the pen. f. 5 b;—St. Margaret, Southwark. f. 7 b;—St. Mary Magdalene, Southwark. f. 62;—St. Olave, Southwark. f. 71;—St. Mary Magdalene, Bermondsey. ff. 80, 120;—St. George, Southwark. f. 83;—St. Margaret "Patyns." f. 109;—St. Dunstan near the Tower and

All Saints "de Berkyngechirch." f. 121;—All Saints "Stann chirch." f. 127 b;—St. Olave in Mark lane. ff. 129;—St. Katherine Colman. f. 133;—St. Botolph without Aldgate. f. 133 b;—St. Botolph without Bishopgate. f. 134;—St. Michael, Cornhill. f. 134 b;—St. Nicholas Acon. f. 136;—St. Benedict "Graschurch." f. 136 b;—St. Michael Wood street. f. 138;—St. Faith. f. 139 b;—St. Michael "in le Querne." f. 141;—St. Nicholas "ad Macellas" [Shambles]. f. 141 b;—St. Sepulchre. f. 144 b;—St. Margaret, Westminster. f. 146;—"Knyghtryderstrete London." f. 146 b;—St. Nicholas Coldabbey. ff. 153, 168;—St. Michael Queenhithe. f. 154 b;—St. Swithin "in Candelwykstrete." f. 156 b;—St. Laurence Pounteney. f. 157;—St. Michael "in Croked lane." f. 157 b;—St. Margaret "in Briggestrete." f. 158 b;—St. Leonard "in Estchepe." f. 159;—St. Magnus. f. 159 b;—St. Martin "Barmannechirch." f. 160 b;—St. Martin "Orgar." f. 162;—"Patentes Regum." f. 163;—Quit-rents in London. f. 166;—Fires. f. 172;—"Patria parochia de Lamehith" [Lambeth]. f. 175;—St. Mary Newington. f. 203;—Camberwell. f. 222;—Deptford and West Greenwich. f. 225;—"Olyff in marisco de Redeham in com. Kancie." f. 259;—"Penge in par. de Batryssey." f. 260;—"Katerham [Caterham] et Chaldon," co. Surrey. f. 261;—"Wymbildon prope Merton in com. Surr." f. 276;—"Westwykeham et Merlawe in com. Buk." f. 291;—Walworth. f. 311. At f. 310 are some notes concerning the appointment of priors, from 1277 to 1477.

Paper; ff. 321. xvth cent. (probably soon after 1525, which is the latest date given, at f. 316 b). Belonged to Tho. Astle. Folio.

943. "REGISTRUM cartarum Prioratus de Stone in comitatu Staffordiæ": a transcript, made in 1734 by David Casley, librarian of the Cotton Library, from Cotton MS. Vespasian E. xxiv., formerly belonging to Christopher, Lord Hatton (see Dugdale, Monasticon, vi. 1830, p. 226). Cotton Ch. xiii. 6 contains copies of twenty-two charters belonging to this Priory, written in a 12th cent. hand.

Paper; ff. 79. Folio.

944. LIBER VITÆ: the Register and Martyrology of Newminster and Hyde Abbey, Winchester, written about 1016–1020. Latin and Anglo-Saxon. The original MS. begins at f. 6, the preceding leaves containing "A short Account of Hyde-Abbey, with a Table of the contents of this Book," not wholly accurate, signed by Thomas Astle, 25 Mar. 1771. On ff. 6, 6 b, 7 are drawings executed in ink, with occasional colour, by an Anglo-Saxon artist, viz.—(1) King Cnut and his Queen, Ælfgifu, presenting a cross upon the altar of Newminster, the Saviour, within a vesica, being represented above between the eponymic Saints of the Abbey, St. Mary the Virgin and St. Peter. f. 6;—(2) Angels conducting the spirits of benefactors to the Heavenly Jerusalem (f. 7), the portal of which is opened by St. Peter for their reception. Both this design and the next extend across the two pages. ff. 6 b, 7;—(3) Two saints looking on a contest between St. Peter and Satan for a soul at the Last Judgment, the books being opened, and on the right an evil spirit leading away a man and woman. ff. 6 b, 7;—(4) The jaws of Hell, with Satan thrusting down the man and woman, while the gate is being locked by the Archangel Michael. f. 7. To the left of the two saints in the third design is written “Ælgarus,” perhaps Ælfgar or Æthelgar, Abbot of Newminster, 965, and afterwards Bishop of Selsey (980) and Archbishop of Canterbury (988). Two later entries have been added on f. 7 b, in Latin, viz.:—(1) An appointment by John [probably John de Suthill, 1181–1222], Abbot of Hyde, that a sum of five shillings shall be distributed among the poor at the burial of any of the brethren of the Abbey; and (2) historical memoranda (15th cent.) concerning the burning of the offices of Newminster on St. George’s Day [23 Apr.], 1066, the building of William the Conqueror’s palace, a° 4 [1070], the conflagration of the city of Winchester, 2 Aug. 1140, and the resettlement of the parish of St. Laurence, 12 Nov. 1150.

1. “Incipit prefatio constructionis Unintoniensis Monasterii, quod Novum nuncupatur,” etc.: an historical account of the building of the Abbey from its intended establishment by Alfred the Great to its consecration by Dunstan, Archbishop of Canterbury, on the Nones of July [circ. 980–987], pointing out the propriety of commemorating its benefactors. Latin. f. 8.
2. Preface to the list of brethren, monks and benefactors whose names are contained in this book that they may be read during services. Latin. f. 13.
3. “Nomina regum occidentalium Saxonum,” from Cynegils to Æthelred II. [1016]; continued in various hands to Henry V. f. 14.
4. “Nomina filiorum regum”: a list of ten names of Anglo-Saxon princes. f. 14 b.
5. “Nomina Archiepiscoporum Doruernensium”: a list of twenty-nine Archbishops of Canterbury, from Augustine to Æthelnoth, appointed 13 Nov. 1020. f. 14 b.
6. “Nomina episcoporum orientalium Saxonum”: a list of twenty-four Bishops of London, from Mellitus to Ælfstan [961–995]. This and the three following lists differ from those in Cotton MS. Tiberius B. v., f. 21, and Stubbs, Registrum Sacrum, p. 159. f. 15.

7. "Nomina episcoporum Hrofensis ecclesiæ": a list of fifteen Bishops of Rochester, from Paulinus to Godwine [995]. See art. 6. f. 15 b.
8. "Nomina episcoporum occidentalium Saxonum": a list of thirty-five Bishops of Winchester, from Byrinus to Ælfsige [1014-1033], in the original hand, continued at various times to Henricus Blænc[is, 1129]. See art. 6. f. 15 b.
9. "Nomina episcoporum australium Saxonum": a list of seventeen Bishops of Selsey, from Wilfrid to Æthelgar [980-987]. See art. 6. f. 16.
10. "Nomina episcoporum Scirburnensis ecclesiæ": a list of twenty-one Bishops of Sherborne, co. Dorset, from Aldhelm to Ælfræd [1017-1022], which agrees with the series in Tib. B. v., f. 21 b, but not with that in the Reg. Sacrum, p. 165. f. 16 b.
11. "Nomina episcoporum Wiltuniensis ecclesiæ": a list of eight bishops of Ramsbury, co. Wilts, from Æthelstan to Byrhtwold [1005-1045], not agreeing with the Reg. Sacrum. f. 16 b.
12. "Nomina episcoporum Cridiensis ecclesiæ": a list of seven bishops of Crediton, co. Devon, from Eadulf to Eadnoth [1012-1019]. f. 16 b.
13. "Nomina episcoporum Wyllunnensis ecclesiæ": a list of six bishops of Wells, co. Somerset, from Siga to Byrhtwig [1018]. The list of bishops of Wells given in the Reg. Sacrum differs wholly from this, and is apparently derived from the "Nomina Uvilnensis æcclesiæ" in Cotton MS. Tiberius B. v., f. 21 b. f. 17.
14. "Nomina ducum": a list of fifteen Anglo-Saxon "duces," ending with Godwine (ob. 1053). f. 17.
15. "Nomina benefactorum defunctorum": a list of seventeen Anglo-Saxon thegns, etc. f. 17.
16. "Nomina fratrum ueteris cœnobii Uuentane ecclesiæ sub protectione domni sancti Petri apostoli Deo inibi seruiuntium": a list of twelve bishops of various dioceses, brethren of the Old-Minster or St. Peters. Among them are Atheluold, Bishop of Winchester, whose deposition was commemorated on 1 Aug. (ob. 984); and Ælfheah his successor, consecrated xiv. kal. Nov. [19 Oct. 984] and enthroned v. kal. Nov. [28 Oct.] and still living at the time of the entry (ob. 19 Apr. 1012). f. 17 b.
17. "Isti quoque specialiter se deuouerunt": a list of religious and secular devotees of the abbey, in continuation of art. 16, numbered consecutively from 13 to 100, then again 1 to 92 and the remainder added without numeration in various later hands in the 11th and 12th centuries. The list begins with Uomarus, Abbot of Ghent, who died, according to the Anglo-Saxon chronicle, in 981, and includes a bishop, dean, archdeacon, precentor, "uestiarius," other abbots, a cellarer, monks, a nun, priests, "leuitæ," or deacons, and "pueri," as well as goldsmiths, and persons designated as "nannæ," "claudus," "carpus," "albus," "niger," "senex," "decrepitus," "Jud[æus]," etc. f. 18.

18. "Nomina fratrum Noui Cœnobii Wintoniensis ecclesiæ. Saluatoris cosmi honore sacratæ": a long list of persons admitted to the brotherhood of Newminster, and afterwards of Hyde, outside the city walls, from the foundation to the suppression, arranged in groups under the heading of the respective abbots by whom they were received. ff. 20 b-23, 62-64.

In the early parts of the list the names are written in columns with the rank or condition of each person in an opposite column, and numbered from i to lxxvi. These include the period between Æthelgar, 1st abbot [965], and the accession of Ælfwine, 6th abbot [1035]. The numeration begins again from i. to ccxi., after which the principle of numbering is abandoned, and eventually the list becomes irregular and carelessly written. After f. 23 it is continued at the end of the volume.

19. "De monacho iter acturo": a rule for the maintenance of a monk on a journey; 12th cent. f. 24.
20. "De seruientibus": a rule respecting the charge upon Candevera, perhaps Preston-Candover, near Andover, co. Hants, for support of the "seruientes" of the abbey; 12th cent. f. 24.
21. "Benedictio": a rule respecting the form of blessing to be used according to the custom on all occasions; 12th cent. f. 24.
22. "[H]ec est conuentio inter nos et monachos Sancti Albani": terms of the spiritual confraternity between Newminster and St. Alban's Abbey; 12th cent. f. 24.
23. A list of royal and distinguished persons, written by various hands during the 12th and 13th centuries. It begins with Henry I., his queen Mathildis (ob. 1118), and their son William, who was drowned in 1119. Latin. f. 24 b.
24. "Nomina familiariorum uel benefactorum qui se nostris commendauerunt orationibus." This list of benefactors begins with kings Æthelred and Cnut, and contains a number of "duces," "ministri," Danes, and others. It is numbered from i. to lxxxv. in the original hand, then continued to ciiii. in somewhat later hands, and a few are added at the close without numeration. f. 25.
25. "Nomina feminarum illustrium hunc sanctum locum pro Dei amore diligentium, vel quæ se precibus huius familiæ elemosinarum largitione commendauerunt": a list of queens, abbesses, and other royal, noble, or illustrious ladies, beginning with Ealhswyth, wife of King Alfred, and containing, among others, the name of Santslæue, sister of King Cnut, who is not found in the usual pedigrees

- of that king. The marginal note "h'" (for "hic"), placed against her name at a later period, seems to show that her remains were deposited in Newminster. f. 26.
26. "Nomina fratrum Abbandonensis cœnobii": a list of forty-one brethren of Abingdon Abbey, beginning with Abbot Osgar [963-984], and consisting of five abbots, one monk, and a number of "sacerdotes" and "leuitæ." f. 26 b.
27. "Nomina fratrum Elgensis cœnobii": a list of twenty-seven brethren of Ely Abbey, beginning with Abbot Beorhtnoth [970-981], and composed of three abbots, six monks, and a number of priests and deacons. f. 27.
28. "Nomina sororum Hrumensis cœnobii": a numbered list of fifty-four sisters of Romsey Abbey, including two abbesses. f. 27 b.
29. "Nomina fratrum laicorum": a long list of lay-brethren (both men and women), arranged at first in columns and numbered from i. to xviii., afterwards not numbered or regularly entered, but written in various hands of different periods down to the suppression of the abbey. The list is continued on two subsequent pages (ff. 54 b, 55); and on four leaves added at the end of the book. ff. 28, 29, 54 b, 55, 65-68. On f. 55 is an entry that Richard "Palmarius" gave a silver box (cassula) for relics, in return for which his name was to be entered in the martyrology and his anniversary commemorated.
30. The will of King Ælfred; with preface, which begins, "Ic Ælfred cinge mid godes gife," and ends, "sƿa ic hit sýlf ge cƿeðe æt pam nyhstan dæge." The will begins, "Ic Ælfred fœst seaxena cingo," and ends, "sƿa ge me for gýfan fýllan." Printed in The will of King Alfred, ed. O. Manning, Oxon., 1788; Kemble, Codex Diplomaticus, no. ccciv.; Thorpe, Diplomatarium, p. 484; Edwards, Liber de Hyda (Rolls series), p. 52; Birch, Cartularium Saxonicum, no. 553; and (with a facsimile) in the Ordnance Survey Facsimiles of Anglo-Saxon MSS., part iii. f. 29 b.
31. "Prima ætas mundi": the six ages of the world, to which are added sundry notes relating to the life and duration of the ministry of Christ, and the age of the Virgin, arranged in twelve paragraphs lettered from A to M. The passage in the sixth paragraph (F) has been partly erased, and the year current when the original writing was put down has been altered to 1031. Latin, with Anglo-Saxon paraphrases. f. 33.
32. "Her Cýð ýmbe þa halgan þe on Angel cýnne restað": a treatise on the family of the Kentish kings from the baptism of Æthelbyrht by Augustine, their holy character and works. See Hickes, Dissertatio Epistolaris, p. 115, for another edition, different at the end. f. 34 b.

33. "Her ongyñð secgean be þam Godes a[an]c[tu]m þe on engla lande ærest reston": a treatise, in continuation of the preceding, showing the places, with their adjacent waters, in England, and one place in Ireland, where the Saints' remains are deposited. f. 36 b.
34. "Nomina Regum": a chronological list of Kings of Wessex, with duration of their reigns, from Ine to Cnut, during whose reign it was compiled. Anglo-Saxon. f. 39.
35. Letter of Eadwine, monk and choir-master (cilda mæstere) of Newminster, to Ælfsige, Bishop of Winchester, relating his vision of St. Cuthbert, of Durham, his subsequent clandestine visit to the remains of the saint, and his proceedings after his return to Winchester; with a second paragraph, relating his knowledge of the circumstances on the occasion of the inauguration of a spiritual agreement between the Old Minster and Newminster, circ. [1056-7]. Beg.:—"Ic Eadwine munuk cilda mæstere an Nīpan mýnstre"; ends: "ane into ealde mýnstre 7 oðre into nīpan mýnstre." Printed in Thorpe's Diplomatarium, p. 321, from the Codex Winton (Add. MS. 15,350, f. 114 b). f. 40.
36. Contemporary copy of a grant by William I. (cf. f. 7 b) to Rýuallonus, Abbot of Newminster, of the churches of Autuna [Alton], co. Southton, and five hides of land, and Clara [Clere-regis], co. Southton, and four hides and one virgate of land in exchange for the site of the abbey cemetery, on which he designed building a palace; [1070]. Beg.: "Ego W. Dei omnipotentis gratia operante Anglorum rex"; ends, "signum istud ego ipse manu mea pono." On the margin at the foot of the page is a rudely made cross, possibly the King's signature. f. 41.
37. Portion of an Evangeliary, or Collection of fourteen Lessons from the Gospels of SS. Matthew, Luke and John for Sundays and Festivals, derived from a text not wholly agreeing with the Vulgate, and often having readings supported by the Codex Amiatinus. The period covered is from Christmas to Palm-Sunday, to the Gospel for which latter day are prefixed certain directions. The last leaf of this series is wrongly bound at the beginning (f. 41), and on a space originally left blank between the Gospel for the Sixth Sunday in Lent and Palm Sunday the above charter of William I. (art. 36) has been written. Latin. f. 42.
38. The "Benedictio Cerei," or "Exultet," belonging to the Service for Holy Saturday or Easter Even; imperfect at the beginning, and altered at the concluding sentences. Cf. the Missale Romanum, Ang. Taur., 1874, p. 125, and an account by E. M. Thompson of Add. MS. 30,337, in Journ. Brit. Arch. Assoc., xxxiv., pp. 262, 321. The musical pneumas or breathings which are placed over the letters are of unusual character, combining the customary forms with letters of the alphabet, as for example m, mediocriter moderari; s, sursum scandere, etc. Beg.: "O beata nox quæ sola meruit"; ends, "cum sancto Spiritu in gloria Dei patris. Amen." f. 50.

39. A series of Blessings, several of which are found in early service books, viz.:—(a) "Benedictio lactis et mellis." f. 50 b;—(b) "Benedictio casei, oui, omniumque pulmentorum." f. 50 b;—(c) "Benedictio dicati Agni." f. 51;—(d) "Benedictio diuersarum carniū." f. 51;—(e) "Item, Benedictio super carnes ouium." f. 51 b;—(f) "Alia." f. 51 b;—(g) "Benedictio herbarum." f. 52;—(h) "Alia." f. 52 b;—(i) "Præfatio Vuæ," i.e. "uvæ." f. 52 b;—(k) "Benedictio Vuæ," i.e. "uvæ." f. 52 b;—(l) "Benedictio ad omnia quæ volueris." f. 53;—(m) "Benedictio pomorum." f. 53;—(n) "Alia." f. 53;—(o) "Benedictio panis noui." f. 53 b;—(p) "Alia." f. 53 b;—(q) "Item alia." f. 53 b;—(r) "Benedictio ad omnia quæ uolueris"; imperfect. f. 53 b;—(s) ["Alia."] Imperfect at the beginning, one or more leaves being lost. f. 54.
40. List of relics of Biblical personages and Saints; 12th cent. Included are relics headed "Iste reliquiæ sunt in magna cruce," viz., in the famous cross given by King Cnut to the Abbey. Latin. f. 55 b.
41. "Incipiunt nomina sanctorum qui regnant feliciter in regno caelorum": a list of Old Testament personages, patriarchs, saints, prophets, popes, apostles, and others, beginning with Adam, Abel, and Melchisedech, and ending imperfectly with Donatus, Agapitus (perhaps Agapetus II, Pope, 946–956, or Agapetus, the deacon, of Constantinople), and Magnus (perhaps Magnus the Good, King of Norway 1036–1047, but there are several saints of this name). f. 56.
42. Concluding lines of a charter of King Eadweard the Elder to Denewulf, Bishop of Winchester, granting land in the city; circa 904. Anglo-Saxon, with Latin subscriptions. A full text is given in the Winton Codex, Add. MS. 15,350, printed in Kemble, Cod. Dipl., no. mlxxxvii.; Thorpe, Diplomatarium, p. 156; Birch, Cartularium Saxonicum, no. 605. f. 57.
43. "He reliquiæ sunt in gestatorio ligni domini": a list of relics, including "De virga Moysi," "De presepio domini," and "De vestimento quod fecit Sancta Maria," deposited in a shrine containing a portion of the Wood of the True Cross. An insertion of the 12th cent. f. 57 b.
44. "Þýs is se halidóm þe his gelogod innan þam haligan scrine þe man nemnað Iohannis et Pauli": a list of miscellaneous relics lodged within a shrine called that of St. John [Baptist] and St. Paul, relics of these saints being included. f. 58.

45. "Þis is se halidóm ðe is on ðam greccyscan scrine ðe seo hlæfdige geaf into nyfan mýnstre": a further list of relics deposited in a shrine of Byzantine workmanship. The lady referred to in the title is Queen Ælfgifu Emma, widow of King Cnut, and the head of St. Valentine, which was given by her to the Abbey in 1041 (Angl. Sax. Chron. ad an.), occurs at the close of the list. f. 58.
46. "Þis is sé halidom ðe is on þam scrine ðe Alfold cýricweard beforhte": another list of relics, containing "eal sé halidom ðe fæs on Æpestanes kýningces gimme," viz., all the relics comprised with King Æthelstan's gems, and preserved in a shrine made by Alwold the churchwarden. f. 58 b.
47. Grant by Riuallo, Abbot of St. Peter's, Newminster, of the revenue of the manor of Auueltona [Alton, co. Southton], to the relief of the poor and pilgrims, for the souls of the king [William I.], the royal family, himself and his brethren, and all the benefactors of the Abbey; [1080-1087]. Witnessed by Walcelinus, Bishop [of Winchester], Hugh [de Port], sheriff; Godfrey, Prior [of Winchester], Osbern de Ó [or Ow], and others. Latin. f. 59.
48. "Interrogatio Damasi Papæ": a colloquy between Pope Damasus I. and St. Jerome, on the subject of the proper hours of the day for High Mass in accordance with the acts of the Council of Niceæ [A.D. 325]. Not included in the works of either of these Fathers. Latin; with an Anglo-Saxon version. f. 59 b.
49. "Hymnus Angelicus," or "Gloria in excelsis." Latin. f. 60.
50. "Oratio Dominica," or Lord's Prayer. Latin. f. 60 b.
51. "Symbolum Apostolorum," or Apostles' Creed. Latin. f. 60 b.
52. "Creda (sic) ad missam": the Nicene Creed. Latin. f. 61.
53. An "interrogatio," or inquiry concerning the number of languages in the world, with reasons for the answer of seventy-two. Latin. f. 61 b.

The whole MS. has been edited by W. de G. Birch for the Hampshire Record Society.

Vellum; ff. 69. xith cent., with later additions to the xvith cent. Belonged (see notes by T. Astle on f. 69), in 1710, to Walter Clavel [of the Middle Temple, ob. 1740]; Rev. [George] North [M.A., Vicar of Codicote, co. Herts, ob. 1772]; Rev. [Michael] Lort, D.D. [rector of Fulham, co. Midd., and Mile-end, Colchester, ob. 1790]; and T[homas] Astle, to whom Lort presented it in 1770. Tall Octavo.

945. WILL of Alfred the Great, in Anglo-Saxon, copied from No. 944 above (f. 29 b), when in T. Astle's possession; with introduction and notes, and translations into English and Latin, by O[wen]

M[anning], 1776 (see f. 18). Published at Oxford, 1788. Followed (f. 19) by the will of Alfred the Aldorman (Thorpe, Diplomatarium, 1865, p. 480), in Anglo-Saxon with interlinear Latin translation, and with an English translation; and (f. 27) by an English translation of the will of Æthelstan the Ætheling (Thorpe, p. 557).

Paper; ff. 28. xviiith cent. Bound in red morocco, tooled. Belonged to T. Astle. Folio.

946. REGULA Canonicorum S. Chrodegangi Metensis Episcopi, in Latin and Anglo-Saxon. Transcript of a MS. of the xith century at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge (S. 12 in Wanley's catalogue of Anglo-Saxon MSS. at C. C. C., p. 130, contained in Hickes's Thesaurus, vol. ii.; and no. cxc. in Nasmith's Catalogus, 1777, p. 273). The contents are not the Poenitentiale of Theodore of Tarsus, as stated by Dr. O'Connor (who quotes Wanley's description of a wholly different MS.), but the regulations of St. Chrodegang, Bishop of Metz [742-766], based on those of St. Benedict. The text differs verbally from that printed in Migne, Patrologia, vol. lxxxix. coll. 1059-1096, and contains only 84 chapters instead of 86, those numbered 5 and 6 in Migne being absent. The Anglo-Saxon version faces the Latin on the opposite pages. The Latin prologue (quoted by Wanley, l.c.), which differs wholly from the preface in Migne, is not transcribed, but the remaining portion of the Anglo-Saxon version of it is given. On f. 1 is a description of the MS., with the false ascription to Theodore.

Paper; ff. 57. xviiith cent. Folio.

CLASS XXI.

POETRY, AND PROSE DRAMA.

947. ROMAN DE LA ROSE, by Guillaume de Lorris and Jehan de Meung. The portion by Guillaume ends: "Car ie nai mes aillieurs fiance" (f. 30 b, col. 2), followed by the rubric, "Veez ci commen Maistre Jehan de Meun commence," and by a miniature representing the two authors at work. The passage relating to the two poets "guillaumes" and "iehans clopinel" (see Ward, Catalogue of Romances, vol. i. p. 876) is at ff. 76 b-77; and the passage on love, of doubtful antiquity (ib. p. 878), is not to be found here (see f. 33, col. 2). Colophon: "Explicit le rommans de la rose | Ou lart damour est toute enclose."

Vellum; ff. 155. xivth cent. In double columns; with illuminated borders and initials, and twenty-four miniatures. Quarto.

948. HYMN to the Virgin, in French, preceded by a calendar in a different hand. Imperfect at the beginning, the first line being, "Durement fu trauaile" (f. 8 b), and wanting leaves after ff. 9, 10. The several divisions remaining begin, "Deu te salt uirgine honore" (f. 9 b), "Virge mere precieuse" (f. 10 b), "Dame du ciel emperiz" (f. 11 b), "Dame ieo ay bone espeir" (f. 13 b), and "Haute dame gloriouse" (f. 15 b). At the end (f. 16 b) is an imperf. prayer in Latin. A single leaf (f. 7) between the calendar and the hymn contains recipes for various medicines, in a different hand from either of the others.

Vellum; ff. 16. Early xivth cent. Executed probably in England. The calendar is ornamented with small representations of the signs of the Zodiac, and each alternate page in the hymn is occupied by two miniatures on gold backgrounds, representing scenes from the Old and New Testaments. On f. 1 is a note by T. Astle, referring to p. 154 of his Origin and Progress of Writing, where four lines from f. 15 b are reproduced. Duodecimo.

949. LIVES OF SAINTS, in English verse. This MS. belongs to the group of which Harley MS. 2277 and Egerton MS. 1993 are representatives, described at length in C. Horstmann's Altenglische Legenden, Paderborn, 1875, pp. iii.-xxxviii., and in his introduction to The Early South-English Legendary or Lives of Saints, Early Engl.

Text Soc., 1887. The collection here is incomplete, containing only the latter half, from St. Michael onwards, but it includes some additions to the usual list. The contents are as follows, the names being given as they occur in the text, not as in the later page-headings and index :—

| 18. St. Cecylie. f. 58.  |   |

Of these Lives no. 31 is not found elsewhere, and the text of no. 30 differs from that in Ashmole MS. 43. For comparative lists and remarks see Horstmann's E. E. T. S. volume, pp. ix., xv.—xvii. There are also textual variations, especially in the beginning of the life of St. Thomas of Canterbury. The work is written in lines of seven feet for the most part, occasionally of six feet, with a pause after the fourth foot in the first case, and after the third in the second. Ends, apparently incompletely, in the middle of the life of Moses.

Vellum; ff. 158. Late xivth cent. Spaces left for coloured initials at the beginning of each life, but not filled up except near the beginning of the volume. No titles, but many of the pages have the name of the saint whose life is contained in them written in a later hand. On f. 1 b is an index in the original or a contemporary hand, entitled "Calendare libri sequentis," giving the names of the saints in their Latin forms. This has been transcribed on an additional sheet of paper (f. 2), bearing the signature of Tho. Astle, with the statement that he obtained the volume from the Rev. [John] Brand in 1796. Inside the cover is the book-plate of "J[ohn] Brand, A.B., Coll. Linc. Oxon." [Sec. to the Society of Antiquaries, 1784-1806]. Bound in rough wooden boards, with modern leather back. Small Quarto.

950. CONFESSIO Amantis, by John Gower. Imperfect, both the beginning and the end being lost, including both passages by which the editions are distinguished. The text begins near the commencement of the 1st book, with the line "He hyde it nought, for yif thou feynest" (Pauli, i. p. 47), and ends in the middle of the vision in the 8th book, with the line "Which hadden bee fortunéd sore" (Pauli, iii. p. 361). Several leaves have been cut out and lost in the course of the volume, viz., one in book i. (after f. 16), one in book ii. (after f. 35), two in book iii. (after f. 44), three in book v. (one after f. 97 and two after f. 108), and two in book vii. (after f. 136); while f. 168 has been cut out, but remains, though the lower margin and the bottom line have been cut away. The Stafford MS. additions are not found here.

Vellum; ff. 177, including two modern paper leaves at the beginning and end. Written in double columns in several hands, of the earlier half of the 15th cent. Initials of paragraphs are in blue, occasionally flourished with red. The Latin summary which accompanies the text is in red, and the Latin verses are underlined in red. Bound in thick oak boards covered with leather, stamped with small roses, etc. On the inner side of the boards are pasted leaves of vellum covered with cramped and much abbreviated writing apparently of a legal description. On the margin at the top of f. 62 are some Latin verses signed W. Bury and dated 157 $\frac{1}{2}$  and 1575. On the inside of the cover is the name of Frauncis Normann, and on ff. 2, 73, those of Gualterus Harting and Henry Swynbourne, all of the 16th cent. Folio.

951. 1. HISTORY of the three Kings or Magi, Jaspar, Melchior and Balthasar, with an account of the three translations of their bodies until they were finally deposited at Cologne by Rainald of Dassel, archbishop, in 1164: an abridged English translation of the Historia Trium Regum of John of Hildesheim, Prior of the Carmelite house of Marienau, who died in 1375. f. 1.

The text agrees with that of Royal MS. 18 A. x., the second of the two texts edited by C. Horstmann, The Three Kings of Cologne, E. E. T. S., 1886. It is, however, imperfect, the first page beg. "Þes iii Kynges were come in to Jerusalem" (ed. cit., p. 59, l. 21), and the second leaf being almost entirely torn away.

2. The Mirror of Life: a religious poem generally attributed to William of Nassyngton, and founded on "La Somme des vices et des vertus." f. 32. Begins: "Alle myghty God in Trynyte." Its nature is explained in the course of the Introduction:

"Fyrste I wille speke of þe grete profit
 Of þe Pater Noster þat comes of itt;
 And of þe fruyte and þe dignite
 Of þat prayer als men may se;
 And specially of þe seuen askynges
 Þat on þe Pater noster hynges;
 And of þe seuen gyftes of þe haly gaste
 And [leg. þat] þe seuen askynges may to vs haste;
 And of seuen synnes þat maste may smerte
 Þat þe seuen gyftes puttes out of herte;
 And specially of vertues seuen
 Þat may sett in paire stedes euen," etc.

The present copy does not include the lines at the end, printed by Sir F. Madden in a note in Warton's Hist. of English Poetry, ed. 1840, vol. ii. p. 368, from Royal MS. 17 C. viii., attributing the original Latin to Friar John of Waldby and the English version to William of Nassyngton.

3. "Exhortacio contra viciū adulterii": a translation in English verse, with Latin prose argument to each stanza (written in red), of a French poem by John Gower. f. 313. In 57 seven-line stanzas, preceded by one by the translator:—

"Who þat liste loke in pis litel tretice
 May fynde what meschief is of auouttrie.
 Wherefore he þat will eschewe þat vice,
 He may see here to beware of folie.
 Gower it made in frenshe with grete studie
 In balades ryale; whos sentence here
 Translated hath Qvixley in this manere."

For the original see Balades and other Poems by John Gower, Roxburghe Club, London, 1818; and also Warton, Hist. of Engl. Poetry, ed. 1840, ii. p. 248, and H. J. Todd, Illustrations of Chaucer and Gower, 1810, p. 98.

Paper, the first and last leaf of each quire vellum; ff. 322. xvth cent. Bound in oak boards, flush with the leaves, with backing (modern) of leather. Quarto.

952. THE PILGRIMAGE of the Life of Man: a translation into English octosyllabic verse of the second recension [1355] of Guillaume de Deguileville's Pèlerinage de la vie humaine. The French poem forms the first book of the author's Trois Pèlerinages, the second being the Pèlerinage de l'ame, and the third the Pèlerinage de Jésus Christ. Books i. and ii. were written originally in 1330–1332, book iii. in 1358. See Ward, Catalogue of Romances, vol. ii. p. 558. The translation is commonly ascribed to John Lydgate. The translator's prologue (in decasyllabic verse) states that the work was executed at the request of the Earl of Salisbury [Thomas de Montacute, 4th earl, killed at the siege of Orleans in 1428].

Which in Fraunce for the kynges right
In the werre hath many day contunyd, Whom God and grace han full well fortunyd."

It was begun, as the same passage proceeds to state, in 1426. The work is headed with the Latin couplet:—

"Qui peregrinarius, hunc per librum docearis Que bona vel dubia sit fugienda via."

It includes a translator's prologue, an author's prologue, and then the main work, describing the progress of the pilgrim under the guidance of Grace Dieu, and his instruction with reference to various temptations and dangers, something in the manner of Bunyan. As far as f. 303 b, l. 25, the MS. is in a late 15th cent. hand; the rest was written by John Stow (ob. 1605). Stow has also added a few marginal notes, including two (ff. 1, 3) in which he ascribes the translation to Lydgate; and this copy of the poem is probably the one referred to as being in Stow's possession in Speght's edition of Chaucer, 1598, f. 394. Chaucer's acrostic poem A.B.C. or La Prière de Nostre Dame, which he translated from Deguileville, was adopted by Lydgate instead of a version of his own. It is, however, not transcribed here, but a blank space is left for it (f. 329 b), as is the case also in Cotton MS. Vitellius C. xiii., f. 256 b. It is introduced in the following terms:—

"And towchyng the translation
Of this noble orison,
Whilom, yf I shall not fayne,
The noble poete of breteyne
My mastar Chawcer in his tyme
Aftur the frenche he dyd it ryme,
Word by word as in substaunce
Ryght as it is made in fraunce

And for memory of that poete
With all his rethorykis swete,
That was the first in any age
That amendyd owr langage,
Therfore, as I am bound of dett,
In this boke I will hym sett,
And ympen thys oryson
Aftur his translation."

For descriptions of other copies (Cotton MSS. Vitell. C. xiii., and Tib. A. vii.), with extracts and references to passages in print, see the Cat. of Romances, vol. ii. p. 571.

Paper; ff. 379. xvth and xvith centt. With the name "W. Browne" inscribed on f. 1, probably that of William Browne, the poet (ob. 1643?). Quarto.

953. NARRATIVE POEM in old English verse relating the revelation to St. Methodius of the history of the world from the Creation to the Day of Judgment. Begins:—

"Sum tyme was there a man of state
That was clepyd Methodius,
An holy byshop, a gret prelate,
A man nobyll and gracyous."

It summarises the story of the patriarchs, and relates the lives of two eastern kings named Cusdro and Sabysas. The latter is conquered by the sons of Ishmael, who subsequently, under Oreb and Zeb, are defeated by Gideon. The poem proceeds to prophesy the overrunning of the whole world by the sons of Ishmael (the Saracens) and the persecution of the Christians; the victory of the Christians; the birth and reign of "Antecryst ye develys byrde"; and the Day of Judgment. Of Antichrist it is said:—

"yt xall not be as folkys have tolde he xulde be begotyn of a frere and born of a nune, but he xall be born of a bysmere bolde ye werst woman ony where may wone."

All the last part is largely borrowed from the book of Revelation. The poem is written in rough octosyllabic quatrains, sometimes incomplete, with the rhymes indicated (sometimes wrongly) by red ink.

Paper; ff. 16. xvth cent. At the end is the name (as owner) of William Gilberd de Toffet Monachorum (Toft-monks, co. Norfolk), 16th cent.; and at the beginning are the bookplate of Francis Blomefield, 1736, the initials T. M. [Thomas Martin of Palgrave, ob. 1771], and a note by Thomas Astle that the MS. was presented to him by the Rev. [John] Brand in 1788.

954. SONETTI and Canzoni of Petrarch, entitled "Lamentationes domini Francisci Petrarce de amore domine Laure." Preceded by an index of first lines, and followed in the same hand (f. 150) by the Triumphi, headed "Triumfi vi. Petrarce." The reverse of the last leaf contains a copy of Petrarch's note on the death of Laura, originally written in his MS. of Virgil, but differing in giving the date on which he heard of it as the xxviiith day of May instead of the xixth. On the fly-leaves of the volume are some verses in different hands of later dates.

Vellum; ff. 184. xvth cent. With an illuminated capital and a blank shield for a coat-of-arms within a border on the first page, an illuminated capital at the beginning of the Triumph, and other initials in red and blue. Bound in wooden boards, covered with stamped leather, rebacked. Quarto.

955. LOVE-POEMS in French (one in Spanish), with twelve emblematical miniatures. Each miniature occupies a page, and on the opposite page is a quatrain, surmounted (except the first) with designs containing the letters M and P and a device which appears to be a pair of compasses (or pilgrim's staves) crossed. At the beginning (ff. 1-4 b) is an address in prose from the lover to his mistress, and at the end (f. 17) a well-executed portrait of the lover. On the back of this is written, "Set de vray (?) le portret de Pierre Sala mestre dotel de ches le roy, avec des enimes quil avoit fet a sa mestresse; qui estoit grand honcle a madame de Rassis, laquelle est sortie de la mayson de Guillien en Quercy." For a notice of Pierre Sala, or Salla, seigneur de l'Anticaille, see the abbé Pernetti's Recherches pour servir à l'histoire de Lyon (Lyon, 1757), p. 378. He is there said to have been maître de l'écurie to Charles VIII. [1483-1498] and to have married Marguerite Builloud. He is apparently the same who in the Biographie Lyonnaise of Bregnot du Lut and Pericaud (Lyon, 1839), p. 268, is described as "en 1513, écuyer, écrivain de la chambre du roi, traducteur du roman de Tristan de Léonoys." Marguerite Builloud [or Bullioud] was no doubt the lady addressed in these verses, the first of which begins "Mon cuer veult estre en ceste Margueryte." The Madame de Rassis mentioned above, as Pierre Sala's great-niece, was Eléonore de Guilhens, wife [in 1595] of Geoffroy de Sallemar, seigneur de Rassis, and grand-daughter of Michel de Guilhens, who married [in 1530] Antoinette de Salla, heiress of her brothers Geoffroy, François and [presumably] Pierre (Dict. de la Noblesse, x. p. 95).

Vellum, purple-stained, with letters in gold, or in red on a gold or white ground; ff. 17. Early xvth cent. A transcription has been added later, on paper (ff. 18-34). With remains of the original binding of dark olive velvet, and enclosed in a wooden case covered with leather, coloured green and gold and carved with devices, among which are the letters P and M formed out of crossed compasses or staves. On the edges of the case are rings, intended for a chain to suspend the volume from the girdle. Attached to the cover at the end (f. 35) is an extract from a sale-catalogue, which states that the MS. was formerly in the possession of Marshal Junot, Duke of Abrantes. Duodecimo.

956. THE PENITENTIAL and other Psalms, in English verse [by John Croke, one of the six Clerks in Chancery, and afterwards, 1549–1554, a Master in Chancery]. The volume contains the “Veni Creator,” the seven Penitential Psalms, and Psalms ix., xiii., xliiii., xci., cxxxix. The same collection, without the “Veni Creator,” but including Ps. xxxi. in addition, is found in Add. MS. 30,981, where the name of the author is given; and it is printed from another MS. (believed by the editor, Sir A. Croke, to be John Croke’s autograph) in vol. xi. of the publications of the Percy Society (1844).

Vellum; ff. 104. Temp. Henry VIII. At the beginning is a miniature of Henry VIII. A very minute volume, bound in gold. The covers, measuring  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inches by  $1\frac{3}{8}$  inches, are worked in open leaf tracery, and there are remains of black enamel in the frames round the tracery and the engraved panels of the back. At the top of the covers are two rings, through which a chain was passed to attach the volume to the girdle. The volume corresponds exactly with one described by the anonymous editor, reported by Mr. Marsham to be Triphook, of George Wyat’s Extracts from the Life of Queen Anne Boleigne, p. 29, as being then [1817] in his possession; and he adds that it was traditionally said to have been given by Anne Boleyn, when on the scaffold, to one of her maids of honour, a lady of the family of Wyat.

There is, however, another volume to which this tradition is applied, viz. a volume of prose prayers, slightly larger, but also bound in gold with black enamel, though the design is different and closely resembles one by Holbein. This volume is described by the Hon. R. Marsham in Archæologia, vol. xlv. p. 259. It is now in the possession of the Earl of Romney [a descendant of the Wyats], and is probably the same as the “most curious little prayer-book MS. . . . such as were given to Queen Anne Boleyn’s maids of honour,” which Vertue saw in the possession of the Wyat family in 1745 [see Marsham, p. 260, and Walpole’s Miscellaneous Antiquities, no. ii. p. 13].

957. DAVID AND ABSALOM: a Latin tragedy, in five acts, written in iambic trimeters and various choric meters. The characters are Joab, Absalom, Abitophel, Messenger, David, Abishai, Cushai, Zadok, Abiathar, Watchman, and Ahimaaz. A modern note on the first page attributes it to John Bale, Bishop of Ossory [1495–1563]; but it is not included in his own list of his works, nor in any other list, and it appears never to have been printed. From the numerous corrections it is apparently in the author's autograph.

Paper; ff. 30. xvith cent. Octavo.

958. COLLECTION of pieces in verse and prose, mostly of a religious character; temp. Elizabeth. Included are:—(1) Ballad, in 37 four-line stanzas, in praise of Mary Watt, niece of Hugh Latimer and wife of Robert Glover, the martyr, beg. "Mary Wat the nyce in blud To Latemere the great." f. 8, and continued on f. 2 b;—(2) Ballad, in 45 stanzas, "Maystare Rogers to his childerne," beg. "Geve eare my childerne to my wordes." At the end "Wryton by me Robert Bott." f. 8 b;—(3) "A Ballad concernynge the death of Mr. Robert Glover [burnt at Coventry, 20 Sept. 1555] wrytone to Maystrys Marye Glover his wyf of a frend of heres," beg. "O Lord, thou God of Israell." In 70 stanzas. At the end "Wryton by me Robert Bott." f. 8 b;—(4) "Tharrayment [arraignment] of Thomas, Duche of Norfolk," at Westminster, 16 Jan. 14 Eliz. [1572]. f. 18;—(5) Forms of excommunication, of absolution, of an oath "ministred to the churchwardens and sworne men," and of acquittances for debt, etc. ff. 24, 25, 26, 26 b;—(6) Metrical epitaph on Leonard Lovis [Lewis?], Esq., followed by other pieces in prose and verse. f. 27 b. At f. 2 are accompts of rents in Utttoxeter, co. Stafford, etc.; and on the last page is the date 1581.

Paper; ff. 38. The original vellum covers (ff. 1, 38) are from a Latin service-book of the 15th cent. On the inside are the initials R. B., probably for Robert Bott. Duodecimo.

959. COLLECTION of Welsh Poems by various writers. Imperfect, and mutilated at the beginning. Among the names and headings are:—

On f. 206 b is inserted a letter on magisterial business from William Powell to the constables of Llanstephan, co. Caerm., dat. Trymsarau, 16 July, 1603.

Paper; ff. 250. Late xvth cent. On the inside of the cover is the name of Ed. Lhwyd, and several other names are scribbled in various parts of the volume, as Maurice Gwynne and (1675) Harry Morgan on f. 182 b, and Sir Henry Vaughan on f. 230. Bound in oak boards, covered with dark leather, re-backed. Folio.

960. POEMS by Sir John Beaumont, Bart., [1582-1628], brother of Francis Beaumont the dramatist, and author of "Bosworth Field." This volume contains several of his shorter poems, including two not printed in Grosart's edition, one (f. 8 b) entitled "Of the Assumption of our Blessed Lady," the other (f. 10) "On the death of many good People slaine by the fall of a floore at a Catholike sermon in Black Friars" [in Aug. 1623]. The latter is unquestionably the poem belonging to the cancelled pages 181, 182 of the edition of 1629, which have been cut out of every known copy of that edition; for in two or three copies, including one in the British Museum [1077 b. 26], the initial letters of the lines on p. 181 have been left in cutting out the page, and these correspond with the poem in question. The last six lines of the poem occupied p. 182, the remainder of it, according to the custom of this edition, remaining blank. The cancelling of this poem may have been due to its being supposed to show favour to the Roman Catholic religion; and the same reason, in stronger measure, may have caused the omission of the poem on the Assumption, which was never printed at all. This volume also contains an additional memorial poem on Sir John Beaumont, beg. "Expect no more: this latest line contains | The bounds and scope of all his former strains." Paper; ff. 15. xviith cent. Folio.

961. THE POEMS of Dr. John Donne [1573-1631], Dean of St. Paul's. The collection, which is in a single hand, is not complete, but includes the first four Satires, most of the Elegies, the Epithalamia, many of the Epistles, and most of the Lyrics and Devotional pieces. The arrangement is irregular, and the titles differ in many cases from the ordinary ones. The volume also includes the poem "Dear Love, continue nice and chaste" (f. 58 b), which is given in many editions of Donne, but is ascribed by Drummond to J[ohn] R[oe], Beaumont's elegy on Lady Markham (f. 20 b), and three other poems not included in Grosart's edition. One of these, "The Houre Glasse," beg. "Do but consider this small dust" (f. 69 b), is ascribed in No. 962, below, to W. Wotton; the other two begin "If I freely may discover" (f. 79 b), and "Love bred of glances" (f. 82 b). The pages are numbered, and an index of first lines appended.

Paper; ff. 114. xviith cent. Small folio.

962. A COLLECTION of poetry of the time of James I. and Charles I., including the Satires and many other poems of Dr. John Donne. Among the other authors are Francis Beaumont or Beomond [Beaumont], Jo[h]n Fletcher, Sir Walter Rawlyegh [Raleigh], Ben Jonson, Thomas Carewe, [Lord Bacon: "The world's a bubble"], Sir Kenelm Digby, Francis Phillips, Jo. Crowther, G. Morley, W. Lewes, A. Mannering-Goodwin, Jo. Hoskins, Dr. Corbet, John Alford, H. W[otton], etc. Many of the pieces have no name attached to them. In addition to the poetry, and standing by themselves at the beginning of the volume (ff. 1-3), are the Paradoxes, Problems, and Characters of Dr. Donne, with separate index. The numbering of the leaves continues as far as f. 37, and then begins afresh (the first leaf of the new numbering being out out). At the end (f. 244) is an index of first lines.

Paper; ff. 254. xviiith cent. Quarto.

963. "THE VANITIES and Follie of misplaced Love, a brief Reflection on Women": a collection of poems in one hand, on the subject of women, in different metres; followed by some religious meditations and miscellaneous poems. Some are dated from 1693 to 1698.

Paper; ff. 331. Small Octavo.

964. BACON'S ESSAYS; with the Characters of Julius Cæsar and Augustus at the end, and preceded by the dedication to the Duke of Buckingham and "Elogies" on the author by Ben Jonson and by A. Cowley, in his poem to the Royal Society. A printed edition, with the title-page torn out. On one of the fly leaves is written in capitals "Essays of Sir Francis Bacon, Lord Verulam: To Mrs. Newsham [sister of James Craggs, Secretary of State, and wife successively to John Newsham, Robert Knight, and Robert Nugent, aft. Viscount Clare and Earl Nugent] from her servant A: Pope. In the year 1725." On a fly leaf at the end is written, in Pope's hand, the poem addressed to Martha Blount on her birthday, 1723. The version here given is, however, different from both those published [cf. Elwin and Courthope's edition of Pope, vol. iv. p. 495]. It agrees with the earlier version (published in 1726) in consisting of 14 lines only, and therefore in being nominally a sonnet, but only the first four lines are the same; the next six recur in the latter part of the longer version, and the last four differ from both. It is here entitled "A Wish, to Mrs. M. B. on her Birthday, June [at first written March] 15."

Oh be thou blest with all that Heav'n can send!
Long Health, long Youth, long Pleasure, and a Friend:
Not with those Toys the Woman-world admire,
Riches that vex, and Vanities that tire.

Let Joy, or Ease; let Affluence, or Content,
And the gay Conscience of a Life well-spent,
Calme ev'ry Thought, inspirit ev'ry Grace,
Glow in thy Heart, and smile upon thy Face!

Let Day improve on Day, and Year on Year,
Without a Pain, a Trouble, or a Fear.

And oh! since Death must that dear Frame destroy,
Dye, by a sudden Extasy of Joy!
Let the mild Soul in some soft dream remove,
And be thy latest Gasp a Sigh of Love!

A copy of the same version, with verbal differences in ll. 11 and 13, occurs in Harley MS. 7316, f. 150.

Paper; ff. 90. Bound in crimson morocco, very finely tooled. Small Octavo.

965. "CAMILLO'S COMPLAINT: a poem, inscribed to his Grace, George [Stone], Lord Arch-Bishop of Armagh" [1747-1765]; and lamenting the brief vice-royalty of Philip Dormer Stanhope, Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, 1745-46. In 53 six-line stanzas.

Paper; ff. 19. circ. 1747. Quarto.

966. COLLECTION of songs and verses, with the inscription on the cover: "Carnarvan 1745 [James Brydges, Marquis of Carnarvon, b. 1731, 3rd Duke of Chandos, 1771] ejus liber carminum, West-[monasteriensis] Alumn[us] Schol[æ]." Included are:—(a) "Verses by the Prince of Wales," beg. "Come, my dearest Goddesses." f. 11;—(b) "To his Excellency the Earl of Chesterfeild [Lord Lieut. of Ireland, 1745-6]. By one Jones a Journeyman Bricklayer," beg. "Amidst th' applause which art and learning brings" f. 13.

Paper; ff. 18. A.D. 1745-6. Quarto.

At the end (f. 39) is a satirical epistle in prose from "Bevis the Great to Little Ben," 1731.

Paper; ff. 40. xviiith, xixth centt. Folio.

975. "THE ROLL OF KARLAVEROK. An Heraldic Poem, enumerating the Barons, Knights, and Gentlemen who attended King Edward the First into Scotland, Anno mccc." A translation in prose from Cotton MS. Caligula A. xviii., ff. 23 b-30 b, made by Philip Absolom in 1817 (see the border on f. 51). Followed (f. 52) by a short account of Caerlaverock Castle.

Paper; ff. 54. With coloured shields of arms and ornamental initials and borders. Bound in red morocco tooled, 1818. Book-plate of Philip Absolom. Quarto.

976. THE SHEPHERD'S PARADISE: a pastoral play in prose, in five acts, by Walter Montagu, written to be acted by Queen Henrietta Maria and the ladies of her Court. The present copy bears no title or author's name, but at the beginning is a list of the characters: "Saphira-Bellessa, the Quene; Bassalino-Moromante, My Lady Marques; Agenor-Genorio, Mrs. Cicely Croftes," etc. There is another copy in Sloane MS. 3649, without title, author's name, or distribution of parts, but with a prologue, beg. "What newes, Apollo, from the highest spheares?"

Printed under the above title for Thomas Dring, London, 1629. This date, however, is evidently an error (for 1659?), the title-page speaking of "the late King Charls." The same edition was also issued as printed for John Starkey, London, 1659. The piece was no doubt that which was acted by the queen and her ladies at Christmas, 1632 (Collier, Hist. of Dram. Poetry, 1831, vol. ii. p. 38). Its preparation is alluded to in letters of John Pory, of 20 Sept., "That which the queen's majesty, some of her ladies, and all her maids of honour, are now practising upon, is a pastoral penned by Mr. Walter Montagu," etc.; and again, 25 Oct., "Mr. Montagu's pastoral, wherein her Majesty is the prime actress, is extremely long, for my lady marquis's part is as long as an ordinary play" (Doran, Court and Times of Charles I., 1848, vol. ii. pp. 176, 187).

Paper; ff. 68. Small Folio.

977. "THE SIEGE of Londonderry": a prose drama, by Colonel John Michelburne, one of the governors of the town during the siege, and author of a history of it. With a dedicatory letter, apparently addressed to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in which the author styles his work an "unhewne peice" and a "tragicall discourse."

Paper; ff. 75. xviiith-xviiiith centt.

978. "LITIGATION, a Comedy in 5 Acts"; according to a note by Dr. Charles O'Connor on the title-page, written by his cousin Hugh McDermot, of Coolavin and Moylurg, co. Sligo, Ireland, and offered at Drury Lane Theatre. Dated 14 Apr. 1812.

Paper; ff. 38. Folio.

979. "ELIS SAGA": the romance of Élie de Saint-Gille, in Icelandic. Transcribed by Grim Jonsson Thorkelin from MS. 533, quarto, of the Arna-Magnæan Library at Copenhagen, which was used by

E. Kölbing in his edition of Elis Saga og Rosamundu (Heilbronn, 1881): see his introd., pp. viii. x.-xiii.

Paper; ff. 87. With note of donation by G. J. Thorkelin to Tho. Astle in 1787. Folio.

980. "SAGA af Partalopa ok Marmoriu": the romance of Partonopeus de Blois, in Icelandic. Transcribed by Grim Jonsson Thorkelin, from Arna-Magnæan MS. 533, quarto (see above), which was edited by O. Klockhoff in the Upsala Universitets Årsskrift for 1877. Another copy is in Add. MS. 4860 (ff. 189-208), described in the Catalogue of Romances, vol. i. p. 707. Inserted at the end (f. 40) are two vellum leaves, containing anecdotes of Archbishops of Canterbury, 14th cent.

Paper (ff. 40, 41 vellum); ff. 41. With note of donation by G. J. Thorkelin to Tho. Astle, 1787. Folio.

CLASS XXII.

PROSE WORKS:

PHILOLOGICAL, MORAL, PHILOSOPHICAL, ETC., WITH LITERARY COLLECTIONS AND COMMONPLACES.

981. "SUMMA que vocatur Catholicon, edicta (sic) a fratre Johanne de Janua, ordinis fratrum predicatorum": a glossary of the Latin language by Giovanni de' Balbi, of Genoa, beg. "Prosodia quedam pars grammaticæ nuncupatur." Under the word 'janua' the author gives his own name as Johannes Januensis de Balbis, and a list of his works. The Catholicon was completed, according to the statement of the author at the end of the work, in 1286, and was repeatedly printed between 1460 and 1506.

Vellum; ff. 320. In double columns, of 66 lines. Written in France at the end of the xivth cent. The first page is surrounded by an illuminated border, and the first initial incloses a miniature representing the author kneeling before the Virgin and Child; the first initial of each letter of the alphabet is also illuminated in gold and colours. On a fly-leaf is a note by George Temple Nugent-Grenville, Marquis of Buckingham, stating that the volume was given to him by George, Earl Spencer, in 1810, having been bought by the latter at the Pinelli sale. Large Folio.

982. COLLECTIONS of miscellaneous tracts, as follows:—

1. The Boke of Kervynge; without title and beg. "Thow shall be pantere or butler." Printed by Wynken de Worde in 1513, re-edited by F. J. Furnivall for the Early English Text Society, 1868, vol. xxxii. p. 261. After the colophon (f. 7 b), "Thus endithe þe demenyng and olenly behaving of marscheall and vssher," additional matter follows here (f. 8) with the colophon (in the same hand as art. 4) "Explicit the Keping and the condye-ment [and] moderacion off all maner of Wynes." f. 1.
2. "A Boke of curtesy," beg. "My dere son, ffyrst the enable." Known also under the title of "Stans puer ad mensam," and ascribed to John Lidgate. In verse; but the first page here written as prose. Printed by F. J. Furnivall, op. cit., p. 26. f. 10.

3. "A tretisse of good governance," beg. "For helthe of body couer ffo cold thy hed," in verse, ascribed to the same. Printed (but with great variations) in op. cit. p. 54, under the title of "A Diatorie." f. 11.

4. "A boke of Kepyng of horses, and for to knawen here sekenesse and to do the leche-crafte therefore," beg. "Ferst yf hyt be an hors colt." Imperfect at the end. In a different hand from art. 3. Other copies are in Harley MSS. 5086, 6398. f. 13.

Paper; ff. 22. Late xvth cent. Belonged to John Anstis and Thomas Astle. Quarto.

983. MORAL TREATISE and texts from Scripture, addressed to [Sir] Allen Cotton, alderman and Lord Mayor of London [1625], by his son-in-law Thomas E[lyre]. A note at the end states that it was "begonne and intended for a Newe Yeares guifte on Newe Yeares Day in the Yeare of our Lord Christ 1625, of the world 5552, but not finished untill some monthes after." Autograph.

Paper; ff. 159. Small Quarto.

984. "BISHOP Bedle [? William Bedell, Bishop of Kilmore, 1629-42, and Ardagh, 1629-38] his groundes for the lawfullnesse of usury." The tract is not included in the lists of Bedell's works given by his biographers.

Paper; ff. 47. xviii cent. Belonged, 18th cent., to John Keymer. Duodecimo.

985. "COLLECTANEA quædam Anglo-Saxonica e codicibus manuscriptis hinc inde congesta," by William Elstob, M.A. (ob. 1715), and Elizabeth Elstob, his sister. The extracts are mostly taken from manuscripts formerly belonging to Francis Junius, and by him bequeathed to the Bodleian Library. They were probably prepared by the Elstobs in furtherance of their scheme for publishing a complete Saxon Homiliarium, which resulted only in the printing [? 1715] of a fragment of 36 leaves, apparently without title-page, but which, according to Nicholls, Literary Anecdotes, vol. iv. p. 132, and to a printed prospectus of the projected work in Lansdowne MS. 373, f. 88, was to have borne the title "The English Saxon Homilies of Ælfric, Arch-Bishop of Canterbury . . . now first Printed, and Translated into the Language of the Present Times by Elizabeth Elstob." The prospectus was issued from Oxford in 1715. The five volumes of transcripts made specially for this work are now in the British Museum, Lansdowne MSS. 370-374; and there is in the Museum a copy of the printed fragment, presented by Sir Henry Ellis. The present MS. came into the possession of Thomas Astle, who prefixed to it (f. 3) a letter from William Elstob to Lord Chief Justice Thomas Parker [1st Earl of Maccolesfield, 1721], asking for his interest for the appointment to the Preachership of Lincoln's Inn, vacant by the elevation of Dr. Francis Gastrell to the see of Chester [Feb. 1713-14]. The contents of the volume are :—

1. "De Initio Creature," or "Bedam Frum Sceafte," transcribed "ex prima parte Homiliarum Hattonianarum Junii apogr. inter codices Junii no. 41." See the Catal. of Junius MSS. in Catalogi Manuscriptorum Angliæ, 1697, p. 251, and Wanley's "Catalogus Librorum Septentrionalium," pp. 26, 87, 137, etc., in Hickes' Thesaurus, 1703, vol. ii. The transcript has been collated with a similar MS. in the library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge. f. 5.
2. "De Anticristo Tractatulus, Latine et Anglo-Saxonice," the Latin version only. See Wanley's Catalogue, p. 27. f. 20.
3. "De se[o]unda epistola quando dividitur crisma," in Anglo-Saxon. See Wanley, p. 23. f. 24.
4. The Anglo-Saxon version of Art. 2. See Wanley, pp. 27, 58, 139. f. 31.
5. "De septiformi spiritu": the Anglo-Saxon version, followed by the same in modern English. Extracted from Junius MS. 48 (Bodl. Libr.), itself a copy from the Anglo-Saxon Homilies presented in 1675 to the Bodleian by Christopher Hatton, 1st Viscount Hatton. See also Wanley, p. 23. f. 37.
6. "De Perseverantia "[et de Eucharistia], in Anglo-Saxon. From Junius MS. 48, which, according to the Catalogi Manuscr. Angliæ, p. 252, was transcribed by Junius from Cotton MS. Tib. A. iii. [f. 105 b, etc.]. ff. 41, 43.
7. "De Vita S. Swithuni Homilia," in Anglo-Saxon. Transcribed by E. Elstob from Cotton MS. Jul. E. iv. f. 94 b. See Wanley, pp. 188, 192. f. 45.
8. "Cronici Saxonici fragmentum": a transcript of the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle from 1043-1079, from a MS. in the Cathedral Library, Canterbury, itself a copy by William Lambarde from Cotton MS. Tib. B. iv. See The Anglo-Saxon Chronicle, Rolls Series, vol. i. p. xviii, and Wanley, p. 271. f. 57.
9. "Numerus Hydarum Angliæ," in Anglo-Saxon. From the same MS. at Canterbury. f. 80.
10. [De arca Noe], in Anglo-Saxon. From the same MS. f. 81.
11. Extracts in Anglo-Saxon from "Mr. [William] Lambarde's Transcript," at Canterbury, of "Hemingi liber de terris et redditibus Ecclesie Wigorniensis," made probably from Cotton MS. Tib. A. xiii., ff. 156, et seqq. Marginal references are given to T. Hearne's Hemingi Chartularium Ecclesie Wigorniensis, Oxford, 1724. Collated and examined by W. and E. Elstob, 21 June, 1712. f. 82.
Paper; ff. 94. A.D. 1712. With the signature of Tho. Astle or f. 1. Small Quarto.

986. "COLLECTANEA ex Dictionario Theologico Thomæ Gascoynge," from MSS. 117, 118 of Lincoln College, Oxford. Preceded (in the hand of John Anstis, Garter) by the preamble to the patent of Thomas Parker, as Baron Parker of Macclesfield, [1716]. f. 3;— and followed in the same hand by extracts from a book of Wardrobe and Household accompts in the Wardrobe Office, called Cotom from its writer William Cotom, who appears to have been made Clerk of the Great Wardrobe on 12 Feb. 16 Hen. VI. [1438]. f. 36 b.

Paper; ff. 48. xviiith cent. With the inscription "Liber Johannis Anstis, Garter, et Amicorum, No. 178," at f. 1. Belonged also to Thomas Astle. Small Quarto.

987. ANAGRAM on the words "Charles the Second by the Grace of God King of England, Scotland, Fraunce, and Irelande, Defender of the Faith," by P[aul] Lorrain; with explanatory treatise, and dedicatory letter to Samuel Pepys, Secretary of the Admiralty, dated 1 Jan. 1684. The writer speaks of himself as a Protestant refugee (f. 8), and in addressing Pepys writes (f. 3 b), "You being the maister of my time ought to be also the disposer of my Actions," etc. For a letter from him to Pepys, speaking of being employed by him, in 1700, see the latter's Diary and Correspondence, ed. M. Bright, 1879, vi. p. 228. He was naturalized in 1690 (Agnew, Protestant Exiles, 1886, ii. p. 62), and became Ordinary of Newgate Prison.

Paper; ff. 36. Bound in black leather, with gilt and blind tooling, and the arms of Charles II. Small Quarto.

988. "RECUEIL HISTORIQUE, tiré de plusieurs auteurs": a collection of abstracts of histories and travels, compiled, according to a note on the first page, by James Le Fanu. The chief contents are:—(1) Abstract of Bussy Rabutin's History of Louis XIV. [1662–1693]. ff. 2 b–5 b;—(2) Notes on Peru at the time of its discovery; author not named. ff. 5 b–8 b;—(3) Extracts from the works of St. Evremond [1613–1703]. ff. 8 b–11 b;—(4) Abstract of the travels of R. Knox in Ceylon [1659], from a French translation published in 1693. ff. 11 b–24 b;—(5) Abstract of the History of Henry IV. of France, by Hardouin de Péréfixe, Archbishop of Paris and tutor to Louis XIV., printed 1666. ff. 25–54 b;—(6) Abstract of the travels of Adam Olearius [Elschläger] in Muscovy, Tartary, and Persia [in 1634–1637]; and of the travels of T. A. Mandelslo in India, China, etc. [in 1638, 1639]. The original narratives are in German, and the abstract is from French translations, published 1656–1659. ff. 58–98 b;—(7) Miscellaneous verses from Boileau and other writers. ff. 99–128 b;—(8) Abstract of the History of France by [F. Eudes] de Mézeray, from Phara-

Paper; ff. 192. Early xviiith cent. Small Quarto.

989. "NOUVEAU DIALOGUE des Morts, ou Entretiens aux Champs Elises entre Messire Fr. de Fénelon, Arch-duc (sic) de Cambray, et M<sup>r</sup> T. B. Bossuet, évêque de Meaux. L'on y fait intervenir Madame Guyon [the Quietist authoress, befriended by Fénelon, but condemned by Bossuet, ob. 1717], femme d'une rare piété, qui a servi de prétexte aux brouilleries arrivées entre les deux Prélats. Ouvrage dédié à Son Altesse Royale Madame la Princesse de Galles [Caroline, wife of George II.], par le Sieur de Nesle, Ingénieur et Professeur de l'Accadémie Royale de Lunebourg, 1724." A violent attack on Bossuet's conduct, especially in the matter of Madame Guyon.

Paper; ff. 81. Small Octavo.

990. "DIALECTICA UNIVERSA: tradita a Reverendo D. Domino Vigore de Briois, Religioso Monasterii S<sup>u</sup> Vedasti Ordinis S<sup>u</sup> Benedicti, Artium Doctore ac Dialecticæ Professore, recepta vero a Richardo Moore, Anglo, 1732"; notes of lectures on Dialectic by Dr. Vigor de Briois, Professor of Dialectic at Douay. Some engravings of Greek sages, etc., are inserted, and at the end (f. 162) is a printed syllabus of a disputation to be held before the professor in the College Hall at Douay on 6 Aug. 1732, one of the disputants being the above-mentioned Richard Moore.

Paper; ff. 162. Small Quarto.

991. IDÆÆ ORATIONUM desumptæ ex disquisitionum politicarum materiis: outlines of speeches and addresses suitable for various occasions in political affairs. Latin. There are 90 in all, the subjects of some being stated in general terms, e.g. "Idæa orationis qua nova vectigalia necessitatis Reipublicæ causa indicenda proponuntur ac suadentur," while others have imaginary names and circumstances attached to them, e.g. "Idæa orationis qua Helvidius Priscus usus est in Senatu post Vitellium sublatum, cum de principatu Vespasiani ageretur." With a table of contents at the end.

Paper; ff. 211. xviiith cent. Small Quarto.

992. "ORIGINAL MEMOIRS of Apparitions and Spirits in Wales": a collection of stories of apparitions of spirits and fairies in various places in Wales, especially in and near the parish of Blaenau Gwent [Aberystwyth, al. Aberystwith, co. Monmouth], to which the narrator, who relates several supernatural phenomena as having occurred to himself, appears to have belonged. At the end (f. 16) is a long extract from the preface to Strype's Remains of John Lightfoot, D.D., 1700, giving an account of a spirit appearing in Driffield in Yorkshire.

Paper; ff. 28. Written in 1738 (see f. 11). Small Quarto.

993. ESSAY on the dignity of Trade, showing the high opinion in which it has been held in all ages, and that it is as honourable a pursuit, and as likely to lead to advancement, as any of the learned professions. There are two versions of the essay, in different hands, one having been crossed through with a pencil; with additions and corrections apparently in the hand of the author. At the end of the second copy is the date 1747. Printed anonymously, under the title A Treatise on Trade: or the antiquity and honour of commerce, etc., London, 1750.

Paper; ff. 89. Small Quarto.

994. SPECIMENS of the signatures and handwriting produced (according to the title-page) "by me William Henry Ireland during my fabrication of the manuscripts which I wrote and attributed to Shakespeare," with Ireland's explanatory notes.

Paper; ff. 9. xviiith-xixth cent. Quarto.

Accompanying this volume are the following fifteen (formerly sixteen) printed tracts, containing Ireland's forged signatures and marginal notes of Shakespeare, most of them having on the title-page the inscription "S[amuel] Ireland from his dear Son." The titles, etc., of the tracts (the foliation of which includes Ireland's inserted readings of the alleged Shakespeare notes) are as follows:—

CLASS XXIII.

ANTIQUITIES,

WITH COLLECTIONS ON ANTIQUARIAN AND KINDRED SUBJECTS, CATALOGUES AND EXTRACTS OF MSS., ETC.

1016. INSCRIPTIONES ANTIQUAE: a copy of the collection of Latin inscriptions (with a few Greek) made by Johannes Jucundus [Frà Giocondo], of Verona, a Franciscan (or possibly Dominican) friar, and a considerable architect and antiquary (ob. 1515), and dedicated by him to Lorenzo de' Medici. The inscriptions are principally from Rome (ff. 5-147), but also from other towns in Italy (ff. 147 b-229), Dalmatia and the adjoining islands (ff. 230-233), Greece and Asia Minor (ff. 233 b-235), Gaul (ff. 235 b-241), Spain (ff. 241 b-244), and Africa (f. 244 b). To these is prefixed (ff. 1-3) a Calendar, with representations of the signs of the zodiac beautifully drawn in colours, and with the characteristics and agricultural occupations, etc., of each month in blue and gold letters. Among the inscriptions are also representations of several of the tablets with their accompanying ornaments, similarly drawn. At the end is a list of the streets and principal buildings of each of the 14 regions of Rome, from Fabius Victor, with totals of the houses, baths, granaries, etc., in each; an index of abbreviations used in inscriptions; and a table of contents, arranged according to the localities to which the inscriptions belong.

The text of the inscriptions belongs to the "third recension" of the work, including several which are found in that recension alone; though two at least (C. I. L., x. 1332, 4225) belonging to that recension are not found here. Another MS. of Jucundus was formerly in the Libri collection in the Ashburnham Library, and is said in the folio catalogue of that Library to be apparently in the same hand as the present volume. It is now in the Laurentian Library at Florence, and Dessau, the editor of the Corpus Inscriptionum Latinarum, vol. xiv., states it to be in the same hand as the codex Veronensis (of the 1st recension), which is probably autograph [C. I. L. iii. pt. i. p. xxvii., vi. pt. i. p. xliv., and ix. p. xlv.]. The writing is in a fine Italian hand; the names of places in red, the inscriptions themselves generally in black, but sometimes in gold and other colours. There are some marginal notes in red, but no introduction or dedication. The original divisions of lines in the inscriptions are not marked.

Vellum; ff. 271. xvth-xvith centt. In the original tooled binding, much worm-eaten on one side and rebaked. Formerly belonged to Lord Somers, Sir Joseph Jekyll, James West [1738-9], Dr. Anthony Askew, and Thomas Astle [1785]. Large Octavo.

1017. ETRUSCAN ANTIQUITIES, including copies of several Etruscan inscriptions from J. C. Amaduzzi's Alphabetum veterum Etruscorum [1771], with translations in the hand of Thomas Astle; a list of Umbrian epithets of Jupiter; a hymn to Jupiter, with translations; and a description of a statue of Jupiter Chthonius. Also some inscriptions in early Greek characters and coins from various places.

Paper; ff. 27. Late xviii cent. Small Quarto.

1018. AN ACCOUNT of the Antiquities in the collection of the Earl of Pembroke, at Wilton, copied from the "book of Antiquities at Wilton." The collection consists of ancient statues, busts, bas-reliefs, and inscriptions, and includes many specimens from the collections of the Earl of Arundel and Cardinal Mazarin. The objects are described at some length, and a description of the origin and character of the collection is prefixed.

Paper; ff. 71. xviii cent. Small Quarto.

1019. ACCOUNT by Gavin Hamilton in two letters to Charles Townley of the statues, busts, etc., found by him in excavations at Hadrian's Villa [Tivoli], Monte Cagnolo, Ostia, and other places round Rome, 1769-1779; with a catalogue of the objects found, and the names of their possessors. At the end (f. 16 b) is an account by Tho. Astle of a bust of Marcus Aurelius in his possession, which was among those found by Hamilton.

Paper; ff. 18. "Bibl. T. Astlei, 1780." Small Octavo.

1020. 1. NOTE by Thomas Astle of the collection of casts of antique statues, etc., in Italy made by the Abbate Fossatti; 23 July, 1774. f. 1.

2. Letter from Gavin Hamilton to —, on discoveries of statues, etc., at Gabio; Rome, 18 June, [1792]. f. 2.

3. "Ancient Marbles found by Mr. Gavin Hamilton in various ruins near Rome since 1769": another copy of the catalogue, with names of possessors, in No. 1019, above. f. 4.

Paper; ff. 6. Folio.

1021. "BREVIS DISCURSUS antiquitatis Puteolorum ac Baiarum": a short account of the antiquities of Pozzuoli and Baja, for the use of travellers. Latin. The author's name appears at the end, "Devotissimus servus Jacobus Sabbatinus, Cicero Puteolanus, notus curiosis ac virtuosis viris." Written after 1704, a discovery made in that year being mentioned at f. 5 b.

Paper; ff. 14. xviiith cent. Octavo.

1022. "AN ESSAY on the ruins of Poesti, or Posidonia, with drawings taken on the spott, A.D. 1773"; by Sir William Young, Bart. The essay is the same as that in No. 791 above, and is preceded by the same dedication, in Latin elegiacs, to Lord Braybrooke. It is followed (ff. 15-26) by a letter to the same from Sir W. Young, "containing a summary account of Calabria and Apulia, etc." All three articles are in the author's hand. The essay and letter are illustrated by twelve water-colour drawings; and at f. 1 b is a print of the author's portrait by J. Brown (see No. 922, f. 1).

Paper; ff. 26. Small Quarto.

- 1023, 1024. "IMAGINES seu Figuræ variarum Inscriptionum præcipue Sepulchralium, Lapidum in orbes depositorum, Substructionum quas Wallici Kromlech et Kistvéan nominant, cipporum quos cruces dicimus, castrorum seu castrametationum antiquarum, in Angliâ, Sootiâ et Hiberniâ, curâ Johannis Anstis, Fecialium Principis cognomento Garter, delineata et ob oculos posita": a collection of drawings of stone-circles, crosses, cromlechs, camps, tombs, brasses, etc. In two volumes. Only the title-page and a few pages at the beginning of vol. i. are in the hand of Anstis himself. The contents are divided as follows:—England, vol. i. ff. 9-78; Wales, vol. i. ff. 79-181, vol. ii. ff. 1-78; Scotland, vol. ii. ff. 79-124; Ireland, vol. ii. ff. 125-196. The work has apparently never been published, but a paper on the subject of it by Thomas Astle, who acquired most of Anstis's MSS. in 1768, was read before the Society of Antiquaries on 11 June, 1798, under the title of "Observations on Stone Pillars, Crosses and Crucifixes" (see Archæologia, vol. xiii. p. 208).

Paper; ff. 181, 201. xviiith cent. With the arms of T. Astle on the covers. Quarto.

1025. NOTES on antiquities in Cambridgeshire and the adjoining counties; with 29 sketches in pen-and-ink and pencil, chiefly ground-plans of camps and other ancient works. At f. 25 b is a list of the places in Cambridgeshire where "there are remains of antient workes." The last part (ff. 57-68) is filled with notes on the Fens, beg. "Having lost or mislayd the notes I took in relation to roads, etc., in the fenns, 1760, what I can recollect is as follows." With tables of contents at ff. 1, 69 b. On the old cover was inscribed, in the same hand as that found inside: "A y. Cambridgeshire and Countys adjoining" (see inside present cover).

Paper; ff. 70. Latter part of the xviiith cent. Quarto.

1026. "ECTYPA VARIA ad Historiam Britannicam illustrandam olim insculpta studio et curâ Antiquarii Fidelissimi et Indefessi Thomæ Hearne, A.M. Oxoniensis," 1737. The printed volume, with MS. notes in two hands, the descriptions of the Plates being in the hand of Richard Farmer, D.D., Master of Emmanuel College, Cambridge, while the references to the sources from which the engravings were made are perhaps in the hand of Edmund Calamy, D.D. Amongst the plates are:—(a) the Roman Tessellated Pavement at Stunsfield, near Woodstock, a full description of which is prefixed to vol. viii. of Leland's Itinerary, ed. Hearne;—(b) the Woodward Shield, a dissertation on which was written by Henry Dodwell, and published by Hearne in 1713;—and (c) seventeen engravings of the Colleges of Oxford, which are included as an appendix in the above work of Dodwell's, to illustrate Collegiorum . . . Academiæ Oxoniensis, by Thomas Nele. At the beginning (f. 2 b) is an engraved portrait of T. Hearne by G. Vertue.

Paper; ff. 55. Notes on the fly-leaf state that the volume was given in June, 1737, to Edmund Calamy, D.D., by James West [Secretary to the Treasury, etc.], and was subsequently given by Calamy's son to Dr. Farmer. Folio.

1027, 1028. ENGRAVINGS and drawings of antiquities, coins, seals, etc., discovered in Great Britain; compiled by Thomas Astle, Keeper of the Records in the Tower of London, with descriptions often in his handwriting. Two volumes. Paper. Late xviiith cent. Folio. The contents are:—

1027. Vol. I. (ff. 86). 1. ROMAN ANTIQUITIES and Inscriptions found at Schervey on the wall of Antoninus, Lanchester, co. Durham, Cotterstock, co. Northants (1736), Hovingham, co. York (1745), Weldon, co. Northants (1738), Colchester, co. Essex (1763), Leicester, Devizes, co. Wilts, Checkley, co. Staff., Ellenborough, co. Cumberland, Glastonbury, co. Somerset, and Ash near Sandwich, co. Kent (1771). ff. 1–19.

2. Plates of Coins cut out of printed books, including British, Roman, and Saxon; two plates of coins found at Colchester [from Morant's Essex]; silver coins from Thanet, and ancient copper or "black" money; silver coins from the collection of Matthew Duane; a table showing what silver and gold coins were struck in each reign in England; plates of coins, French and English, published by the Society of Antiquaries; Anglo-Gallic coins; coins of the dukes of Brittany; miscellaneous English coins, etc. ff. 20–53.

3. Seals, including royal seals of Edward the Confessor, Richard I., Edward III., and William the Lion of Scotland; seals of Canterbury and other ecclesiastical establishments, and of several noble families (several plates published by the Society of Antiquaries); and the seals of the Irish sees. ff. 54-85.

- 1028. Vol. II. (ff. 105). 1. DRAWINGS of ancient flint implements and other miscellaneous antiquities. ff. 1-6.
2. Drawings and descriptions of the reliquary of St. Ethelbert of Hereford, and of the Croyland and Malmesbury reliquaries, and miscellaneous plates. ff. 5-14.
3. Royal Seals of the kings of England from William I. to Henry VII., and from James I. to Anne; seals of princes of the blood and of English nobles; seals of the Cinque Ports; ecclesiastical and miscellaneous seals. ff. 15-48.
4. Coins and representations of various Byzantine emperors and empresses. ff. 49-62.
5. Representation and description of the Grand Vizier's standard captured by John Sobieski at Vienna, 1683. f. 64.
6. Miscellaneous coins; coins of Dorchester; tradesmen's tokens; seventeen leaves from Ducange's Glossarium, containing his account of the word moneta, with plates of French coins; English medals, etc. ff. 66-87.
7. Miscellaneous antiquities, including a plan and description of Roman baths at Badenweiler; description [printed] and plates of a bronze statue of Hercules found near Beirut; and description of a horn belonging to the honour of Tutbury in the duchy of Lancaster. ff. 88-96.
8. Seals from Yorkshire, Leicestershire, and Staffordshire. ff. 97-104.
9. Six coloured drawings of representations of French nobles, taken from enamelled silver plates. f. 105.

1029-1043. COLLECTIONS by John Anstis, Garter King-of-Arms [1718-1745], relating to matters of historical, legal, and antiquarian interest, in fifteen volumes. They consist of extracts, almost all in the hand of Anstis, from Patent and Close Rolls, Rolls of Parliament, Pleas of various courts, MSS. in the Cotton Library, Cartæ Antiquæ in the Record Office, and other similar sources. Some of the volumes are devoted to special subjects systematically arranged; in others there is no pretence of order.

The first nine volumes are in octavo and contain for the most part only brief notes. In vols. iii., viii. and ix. are indices of different kinds, for which see below. Vols. x.-xv. are in folio, bound in vellum, containing longer treatises than vols. i.-ix., together with many short notes and extracts. The chief contents are as follows:—

- 1029. Vol. I. (ff. 293). A MISCELLANEOUS COLLECTION of short notes on a great variety of subjects, among which are:—(a) References as to judicature in Parliament (cf. vol. xiv.), and the phrase "placita parlamentaria" in reference to the Concilium Regis. ff. 3 b, 100;—(b) Money. ff. 7 b, 48, 56 b, 61, 140;—(c) Measures. ff. 26 b, 47 b, 58, 147 b;—(d) Ecclesiastical jurisdiction. ff. 8 b, 19 b, 23, 24 b;—(e) List of Convocations. f. 18;—(f) Statutes of præmunire. f. 22;—(g) Church dues. f. 69;—(h) Pleas before itinerant Justices, and notes on their duties. ff. 10, 41;—(i) Common Law. f. 43;—(k) Hospitium Regis. f. 29;—(l) Prerogative. f. 34;—(m) Arrest of a lord for debt. f. 76;—(n) Duels and courts of chivalry. ff. 60 b, 73, 96 b, 207;—(o) Petitions in Parliament, 1 Edw. III. f. 115 b;—(p) Patent Rolls, tempp. Edw. III.—Edw. IV. f. 128;—(q) List of Cancellarii from William I. to Stephen inclusive. f. 155 b;—(r) List of bishops from William I. to 20 Hen. 1056. CATALOGUES of various collections of MSS. and Printed Books, as follows:—

1. Manuscript collections of Thomas Madox, Historiographer Royal (ob. 1727). f. 3.
2. MSS. of James West, Secretary to the Treasury, etc. (ob. 1772), viz.:—(a) His "Manuscripts in Covent Garden." f. 22;—(b) "Manuscripts on vellum in Covent Garden." f. 39;—(c) "Manuscripts at Alscot [co. Warw.], Sept. 1772." f. 43. The collection was on West's death purchased by William Petty, 2nd Earl of Shelburne [Marquis of Lansdowne, 1784], and is now included among the Lansdowne MSS. acquired by the British Museum in 1807. On f. 44 b is a note by Tho. Astle on the descent of the Burghley Papers (forming part of the collection), which were inherited from Henry Hicks, Lord Burghley's Secretary, by Sir Will. Hicks his son, who, in Mar. 1682, sold them to Richard Chiswell, bookseller, from whom they passed by purchase to John Strype, and, in 1784, to James West.
3. List (in the hand of Rev. Philip Morant) of "Thomas Jekyll's MSS.," relating chiefly to the History of Essex. Some of the MSS. now form part of the Harley Collection in the Brit. Museum. Followed on f. 69 by a short account of Jekyll's life [1571–1653]. f. 68.

8. Lists of (a) "MSS. Books given to Lincoln's Inn by St Matthew Hale, 1676." f. 86;—(b) "Mr. [William] Prynn's Works in the Library of Lincoln's Inn." f. 89.

A table of contents has been added by Thomas Astle.

Paper; ff. 89. xviii-xviii centt. Folio.

1057. COLLECTION of tracts, etc., made apparently by Dr. Zachary Grey, Rector of Houghton Conquest (ob. 1766), in whose hand the first 92 leaves are written. From a note by Rev. William Cole, the Cambridge antiquary, in Add. MS. 5822, f. 123, it would seem that he borrowed this volume from Dr. Grey in 1759 and transcribed from it artt. 3 and 5. The initials P. W., which appear against Artt. 3, 4, 8-11 in the list of contents on f. 1., are probably those of Philip Williams, President of St. John's College, Cambridge, whose MSS. both Grey and Cole used freely for their respective collections. The contents are:—

1. Index, or brief list of contents, of the MS. collections of Thomas Baker (ob. 1740), B.D., of St. John's College, Cambridge, being 42 volumes, of which the first 23 are now Harley MSS. 7028-7050 in the British Museum, and the remaining 19 MSS. Mm. 1.35—Mm. 1.53 in Cambridge University Library. f. 3.
2. Index to the MS. Collections of Robert Hare (ob. 1611), relating principally to Cambridge University, and preserved in the University Registry. f. 53.
3. Dissertation "touching the death of Peter Hawkins wounded in the Park of Bramfield, July. 24, 1621, by Dr. George Abbot, Lord Archbishop of Canterbury." f. 92.
4. Modus tenendi Parliamentum; [by Henry Elsynge]. Imperfect at beginning. f. 105.
5. "Statuta ecclesiæ Cathedralis Eliensis . . . 1666." f. 156. This and the following articles down to art. 12 are apparently in the hand of Dr. John Nalson, for an account of whose connection with Rev. W. Cole, Dr. Philip Williams and Dr. Z. Grey, see Add. MS. 5841. f. 4 b.
6. "Abstract of [Roger Boyle] L[ord] Orrery's answer to P[eter] Walshes second letter to his Grace the D[uke] of O[rmonde] about indulgences for Roman Catholics." Printed at Dublin, 1662, under the title of An Answer to a scandalous letter lately printed and subscribed by Peter Walsh, etc. f. 163.
7. Extracts from a treatise on Ecclesiastical Councils. f. 166.
8. "A Collection of Prophecies, etc., out of Sir Robert Cotton's Collections," from Nostradamus, etc. f. 167.
9. Extracts from pamphlets of William Prynn, and "Passages out of [Peter] Smart's sermon preached in the Cathedrall of Durham, July 7, 1638" [? 1628, cf. article on John Cosin, in Dict. Nat. Biogr.]. ff. 173, 175.

10. Extracts "out of the 2<sup>d</sup> part of Doleman," that is, Part II of A Conference touching succession to the Crown, by Robert Doleman, al. Robert Parsons, Jesuit, printed in 1594. f. 176.
11. Treatise on Predestination, etc., by Dr. [John] Nalson. Imperfect. f. 178.
12. Treatise entitled "No mony, no law": a draft of a political tract by [Dr. J. Nalson], printed in 1683 under the title of The Present Interest of England, etc. f. 204.
13. "The Processe for making a Bishop." f. 219.
14. "Ld Chiefe Justice [Robert] Heath's opinion that, where the Bishop, or other Inferior Judge will not, dare not or cannot doe Justice, the Superior Court may and ought to doe it"; 22 Mar. 1643[4]. f. 221.
15. "Bishoprickes how antiently donative, and by what meanes they came elective." f. 223.
Paper; ff. 224. xviiith cent. Folio.

1058. TRANSCRIPTS of various documents, made by Dr. Zachary Grey, of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, Vicar of St. Peter's and St. Giles' in Cambridge, and Rector of Houghton Conquest, co. Bedford (ob. 1766). At the beginning are inserted four original documents, viz.:—(a) Certificate of induction of Dr. Robert Moss to the rectory of Gilston al. Gedleston, co. Hertf., on 29 Dec. 1714 (Moss, who was Dean of Ely 1713-1729, was connected with Grey by marriage: see Nichols, Lit. Anecd. i. 664, ii. 548). f. 1;—(b) Promissory note signed by Moss, and witnessed by Grey, 13 Apr. 1721 (with acquittance on back, 28 May, 1724). f. 3;—(c) Regulations for funerals in the parishes of St. Peter and St. Giles, Cambridge, 22 and 25 Apr. 1726. ff. 4, 5.

The transcripts are as follows:—

1. English state papers and letters, 1641-1660; from the MS. collections of Dr. Philip Williams, President of St. John's College, Cambridge, and Public Orator 1730-1741. f. 6. The most important are printed by Grey in the appendices to his Examination of vols. 3 and 4 of Neal's History of the Puritans, 1737-9; and other letters were transcribed by him from Williams's collection for Francis Peck, and printed by the latter in Desiderata Curiosa, vol. ii., 1779, pp. 345-490. Williams's collection appears to have belonged originally to his grandfather, John Nalson (see Desid. Cur., pref. to vol. ii.); and according to Nichols, Lit. Anecd., vol. viii., p. 415, "Mr. Cole of Ely possessed the MSS. of Dr. Williams [after the latter's death], which afterwards came into the hands of his brother Charles Nalson Cole." The collection seems to have contained a large number of originals, together with some copies (see f. 131 b), and to have consisted of at least twenty-three volumes. For other transcripts from it, made respectively by Grey and by T. Baker, see Cat. of MSS. in Cambridge Univ. Library, vol. ii. (1857), p. 282-5, vol. v. (1867), pp. 398-403; and see also above, No. 1057.

2. Extracts from "Woodwards Register," relating to the diocese of Lincoln in the 17th cent. f. 137.
3. Detailed catalogue of vols. i.-x. of Dr. Williams's collection (see above). f. 168.
4. A miscellaneous collection of extracts, chiefly from the Baker MSS., and relating mainly to the history of Cambridge. f. 202. They include:—(a) Extracts from "Alderman Newtons book" (now Harley MSS. 4115, 4116). ff. 202-220;—(b) "A Poem—on y<sup>e</sup> cutting down a tree in Trinity Walks." f. 221;—(c) Letters from Elizabeth, James I. and Charles II. f. 224;—(d) Letters to Archbishop Hutton from Archbishops Grindal, Whitgift and Matthews, and from Richard Vaughan, Bishop of Chester; 1577-1600. f. 234.

Some of these extracts from Baker's MSS. are printed in Peck, Desid. Cur., and elsewhere (see Cat. of MSS. in Camb. Univ. Libr., v. pp. 368, etc.).

Paper; ff. 250. xviiith cent. Folio.

1059. ARCHAISMUS GRAPHICUS: an introduction to Palaeography by [Sir] Henry Spelman, written for the use of his sons in 1606. It contains notes in Latin on the history of letters, and on MSS. and the means to determine their age, together with a glossary, which occupies nearly the whole volume, of abbreviations in Latin MSS.

Paper; ff. 93. Bound in leather, stamped with the arms of Charles I. as Prince of Wales (cf. Add. MS. 27,936). On the title-page is inscribed "Liber Ricardi Symonds," i.e. R. Symonds, of Black Notley, co. Essex, author of the Marches of the Royal Army during the Great Civil War (ed. C. E. Long, Camden Soc., 1859): cf. Harley MSS. 911, 939, 944, Add. MS. 17,062, Eg. MS. 2635, etc. Belonged to Thomas Astle, 1764. Octavo.

1060. FACSIMILES of "Alphabets, specimens of Ancient and Modern Writing, engravings of Ancient Charters, etc.," with notes by Thomas Astle, giving references to the sources from which the plates were taken. A few of the plates were used by Astle for his Origin and Progress of Writing, 1784. At the end are some specimens of modern calligraphy, amongst them being some by (a) Mathew Buchinger, "born [1674] without hands, legs or feet," London, 1730. f. 97;—(b) John Cox, "born [1684] without arm or hand," 1714-5. f. 98;—(c) Jeremiah Andrews, 1715. f. 101;—(d) John Sturt, 1728. f. 102;—(e) Rev. J. Thomasen, of Tarvin, co. Chester, 1726. f. 103;—(f) Robert Spofforth, of Oxford, 1700.

f. 104;—(g) Daniel Hopkins. f. 104;—(h) Edward Cotterell, 1730. f. 105;—(i) Thomas Cole. f. 109;—(k) Thomas Young, in Greek, 1793. f. 112.

Paper; ff. 114. The cover bears the arms of Astley, assumed by Thomas Astle. Formerly lettered "Ectypa Varia. Vol. II.," as if a continuation of No. 1024. Folio.

- 1061. FACSIMILES, executed by hand, of ancient writing and illuminations from manuscripts in the British Museum, Bodleian, Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, Lambeth, and other Libraries, apparently collected by Thomas Astle. Amongst them are a few single leaves, vellum, of original manuscripts, including :—(a) Miniatures, poorly executed, from Books of Hours written in France in the 15th cent. On the back of the first is written "Ex libris Jacobus (sic) Laurent. Ce present libure appartient a Monsieur Laurent, predicant à la cour de Mons, Licentié es droit et Loix et Grefhier a messieurs Eschevins de laditte ville de Mons." ff. 112-117;—(b) Leaf from a Dutch MS., 15th cent., containing the commemoration of St. Katharine. f. 118;—(c) Leaf from a 14th cent. MS. of the Saint Graal, in French. f. 120;—(d) Leaf from a 14th cent. almanac (June and July). f. 122;—(e) Leaf from a 12th cent. Antiphonal, with musical pneumas. f. 125;—(f) Leaf from a 15th cent. Gradual, with musical notes on a four-lined stave. f. 127;—(g) Fragment of a late 14th cent. service-book, with musical notes on a four-lined stave, etc. f. 130. At the end (ff. 131-152) are 22 of the 26 coloured plates of illuminations from MSS. of the 14th to the 17th cent. in the library of the Duc de la Vallière, published by the Abbé J. J. Rive in 1782 (see his Prospectus d'un ouvrage proposé par souscription, Paris, 1782).

Vellum and paper; ff. 152. xviiith cent. Bound in red morocco, tooled, with the arms of Thomas Astle. Folio.

- 1062. "LEXICON Diplomaticum Graecum: or an Interpretation of abbreviations used in Greek manuscripts, compiled by John Caravalla, a native of Greece, from original manuscripts, for the use of Doctor Mead" [Richard Mead, M.D., 1673-1754].

Paper; ff. 51. xviiith cent. Presented to Tho. Astle by Edwin [Sandys], Lord Sandys, of Ombresley, in 1787. Bound in green calf, tooled. Small Octavo.

- 1063. SPECIMENS of Latin and Greek type, with alphabets of various languages, numerals, abbreviations, etc. Written with printer's ink, in closest imitation of printed type, by J. Thomasen of Chester, 1726.

Paper; ff. 8. Small Octavo.

CLASS XXIV.

SCIENCE,

INCLUDING MEDICAL AND COOKERY RECIPES.

1064. COLLECTION of philosophical and scientific treatises, in Latin, in one hand, accompanied at the end by a few neatly-drawn and coloured illustrative figures. The MS. was probably written for use at the Jesuit College of Clermont-Ferrand. The contents are:—(1) “Tractatus ad quatuor libros Aristotelis de cœlo seu de mundo.” f. 2;—(2) “Tractatus in tres libros Aristotelis de anima.” f. 57;—(3) “Ex optica et astronomia selecta mathemata,” delivered by “Petrus de Maupeou, Parisinus,” at the Jesuit College, Clermont [-Ferrand], on 23 July, 1666. Printed. f. 129;—(4) “Tractatus brevis et facilis de arithmetica practica.” f. 137;—(5) “Tractatus de optica.” f. 148;—(6) “Institutio Astronomica.” f. 194 b.

Paper; ff. 231. xviiith cent. On the fly-leaf is the entry “Thomas Barker, in Collegio Regali Cleremontano, anno 1666,” with the note, “Pretio £2 12s. 6d.” Quarto.

1065. A FOLDED ALMANACK, with tables of feasts, planets, etc., as follows:—(1-4) Calendar, with tables of cycles calculated from 1482, the probable date of the MS., to 1520, each of the four sheets containing the calendar, etc., for three months;—(5) Indictiones, Festa Mobilia, Tabula planetarum, Tabula lunæ, and Homo Signorum (sc. the influence of the signs of the Zodiac on man);—(6) Homo venarum (sc. the uses of, and influences on, the various veins of the human body), and the canon or explanation of the whole Calendar.

Vellum; six sheets, 12 × 8½ inches, doubled, folded in four, and joined at the top for hanging at the girdle. Oblong Octavo.

“Fere of the lord is the b[e]ggenning of wisdumme.”

“Put thi trust in the lord w<sup>t</sup> all thine hart.”

“From the toware, the day before my deth, 1551, E. Somerset.”

He was executed on 22 Jan. 155 $\frac{1}{2}$ . At the end is written in a minute hand "Katerine Hartford, Caterine Seamoar," probably Catharine, dau. of Henry Grey, Duke of Suffolk, wife of Edward Seymour, Earl of Hertford, son of the Duke of Somerset.

Vellum; ff. 31. Bound in crimson velvet. 3 $\frac{3}{4}$  × 3 inches.

1067. HISTORIA ANIMALIUM: a Bestiary, agreeing generally in substance with the one, of which many copies are extant, beg. "Bestiarum vocabulum proprie convenit," but differing considerably in form. The text begins "Leo ex Greco vocabulo inflexum est," the introductory paragraph "Bestiarum vocabulum," etc., being added (with variations) in the margin. Forty-three characters are given, with the usual moral lessons annexed to them, and references to the unknown "Physiologus." The last two characters are of the stones adamant and "mermeoolion," ending with the words "talem retributionem recipiunt pro corruptibilibus."

Vellum; ff. 16. xiith cent. With coloured initials and 29 pen-and-ink drawings of animals described, the blank spaces for the remaining sketches and initials in the latter part of the work not having been filled up. Large Octavo.

1068. NOTES on John Hunter's classification of the Animal Kingdom, taken (according to a statement at the end) "from a slight view of Mr. Hunter's experiments and preparations. They are, in the first place, imperfect; in the next, they may be erroneous in many particulars."

Paper; ff. 11. Belonged to Thomas Astle. Bound in vellum, with tooling. Duodecimo.

1069. "MATTHIÆ DE LOBEL [L'Obel], M.D., Botanographi Regii eximii, Stirpium Illustrationes." Printed (somewhat more fully) under the editorship of William How, London, 1655. At the end (f. 72) is added, in the same hand, "Theatri Botanici Joannis Parkinsoni (pr. 1640) 'Αμυρ[ή]μυρα." This is also printed, as by L'Obel, in the volume above mentioned.

Paper; ff. 77. xviiith cent. Quarto.

1070. COLLECTION of tracts on alchemy, the philosopher's stone, etc., as follows:—

1. "Tractatus Nicholai Comititis" de lapide Philosophorum, beg. "Ut ad perfectam scientiam pervenire." f. 2. For another copy see Sloane MS. 692, f. 20.
2. "Summa Platonis": an alchemical treatise, beg. "Cum res ex eodem genere sunt." f. 17 b.
3. "Speculum Alkemye Rogeri Baconis," beg. "Speculum Alkymye, quod in corde meo figuravi." f. 20.

4. "Verbum abbreviatum Raymundi" Lullii, beg. "Verbum abbreviatum verissimum et approbatum." Headed "Raymundus Lullius," but the second word has been erased and "Gaufridus Raymundus" written above. f. 22 b.
5. Alchemical treatise by Robert Frimytor, "otherwise called in English Baïkar, born in Suffolk at Bongeye," beg. "In the name of God amen, the yere of our lord god 1456." f. 26.
6. "Secreta secretorum artis philosophorum," an English translation, beg. "After the mind of Hermes, Plato," etc. f. 32.
7. "Tractatus Mireri de lapide philosophico," beg. "Cum quæris quid sit lapis philosophicus." f. 37.
8. Extract from the Rosarium philosophorum Arnaldi de Villa Nova, with the Epistola Bernardi Treverensis ad Thomam de Bononia; the latter printed in J. J. Manget's Bibliotheca Chemica Curiosa, 1702, tom. ii. p. 399. f. 38.
9. "De anulo," beg. "Incipiunt septem operaciones lapidis maioris secundum Johannem Bastonem, sepultum in Antuarpia." f. 40.
10. Treatise on the four elements of nature, beg. "Laus sit Deo patri, qui dat sapientiam sapientibus." f. 42. For a similar treatise, to which the title "Rosarius Philosophorum" is given, see Harley MS. 1818, f. 1.
11. "Liber philosophie magistri Johannis Dastyn, Anglici," beg. "Cum dignum sit dignis secreta pandere." f. 44.
12. "Medulla alchymie" of George Ripley, canon of Bridlington, sometimes ascribed to Johannes de Rupescissa (cf. J. J. Manget's Bibl. Chemica Curiosa, tom. ii. p. 84, where this treatise is printed, though with many variations, as Liber Lucis J. de Rupescissa), beg. "Materia lapidis est res una vilis." f. 51 b.
13. "Operacio practica Johannis Saw[t]re monachi [de] Thorney," beg. "Immensas omnipotenti Deo gratias refero." f. 56 b. Followed (f. 61) by an "Appendix," beg., after four quasi-hexameters ("Notis via datur," etc.), "Ego Joh. Sawtre inveni speculo philosophorum."
14. Treatise on the Philosopher's Stone, beg. "Nota quod aurum nostrum et argentum nostrum non est commune sed est sperma." f. 63 b.
15. "Dialogus inter Naturam et filium Philosophie," beg. "Cum annis plurimis super secretorum nature indagine." Printed in op. cit., tom. ii. p. 326. f. 65.

Paper; ff. 74. xvith cent. Belonged successively to John Dee, the Astrologer (ob. 1608), in whose hand are some of the marginal notes; to Patricius Saunders, 1606; to G. Theophanes, al. Tiffin, 1730; and to Dr. R[ichard] Farmer (ob. 1797). Small Quarto.

1071. "THE GOULDEN ARTE, or The Jewell House of Gemes...with divers other things devided into tow severall bookes for the better understanding therof. Collected and gathered together out of divers and sundry authors by William Heth, Clarke of his Majesties Store for the navy at Portesmouth, for the good of his cuntry." The first part of the work was apparently written in 1603 (f. 10), but William Heath did not receive the grant of his office till 1609 (cf. Cal. of State Papers). For a somewhat similar work entitled "The Gouldsmynes Storehouse," written in 1606, cf. Add. MS. 25,093.

In addition, the following subjects are treated:—"The tryall of Stounes." f. 85;—"The Beazzar Stone," and its virtue against poisons. f. 86;—"The unicornes horne." f. 91;—"Amber Grise." f. 92;—"Of muske and the muske catt." f. 94 b;—"Of the Civet Catte." f. 95;—Directions for making counterfeit stones. f. 96;—Recipes for gilding and for various operations with gold and silver. f. 99 b;—"Of the strange moneyes that is used in other cuntries." f. 103.

At the end (f. 104), in a later hand, is "A short valuation of pearles by weight or measure."

Paper; ff. 104. Folio.

- 1072. ACCOUNT of a new volcano which rose from the sea between Sicily and the island of Pantellaria, in July, 1831: a translation of a paper read by Dr. Carlo Gemmellaro, Professor of Natural History in the Royal University at Catania, on 28 Aug. 1831, in the hall of that University, and published the same year. Followed by an Appendix, containing letters, etc., on the same subject. The paper appears to have been originally read before the "Accademia Gioenia di scienze naturali" at Catania on 18 Aug. 1831; it is printed in the Atti of that society, vol. viii. (1834), p. 271.

Paper; ff. 36. xixth cent. Quarto.

- 1073. HIPPOCRATES and Galen, in Greek, viz.:—(1) Hippocrates' Ὀρκος. f. 2;—(2) Hippocrates' Νόμος. f. 3 b;—(3) Hippocrates' Ἀφορισμοί. Titles are occasionally given, in red ink, but irregularly and sometimes wrongly. The concluding aphorisms, rejected by Littre and Ermerina, are here present. f. 6;—(4) Hippocrates' Προγνωστικόν. f. 62 b;—(5) Galen, Περὶ εὐχυμίας καὶ κακοχυμίας. f. 98 b. There are occasional marginal corrections, in a different hand.

Paper, bound in vellum; ff. 174. xvith cent. Belonged to Tho. Astle. Duodecimo.

1074. "ANATOMIE Compendium." Paper; ff. 53. xvith cent. Sm. Quarto.

1075. "PRIMERA PARTE de Medicina y Cirugia": a treatise on medicine by the Licentiate Juan de Vidos y Miro, "Beneficiado" of the church of St. Paul, Saragossa. Spanish. A fac-simile copy made "por los Indios Guaranis de las antiquas Misiones del Paraguay" from the printed edition, Saragossa, 1699, beginning, however, with the "Tratado Quarto." At the end (f. 65) a few medical recipes, in Spanish, have been added by an xvith cent. hand.

Paper; ff. 66. xvith cent. Stated in a note on f. 1 to have been given, as a specimen of the skill of the Indians in imitation, by Don Santiago Liniers, General of the Spanish Forces and Viceroy of the Province of Buenos Ayres, to Don Juan Tyrrell, Administrator of the Royal Custom-House at Monte Video, who, on 18 Mar. 1808, presented it to [George Temple Nugent Grenville, 1st] Marquis of Buckingham. Sm. Quarto.

1076. COLLECTION of medical recipes, with a few others. At the end are:—(a) Recipes for diseases of horses and cattle. f. 62;—(b) "The cordiall Elireix (sic). Cousin Betty Kirkby." f. 63 b;—(c) "For an intermitting fever by Dr. Winteringham" [Clifton Wintringham, M.D., ob. 1748, or his son Sir Clifton Wintringham, Bart., M.D., ob. 1794]. The initials D. W., which are placed against several of the recipes, may possibly stand for D[r]. W[intringham].

Paper; ff. 64. xvith cent. Folio.

1077, 1078. MEDICAL, cookery and other recipes, mostly collected and written by Sir Peter Temple, Knt., of Stanton Barry, co. Bucks. Two volumes. In vol. I. the medical recipes are arranged in rough alphabetical order, and are followed by other recipes under the following heads, viz.: Cookery, f. 109; Made wines, f. 115; Perfumes, f. 116; Husbandry, f. 119; Horses, f. 122; Dogs, f. 135; Fishing, f. 136; Rabbits, f. 137; Experiments, f. 138. Inserted at the end (f. 141) are "The true Receipts of that valuable secret for curing all sorts of Ruptures in men, women and children, for one branch whereof the King gave Thomas Renton 5000l. in money, 500l. per annum." On the vellum cover (now laid down inside) the following notes occur, in Sir P. Temple's hand: (a) "Receipts.

May vlt. 1656"; (b) "For my dear daughter Elianor Temple, if I doe not otherwise dispose it under my Hand and seale, Pet. Temple." Vol. II. contains a similar collection of recipes, which are, however, written in many hands besides Sir P. Temple's. The names of the persons from whom the collector obtained the recipes are in many cases given. On the fly-leaf is the name of Elianor Temple [dau. of Sir Peter, who married Richard Grenville, of Wotton].

Paper; ff. 145, 60. xviii cent. Folio.

1079. NOTE-BOOK of medical and other recipes in the hand of Sir P. Temple, the names of the authorities from whom they were derived being generally given.

Paper; ff. 85. xviii cent. Duodecimo.

1080. RECIPES for cookery, for making simples, perfumes, etc., and for japanning, varnishing and gilding; with the name of Katherine Lowther on the last page.

Paper; ff. 38. xviii cent. Folio.

MISCELLANEOUS.

1081. TWELVE ink drawings of persons and groups, elaborately executed by a French artist, generally without removing the pen from the surface. Opposite each drawing are one or more French songs, with the musical notes (except in one instance). On the covers are two similar figures cut out of the upper vellum skin with a penknife.

Vellum; ff. 32. Late xviiith cent. Belonged to Thomas Astle, 1774. Quarto.

1082. TRANSLATIONS of oriental letters, etc., viz.: (a) The Shah of Persia to Charles I.; 1635. From the original in the Public Record Office. f. 1;—(b) The Shah of Persia to Charles II.; 1667. 1085. DESCRIPTIONS and transcripts, made by or for Thomas Astle, of Anglo-Saxon charters in his own possession or among the Cotton MSS. in the British Museum. The name of John Lewis, as copyist, is inscribed on f. 91 b, with the date Dec. 1766. The volume formerly contained Astle's original charters also, but these have been removed, and are classed separately as Stowe Charters 1-44 (below, p. 695).

Paper; ff. 121. The binding (18th cent.) is of thick boards covered with needle-work of the 15th cent., in coloured silks and gold-wire on canvas, evidently not intended for such a purpose. In the centre of the upper cover is the Crucifixion, and at the four corners as many saints. The figures of the Saviour and of the two saints at the top are appliquées, and the other two saints are on separate pieces of material sewed in. On the under cover are six pieces sewed together, each containing a saint standing between the pillars of a colonnade; the figures in the upper row of three are appliquées. Folio (22½ in. × 17 in.).
